

CRAZY ITALIAN SHOTS THREE MINNESOTANS ON TRAIN CROSSING KANSAS

T. P. Topp, a Tailor of St. Paul, Instantly Killed.

Mrs. Marion Olsen, a Bride From Marshall, Badly Hurt.

Her Sister, Mrs. Blakesley, is Shot in the Shoulder.

DARWIN P. KINGSLEY,
The New President of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Denver, June 22.—In a shooting affray that occurred in a chair car of passenger train No. 5, westbound on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad late last night between Dresden and Selden in Western Kansas, a man was killed, and Mrs. Marion Olsen of Marshall, Minn., and her sister, were wounded. The shots were fired by John Bells, an Italian butcher on route from Boston to San Francisco, who had boarded the train at Chicago Thursday night.

Before the shooting began most of the passengers were "dozing in their chairs. They were awakened by frantic yells and pistol shots. Five shots were fired in rapid succession by Bells as he walked through the aisle from the front to the rear of the car, taking accurate aim at one passenger after another.

The first shot struck Mrs. Olsen, the latter passing through the jaws and coming out through the left side.
Mrs. Olsen's sister, Mrs. Harry Blakesley, sitting opposite her, was hit in the right shoulder with the second bullet. Their wounds are not fatal. After being shot both women rushed to the smoking car ahead, and a majority of the male passengers followed as quickly as possible, turning over one another in their haste to escape.

Bells' third bullet passed through the man's heart, and he was dead before he lay in his seat. His facial expression was calm, and from his position it seemed that he was sleeping when slain.

By this time only two other men remained in the car, and A. C. Gilson, of Leavenworth, an employee of the Griffin Wheel company, and D. R.
Shawson of Pueblo, Illinois, who were on Bells and watched his revolver from his hands, but not before two more shots had been fired, neither of which, however, hit anybody. Before being overpowered, Bells drew a razor, and with this he fought desperately. A negro porter from the tourist car, armed with a billy, succeeded in knocking the razor out of the Italian's hand, and Bells was then seized and bound by him.

TWO KILLED BY POLICE

Victims of Riot Are Buried Secretly to Avoid Trouble.

Lisbon, June 22.—The two persons killed by the police while suppressing a political demonstration against Premier Franco, which marked his return here from Oporto, June 19, were buried secretly by the police during the night in order to avoid manifestations.

There have been a number of clashes between the police, in which some of the latter were slightly wounded, and numerous arrests have been made, the prisoners being taken to the Casals fortress.

It is said that the government intends to prosecute the bodies of the opposition who are accused of striking up a revolt against Premier Franco's attempts to introduce reforms in the government.

THINKS THE WORST OVER

French Premier Gives His Colleagues a Hopeful View.

Paris, June 22.—Premier Clemenceau was able to give his colleagues at this morning's meeting of the cabinet a generally hopeful report of the situation, the belief being that the worst is over. The minister decided that under the circumstances and in view of the bloodshed it would be out of harmony with his own and public opinion for President Fallieres to attend the coming festivities at Roan and Bordeaux, where he intended to review the fleets and attend a reception on board the United States armored cruiser. Warlike and public demonstrations for the president's visits were therefore cancelled.

With the exception of the conflict between troops and rioters at Montpellier, where order was restored in the early hours of the morning, the night passed without any disturbances in the south.

ALL RAILROAD FARES TO BE BUT TWO CENTS A MILE

Presidents of Leading Roads Meet in Secret Conference and Decide to Abolish Old Rates on July 1.

Chicago, June 22.—The Inter-Ocean today says: Passenger rates on all railroads of the United States will be reduced to two cents a mile. The lowering of the price and complete abolition of the old three-cent rates will begin on July 1.

This was the decision reached in Chicago yesterday, after a long heated discussion by the leading railroad presidents of all the Western and transcontinental roads.
It was not a formal agreement, but is equally binding, for two large roads doing a transcontinental business are said to have served an ultimatum to others that they would put the rate into effect immediately.

Following the meeting, officials of several of the roads admitted that they had been worried to bow to public opinion and anti-railroad legislation. They said that no further fight would be made on the two-cent laws already passed, and that the roads would accept the inevitable.

Among those who are said to have attended the secret meeting were: President B. L. Winchell of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and President A. J. Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Neither would discuss the report last night.

LITTLE TOWN WASHED AWAY

Swollen Rio Grande Wipes Out Hamlet of Guadalajara.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 22.—The Rio Grande, swollen by recent rains, in New Mexico, has passed the danger stage along the valleys out of this city, and thousands of dollars' worth of damage has been done. Guadalajara, a small hamlet of several hundred people, in Coconino county, is reported entirely washed away, and the natives homeless. Great damage has been done in San Antonio, N.
M., and at San Pedro and San Antonio, small native villages below
San Antonio. A large force of men is at work building levees at San Antonio, the river suddenly changed its channel, and the villagers barely escaped with their lives.

LAST LINK OPENED.

Charles T. Yerkes' Tube System in London is Finally Completed.

London, June 22.—The last link of the late Charles T. Yerkes' tube system of underground railroad was opened today. The line, which connects the north suburbs with the heart of London, is eight miles long.
It was begun in 1895, runs on an average sixty feet below the surface, and cost $2,000,000. A party of fin-anciers and officials attended the opening ceremony, which was followed by an elaborate luncheon. The public were permitted to travel free during the afternoon and evening, and were given souvenirs of the opening of the road.

Schmitz Performs Many Duties While Confined in Cell.

Chief of Police Refuses to Recognize Acting Mayor.

San Francisco, June 22.—From his executive cell in the county jail, Mayor Schmitz returned to the board of supervisors, last evening, the municipal budget and a message, vetoing the appropriation of $20,000 for the reconstruction of the Geary street road.

Schmitz, beside opposing the appropriation for the Geary street railway, also objected to the levy of a special tax of 20 cents to raise revenue for the city government.

Acting Mayor Gallagher said last night that Schmitz's right to pass upon the budget was not questioned by the board.

The first actual clash between Chief of Police Dixon and Acting Mayor Gallagher came yesterday, when Dixon flat-footedly refused to recognize Gallagher's signature as that of the chosen are: President, R. C. Richards, general claim agent of the Chicago & Northwestern; secretary,
treasurer, W. P. Taylor. The association adopted laws in conformity with the Hepburn rate bill.

BEEN IN COURT FOR MANY YEARS

Suit Involving Oregon Pacific Deal Won by Defendant.

New York, June 22.—One of the most complicated and long continued law suits brought in this jurisdiction for many years was terminated in favor of the defendants Thursday by a decision of the United States court of appeals of this district. The title of the suit was "Hogg vs. Coc and another." Named at intervals in connection with the action were John I. Blair, Rowland Hazard, S. S. Sands, Percy Pyne and George S. Coc. The basis of the suit was the so-called Oregon-Pacific deal, in which it was alleged upwards of $2,000,000 was lost. This suit was brought on assigned claims originally by subscribers to the syndicate fund against the estate of George S. Coc, former president of the American Exchange bank, who was the trustee under a certain syndicate agreement formed for the purpose of re-establishing some of these railroad interests, and charged Mr. Coc with bad faith in the performance of his trust.

FREIGHT CLAIM AGENTS ELECT NEW OFFICERS.

Denver, June 22.—The American Freight Claim association yesterday concluded a three-days session in this city by electing officers and selecting Atlantic, N. J., as the place of next meeting in May. The officers chosen are: President, R. C. Richards, general claim agent of the Chicago & Northwestern; secretary,
treasurer, W. P. Taylor. The association adopted laws in conformity with
the Hepburn rate bill.

OPERATORS' STRIKE MAY EXTEND TO OTHER CITIES BESIDES SAN FRANCISCO

SAMUEL J. SMALL,
President of the Telegraphers' Union Who Is Handling the Strike in San Francisco.

Will All Depend on Movements of the Companies.

Strikebreakers Are Now on Their Way to Frisco's Relief.

Their Arrival May Cause Other Telegraphers to Go Out.

San Francisco, June 22.—The situation here in connection with the strike of telegraph operators is quiet. In all, about 200 men are out on conservative estimate, and the service is now maintained in the office of both companies by officials, including chief operators and wire chiefs, together with several men and women who have remained loyal.

General Superintendent Frank Jaynes of the Western Union, is accredited with the statement that the company hopes to be running fairly well in another week, when outside operators were expected to arrive to fill the places of the strikers.

It was learned last night that fifteen operators for the Western Union were on their way to San Francisco from the East, and had passed through Rawlins, Wyo. It is believed the company has had these men in reserve in anticipation of the strike and that it has arranged for others to follow them.
Superintendent Jaynes has refused to make any definite admission about the strike-breaking operators the company intends to import. As to whether the strike shall be ordered to extend to other cities remains to be determined.
The Postal and Western Union officials insist they will have no contact with the officials of the union. If they remain obdurate other cities may be called out thus tying up all telegraph business of the West.

The telegraph operators struck at 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Three short blasts from a police whistle gave the signal and at the sound the operators of the Western Union and Postal companies arose from the tables, put on their coats and quit their jobs.

Both the Postal and Western Union main San Francisco offices are closed close together in the Ferry building. Since the fire the main relay office of the Western Union has been at West Oakland, where about 150 men and women are employed, and at outside branch offices about twenty more. The Postal company has sixty operators in the main San Francisco office.

ROCKEFELLER HEIR SCARED

Grandson of John D. is Thrown From His Pony Cart.

New York, June 22.—Mrs. John D.
Rockefeller, Jr., and her son, John D. Rockefeller III, were thrown from a pony cart in which they were riding in Tarrytown yesterday, but fortunately escaped injury. A man suddenly emerging from behind a hedge frightened the pony, and he ran away, and when the cart struck a curb, Mrs. Rockefeller and the heir to the Rockefeller fortune were thrown out. Mrs. Rockefeller landed in a sitting position on the soil, with her boy clasped in her arms. The coachman, who was also thrown, was badly bruised.

FUNSTON ANGRYS SAN FRANCISCANS

Says He is Loathe to Let Troops Parade on Fourth.

San Francisco, June 22.—In reply to an invitation requesting the participation of the United States troops in the Fourth of July parade, Gen. Frederick Funston sent a communication that has caused much discussion among the members of the committee having in charge the coming celebration.

While the members refuse to give out the letter for publication at this time, it is stated that one sentence used is responsible for the discussion. It appears that after thanking the committee for the kind invitation extended to the troops, Gen. Funston said he was loath to parade his men in the streets of San Francisco "to be" as he is quoted, "sneered at and jeered at by an unwhipped mob."

After considerable discussion, it was decided to appoint a special committee to consider the matter and decide whether or not a reply should be sent. Supervisor O'Neill was appointed chairman and the Rev. Philip O'Han and Samuel Adelman as the other members.

Air Line Route Has Let First Grading Contract.

Hill Lines Not In on the Special Rates East.

The contract for grading fifty miles of the right-of-way of the Arrow line, the new road projected between Duluth and the Twin Cities, has been let. It is understood that grading will begin at Stacey, Minn., and extend from there northward. This will be the first actual work on the line.

It is claimed that grading will also begin from this end of the line within the next six weeks. The South company says that work will be rushed through to completion as rapidly as possible. William H. Crossland, vice president of the company, is expected in the city next Monday.

WILL NOT MEET RATES.

CRAZED BY ELECTION.

Mind of Politician Reeled When Returns Showed Reformers on Top.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 22.—Jonathan Stanley, a well-known politician, went stark crazy Thursday night when the election returns showed that the commission system had won over the old form of government. He frightened the women in his neighborhood into a frenzy before being arrested by the police. Complete returns show the new form of government a winner by 2,231.

Judge Howe of the district court yesterday held that Mrs. Emmet Crowell of Minneapolis is entitled to $10,000 insurance on the life of her husband, who died a few months ago. C. C. WEST DULUTH MAY COME UP AGAIN

The Poll Tax Matter is Not Yet Entirely Dropped.

Change in the City Charter Would be Necessary.

The information which the members of the West Duluth Commercial club desired on the poll tax question was given last night when Secretary Crutcher, who reported on his conference with the city attorney, Mr. Crutcher, said that his information was to the effect that a change in the city charter would be necessary to bring about the levying of the poll tax. He said that the state constitution makes the poll tax assessment optional with cities and some municipalities in the state have secured the right, through their charters, to levy the head assessment. His report was received and filed.

There were no expressions on the matter last evening at the meeting, but today, some members of the club expressed the belief that the matter will not be entirely dropped. The first action of the club was merely to obtain information as to the mode of procedure. Now that this has been done, the next step may be taken. It would be necessary for petition to be presented to the charter commission requesting that at the next fall election the question of whether or not the charter shall be amended so as to provide for the levying of a poll tax be submitted to the citizens for a vote. Should the vote result favorably, legislative action would be necessary to change the charter.

The members of the committee which attended the public hearing on the matter of harbor improvements reported verbally last night on the development of the meeting. One of the members said that he personally had presented a communication to the members of the board of engineers favoring the breakwater plan, but the club took no action and made no recommendations. The attention of the club was drawn to the poor condition of the walks from Fifty-ninth avenue west to Bay View Heights. A resolution was passed urging the city council to have new walks constructed in the territory mentioned.

BAPTISTS IN SESSION

President Gorch of Bethel Academy Tells of Its Work.

Delegates Are Assigned to Local Pulpits for Sunday.

The morning session of the Swedish Baptist Conference of Minnesota, which is being held at the Swedish Bethel Baptist church in this city, was opened with a Bible study, led by Rev. C. A. Berg. This was followed by a short address by Rev. Magnus Larson on the urgent need of Swedish literature for the church congregation in the conference. During the short business session held this morning the visiting pastors were assigned pulpits in the various city churches where they will preach tomorrow.

Dr. Arvid Gorch, president of the Bethel academy at Minneapolis, gave an interesting talk concerning the condition of the school which was started but two years ago. He called attention to the new school buildings that are now being erected between Central avenue and Wabasha street.

Governor Johnson today said the commission was of the opinion that it could take in all this property with the $150,000 available and probably include the frame building at the southeast corner of Central and Wabasha streets.

As soon as the land under contemplation is acquired, steps will be taken at once for the clearing off of the same and the removal of ash heaps and bill boards.

It is probable too that the commission will ask the next legislature to deny the right to locate bill boards within a certain distance of any public building.

WOMAN ADMITTED SHE ACTED BAD

Mrs. McClure Gives Favorable Testimony for Her Husband.

Valley City, N. D., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sensational climax was reached in the trial of George McClure for killing Elmer Lewis, his hired man, for alleged illicit relations with the slayer's wife, when Mrs. McClure, the woman in the case, took the stand and admitted that she had acted improperly with the dead man. The woman, who is far from prepossessing, and looks to be about her husband's age, and the latter told the story of her infidelity and shame without a tear or other trace of emotion. She admitted that a few days prior to the shooting she and Lewis went to a dance against her husband's wish, and they planned to elope this fall, taking all the money they could raise, and the two younger children. She confessed her folly to her husband, and the latter ordered Lewis away, and the following day the shooting resulted.

Mrs. McClure corroborated what his wife had told the jury of his suspicious being aroused, his ordering the dead man away, and of the affair, making him almost crazy. The trial is drawing great crowds despite the busy season of the year.

IRREGULARITIES IN BRITISH NAVY
Parliamentary Committee Makes Some Startling Charges.

London, June 22.—"Grave irregularities," is the term the parliamentary committee on public accounts gives to condemn the navy on which it issued its report today. The committee finds the established custom was the acceptance of commissions from contractors by petty officers, but the report adds that severe disciplinary measures have been adopted to suppress the practice. The committee objects strongly to the action of the admiralty in contracting for the construction of the armored cruisers invisible, inflexible and indomitable without competition, although the admiralty officials explained that they wished to keep the plans secret. The committee finds that the builders of the battleship King Edward VII secretly patched up a defectively constructed hull, which the government was obliged to replace. The builders gathered together a few of their employees on a certain Sunday and by electric welding concealed a huge fault in the hull. The report of the committee says: "We hope it will not again be our duty to investigate a case where a British firm, for commercial advantage, will callously hazard the lives of hundreds of their fellow countrymen."

MRS. CROSBY DIES IN BED

Heart Failure Brings End Quietly and Husband Sleeps On.

Mrs. Matilda F. Crosby died yesterday of heart failure last evening after retiring for the night. She passed away so quietly that Mr. Crosby was not aware that anything was the trouble with his wife until he awoke this morning and found her dead at his side. "She went to bed without complaining of feeling at all ill," said Mr. Crosby this morning, "and I was not aware that she had been feeling ill for some time. She had been attending to her duties as usual, and I am confident that that was the cause of her death."

Dr. H. E. Webster, who is the Crosby's family physician, stated that it was heart failure which caused her sudden death. She evidently passed away while asleep without pain or illness.

Mrs. Crosby's death came as a distinct shock to her wide circle of friends in the eastern part of the city. She was a native of Minnesota, and the family are prostrated at her sudden demise. Besides her husband she leaves three children, all boys, the oldest 9 years of age and the youngest 2.

GIRL SHOWS BAD TEMPER

Creates Scene When Ordered to the State Training School.

Stirred into a perfect frenzy of bad temper a 16-year-old girl who was committed to the state training school at Red Wing, for incorrigibility, this morning, created a scene at the courthouse when the officer attempted to remove her from the courtroom. Shouting at the top of her voice she said she would not go, that nobody could take her away, the girl threw herself back in her chair and fought like a young tiger cat. She screamed and stamped the floor until everybody about the courtroom was picked up and took her to the county jail where she very quickly quieted down after being locked up in a cell in the women's department. The girl, it is said, has claimed that she is 18 years old, and that the court could do nothing with her. Acting on that belief she has practically defied the court as well as her mother, who has lost all control over her. During fits of anger at home the girl is said to have smashed the dishes and acted in such a manner that none of the family dared to interfere with her.

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED.
Northern Pacific Work Train Is Derailed Near Detroit, Minn.

Detroit, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two Northern Pacific trainmen are dead and one seriously injured as the result of the derailment of a worktrain near here last evening. The train consisted of a string of gravel cars, a Lidgerwood unloader and a locomotive. While unloading, the Lidgerwood got to swaying and the locomotive engineer set the emergency brakes causing the unloader and the caboose to jump the track and go into the ditch. Brakenman Linemen and Engineer Charles Anderson were instantly killed, and Engineer W. C. Greenbush was seriously hurt.

defendants had filed on seventeen other claims but these latter had been held up in the general land office.

Denver, Colo., June 22.—The news today says sixty or more indictments will be returned this evening by the special federal grand jury which has been in session since May 14, investigating coal and timber frauds in Colorado and other Western states. The jury will report to Judge Lewis.

Among those indicted will be at least ten Denver men, among them millionaires and officials of at least one railroad company. Officers and several stockholders of Milwaukee and St. Louis coal companies doing business in Colorado also will probably be dragged into the net.

It is not likely that bench warrants will be issued by Judge Lewis for the arrest of the persons indicted until Monday. Arrests will follow immediately.

C. Wheeler, who is in charge of 100 secret service men who have been in the state for six months, gathering evidence against men accused of fraudulent coal and timber land entries, considers the work of the grand jury at Denver by far the most important of any inaugurated by the United States attorney general since the beginning of the land fraud inquiry.

PERSIAN SITUATION BECOMING SERIOUS.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—A special dispatch from Tcheran, Persia, says the situation in the northern part of Azerbaijan province is becoming serious. The bandit chief Martuz Khali Khan, assisted by Kurds is waging war on the populace and destroying villages. Constant fighting is taking place in the city of Makur, 112 miles from Tcheran. Two companies of Persian troops, with six field guns are being dispatched to Makur from Tabriz.

FIRST WORK ENCOURAGES

Exploration Two Miles Northeast of Aurora Quite Successful.

Satisfactory Results Also Had South of Iron Junction.

Virginia, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A half mile east of the Meadow mine and about two miles northeast of Aurora, a number of range residents are drilling for ore with encouraging results. The first hole put down cut seventeen feet of good ore. Overlying the ore was twenty-six feet of surface, then about fifty feet of slates, then taconite. A second hole is now down 150 feet and is in mixed taconite and ore. Among those interested in the exploration are: C. R. Hill of Aurora, F. B. Rossignol, Neils Anderson, Martin Nelson, J. R. Kroghdahl, Fred Anderson and others of Virginia. A meeting will be held today to decide whether the exploration will be continued.

Fred Engel and others of this city started explorations Thursday on lands lying about three miles south of Iron Junction, on the Missabe road. It has been known for some time that there are good indications of ore in this neighborhood and some months ago a hole was put down with a churn drill, but of late Mr. Engel is giving the matter his personal attention.

EAGLE TO SCREAM IN JOINT BLOWOUT
Coleraine and Bovey Are Planning for a Fine Celebration.

Coleraine, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The eagle will be made to scream loud and lustily in Coleraine and Bovey on the Fourth of July. Such was the conclusion arrived at at the mass meeting held at Bovey on Tuesday evening of this week, when several of the representative business men of both towns were present and, in a measure, voiced the sentiments of a majority of citizens of both villages, and it was unanimously decided to give a celebration of such proportions as would eclipse the efforts of any other town on the range and inaugurate a large crowd being present to help celebrate in a befitting manner, the nation's birthday.

Committees, consisting of six members from each town, have been appointed to take entire charge of the celebration, and push arrangements with vim and vigor. Enough money will be subscribed to hang up good purses for the various sporting events, and to insure an all-around good time for everybody.

While the entire program is as yet far from being complete, it is safe to say that the following will be among the list of attractions, and as many more as can be secured:

Taskeball game between two of the fastest amateur teams on the Mesaba range; foot races, sack races, wheelbarrow races, jumping contests, tug-of-war and other games of strength; boat races, log-rolling contests, swimming races, amphibious races and other sports on Trout lake; grand ball in the evening, bowery dance all day and night, balloon ascension and an elaborate display of fireworks on the lake front in the evening.

In addition to the foregoing, other attractions will be secured, and, together with beautiful Trout lake, good boating and fishing, as shade trees and natural picnic grounds, Coleraine and Bovey offers unusual opportunities for pleasure-seekers to come and enjoy a day of recreation, sport and amusement.

BENEDICT IS JOSHED.

Yardmaster Brown of Missabe Road Is Given Lively Reception.

Hibbing, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was a lively greeting the friends of Yardmaster William Brown of the Missabe road gave that popular citizen on his return Thursday night from his honeymoon following his marriage to Miss Duchambrey. A large number of his Elk friends and others met the couple at the depot and placing them in a hack which had been better days, escorted them to their home. If the couple thought they were to be let alone they were mistaken, for later in the evening a larger number of their friends appeared and informed the smiling benedict he was wanted at the Elks' hall. Mr. Brown demurred saying he could not leave his bride, but his explanation gave no satisfaction to his persistent friends who compelled him to accompany them to the hall. There he is said to have been initiated into the mysteries of the Order of Beneditors after which he was taken home in a lumber wagon.

Mr. Koenigsmann made the following statement today:

The reported interview quoting me as stating that President Small would be disciplined by the executive board made such a statement. There will be a meeting of the board this afternoon to discuss the present situation and until after that time no one has authority to say what position the board will take.

PRINES THE VALUATION

Jury Reduces Award to John J. Murphy by $8,000.

Verdict Upholds Contention of Wisconsin Central Railway Co.

The jury in the appeal from the award of the commissioners on the lots owned by John J. Murphy returned a verdict yesterday afternoon cutting the amount from $82,105.42 to $74,007.50, a reduction of approximately $8,000. The lots in question are located below Superior street between Sixth and Seventh avenues west, and have been selected by the Wisconsin Central Railway company as a part of the depot location. The company instituted condemnation proceedings to acquire the property, but thought the award by the jury was too high.

Witnesses for Mr. Murphy claimed that the lots were worth from $800 to $1,500 a front foot, while witnesses for the railway company claimed the property was worth from $500 to $800 a front foot.

How to Fool a Lazy Liver with Artificial Exercise

VERY serious Sickness has a small beginning. And, in nine cases out of ten, that beginning is made in the Bowels.

Constipation is the beginning of most diseases. It paves the way for all others. Lack of exercise, hasty eating, improper food, are its first causes. Laziness, and postponement, permit it to grow into Chronic Constipation, which means life-long Discomfort.

It isn't necessary to be sick-a-bed, you know, in order to be mighty uncomfortable. Even a slight indigestion affects the nerves, dulls the mind, and obscures the merry sunshine of Life.

The time to adjust the Bowels is the very minute you suspect they need adjustment. —If your tongue is slightly coated, —If your breath is under suspicion, —If your head feels a trifle heavy or dull, —If digestion seems even a little slow, —If Heartburn, Belching, Colic or Restlessness begin to show themselves, —That's the time to eat a Cascaret.

It acts as pleasantly as it tastes. It is as congenial to your Bowels as it is to your Palate.

It stimulates the muscular lining of the Bowels and intestines, so that they mechanically extract nourishment from the food and drive out the waste.

The only way to have Cascarets ready to use precisely when you need them is to carry them constantly in your pocket, as you do a Watch or a Lead pencil.

The ten cent box of Cascarets is made thin, flat, round-edged, and small, for this precise purpose.

ADMITTED TO AAD TEMPLE

Fifty Candidates Take the Degree of the Mystic Shrine.

Fifty weary pilgrims journey over the long and dusty road that leads to the shrine of Aza, tomorrow, last evening.

It was the largest class of new candidates ever received into the new temple, and the affair was a most successful one in every way. The class included many prominent business and professional men from Duluth and the range towns. Among them were R. B. Knox, W. C. White and R. C. Rood of Virginia. By order of the Imperial high priest these three men were given a special degree, and the work connected with it is said to have been handled in a most masterly and efficient manner, which was thoroughly approved by 163 of the 166 men present.

After the ceremonies there was an informal entertainment given by the Cummings trio from the Bijou theater, and F. L. Hoxie, a traveling salesman who is in the city at the present time, and who is an expert sleight of hand performer.

THE BEGGED QUESTION.

Los Angeles Times. Walter Weman, the noted explorer, journalist and aeronaut, was discussing on the Carnegie, on the way to America, an English airplane that had failed.

"The machine," Mr. Weman said, "is no good, and it never will be any good. Its inventor excuses for its failure—he blamed the wind, the motor, a loose screw—begged the question as to the private did in the Civil war."

"This private escaped from camp one night, visited town, and in returning was seized by a sentry."

"Who goes there?" the sentry called in the darkness.

"Gen. Grant," the private answered in the voice of one who has consumed eleven beers and nine whiskeys.

"And thereupon the disgusted sentry knocked the man down with his musket butt."

"The private told his handkerchief around his head."

"Well," he stammered, "if you'd do this to Gen. Grant, what wouldn't you have done to Jim Jobbins?"

CARRIERS IN CONVENTION

Annual State Meeting Is Being Held in Duluth.

Visitors to be Entertained With Banquet at St. Louis.

The fifth annual convention of the Minnesota State Association of Letter carriers, a branch of the national association, is being held today in the United States courtroom in the federal building. Delegates are in attendance from all of the twenty-two branch associations in the state. F. S. Trafton of Cleveland, chairman of the council of administration of the National Association of Letter carriers, is also in attendance.

The convention opened with an informal reception held in the federal building last night, when the visiting delegates were welcomed by the local carriers. F. S. Trafton gave a short address, and the delegates were taken up to the hotel for the night. The main social feature of the convention will be a banquet this evening at the St. Louis hotel. About 150 carriers will be laid, the delegates and visitors being the guests of the local carriers. The Superior carriers will also attend. The banquet will be given by the St. Louis hotel. The local carriers will be represented by local and visiting carriers.

SUPERIOR NEWS FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Harry Busse Will Go to Chicago Without Extradition.

Harry Busse, wanted by the Chicago police for embezzlement, was arrested last evening by Detective McCowan and Lieut. Seon. Busse admits the charge, and he says he will return to Chicago with the officers, who are not taking him to jail. He will not require extradition papers, and says he is ready to take the consequences of his actions. Busse is a bright-looking young man, of considerable intelligence. He held a responsible position with the Schwabacher & Sulzberger, the meat packers, and it was from that firm he embezzled several hundred dollars. It is claimed that Busse says that company was the cause of his downfall. He expressed regret for his act, and his only aim now is to have it all over with as soon as possible. A reward of $100 was offered for his arrest by the Fidelity Deposit company of Maryland, which company had furnished his bonds.

COURT IS SARCASTIC

Says Neither Husband Nor Wife Seem to be Angels.

Marshall Divorce Case Will be Disposed of Monday.

"Neither of you are angels and both probably have some cause for grievance," remarked Judge Dibel this morning as he dismissed the order for Michael Marshall to show cause why he should not contribute temporary alimony and suit money to Katherine Marshall pending the disposition of the divorce proceedings, instituted by her. The case will be tried Monday evening.

Mrs. Marshall claims that she is 13 and her husband is 25 years of age, that they were married in February, 1905, and have two children aged fifteen and five months respectively. She bases her petition for a divorce on alleged cruel treatment by her husband.

Marshall filed two affidavits with his motion for a dismissal of the order to show cause.

He claims that he has a good job and that he is a night watchman. He alleges that she has abandoned him and that she has left him in the care of anybody she can find. He claims that she has a more opportunity to work than he has, and that she has been more successful in her work.

He also claims that she has been more successful in her work than he has, and that she has been more successful in her work.

BAYARD IS EULOGIZED

In Speech Delivered at Wilmington by Judge George Gray.

On Occasion of Dedication of Monument to Late Statesman.

Wilmington, Del., June 22.—In the presence of a large crowd a memorial statue to Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state in President Cleveland's first cabinet, former United States senator and the first American ambassador to the court of St. James, was unveiled here this afternoon. An address by Judge George Gray was delivered.

Judge Gray referred briefly to the professional career of Mr. Bayard and then dwelt upon his personal charms, his industry of nature and his brilliant intellect, saying that he made those sentiments the governing factor in his life, whether in public office or in private station.

Continuing Judge Gray said: "Mr. Bayard may have had his faults, though his friends found it hard to discover them. I know that some of them were his, but they were not his faults. They were his weaknesses, and they were his weaknesses because they were his weaknesses."

The high standards of conduct set forth by him in his public utterances were never lowered in the intimacies of private life. On such occasions his conversation, though marked by his charming and lambent humor which was natural to him, more often than with most public men, was marked by a great social tact and a deep knowledge of the human mind.

"Time does not permit me to dwell upon his senatorial career and his country and his countrymen. He was a true patriot and a true statesman. He was a true patriot and a true statesman. He was a true patriot and a true statesman."

He was a true patriot and a true statesman. He was a true patriot and a true statesman. He was a true patriot and a true statesman. He was a true patriot and a true statesman. He was a true patriot and a true statesman.

THE BOARD OF REVIEW

Will Meet Monday to Listen to Kicks on Assessments.

Will Probably Remain in Session Until Tuesday Night.

All kickers, both those of the chronic variety and the kind who get busy when notices of assessment are received, are requested to take notice that on Monday, June 24, according to the requirements of the charter, the board of equalization, or the board known as the board of review, consisting of the mayor, the city controller and the city assessor, will meet in the council chamber to listen to complaints on the amount of the assessments made against various property owners in the city of Duluth.

They will continue in session Monday and Tuesday, and when they adjourn for the year the assessment as levied by the assessor and confirmed by the board must stand.

Mayor Cullum is, by charter provision, the chairman of the board, and the board is empowered by the charter with all the powers vested in the county board of equalization by the state laws, but it is not restricted by any limitations in respect to reducing the amount of the assessments made against various property owners in the city of Duluth.

The board expects to put in a busy day Monday. Kickers have been regular visitors at the assessor's office since the notices of the amount of the assessment have been sent out, and they have been advised to attend the session Monday in a body.

One of the peculiar things about the assessment kickers, according to men who have been engaged in the arduous task of estimating the city's personal property, is that the people who show up to kick are in a majority of cases those who have never been assessed before.

They seem to have worked the assessor for the limit at the start and then tried to knock a few dollars out of their total valuation by kicking after the amount has been fixed.

The board of review, however, usually finds a number of cases where the assessors have been somewhat zealous and a reduction is no more than fair. Should any one have an idea that his neighbor's assessment is too low he can, by protest to the board during its session, procure an investigation.

The assessment this year will probably not reach a point which was expected for it. Figuring on growth in past years it was hoped that the city would reach the $100,000 mark this year, but City Assessor Jackson says that this is an impossibility.

CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY
Max Martin, Newsboy, Arrested for Serious Crime.

Max Martin, a newsboy, was arrested this afternoon about 3 o'clock by the police, charged with grand larceny. Martin is said to have taken $5 from the pocket of J. Olson on Fifth avenue west near the Union depot about 1 o'clock this afternoon. Olson was intoxicated at the time. He will probably be arraigned Monday morning.

WAS CARL V. TOPP.
Man Who Was Killed Leaves a Family at St. Paul.
St. Paul, June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Investigation here and in Minneapolis has disclosed that T. B. Topp, who was shot on the Rock Island passenger train last night, was Carl V. Topp, a tailor, who until recently was in business at 651 East Third street in this city. He sold his business, intending to engage in the same business in San Francisco. He left here last Thursday afternoon. His wife and two grown children still reside here.

MONTE CARLO AS IT REALLY IS

Many Popular Ideas of the Famous Gambling Resort Are Erroneous.

The fascination of Monte Carlo is undoubted; it even holds a certain sway over the most austere anti-gambler, says the Manchester Chronicle. Men there are who have never been attracted by race meetings and have never registered a single bet, and yet have felt drawn toward Monte Carlo. There is something in the air, some secret charm that marks it from every other place where they gamble.

Why? Well, I think principally because it is no more than fair. The thought of what successful competition may do for you is sufficient to make the heart go quicker, to send the blood coursing through the veins in a single of excitement and anticipation. You have only to find the numbers, or a combination of numbers, three, four or five times, and the whole of your holiday expenses are paid—how much depends, of course, upon your stake—and presently you have in your possession more money than you have earned by the preceding twelve months' labor. Is not that exciting? Does it not keep you on the tenter hooks of excitement?

I have visited Monte Carlo three last few years—after an absence of some years—and I want to express my emotions. Much, very much, has been written of the metropolis of roulette, but most of the descriptions are inadequate and misleading. They do not give one's mental picture of the place, founded on what one reads and imagines, a gambling palace, the most beautiful of the little principality to be standing in its own grounds, perched on a solitary grandeur upon a promontory jutting far out into the blue Mediterranean.

But it is not so, at all. The casino stands high upon a cliff overlooking the sea, but so does the whole of the town. The gardens are by no means spacious. The famous terrace is a comparatively narrow strip, fronting the casino, and there are other terraces (such as there are) under the cold stare of heaven and to the left of the casino. It is a pretty garden, set with trees and shrubs and a winding path, but it is not the place where the deep, mysterious recesses with which popular imagination has endowed it.

Neither is the gambling house set upon a lonely hill; it is flush with the street; in front of it are restaurants, and, flanking it are hotels. A mob of pious fly about it, as if it were the Royal Exchange. In a sense it is, no doubt, for you can exchange your wealth for counters. Before the Cote d'Azur rapidly thundered into Monte Carlo with me among its passengers, I had fondly imagined a wild scene of gaily in pastimes, a life of reckless excitement on the very strenuous pitch. I had imagined Parisian "cocottes" in surging hats and amazingly low-necked dresses. I had, certainly, expected to hear peals of strident laughter from painted jockeys in the intervals of ogling men and stealing their winnings; there would be smoking, of course, by the two sexes, and every one would wear a desperate and feverish, if not a villainous, air—the sinister glare of vultures busy with the carcass, or the dreadful look of the hunted beast.

All this I have certainly read about in the novels of the day, but what I saw was quite different. The whole atmosphere of the casino is solemn to a degree. You feel you are in a salon, not in a mere gambling place—a "place," sure enough, within the meaning of the act—and with the ceremoniousness of some old city bank about it. You are not admitted until you have produced your card. It is carefully scrutinized, and, if the result is satisfactory, a hexagonal pasteboard is presented to you, authorizing you to enter and lose your money—as you are bound to do if you stay there long enough. Most people hope to get away before that happens.

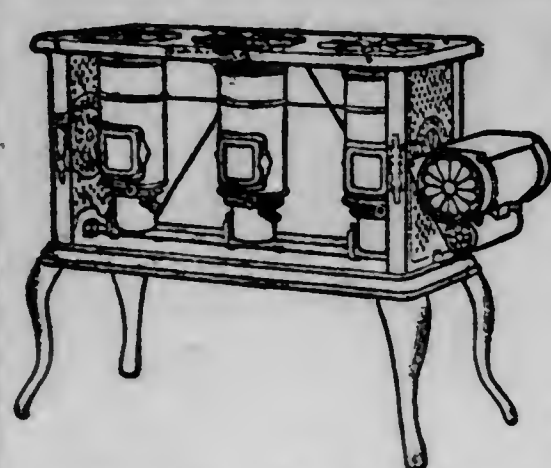

They are very particular about your appearance; there must be no mud upon your shoes, and your trousers must not be turned up. I suppose this latter rule had strictly to do with appearances, until an old "habitué" enlightened me. "It is to prevent coins from being secreted," he said.

There are, of course, cases of the wildest plunging, but, generally the player has lost the greater part of his money elsewhere, and goes to the principality as a last resort.

GOVERNOR BACK FROM THE EAST

Was Pleasantly Entertained by the University of Pennsylvania.

St. Paul, June 22.—Governor Johnson has reached home from Philadelphia, where he delivered the University of Pennsylvania commencement address on Wednesday. He made the return trip in record time.

"I did not leave the Philadelphia city limits till after 6 p. m. Wednesday," said the governor, "and I reached St. Paul Thursday at 9:40 p. m. I came on a special train from New York-Chicago trains, and reached Chicago at 8:55 a. m. having just five minutes at the station to make the Milwaukee's day train for the Twin Cities. The entire trip I made in less than twenty-eight hours."

"I had two very interesting days at Philadelphia. Tuesday I was entertained at luncheon, shown over the university buildings and grounds in the afternoon, and entertained that evening at the University club for dinner, along with several other guests. One man from Oxford, and another from Japan were there to take degrees. I was a guest at luncheon again Wednesday, after the commencement exercises. I was royally treated and enjoyed the trip, but I am tired, and have had very little time to myself in the past ten months. As soon as I get things straightened around and some of the board meetings held, I am going to take a vacation."

"I was pleased to find out at Pennsylvania that Dr. Gray, the new head of the political science department and successor of Dr. W. W. Folwell at the university, is favorably regarded in the East. A member of the Pennsylvania faculty told me that they considered Dr. Gray, who has been head of the department at Northwestern, to be one of the best men in the country."

"The Philadelphia papers asked me about politics. I told them just as I have every day, that I was not a candidate for the presidential nomination, and did not expect to be. Then I was forced to answer questions about political issues, and it was rather embarrassing, because whenever I discuss political questions I am accused of being for favor and playing for the nomination, which is not my intention at all."

The press of Philadelphia was very complimentary in its treatment of Governor Johnson's address, voting the opinion that it was one of the very best ever delivered at the university.

Shaw Not Original.

To the Editor of The Herald: The papers are now wildly quoting a recent saying of George Bernard Shaw, in effect that what is most the matter with the poor is that they stay poor. Mr. Shaw is the original, brilliant and eccentric-thoughted writer who is getting rather frolicsome on Shakespeare and expressed the fancy that he could beat him if he would try—a proof of high imagination in Mr. Shaw. But his epigram on the poor man's trouble is not original, brilliant or eccentric; it only rephrases with less freshness and force the words of wise and terse old Solomon: "The destruction of the poor is their poverty." Four Lost "Kids" Found.

The police did a land office business rescuing lost children yesterday afternoon. Between 3 o'clock and 6, four youngsters under 3 years of age were reported as lost to one of the operators at headquarters, and all of them were located before midnight. They were Henry Perrault, 2515 West Second street; the 8-year-old son of N. A. Dunning, 629 Woodland avenue; the 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. H. Fox of 125 East Superior street; and Walter, the 2-year-old son of Mrs. Henry Anderson of Third avenue west and Eighth street.

Falling Wheel Causes Panic.

Because a workman saw fit to throw a wheel down from the upper works of the aerial bridge yesterday afternoon considerable excitement was caused among the little group of persons who were standing waiting for the car to come across. The wheel imbedded itself in the sand at one side of the approach, and as the workman who dropped the wheel happened to be out of sight from where spectators were standing, they thought that an accident must have happened. The workman appeared in a moment, however, and reassured them.

BIG OIL TANKS ARE BURNING

Disastrous Blaze at Butler, Pa., Started by Lightning.

Butler, Pa., June 22.—Twenty-five thousand barrels of oil are burning at the plant of the Valvoline Oil company at Butler, Pa., with the greatest danger of its being communicated to other tanks. Shortly after noon a terrific storm, accompanied by sharp lightning passed over the city and a huge tank full of oil was struck and ignited. It is located on a hillside above the Valvoline and is surrounded by other tanks and is about 100 feet high and 100 feet in diameter. The fire is now burning in size and is spreading rapidly.

Below the tanks runs the Bonnybrook branch of Conemaugh creek. It is two miles long and is a tributary of the Allegheny river. The fire is now burning in size and is spreading rapidly. The loss is at present estimated at $50,000 and may reach $100,000 if other tanks ignite.

Our Navy Equal to Any.

United States naval officers are not willing to admit that the monster battleships planned by Great Britain, Japan and Italy are necessarily more effective than our own ships, which are smaller. They assume that with our seamanship, brains, marksmanship, etc., our ships can outfight any of the world's navies. The navy department has a very good reason for this. It is that our ships are built for speed and maneuverability. They are built for speed and maneuverability. They are built for speed and maneuverability.

Splendid Values in Gold

The Life Story of Robert McKinley, Prospector, and His Determination to Make a Gold Mine

The price of achievement in mining, as in other lines, is toil and hardship. The life story of Robert McKinley of Boise, Idaho, furnishes no exception to this rule. But today, after more than eight years of patient toil and determination, he sees the reward almost within his grasp, and looks to the investing public to join him in a final effort to bring the crown of achievement to his untiring foresight and industry.

Robert McKinley was not unprepared for his work. He did not spend his boyhood days in idleness or luxury, but learned early in the school of practical experience the necessity of toil and the meaning of hardship. Born in Maryland in 1879, he studied switch-locks in Indiana, began his journey westward in early boyhood, and long before reaching the age of 20 he had mastered all the elements of the trade of the practical mechanic. Thoroughly equipped as a machinist and engineer, he sought the mining camps at about the time when stories of their fabulous mineral wealth began to circulate among the ranks of rich and splendid gold strikes in Colorado, Idaho and Montana did not fail to impress the imagination of every ambitious mining man. It was in 1891 that placer mining for gold began to be developed in Idaho, yielding fortune upon fortune to the pioneer gold-seekers of those wild regions. These same placers have yielded over $300,000,000 during a period of 25 years, and are still producing.

It was Idaho that most appealed to the ambition of McKinley, as the region containing the greatest and most promising extent of unexplored mineral lands in the United States. Of all the mineral sections that he visited throughout this vast region he found none richer or more promising than the now famous Boise Basin, in Southern Idaho. He followed the trail from both Grimes and Moore Creeks, which wash the sides of Jupiter Mountain, and traced the dykes and great surface outcroppings of mineralized ledges far up the slopes of the lonely mountain.

All this was the work not of a few weeks, but of long months of patient toil. After satisfying himself that the mineral values of the Jupiter Mountain ledges were beyond all question, after digging deep into the rich surface outcrops, cutting tunnels and taking out and testing the gold in ton lots, Robert McKinley is now in a position to come forward with a clear conscience and invite the investing public to share with him in the magnificent profits which now await upon the complete and adequate development of this great property. He furnishes the land, and he looks to the public to supply the necessary money. In this partnership all will share alike, and the smallest investor will receive profits in the same proportion as the holder of 10,000 shares.

The practical experience and patient endeavor of Robert McKinley during his eight years of search and toil will furnish the fullest assurance that every dollar invested in this enterprise will be used in a way to produce the largest and quickest returns for the stockholders of this Company.

Convincing Statements

From Those Who Know Us and Our Property

Mr. John Ennis, Vice President Boise State Bank, Idaho, says: "I take no hesitancy in recommending Mr. McKinley as being a man worthy of the confidence of other business men. I have always found him to be perfectly reliable and trustworthy in his dealings."

The Electric Power Co., Ltd., Boise, Idaho, says: "We will take pleasure in recommending Mr. Robert McKinley to any one for his business integrity and for his ability as a pusher and as a thorough mechanic."

Mr. W. C. Weiss, Secretary Weis Cornice Co., Kansas City, Mo., says: "On two occasions I have made a thorough and complete examination of these great gold-bearing properties. The five great parallel veins traversing these groups have outcrop planes of such a nature as few mining men have ever seen. I have personal knowledge of assays that have been made from these ores that run into thousands of dollars per ton."

Mr. W. C. Austin, Mining Engineer of Boise, Idaho, says: "The McKinley Gold Mines Company have locations covering the entire east slope of Jupiter Mountain, compelling some thirty locations. The outcrop shows for 30 feet in length. The gold values are contained in a black, crystalline cut; there is no trace of any base metals, other than iron, discernible to the eye. The proposed tunnel at a depth of 20 feet, showing it to be 14 feet wide at this point between the veins, an increase in size and uniformity of gold values as compared with the surface outcrop. As the surface assays showed very high values, I consider this fact of great significance to the mine, and as a result of my examination, together with a certified report which I made, demonstrated commercial values in gold and silver far in excess of the working cost."

JUPITER MOUNTAIN AND BOISE BASIN—RICHEST GOLD-BEARING SECTION IN IDAHO

The McKinley Gold property comprises 28 claims, or about 500 acres, situated on Jupiter Mountain, in Boise County, Idaho. The gold production of the famous Boise Basin has already amounted to the magnificent total of $100,000,000 from the placers alone; and only quite recently have the immense mineral resources of the underground deposits begun to be developed to a stage of profitable production. The Basin begins at the head of Moore Creek, and is now attracting wide attention from enterprising investors, who, following the trail of the prospectors, are now rapidly opening up and developing the district and laying the foundations for larger production and more lucrative profits than any hitherto realized.

The five great gold-bearing veins traversing the McKinley property trend from northwest to southeast, with off-shoots, branches, and connecting fissures of enormous width plainly traceable by outcroppings. These veins are heavily mineralized to now an accepted fact among all mining men familiar with the district. A single tunnel can be run through all these veins at right angles, tapping them at depth, and draining the whole property. Transportation facilities for the Basin are now being rapidly developed by the Barber Lumber Co., which is constructing a branch road connecting with the Oregon Short Line branch at their plant at Barber and running through Moore Creek Gulch along the base of Jupiter Mountain. The railroad will pass within about half a mile of the McKinley property. The present stage road to Boise runs within 2,000 feet of our tunnel site. Light and power will be supplied to the section at an early date by the Wharton Power Plant, whose dam, just completed on the South Payette river, develops 2,000 horse-power at the low-water stage.

A MOUNTAIN OF GOLD

HUNDREDS OF ASSAYS PROVING THE EXTRAORDINARY RICHNESS OF THE JUPITER MOUNTAIN FORMATION.

The Gold now being obtained on the McKinley property is taken chiefly from volcanic or eruptive formations called "dykes." These dykes show a rich mineralization to the enormous depth of 2,000 feet. As depth is attained these dykes, which are the source of the gold, are found to be rich in the placer minerals in the beds of the creeks that wash the base of the mountain. As depth is attained these great dykes, enclosed between walls of solid granite, show amazing and almost unlimited quantities of rich gold-bearing ore, which years of working could not possibly exhaust. The values obtained from these dykes are indicated in the following assays:

J. H. MORLAND, MINING ENGINEER.
Certificate of Assay for McKinley Gold Mines Co.
Sample No.	Silver	Copper	Value	Per ton.
1.....	17.55	2.6	2.4	$72.38
2.....	24.9	2.2	2.9	$75.00
3.....	96	6	7.8	$40.00
4.....	7.90	3.7	trace	$19.00

Mr. Morland has long been Govt. Assayer for the United States Customs House at Kansas City—the principal federal office in the West—and the assays he has given are reliable and unquestionable. In addition to the assays here presented, hundreds of others have been obtained of the Jupiter Mountain ore showing values running all the way from $1 to $2,000 to the ton in gold. These assays were made by such well-known assayors as Regis, B. & Co., of St. Louis; The Phillips Ore Testing and Metallurgical Works of Denver; Jas. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho; "Hicks" Gold and Silver Exchange Co., of Boise, Idaho; and the American Smelting and Refining Co. of Salt Lake City. In fact, the mass of evidence now on file as to the quality of these ores is simply overwhelming and indisputable.

THE MAKING OF A GOLD MINE

What is Required in a Successful Mining Enterprise.

The world's wealth is taken from the ground, where it has been stored for long ages in Nature's treasure vaults. The work of obtaining these rich values from beneath the surface is not a simple task. It is a modern science, and has given it a degree of certainty unequalled in any form of enterprise; and when the investor once understands the requirements of a successful mining enterprise he can no longer look upon mining as a "venture" or a "gamble."

The conditions of success are three—the Mine, the Men, and the Money. With a richly mineralized land of proven value—with an upright and experienced management determined to "make good"—and with the funds necessary to purchase machinery, and to carry forward the work of digging out the ore—the conditions are all present for a successful mining enterprise.

By careful inquiry any investor may satisfy himself regarding the merits of a given proposition, and there is no excuse whatever for "taking chances" in mining any more than in any other legitimate business. INVESTIGATE, INVESTIGATE—that is the secret of successful investment. The more carefully you investigate the MCKINLEY GOLD MINES COMPANY, the more anxious you will be to secure a block of McKinley stock at the ground-floor price; for we have the Mine, the Men and the Money; and only the possibility of larger and quicker results by the immediate expenditure of additional funds brings this offer before you at this time.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:

UNQUESTIONED STANDING AND INTEGRITY OF THE MCKINLEY MANAGEMENT.

A careful investigation of the standing of our officers and directors will convince the most conservative investor that money placed in this enterprise is in safe hands. All such investigation will be welcomed, for those men have nothing to conceal.

OFFICERS.
M. C. LINDSEY, President; Railroad Contractor, Kansas City, Mo.
W. A. FORSTER, M. D., Vice President; Physician, Kansas City, Mo.
N. EDWARDS, JR., Secretary and Treasurer; Manager of the Dental Surgeon, Geo. T. Vance, Secretary Evans Snider-Buel Live Stock Co.; (all of Kansas City).

DIRECTORS.
August Stahl, Manufacturer; S. Kaufman, Clothier; Philip McKinley, of McKinley Plumbing Co.; B. B. Ralph, M. D.; Physician; C. A. Rennecker, Merchant; Geo. W. Cassard, Dental Surgeon; Geo. T. Vance, Secretary Evans Snider-Buel Live Stock Co.; (all of Kansas City).
These men are investing liberally of their own means in the present enterprise, but they realize that money required to make a mine, and that with adequate funds—more than they can command among themselves—the resulting profits will be far greater and quicker than if they should attempt to exclude the public from a share in the rewards of their efforts. No officer or director of the Company, with the exception of the Mine Superintendent, will receive any salary whatever until the dividend-paying period. All money derived from the sale of stock over and above the necessary expenses of advertising, etc., are to be used strictly for development purposes, and no extravagance or leakages of any sort will be countenanced.

Millions of Dollars in Gold

Extracts From the Reports of Robert N. Bell, Idaho State Inspector of Mines.

The Boise Basin section, situated at the head of Moore's Creek, has received marked attention from investors during recent years, and some very flattering opportunities remain. The enormous output of placer gold from this basin was mostly derived from an area of about fifteen miles from north to south by a maximum width of thirteen miles from east to west, which in comparison to its size, probably equals the output of any placer field in the world. The area above described embraces not only Idaho City, but also the towns of Centerville, Placerville, Quartzburg and Pioneerville, all of which have been rich in recent years and present a neat and thriving appearance. There are dozens of handsome lode mines among the old placer beds of the Basin now awaiting the advent of capital that afford encouraging evidence of opening out into good mines at depth if systematically and intelligently developed.

As Viewed by the Press

What Some of the Leading Papers Say Regarding the McKinley Co.

The Financial Bulletin, Denver, Col., March 1, 1907, says: "McKinley Gold Mines Company of Boise City has been incorporated to work property located six miles from Idaho City, and which gives evidence of being a highly mineralized area. About 1,000 assays have been secured running all the way from $40 to $2,000 to the ton in gold, the general average being about $60."

The Pittsburg Press, March 13, 1907, says: "Prospector Robert McKinley reports that the McKinley Gold Mines Co. financing is now well under way, and that the flotation is meeting with the most gratifying success."

The Boston Post, March 31, 1907, says: "Mining men in Idaho are manifesting keen interest in the preparations now being made for placing the McKinley gold property upon the production basis at an early date. The prospect work on the property has been long and thorough, covering a period of over eight years."

The Mining Investor, Colorado Springs, Colo., March 18, 1907, says: "In addition a test made recently of about 50 tons is reported to have yielded over $15 to the ton. The total cost of mining, milling and hauling is said to have been only about $2 to the ton."

The Cleveland (Ohio) Leader, June 2, 1907, says: "Mining Engineer W. C. Austin of Boise has issued a report of his recent examination of the Jupiter Mountain gold claims, and some interesting facts are brought out. The report notes a system of eruptive dykes extending along the mountain for a mile and a half, and heavily mineralized, as indicated by the quartz deposits."

The Daily Mining Record, Denver, Col., May 24, 1907, says: "A shipment of about 6,000 pounds of machinery and camp supplies was hauled the other day to Jupiter Mountain for immediate installation. A mill is to be built below the tunnel portal so situated that the handling of the ores and tailings can be effected by gravity."

The Evening Capital News, Boise, April 26, 1907, says: "The mine is in the heart of a highly mineralized section where millions have been taken out of the placer deposits, and the outlook for its becoming a big dividend payer are very bright."

Eight Years of Gold Digging

A STATEMENT FROM OUR MINE SUPERINTENDENT.

For eight years I have studied Jupiter Mountain, in the Boise Basin, following the Golden trail from both Grimes and Moore Creeks, which wash its base, up the steep sides to the eruptive dykes that prominently crop on its surface. I have purchased claims, and have studied and traced them along their course; I have dug holes in them, cut into them underground with tunnels, and I know the nature and quality of the ore and how most economically to treat it. Made, and I know the nature and quality of the ore and how most economically to treat it. JUST LIKE GETTING MONEY FROM HOME

OWN YOUR HOME

Why is it just like getting money from home, to buy real estate in West Duluth?

Because half of the property is selling at one-third the price it will be selling for two years from today.

I heard Jim Hill say: "Young man, you must risk if you wish to succeed." If you are not afraid to risk, I have a few snaps that will make you 50 per cent in one year.

I induced one man to buy a piece of property, paying $900 for it, $100 a year payments. After paying five hundred he is offered five thousand.

Another man who invested ten thousand dollars in paper, invests five hundred dollars at my suggestion. Just fourteen months ago, is now offered four times that amount.

Yes, it is just like taking candy from the baby. Every man or woman can have a home of his or her own. It will be a pleasure for me to advise with you and show you how simple it is to own a home.

JURY FIXES A VALUATION ON NEW DEPOT PROPERTY

Much Interest in Local Real Estate Circles Over Appeals From Awards of Appraisers in Wisconsin Central Condemnation Proceedings—No Sales of Much Importance Closed This Week, Though Some Large Deals Are Pending.

The local real estate market has not been especially active this week in the way of sales, in fact the interest of the real estate dealers has centered to a large extent, in the appeals from the awards of the commissioners in the condemnation proceedings instituted by the Wisconsin Central road to acquire its right-of-way and terminals in Duluth. A large number of the prominent real estate brokers of the city have been called to give expert testimony as to property values in the Bowers district, either for the property owner, John J. Murphy, who owns a large amount of Duluth realty, or for the railway company, which intends to locate its depot between Superior and Michigan streets and between Sixth and Seventh avenues west. Additional interest was injected into the case by the testimony of a Chicago railway expert, George W. Ristline, who has been employed during the past few years to make special reports on the valuations of terminals and railway construction work. It is a matter of fact that the Wisconsin Central company has purchased from the owners something over thirty of the lots east of Garfield avenue for right-of-way or for a depot terminal, while some half a dozen of the owners who held out for higher prices than were awarded by the appraisers appointed by the court, appealed from such awards. The company also appealed because it considered the award too high and claimed that the owners that were holding out were asking about two or three times as much as was paid for similar property sold outright to the railroad. The jury, yesterday decided that John J. Murphy, who owns two lots on the lower side of Superior street near Seventh avenue west, is entitled to $4,000 instead of $2,105.59, which was the amount of the award. This valuation covers the lots and the leases. Some weeks ago in another appeal from the award of the commissioners on a Seventh avenue west corner, the jury reduced the valuation $5,000. In the last instance the reduction was about $8,000. Estimates of experts as to the value of property below Superior street between Sixth and Seventh avenues west, ran from $500 to $1,500 a front foot, depending on which side of the expert was testifying. Much testimony was given to the effect that there has been a substantial increase in the value of Bowers property within the past few years. One real estate expert claims that in the district in question the values have advanced generally, about $20 a front foot and that in 1905-06 the prices advanced from $200 to $300 a front foot.

Although there have been few sales of any importance reported this week, information given by some of the local brokers shows that there are some good trades pending, especially along West First street. One office is about to close negotiation for a lease on some prominent Superior street property. There is a steady buying of unimproved lots and of improved lots, mostly of moderate priced residence property. Building activity continues and the aggregate valuation based on permits issued thus far by the building inspector, shows that Duluth will this season break all former records along the improvement line.

It has been rumored this week that a well known Park Point residence property is likely to be purchased for a summer home by an Eastern man of considerable wealth. In case the purchase is made the new owner, it is understood, will spend a large amount of money in making the property one of the finest summer homes at the Head of the Lakes.

W. C. Sargent & Co. report the sale this week of two properties on Lake avenue, two across the canal, one on East Sixth street and one on West Fifth street.

N. J. Upham & Co., the well known local firm that has been located in the Burrows building for many years, engaged in real estate, mortgage, insurance and municipal bonding business, has removed its office to larger and more conveniently located quarters at No. 20 Third avenue west, a few doors up from the First National bank building. Although much time has been taken up in the moving process, the firm reports several sales closed this week, including two lots at the corner of Sixty-first avenue west and Gosnell street and a lot on Fourth street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues east. The latter purchase was made for improvement, the consideration being $1,500.

W. M. Prindle & Co. have placed on the market for sale on easy payment plan some thirty-four lots in Chester Park. The values run from $25 to $35 each, and the terms are $1 cash and the balance in payments of from $150 to $2 per week. Tomorrow the firm will have salesmen on the grounds and will furnish team to carry people over the ground. Special emphasis is being made of the fact that the lots are not in the country, but are located in the city, eight minutes ride from the business center and easily reached by cars on the East Fourth or the Hunter's Park lines. Other very successful sales of Duluth property on this same basis have been held in recent years, and it is expected that the Chester Park lots will be quickly taken up for improvement.

Victor Nordstrom has bought from Florence Denny for $5,650, the property at the northwest corner of First street and Nineteenth avenue west.

Among the West Duluth sales of importance that were recorded this week was that of the brick flat property at the southeast corner of Fifty-third avenue west and Ramsey street from Thomas Mitchell to Anthony Konecny for $7,000. The property is described as lot 1 to 4½ inclusive, block 19, altered plat of West Duluth, Third (Continued on Page 13, Third Column)

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Keweenaw Company Has Plenty of Money for Work
---Thinking of Buying More Territory---No Change at the Adventure.

Houghton, Mich., June 22.—The Keweenaw Copper company, which controls the Phoenix Copper company, has elected directors of the latter corporation two members of its own board, so that now the entire Phoenix board is comprised of Keweenaw directors. President Wright of the Keweenaw says:

"There are now about 100 men employed on our property and work done during this month will be gradually increased. The Modoc shaft is now down 65 feet. On either side of the shaft we have drifted about 300 feet and from all appearances we are in good ground. About 2000 feet west of the Modoc we will shortly start sinking a new shaft. There is but little diamond drill work being done on the Keweenaw property and none will be done this summer. Neither is anything being done on the Phoenix property, although it is probable that within a year we shall start exploring there with diamond drills."

"The Keweenaw treasury has sufficient money to carry on its work, and on Oct. 1 when the second installment of the recent assessment is due, we shall have considerable more. About one-half of the Phoenix assessment has been paid to date, but until some more money is forthcoming from stockholders we will not do much on the property. The Keweenaw company now has about 2000 acres and we are now considering the proposition of adding somewhat to our territory by the purchase of additional land in the immediate vicinity of the present holdings."

"The Keweenaw Central railroad is doing well. The road is now entering Canada over the tracks of the Mineral Range railroad, but we are building about five miles of road so that we will soon be able to enter that city over our own rails. During the summer months the railroad should be able to pay its own keep. On the dumps of the Keweenaw, we have accumulated about 20,000 tons of stamp rock, but none of this will be treated until the company has sufficient to keep a mill in steady operation."

No change has been made at the Adventure mine. What action, if any, was taken at the annual meeting in regard to the future policy of the company has not been announced. There (Continued on page 12, 2nd col., 2nd sec.)

OPERATIONS ON LARGE SCALE

At the Old Dominion and Shipments From Arizona Commercial Suspended Until Ore Congestion at the Smelters is Relieved.

Globe, Ariz., June 22.—Operations continue on a large scale, and construction work is progressing well. Two furnaces which sprung leaks were closed down a day and a half last week for repairs. They are again running and the production of copper is normal. Owing to the heavy output of ore from the company's mills, shipments from the Arizona Commercial have been suspended until the ore congestion at the Old Dominion works is relieved. No. 3 crosscut on the fourth level has gone through sulphide vein, and the ore in both veins is high grade. The company has decided to install a large electric plant at C shaft to supply all the electric power required, and Mr. L. D. Ricketts and an electrical engineer are expected here within the next week to complete the plans for this important addition to the equipment.

The Gibson company has started work on its new three-compartment vertical shaft. A raise has been started from the third level, 200 feet west of the incline shaft. Raising will begin from the fourth level as soon as the proper point is reached. The shaft will be further extended. Sinking will be started to connect with the raise as soon as the new hoisting machinery is received. The company has now twenty-seven teams on the road to the smelter, shipments averaging seventy tons daily. The Gibson output in copper this month will be about 2000 pounds, which will be by far the company's record. Three new ten-horse teams will be put on the road this week. The company will install two 200-horse power boilers, an 800-foot air compressor and a 100-horse electric engine.

Mayor W. S. Sultan, who returned from his recent trip to the smelter, reports that the company has made a considerable improvement in the road, and that the company is now shipping ore steadily as to formation, but the ground floor plan, on which success has been made, makes the intelligent study of these new things a comparatively easy matter. Regarding work on the new shaft, the company has been making a greater number of big shafts, and the company has been making a greater number of big shafts, and the company has been making a greater number of big shafts.

Mr. Newhouse has become interested in the project and has been practically assured the zinc producers that a smelter would be built.

ZINC ORE SMELTER PLANNED

Near Salt Lake City by Utah and Nevada Producers
---Shipments to Eastern Plants Eat Up Much of Profits.

Salt Lake, June 22.—The producers of zinc in Utah and Nevada have long been in need of facilities for the treatment of their ores. Heretofore ores of this class have been shipped to reduction works in Colorado and Kansas. Although this procedure has been profitable to the owners of the mines, excessive freight rates have made it prohibitive to the movement of lower grade ore.

In view of the constant increase in tonnage, the need of a zinc smelter nearer home steadily has become more and more apparent. Within the last few months the matter of building a plant of this kind somewhere near Salt Lake has received serious consideration. The announcement was made several days ago to the effect that Samuel Newhouse had become interested in the project and has been practically assured the zinc producers that a smelter would be built.

ORE STRIKE AT THE EAST BUTTE

Vein Eleven Feet Wide North of Shaft Eleven—Butte & Balaklava Company Makes Second Payment of Large Sum on Property—Colusa-Leonard Showing Up Well.

Butte, Mont., June 22.—Reports from the property of the East Butte company are to the effect that at a distance of about 140 feet north of the 400-foot station of shaft No. 11 the company has struck eleven feet of ore which, while not high grade, will all concentrate and return a handsome profit at the present price of copper.

Shaft No. 11 is 400 feet deep, and is designed as the second main working shaft. The intention of the company being to eventually connect it with No. 1, now 800 feet deep. No crosscutting south of the 400 has been done, but some prospecting in that direction indicated the presence of an ore body, supposed to be the mother vein of that section. The water is heavy south, however, and it is likely that the work of opening this vein will be done in the near future.

Shaft No. 1 is yielding ore of good grade, and there is said to be an abundance of it on the 800-foot level, with liberal quantities in the intermediate levels.

The Eastern officers and stockholders. The two principal veins which pass through the Balaklava ground are the 800th May and the Bell-Speculator, which the North Butte company has proved of enormous producing value. A crosscut, run from the North Butte ground to the side line of the Burke claim, at a depth of 200 feet, shows the Bell-Speculator vein to have a width of twelve feet of commercial ore.

From the level of the High Ore a crosscut extends in northeasterly direction, passing through the Sunny-side claim and into the Modoc, then to the Burke and under the Old Butte. This crosscut was run for the purpose of exploring the different veins and the companies are experiencing no difficulty in sending their normal tonnage to the smelters at Douglas. At the Oliver the new electric pump, which was especially designed for this property, is about ready to go into commission. The new pump will have a capacity of 600 gallons at a depth of 1200 feet.

At the Hoatson shaft of the Superior & Pittsburg, work of cutting the station on the 1200 level has been progressing very satisfactorily, also at the Junction on the 1200, where a relay pumping plant is to be installed. Development work on the 1200 and 1200 at the Junction has been very satisfactory during the past two weeks.

The bids for the erection of the Shattuck & Arizona smelter have all been received and word has been sent East to the board of directors to this effect. It is the expectation that a majority of the board will be here soon for the purpose of formally awarding the contract. Good reports continue to come from the Shattuck property. Last week on the 900 level a drift run in seventy-five feet encountered a body of sulphide ore which assayed about 4 per cent.

ALASKAN GOLD SHIPMENTS

Arriving at Seattle---Machinery and Cars for the Perseverance Mine---Brown's Interests in Mamie Mine and Other Properties Sold.

Seattle, Wash., June 22.—The first gold shipments of the season are beginning to arrive from Alaska. One of the incoming steamships brought more than $50,000 in gold. These receipts are being watched with more than usual degree of attention by bankers and others interested in the money market. Gold deposited in the sub-treasury on the Pacific coast can be transmitted to New York by telegraph—an expedient especially valuable when the demand for currency is urgent for the movement of crops. It is now coming to be more and more widely understood that the prevailing high prices of commodities are not due to any overproduction on the part of the gold mines, but that the gold production is actually falling short of meeting the actual requirements caused by the enormous expansion of business throughout the civilized world.

There is a large amount of mining machinery and cars at the Juneau docks for the Perseverance mine. The company's teams are making two trips a day to take the material out to the mine. More men are being added to the force as they can be secured, and it is expected to have a full crew at work within a short time.

E. D. Brown, president of the Brown-Alaska company, owning and operating the Mamie mine at Hadley, and also a stake in the Alaska Smelting & Refining company, owning and operating the smelter at Hadley, has sold his interest in the Mamie mine to G. D. Mumford, representing the balance of the stockholders in the two companies. The Ketchikan district, however, others, was looked upon as a questionable proposition before the formation was known and understood. Experts have been making hasty trips from the East, and almost without exception reported against the country as having any probability of ever developing producing mines, but notwithstanding these discouraging reports, (Continued on page 9, 1st col., 2nd sec.)

PAY ROCK AT THE EL DORADO

Owners Expect Property to Show Same Values on Gold as Daisy Bell---Begole Syndicate Leasers Encounter Promising Ledge.

Searchlight, Nev., June 22.—Development on the El Dorado Consolidated company has brought in a ledge carrying pay rock. Indications are the property will show the same values in gold as the Daisy Belle, located but a short distance away, and which has been found a cloudburst filled the shaft, brought forth fancy figures in production.

Lying in line with the Daisy Belle, it is believed, the same ledge that traverses that property under its way into the Consolidated ground. A shaft is being sent down and preparations are being made to develop when the 100-foot level is reached.

Besides the ledge now being developed, there is another and larger one that prospecting has shown to contain values from the grass roots.

Goldfield, Nev., June 22.—The January White Rock Ledge Co., has Mohawk ore. It may not yet be in the best values, but it has cut the vein, and there is no doubt in the minds of the operators that it is the vein from the Mohawk.

The lease is on ground of the Begole syndicate, having almost reached the Mohawk and Florence. The company (Continued on page 12, 5th col., 2nd sec.)

THE JUNE OUTPUT AT COBALT

Expected to Break the Record—Three New Strikes in One Week on La Rose and Discovery on the Buffalo Give Encouragement to the Camp.

Cobalt, Ont., June 22.—From present indications June will be a record month for heavy shipments from here.

The three finds in one week at the La Rose at the 100-foot level, the last of which was a 12-inch silver find, and the vein encountered at the Buffalo in a crosscut at the 60-foot level, gives encouragement for the future.

The wretched roads have been largely cleared of obstructions, and the traffic through there are other reasons for several of the mines storing their ore at the local smelters. The mine owners, who send their ore to Copper Cliff, are well satisfied with the treatment they receive at that place, but it is a small matter, and only certain grades of ore are acceptable there.

The development in the township of Buckles will be one of the pronounced features of 1907.

Prof. W. C. Miller, the provincial geologist, who has returned from a trip to the North, says that work on the portion of the Buffalo limit, which is being mined by the government, is somewhat slow just now, owing to difficulties met with in getting machinery in and out of the mine. The work, however, will be resumed more vigorously.

It is pointed out that the provincial statute of 1906, which have been applied by the minister of justice, includes an act confirming orders in council withdrawing Cobalt and Kerr lakes from prospecting an exploration. This is regarded in official circles as an indication that the federal government fully acknowledges the right and authority of the province in dealing with mining lands, and that the legislation of last session confirming the titles to the lakes mentioned from visiting roadblocks and in the construction of additional trackage, all designed to facilitate increased traffic. This policy is contrary to that pursued by the province in general, but it is imperative in the Lake Superior iron mining region if the ore traffic is to be expedited and economies handled.

As far as the mines themselves are concerned, it is doubtful if any past season has witnessed more active building operations. There is hardly a mining locality on any of the five ranges, except the Verdon, whose mining operations are comparatively limited, that some improvement work of this nature is not in progress or planned. In the aggregate, many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended this year in new structure construction. The Steel corporation has recently awarded contracts for the erection of various large structures—boilerhouses, shop buildings and "dry" at its Section 2 property and the Republic group of mines on the Marquette area. The Steel company will build a modern "dry" or miners' changing house, (Continued on page 12, 6th col., 2nd sec.)

Ironwood, Mich., June 22.—(Special to The Herald)—Despite the bad start in consequence of the backward season on the Great Lakes, the ore shipments from the Lake Superior iron region are making gratifying progress. A splendid gate has been struck, and a record-breaking movement of fully 6,000,000 tons is looked for this month. This accomplished, and the ship out the corresponding time a year ago will approximate a million and a half tons. Marquette has lost a few days the past week because of strike troubles on the docks, but the interruption has been of small moment in view of the fact that the ore movement is some complaint of car shortages, both at the lower and the upper lakes, still the lead has been given prompt dispatch in the main, and considering the increased traffic it is probable that the ore movement is proceeding at a pace that should occasion general satisfaction. The labor situation at Marquette is a whole story in itself, and is being handled with some discretion. The labor situation at Marquette is a whole story in itself, and is being handled with some discretion. The labor situation at Marquette is a whole story in itself, and is being handled with some discretion.

Great as will be the output of ore this season, preparations are already in progress looking toward the future. Facilities for handling a still further enlarged business for the year to come. A number of the upper lake railroads are in the market for additional rolling stock for delivery next season, notwithstanding the heavy orders for cars placed a year ago, and a new construction of at least one new ore dock for service in 1908. This structure will be built at Two Harbors by the Steel corporation's Duluth & Iron Range division. It will be a novelity in that steel and concrete will largely enter into its construction, which will be a novelity in that steel and concrete will largely enter into its construction, which will be a novelity in that steel and concrete will largely enter into its construction.

NEW STRIKE AT IRISH MAG

Which Appears to Be One of the Largest and Richest Ore Bodies Encountered on the Calumet & Arizona Property.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 22.—During last week development work which has been under way on the 850 level south and west in the Irish Mag shaft of the Calumet & Arizona mine was rewarded by a nice body of ore in a portion of the mine where little development has been done in the past, and is additional proof that the Irish Mag will continue to deliver the goods for many years to come. The ore is high grade, running between 8 and 15 per cent. So far the new strike has every appearance of being one of the largest and richest ore bodies encountered on the property. It is stated on good authority that at this particular time the Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg properties never looked better, and the companies are experiencing no difficulty in sending their normal tonnage to the smelters at Douglas. At the Oliver the new electric pump, which was especially designed for this property, is about ready to go into commission. The new pump will have a capacity of 600 gallons at a depth of 1200 feet.

THE MCKINLEY TUNNEL BORE

Being Run to Tap Gold-Bearing Ledges of Jupiter Mountain in Idaho---Work Progressing Rapidly on the Daisy Mill.

Boise, Idaho, June 22.—The McKinley group, on the same ledges, are well developed and have proven good.

The owners of the Mattie mine on Willow Creek, near Idaho City, are busy extracting rich free gold ore and will soon start up the mill. It is believed that it will average over $300 per ton. In the same district James Constable is taking out large quantities of exceedingly rich gold ore.

MacK Thompson and partners are developing a group of claims on Rapid river, near Pollock. They have opened a strong vein of copper iron sulphides, rich in both copper and gold. The ledge is in a contact of porphyry and lime veins outcropping on the mountain are not penetrated by this tunnel at the same depth of over 1,000 feet, enormous values in gold having been already demonstrated by extensive prospecting work.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Daisy ten stamp mill. The McKinley company now owns the Homestead group, and all the mines will be worked through this mill. The mill runs working tunnel is now in 1,800 feet and will be continued until all of the veins of the Daisy group are cut. The mill made last year show the ore to be worth $25 per ton in gold. The ledges are large.

The second payment was made a few days ago on the purchase price of a group of free gold quartz claims west of the Buckskin at Pioneerville. The company is preparing to do a large amount of work and expects to have them sufficiently developed before fall to justify the erection of a stamp mill. The adjoining mines, the Buckskin will soon be resumed.

A. B. Lucas and C. C. and C. T. Irwin have sold at Pioneerville the associated claims of North Yakima, Wash. The Dillard mine in Marshall Lake district, between Reser and Salmon rivers, for $10,000 cash. Development work will soon be resumed.

Duluth

EVERYBODY is quite concerned—for everybody, or a friend of everybody, is getting married; and of all the topics of interest in which one may indulge, there is nothing so prolific of infinite interest as weddings. One can begin with the income of the people most acutely interested, pass through the trousseau, consider the wedding trip, where they will live, the beginning of the romance, the wedding itself, and last and not least, the honeymoon.

When one considers the amount of money that is each year spent on useless wedding presents, one wonders that the institution of matrimony endures. Every bride is gracious and thankful—with reservations. Perhaps there are not more than five or six of the gifts showered upon her that she really cares for. They may be ornate, when her soul yearns for simplicity; or they may be severely classic when she would much rather have roccoco effects in cupids and scrolls and flourishes; or the furniture sent may be of the Mission style, when she had planned in her mind's eye to have gilt chairs after the style of the furniture of the period of some degenerate French king. But all these fade away into obscurity as compared to the pang one must suffer when one's friends choose pictures for one. If you have all your life faced two companion pictures in your home that made your soul writhe in anguish, what torture it must be to, upon your wedding day, receive a Harrison Fisher print when you wanted a section of Botticelli's "Spring" and one is entitled to as much sympathy if the process is reversed. There should be legislation governing wedding presents.

Duluth is in the throes of this dilemma, and in spite of its difficulties, there is a certain enjoyment and pleasure in it for all concerned, for the whole affair of weddings has that delightful element, chance. The coming week will witness several more of the interesting events, and July will offer several midsummer weddings of much interest to local society.

Duluth society was largely represented this afternoon at the reception tendered Miss Rena Vivienne at the Commercial club. The public affairs committee of the club were hosts in honor of the return of the young Duluth singer, and her large number of friends in the city were invited to meet her after her years abroad and in opera. The guests were presented to Miss Vivienne by T. W. Hugo, chairman of the public affairs committee of the club, and a representative gathering of Duluth's men and women called during the afternoon.

Summer "Jumper" Frocks.

SURPLICE AND COAT LIKE JUMPER FROCKS
DESIGNED BY MISS MARGARET LEROY AND MISS MARCEL MERCEUR, OF FASHIONING ROOM 4

This smart surplice frock is of white voile with dark blue stripes made over blue taffeta. The bodice is surplice in effect, outlined with a border of bias striped material, with a draped sleeve fastened on the side of waist with silk buttons and loops. Cuffs and under-sleeve made of fine tulle and nill and Valenciennes lace.

The skirt is pleated with a band of the bias striped fabric on either side, and a short band in the center is finished with a silk fringe.

The handkerchief or coat like gown is of brown chiffon taffeta with a very fine white stripe. Bodice is trimmed with a band of brown taffeta joined by a fancy stitch starting at the belt and continuing to the center back, like a handkerchief or jacket. Fancy silk buttons also trim the bodice. Embroidered batiste is used for chemise and sleeves. The pleated skirt has two folds of brown taffeta with fancy silk stitch around the bottom.

Infants' Summer Wardrobes Complete Without Dresses

By MRS. MARY E. HOOD.

Baby's first wardrobe may be as large and elaborate as the purse of its parents permit, but this by no means insures health or happiness to the little stranger, and the few simple things of which I write today are necessary for his comfort and well being.

Dresses are not required until an infant is two months old. Before that it wears the same kind of little cap and slippers day and night, and of these there should be at least six. Besides these there must be four cambric skirts and two of English guineenok slightly trimmed, which the first need not be. There should be four flannel petticoats and two of flannel bands four inches wide, and if not too expensive it is well to have another, a bit embroidered, to wear with the nice white skirts. Four woolen slippers must be on the list, high neck and long sleeves, three pairs of woolen socks, four woolen bands and three dozen diapers of bird's eye cotton. The first used should be made of old table linen if possible, as it is soft and the skin is particularly sensitive. These are not included in the three dozen. Important to the outfit is a soft lightweight shirt and a few pieces of little saques, either of flannel or crueted.

After two months of age a child requires more clothes than at first. He is more easily handled and his wardrobe becomes more conspicuous, added to which he goes out of doors and so caps and wraps must be provided as well as afghans.

For the first time now dresses are needed, and these should be made of either French or English guineenok. Six of these are imperative. At this season cashmere is the best, and Bedford cord is also good. Caps for a young baby should be muslin with thin silk lining.

Such an outfit, with the exception of the coats and caps, can be bought ready made for from $18 to $25. This means being machine sewed and very plain. If the mother can sew, and has on flannel bands four inches wide, and if not too expensive it is well to have another, a bit embroidered, to wear with the nice white skirts. Four woolen slippers must be on the list, high neck and long sleeves, three pairs of woolen socks, four woolen bands and three dozen diapers of bird's eye cotton. The first used should be made of old table linen if possible, as it is soft and the skin is particularly sensitive. These are not included in the three dozen. Important to the outfit is a soft lightweight shirt and a few pieces of little saques, either of flannel or crueted.

After two months of age a child requires more clothes than at first. He is more easily handled and his wardrobe becomes more conspicuous, added to lingerie does not lend itself well to a colored decoration, but looks its best entirely in white, a dainty touch of color in the hair supplies a double need, for it gives adornment and character to the costume. Less elaborate but equally pretty is the tulle ruffled that comes in black, white and all delicate shades, and now that the Virginia curl culture is so much in evidence, these little flat puffs are really an aid, where locks are scant. One or two, as found necessary, may be worn and will successfully take the place of curls.

Black is pretty as an addition to fair hair and colors, either matching or contrasting with the worn hair will be in good taste. Silver and gold butterflies fastened to a pin and held aloft on a spring stem will never go out of fashion, and the fancy for ribbon garnitures is ever on the increase. Young girls just turning up their hair favor this simple arrangement, so well in keeping with their years, too.

Roses and buds looking as natural as the growing ones are to be had; forget-me-nots, mingled with maiden-hair fern and velvet panicles of ribbon, are strikingly attractive. There are, I know, many directions and much advice offered for the making of ribbon flowers at home, but, in my opinion, the money spent is really wasted, for the result is usually a poor thing. It is better to buy a few of the most successful, for they are really satisfactory, for say nothing of actual success. Far better to get a pretty ribbon rosette tied at the counter and add a spray of ferns, bay leaves and a dozen buds and arrange prettily. A bow of pink ribbon may be made to look almost like a "real rose" once the buds are combined and a bit of fern added.

A pretty ornament for the girl who wears her hair rolled back from the face and dresses it low in the back is to tuck a rose and a few buds behind each ear and connect them in a looping fashion with narrow ribbon.

Another decoration, suiting the hair dressed pompadour, with roll puffs as a back arrangement, is to pin roses at the top of the head and again quite low in the nape of the neck, taking care to set them on so that the front and the side view is good, then connect them with a band of net work something after the Juliet cap style. The mesh may be of chenille, the color of the flowers, or of gold and silver thread. Of course, this more elaborate ornament is only fitted for some formal occasion, but the single rose or simple forget-me-not is appropriate at all times.

Long, flat combs are no longer considered smart, the newest coiffures call for high hair decoration. A bar of tortoise shell, inlaid with traceries of silver or stones and attached to the hair pin is a new idea, and pins the Virginia curls down to the head. Short daggers, also of tortoise shell, both plain and jeweled, answer the same purpose, and hair pins topped with a fancy knob not unlike an elaborate hat pin are variations of the new comb on hair pin. The high Spanish comb is still worn, usually as a support to a figure eight arrangement of the hair, and these exhibit some of the most exquisite traceries. Carvings representing illies of the valley and dainty Empire wreaths of tiny flowers are among the designs that ornament them.

Now that handkerchiefs have almost disappeared from the back of the hat, a new comb has been devised in order to keep the hat properly in place. It is an ordinary shaped long comb with wavy teeth in order to better hold—with five outstanding pear-shaped knobs, that are quite ornamental as well as useful. The ornament of the hair, or the handkerchiefs on these and thus prevents slipping.

Ways of Caring for Teeth to Make Them Strong and White

By MARGARET MIXTER.

To have pretty, strong teeth is, or should be, an important matter to all women, and if through neglect as a child's discolored and fillings are in evidence the problem is a difficult one. Of all the rules and regulations laid down by experts and all the powders and washes on the market or to be made at home none is so important as to brush their teeth. This may seem small or too far in for any brush to reach. Ploss should be used after each meal and always at night. Many dentists' bill would be saved in this way.

More care should be paid to the selection of a certain shape brush than is frequently done. All too often the soft brown (coffee crushed) sugar, one-half pint milk, one-third cup butter and one-half cup chocolate, grated. Place over the fire and stir until the mixture boils. For soft caramels cook nine minutes, then take from the fire, flavor with vanilla and stir steadily for five minutes, but not until the mixture is too stiff to pour. Turn into back teeth are not reached by a regular care. If a child has an even surface, that is to say bristles all of the same length, does not usually reach the teeth at the back of the jaw. A brush should always be curved a least a little, that the length of the center bristles shall not interfere with the ends. Unless those at the tip are longer than at the base, no benefit is derived by its use. A flat brush is good for the front teeth, and that is the 10 off the needle and 20 from the second side of foot beginning on the needle altogether; work 1 row of puri in no one way is more injury done to the teeth than by natural acids in the mouth. They act quickly upon the enamel, bringing cavities as well as yellowness. Lime water, a counter agent, should be used to rinse the mouth several times a day, and bicarbonate of soda is recommended even more highly for the same purpose by some dentists. Lime water is inexpensive to buy, but is even cheaper when made at home. Into a quart of water put a eupful of unslacked lime. Let this stand overnight and the next morning pour off the water retaining the sediment. Over this pour another quart of water and let this stand for twenty-four hours shaking occasionally until the lime is dissolved. To use, hold a spoonful in the mouth. If it is too strong dilute a little.

Bicarbonate of soda is used by putting a teaspoonful (even) into a glass of water and rinsing thoroughly. Either of these may be used several times during the day, and should never be omitted after brushing the teeth for the night. After eating fruits the rinsing to destroy their acids is most important.

Delicious Chocolate Candy Recipes.

By EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

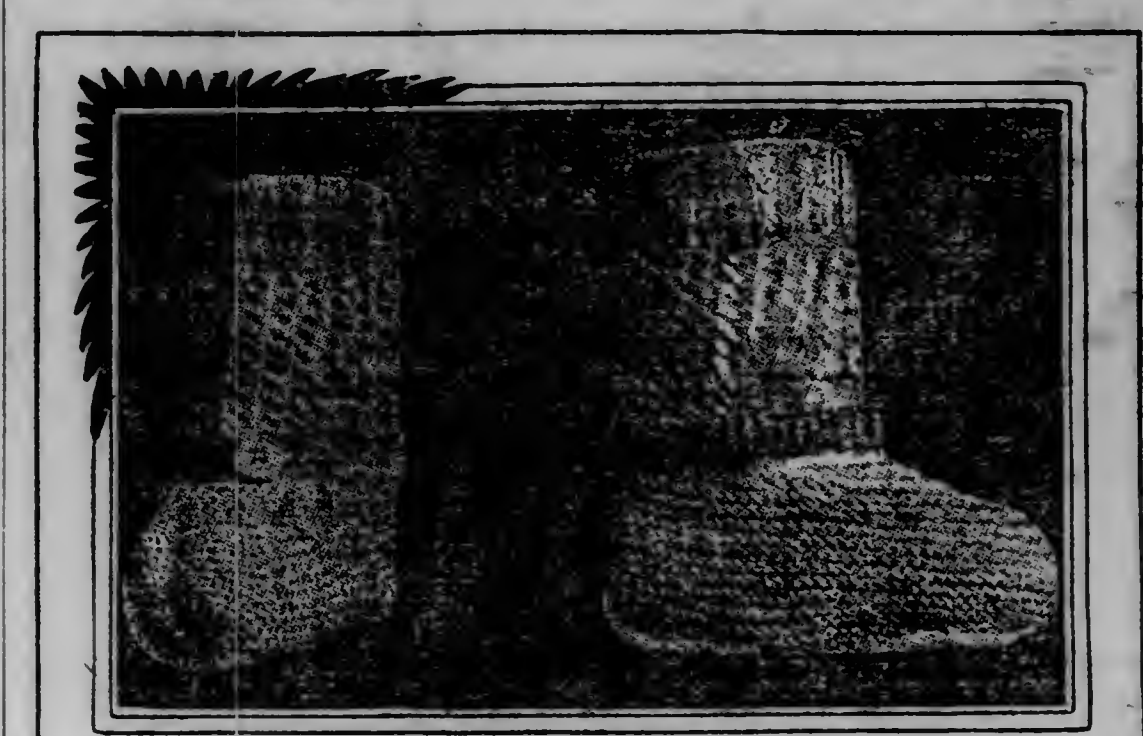

Soft Caramels.

Dear Mrs. Telford:—You will be greatly obliged if you will print soon under recipes the rule for nice soft, rich chocolate caramels, the same style as good 50 cent ones. Also a plain, brittle chocolate caramel for children's use.

Mrs. J. T. P. Put into a granite pan two pounds soft brown (coffee crushed) sugar, one-half pint milk, one-third cup butter and one-half cup chocolate, grated. Place over the fire and stir until the mixture boils. For soft caramels cook nine minutes, then take from the fire, flavor with vanilla and stir steadily for five minutes, but not until the mixture is too stiff to pour. Turn into

Dainty Knitted Boots for Baby

KNITTED BOOTS FOR BABY

Materials required, half ounce: of white and half ounce of pink Andalusian wool, steel needles, No. 15.

The little shoe part is knitted first, with the pink wool; cast on 40 off 10 stitches and knit 20 plain rows on the 10 stitches remaining. Cast on 20 stitches and knit 30 more plain rows, and cast off.

Take the white wool and knit up 10 stitches from the toe, and work 12 rows, alternately puri and plain. This forms the top of the foot. Break off the wool and begin at the heel part of shoe and knit up 10 of the stitches. Cast on, knit the 10 off the needle and 20 from the second side of foot beginning on the needle altogether; work 1 row of puri and begin the open work pattern for the leg thus:

First Row—Knit 1, * wool forward, knit 2 together, repeat from *, until only 1 stitch remains on the needle, which is knitted.

Repeat these 2 rows 11 times, finish the top of shoe by working 10 rows, in rib of 2 plain, two puri.

To make up the shoe join down the back of leg and on either side of top of foot, run a thread of wool into every row of toe part and draw lightly together to bring it into shape. Join at the bottom of foot and slightly contract the heel, says Woman's Life.

With pink wool work a strap a sufficient length to go around the instep in 4 stitches always slipping the first stitch in every row; sew a small pearl button on the other end, join to the back of heel and button round the instep.

a buttered pan and mark into squares as it cools. This is rich and crumbly. Put into a very cold place to harden.

Cream Chocolate Caramels.

Put into a granite saucepan half a pint each soft sugar, milk and cream, three-fourths cup cream or rich thick cream, one heaping tablespoonful butter and a quarter pound of chocolate, grated. Stir over the fire until the mixture boils, then cook until a few drops will harden in cold water. This will take almost an hour. It must be stirred frequently while boiling. Pour into well buttered pans, having the mixture about three-fourths of an inch deep. Flavor with vanilla or cinnamon just before taking from the fire or leave unflavored if preferred.

Sugar Chocolate Caramels.

Mix together two cups of brown sugar, three-fourths cup cream or rich milk, a heaping tablespoonful butter and three ounces grated chocolate. Cook over the fire, stirring until a little dropped in cold water hardens. Then add a tablespoonful vanilla and a quarter cupful more of the sugar. Pour into well buttered pans. When nearly cold mark into squares and set in a very cold place to harden.

Chocolate Creams.

Dear Mrs. Telford:—Some time since you published recipes for home-made candies, including chocolate cream caramels and chocolate creams. Would you kindly give recipes for same? MRS. J. R.

Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth, adding gradually two cupfuls of confectioner's sugar. If the eggs are very large it may take a little more sugar. Flavor with a half teaspoonful cinnamon or vanilla and stir well. Roll into little balls, drop on a lightly oiled plate and set away in a cool place for an hour to harden. Shave fine five ounces chocolate and melt in the teakettle or by setting the bowl containing it in a pan of hot water. When melted, drop the creams into the chocolate, one at a time, using a candy dipper or fork for this purpose, then lay on buttered paper to harden.

Chocolate Creams Made With Fondant.

Put into a saucepan two cupfuls granulated sugar and one cupful water. Stir until the sugar is nearly melted, then add a little vanilla, pour into a bowl and stir until thick and white. When it gets too hard to stir work with the hands on a marble slab, until the cream is soft and creamy. Shape into cones and cover with chocolate.

Dainty Celluloid Brushes, Combs, Boxes for Summer

Summer bedroom furnishings are so light and airy that the customary set of heavy silver mounted toilet articles are apt to appear out of place among so much dainty simplicity. At the same time it is often puzzling to know just what to substitute for these necessities. Of course, each piece in lighter mountings or colorings, as the case may be, could be bought singly at any time, but many women prefer using the same set the whole year round rather than mar the beauty of the toilet table by harlequin effects.

This season, however, it is possible to get an entire set, consisting of every accessory, in celluloid, which, as everyone knows, is the lightest and cleanest of substances. Intended originally for the fittings of country cottage bedrooms and for those spending a vacation from home, quite as many are now sold for those who will remain in town, the heavier articles being packed away so that not only is the bedroom more summery looking for this change, but the labor of keeping the silver bright is done away with, a soft juster being all that is necessary to keep celluloid in condition.

Colors are pale coral pink, robin's egg and pale blue and ivory white. The comb is priced at 40 cents; brush, $1.35; large powder box, $1.50; mirror, 40 cents; mirror, both round and in oval shape, $1.10 each; cloth brush, $2.10; nail polisher, 30 cents; the 25 cents; outfit knife, 40 cents; salve box, 25 cents; a shoe horn and a button hook costing a quarter each. Also a gossamerized hair brush, the place of the pin cushion, costs 75 cents, and is quite as pretty as any pin cushion could be. A smaller brush and comb set intended for a child sharing her mother's room can be had to match at 50 cents for the comb and 25 cents for the comb.

The hair receiver is of generous size, as such an article should be, and usually cramped conditions prevail when put to a practical use—and costs only 50 cents, while a gem of a bonnet brush is certainly cheap at 88 cents. As this list comprises all toilet needs it will be seen that not only can a set be bought to match, but at a most modest price for anything so dainty. Being of such light weight, too, is an advantage when packing the trunk is considered, for there are so many things to go into it, and heavy trunks are apt to suffer more in transit than light ones.

Another novelty is the powder book. An improvement on the little affair of powdered leaves. The new book contains face powder leaves in three shades, white, pink and brunette. Leaves of rouge, leaves for polishing the nails and soap leaves. A piece of chamomile covers the inner side of the book cover, and is arranged like a pocket to hold tiny manicure implements. Altogether it is the most complete little vanity case imaginable, and only costs 25 cents, too, while a neat gilt case for receiving it may be had for the same price. Inevitably looking bag purses mounted in gun metal and mock jewels when opened reveal secrets of the toilet into the most dainty form, with receptacles for powder, rouge and small change, a tiny mirror and a small space. Prices from 50 cents.

Mirrors for traveling, too, have been improved upon. What looks to be a flat leather bag, when opened, displays a looking glass inside each cover, one of which is a magnifying glass. These come in two sizes, 6x7, and 7x7, and cost from $2.25 upward. Another dainty simplicity, which contains a collapsible hair brush, a nail buffer, orange wood stick and file, all packed into the smallest possible space and is known as the Craven set. They cost $1.00 each.

In separate articles there is a rather long narrow hair brush, a convenient shape for packing, at 50 cents; shoe horns, button hooks, tooth brushes and other small toilet needs, at 25 cents each, all mounted in a gray metal. These, however, are a reduced price, and therefore quite a bargain for those needing odd articles.

There is little change in the rubber lined travel cases. Sponge bags for the same as heretofore, the tiny black and white checked rubber lined cloth holding its own and the combination case, fashioned after the housewife's, just about the same also except that they are more capacious than ever this year, holding every conceivable need of the toilet.

The glass tooth brush holder with metal cap evidently cannot be improved upon, as nothing better is offered, and another good seller is a small tin of tooth powder, for which an equally small puff is a most convenient form of carrying it. The tin is made of ivory and secured to a larger round of silk exactly in the center. This is hemmed all around and provided with strings, which, when drawn, creates a bag. These bags are not new, I know, but they are a very great improvement over the rather wobbly swansdown puff.

DOCTOR WAS A HERO.

Paris Correspondent in Chicago Inter Ocean: He was a poor doctor, practicing in a poor locality. Some of his patients were so poor that when he attended them he knew that he would never receive payment for his services. Often, indeed, he left money with the patients to buy the food he had ordered.

Yet he was a brave man, this Dr. Rabuel, a hero, since he has given his life to save two of his patients. The other evening he was called from his house in the Boulevard de Menilmontant to attend a woman and her child. He found them suffering from diphtheria of a grave kind. The mother had contracted the terrible malady whilst nursing her little child. The cause was so grave that Dr. Rabuel said that even the application of the antiphtheritic serum would be useless. There was only one other way of saving the mother and her child, and that was to cut through the membrane that was suffocating them. With a devotion that was equal to his courage, he bent down, pressed his mouth to that of the child, and sucked. The same course was gone through in the case of the mother. The doctor saved the patient's lives, but it was at the expense of his own life. Although he had taken every precaution, he became ill of diphtheria next day and died fifteen hours later in the arms of his wife.

Large Hips Are Reduced by Exercise if Properly Taken

Every so often there is an accumulation of letters in my mail, all more or less pleading, asking how hips may be reduced in size. I have taken this sort of letter over and over again, but naturally with the course of time other hips grows large and persons who have hitherto paid no attention to the question find it one of utmost importance.

To begin with, then, corsets properly shaped are a help, and they should be long over the hips, held down by suspenders at the sides as well as at the fronts. Even with this support there should be exercises for the purpose of reduction, for a figure overtightly stayed is ungraceful and stiff.

An outside agent sometimes helpful is iodine soap, and this is used at night, rubbing a thick layer over the places to be lessened in size. The latter should remain for fifteen minutes or more, and while it is on is the best time for doing the exercises. Try these movements:—Hold both hands high above the head, draw in the abdomen muscles, and while inhaling a deep breath rise to the toes and take five steps about the room, not exhaling until the arms are dropped to the side. At first once will be enough to do this, but after a few days repeat it for five times. This is one of the best exercises for reducing a large abdomen, for muscles are called into action that ordinarily are weak. It also "pulls" off flesh.

One reason of superfluous flesh about the waist is that muscles there are not used as they should be, and so become flabby. For this a devitalizing exercise is good, done by relaxing all the muscles of one arm and side until it is quite limp. The other shoulder should also be devitalized. Then, with the feet firmly together, bend the devitalized side from the hip, leaning sideways as far as possible, then straighten and repeat. This, if done every day, will naturally with the will aid digestion and improve the general strength of the stomach.

Excellent, not only for hip reduction, but to promote digestion, is another movement, done by placing the heels together and sitting on both hands on the hips. Then, with the feet still firmly planted, pull the body around, first one side and then the other, as far as it will go.

The matter of sitting will not reduce large hips, but it will do much to prevent them, and is not infrequently one of the causes of their size. As a rule persons do not sit on the tip of the spine, but about two inches from it, throwing the weight of the body in such a way that the hips must support it more than they should. The weight should really be held on the spine end, and this will be done if one sits well back in a chair and holds the spine stiff. It immediately shifts the position of the hips, greatly to their improvement.

These exercises should be done regularly night and morning, but certainly once a day, and they cannot be done too hard. Cords and muscles must be made to work and do their share, which they will only when really exercised, not merely moved. Iodine soap should not be used oftener than twice a week. Of course, all sweet and starchy foods should be removed from the diet of a person trying to reduce, and no liquids, not even soups, should be taken with meals.

Dainty Hair Ornaments of Ribbons and Gauze Smart

By ELIZABETH LEE.

Pretty, fluffy hair ornaments of ribbon, gauze and tulle are now taking the place of the more expensive decorations demanded by the elaborate toilet considered an essential part of winter festivities.

Possibly the fashion of going without hats during the summer is responsible for the many pretty devices for certainly these show an increase in variety as well as improvement in design.

Heavy pins, jeweled combs and immense aigrettes have been worn so much during the long winter that the array of light, dainty hair accessories holds one with an especial fascination.

A bow of pale blue ribbon gauze containing a feathery spray is a pretty decoration for youthful attractions, and will be seen very much at summer "dances." Now that lingerie frocks are so popular for these informal functions, the fancy for giving a touch of color to the toilet through hair ornaments is a pleasing one. For instance, as a princess frock in

MOORING COSTUMES

Soft mull, voile and vellings in black are being worn now as mourning, and are quite as appropriate as crepe or cashmere, and for this season of the year are decidedly cooler and more comfortable.

If the voile or vellings with no touch of crepe, as shown in the Princess model in the above picture, seems to lack character that a mourner desires, then bands of crepe, as displayed on the other figure illustrated, would be a better style to copy.

These frocks for deep mourning wear are not too sombre nor too smart to be conspicuous because of the materials of which they are made, and also because of the models after which they are copied, and for the reason of their simplicity will be excellent styles for the home dressmaker to follow who must put on mourning this summer.

WHITE CITY

AT THE LYCEUM

Mrs. Leslie Carter Will be Seen in Duluth Next Saturday Evening, for One Performance Only, in Belasco's Famous Play "Du Barry."

Mrs. Leslie Carter, America's foremost emotional actress, will appear at the Lyceum on Saturday in the great historical drama "Du Barry," by David Belasco. This is in many respects the most important dramatic event of the season. In "Du Barry," Mrs. Leslie Carter is given exceptional opportunities for the exploitation of her brilliant histrionic talents. She is surrounded with a powerful company, and the production is without doubt the most gorgeous series of stage pictures that have ever been seen in this country.

Briefly this is the story of "Du Barry." In the first act, Du Barry is revealed as Jeanette Vaubertier, a charming little milliner in a fashionable Paris shop at the time of Louis XV. A young officer of the king's guard, Cosse-Brissac, has fallen in love with her and would make her his wife. At the very hour when she made an appointment to meet Cosse-Brissac she is lured to the famous gambling establishment of the Marquis de Questroy, through the blandishments of Jean du Barry, who is in league with the notorious Marquis. Her beauty attracts the king and he schemes to make her his mistress, but through a series of trying experiences which are intensely thrilling, Jeanette remains true to her soldier lover and before a great assembly she makes the king the common laughing stock. In the end, however, she is shorn of her power by the Revolutionists and condemned to death because of her association with the Royalists.

Mrs. Leslie Carter has never been seen to better advantage than as Madame du Barry, and the play is one of the most notable of the past decade.

Viola Allen.

When Viola Allen appears here as Viola in "Twelfth Night" at the Lyceum, July 8, it will be the first time in her career that she has impersonated a boy. Yet Viola is a character that almost every actress of great talents has delighted in impersonating. The first actress ever to appear in a feminine role on the English stage was Mrs. Marshall, who appeared as Viola. This was in 1611. The first presentation of the play in America occurred in Boston 112 years ago. In the whole range of the drama there is no comedy that approaches "Twelfth Night," for the beauty and loveliness of its story, and for the charm of its action. Miss Allen, since becoming a star, has had in her support the best actors of her time, and her success has been extraordinary. When she appears here she will be surrounded by such well known players as Sidney Herbert, Fuller Melish, Henry J. Haddfield, William J. Harcourt, Myron Calice, C. Leslie Allen, Alison Shipworth and Zeffie Tilbury.

"Lew" and His Minstrels.

Someday asked Lew Dockstader, the minstrel, the other day, what kind of a show he had this season. "I can only say," answered the black face comedian, "that they tell me it's good. I am too sensible a man to believe that I know how the public will take a production. I am too sensible to predict anything about my show. I do the best I can in the manner of thinking up novelties, and then I submit it to the public. They are the jury, and their verdict is the one I abide by. If they do not give me my share for just such an emergency."

Next appeared, Rosa V. Prasser, Joe Natus, John King, Gus Reed, James Reaney, John Daly, the Foley Bros., and all the old favorites will be seen when the minstrels come to the Lyceum, July 6.

AT THE BIJOU

Willard Newell and Company in Comedy Sketch Will Head Next Week's Vaudeville Bill—Larry Keeton Will Sing the Illustrated Songs.

Next week's bill of vaudeville includes many of the foremost artists of the vaudeville stage. The program is headed by Willard Newell and company, who present the roaring sketch entitled,

"Last Night." Mr. Newell is one of the many dramatic stars who has left the legitimate road taken up vaudeville. He has been starred in many of the largest of Metropolitan productions. Among some of them being "Cyrano de Bergerac," "Clemenceau Case," "Three Musketeers," "Hamlet," "The Halls," "The Operator," and in F. C. Whitings' original all-star cast of "Quo Vadis." Mr. Newell is ably assisted by Miss May Hardner and Blanche Rose, both of national note in the dramatic and musical comedy line.

Other features of equal importance will be Morrissey and Rich, a duo of comedy sketch artists, who are rare comedians, and their twenty minutes never fails to keep their audience in roars of laughter.

A musical treat will be offered by Mabel Cassidy, who is the possessor introducing expert dancing and comedy singing numbers.

Elmer Jerome, monologue comedian, will be one of the principle comedy hits, with his original songs and stories. As an added attraction De Onzo, America's greatest gymnast, will be seen in acrobatic feats, which it is claimed were never before accomplished by any acrobat.

Larry Keeton will have a run for several weeks, singing the illustrated songs. Mr. Keeton's opening song will be "Under the Tropical Moon," which is illustrated with beautiful colored views.

The Moving Pictures for the week show "Trout Fishing at Rogie Falls, Scotland," and the funny comedy film entitled "Taking Home a Ladder." Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by telephone. Regular performance are given Sunday afternoon and night.

THE WHITE CITY

Duluth's Popular Amusement Park Will Open June 30 With Many New Features—Grounds Have Been Improved and New Attractions Added.

The White City park will open for its second successful season on Sunday, June 30.

Differing from all amusement parks located in this state in its natural advantages, the White City occupies a place in the heart of Duluth and Superior's amusement loving public, which no other place can fill. It has and always will be the home of refined amusement—a place where women and children can go with perfect safety and enjoy a day of unalloyed pleasure.

For the second season the management offers changes in the matter of beautifying the park itself. Noticeable will be the board walk to the bathing pavilion. The mystic river with its entire change to the old mill, will at once attract the public with its beautiful scenic effect in showing the old mill, the running brook and the wheel in operation in full view. So ceaseless has been the demands for a roller skating rink that the management will provide one of the best in any park in this vicinity. Special attention has been paid to the pleasure of the little folks and to this end a midday theater is being installed where delightful entertainments will be given with a change every week. Then there are Jerry and Maudie, two of the "cunningest" donkeys for the children to ride around the grounds.

The "hump the bumps" will be free as usual. The big open air stage will continue to be a feature where the best acts obtainable will be presented twice daily.

The zoo is in first class condition. The animals are in excellent health, and several new specimens have been added, including "Pete" and "Molly," the prairie dogs, and "Loney," the big bear.

The Gypsy village, Japanese booth, shooting gallery, doll rack, fun factory, Halo tower, merry-go-round will all continue to be features of the park.

An essentially new feature will be the new big Ell wheel, which will take the passengers' feet up in the air with perfect safety, giving them a view of the lake and the bay, and of Duluth and Superior. It will be brilliantly illuminated at night, making an effective display.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Richard Mansfield Much Improved in Health—Wright Lorimer to Produce an Ibsen Play—"Brewster's Millions" Ends Long Run.

New York, June 22.—It is learned from London that Richard Mansfield shows most gratifying improvement, and while it is probable he will adhere to his original intention and refrain from the stage altogether next season, there is a possibility that his health will show such marked improvement that he will reconsider. Mr. Mansfield is now preparing for an automobile trip to the continent. In fact, the first indication of his improvement came in a telegraphic order for his chauffeur to join him in London with one of the Mansfield automobiles, and supplementing this was a letter full of new hope, and commenting on several of the current productions in London.

So we may congratulate ourselves that it will not be long before Mansfield returns, and, after all, there has been little foundation for the alarming reports about him.

Outside the Southern-Marlowe engagement dramas have been very dull and Broadway. It is still too cold for comfort on the roofs, while one by one the regular playhouses are closing for the season.

William A. Brady will present Wright Lorimer in Henrik Ibsen's "The Wild Duck" about the middle of September in a Broadway theater for four weeks. Mr. Lorimer produced the Ibsen play last season with great success in Boston, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities, and the critical verdict was enthusiastically approbative. On the first of November Mr. Brady will present Mr. Lorimer in a new play. This new production for Mr. Lorimer's fourth season as a star is a powerful psychological drama of modern times. It is the work of a widely known English playwright.

"Brewster's Millions" have all been spent, so far as New York is concerned. Chicago will be the home of Frederic Thompson's production for the remainder of the summer, and the Hudson theater will remain dark until September. Ed the Albee and the other players in "Brewster's Millions," leave Broadway with the knowledge that they contributed in no small way toward achieving one of the most remarkable successes known to the American stage. They have played twenty-six weeks on Broadway to gross receipts closely approaching $200,000.

Large audiences nightly greet Anna Held and her Parisian Model company in the big Broadway theater, where this diverting musical comedy has been a fixture for many months. Attractive souvenirs were distributed last Monday evening to mark Miss Held's 20th appearance in the play.

Notwithstanding the tardiness of summer, hundreds of thousands of amusement-seekers have visited Luna Park since it threw open its gates to the public four weeks ago. The principal features are now in full operation, and the popular verdict is that "The Heart of Coney Island" this year is the most extraordinary and most beautiful place of its kind in the world.

Miss Rose Tiffany, daughter of Annie Ward Tiffany, made her debut in vaudeville Sunday at Keith & Frodo's Fifth Avenue theater in a one-act play by Pendergast, called "Behind the Scenes."

The news that Cecilia Loftus and Lawrence D'Orsay are to appear jointly next season under the management of Harry Miller, marks the entrance of D'Orsay into a new field of acting. Up to the time that D'Orsay was made a star in the "Earl of Pawtucket" he was known as a very ordinary actor and not regarded by managers as a particularly brilliant financial proposition. It is said that before the time that D'Orsay was made a star his salary was not very much more than his cost of living. He was known as a "club" actor, and he became possessed of an attraction that has made him a star. He submitted it to several managers who said they would produce the play, but did not think that D'Orsay was a big enough actor to carry it. Mr. Thomas, however, accepted the play, and when D'Orsay acted and listened to him talk at the clubs, and he became possessed of an attraction that has made him a star. He submitted it to several managers who said they would produce the play, but did not think that D'Orsay was a big enough actor to carry it. Mr. Thomas, however, accepted the play, and when D'Orsay acted and listened to him talk at the clubs, and he became possessed of an attraction that has made him a star.

People are complaining about your prompting, can you stop it?" said Mr. Thomas, "because I am tired of it, but if you will stop it very gladly." The news that D'Orsay is to appear jointly next season under the management of Harry Miller, marks the entrance of D'Orsay into a new field of acting. Up to the time that D'Orsay was made a star in the "Earl of Pawtucket" he was known as a very ordinary actor and not regarded by managers as a particularly brilliant financial proposition. It is said that before the time that D'Orsay was made a star his salary was not very much more than his cost of living. He was known as a "club" actor, and he became possessed of an attraction that has made him a star. He submitted it to several managers who said they would produce the play, but did not think that D'Orsay was a big enough actor to carry it. Mr. Thomas, however, accepted the play, and when D'Orsay acted and listened to him talk at the clubs, and he became possessed of an attraction that has made him a star.

Miss Loftus has been under engagement to Mr. Miller for some time, and a contract with Mr. D'Orsay was signed last week. The bringing together of these stars came about through the fact that the comedy selected by Mr. Miller for Miss Loftus contains a part particularly suited to Mr. D'Orsay. The new production will be Mr. Miller's chief offering in the autumn.

George Marlon writes from Paris that he has received permission from Henry W. Savage to embark on his long desired career as an independent producer of stage pieces after his return from abroad. His first contract will be to stage "The Merry Widow" for Mr. Savage, after which he will accept engagements for new productions only. "The Merry Widow" is the Viennese comic opera "Die Lustige Witwe," that is now being sung with enormous success in eighteen continental cities. In the future much of the work of general stage direction of the Savage shows will be looked after by Marlon Coray. Mr. Marlon has been associated with Henry W. Savage as general stage director for the past four years. In that time he put on all the best plays with the exception of "Parsifal" and "The Valkyrie." These include "The Count of Chateau," "Raghu," "The Prince of Hohenheim," "The Merry Widow," "The Student King," "Madam Butterfly" and "A Yankee Tourist."

Nadine Sarah Bernhardt was to have begun a week's engagement in Brussels the evening that Miss Olga Netzer made her first appearance at Madam

WILLARD NEWELL AND CO. At Bijou Next Week.

Sarah's theater in Paris. The French "divinity" suddenly cancelled her engagement for the first night in Brussels and remained in Paris to see and applaud Miss Netzer. At the end of the performance of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," Miss Bernhardt arose in her stage box and cried: "bravo, Olga Netzer!" which ended in a rousing reception to the visiting artist.

It is universally admitted that David Warfield could play "The Music Master" the remainder of his life, and identify himself with the part as completely as the late Joseph Jefferson did with that of Rip Van Winkle. But Mr. Belasco, true to his artistic instincts, believes that he owes his popular star, as well as the great theater-going public, a duty superior to that dictated by self-interest of an assured source of great revenue. That is to present the versatile actor in new characters at reasonable intervals, and thus elevate him to a position greater than any he could maintain as a one-part star. If the usual considerations merely of how much money a manager can make out of an attraction governed Mr. Belasco, he would keep Warfield in his present play and quietly sit down to a life of idleness, assured of a harvest of profits. Instead of working with restless energy to provide a new vehicle for his star next season.

Robert Mantell—"our only tragedian," as William Winter termed him in the New York Tribune—will on July 15 start rehearsals of his repertoire of Shakespeare at his country place, "Cherry Woods," Atlantic Highlands, N. J. His company, as was done last summer, will be assembled there and will go through the preliminary work in a beautiful grove, within sound of the sea, but hidden from it by the huge promontory that gives name to the neighborhood. So, although they are

When a legitimate actor deserts the dramatic stage and enters upon a musical comedy career, he has countless expressions of the literary. One line in the play, "All is Not Gold That Glitters," was particularly troublesome, and was compelled to remark several times strongly upon the way she chewed the speech. This was the line, "I beg to know the meaning of this eloquent invective," and it was only after many and complete explanations of the meaning of the sentence that she could remember any part of the speech. On the night of performance, when the scene came, I stood in the wings ready to prompt her, but when she came to the striking block, she merely said, "I beg to know," and stopped. "I beg to know," she said, "the meaning of the meaning." She took me at my word, saying proudly, "O, what are ye 'trint' to 't'it at?"

John Drew has just closed the greatest season of his great career. His play, "His House in Order," proved a wonderful vehicle for the actor and gave him an ideal part in which he outshone his former numerous successes. No play produced that season aroused such thoughtful consideration or aroused such a discussion as this master piece of Pinero's. It not only added still greater laurels to Mr. Drew's wealth but brought into brighter light the true qualities of Margaret Hington's artistic worth. Mr. Pinerman has announced a new comedy for Mr. Drew next season, and which as usual will inaugurate the season at Mr. Frohman's Empire theater, New York. Mr. Drew will spend part of the summer in Europe.

William Collier will soon reach the 20th anniversary of "Laugh In the Rain" at the Garrick theater. In this merry farce, which is a veritable galling gun of fun, Mr. Collier has achieved his greatest success. Since December he has crowded the Garrick theater.

THE GREAT AMERICAN VACATION CROWDS

Vacation Tendencies of the American Are Growing Rapidly--Summer Vacation Travel at Least 100 Per Cent Greater Than It Was Ten Years Ago--Records of Transatlantic Travel Show Rapid Increase--Tourists From Abroad Not Numerous--Cost Too Large for Those of Moderate Purse, Owing to Great Distances in This Country.

By DEXTER MARSHALL.

(Copyright, 1907, by Dexter Marshall.)

There was a time, and not many years ago at that, when it was agreed, both at home and abroad, that the American got along with fewer holidays and devoted less time and money to vacations and rest than any one else on earth. But that time has passed. The American of today is a great vacationer. The American of tomorrow may be the greatest vacationer alive. His vacation tendencies are growing rapidly.

As to this there cannot be two opinions. Manager Young, who has charge of the New York office of the oldest tourist agency in existence, says the growth of the American vacation has been much faster than the increase of population. Summer vacation travel, as he observes it, is at least 100 per cent greater than it was ten years ago.

The population of the country in 1897 was estimated at 75,000,000; the estimated population in 1907 is 91,000,000, a gain of 22,000,000, or a shade less than 32 per cent. If the manager's estimate is correct, the vacation habit has grown more than three times as rapidly as the population. He thinks that the tendency toward longer and more expensive vacations has by no means begun to wane; that this year will be the summer holiday year of the decade.

No one in a position to know disagrees with Manager Young, but accurate figures are not to be had. The railroad officials, who might be supposed to have such figures in their possession, can only say that general travel has increased enormously in the decade, but they have no way of knowing just how much of that increase is in pursuit of holiday pleasures and how much in pursuit of business.

Rather more definite figures can be got together with reference to foreign vacations taken by Americans yearly, since the records of transatlantic travel are kept systematically and readily accessible for all the years since 1893, except 1894 and 1897.

In 1893, 12,332 cabin passengers went abroad; in 1906, 214,693, an increase of a little more than 100 per cent. In 1893 cabin foreign travel dropped to 34,544, compared with those figures, last year showed an increase of 127 per cent. It is safe to say that the figures of this year would show an increase of more than 100 per cent over those of 1897 were the latter available. Although it is yet too early to gather totals for 1907, it is predicted that they will record the greatest exodus of Americans in the history of transatlantic travel.

By the middle of May the increase was 11 per cent over the May figures of last year, cabin passengers only being considered. That would mean an increase of 110 per cent in ten years. The increase over last year in all foreign travel from American ports--average included--had been 74 per cent in May. If continued through the year this would mean an increase of 140 per cent every decade.

It would hardly be fair to accept this as the rate of increase in foreign pleasure travel, however, since a considerable number of those who go abroad third class from American ports every year are returning to the old country to remain permanently. Still, the 100 per cent increase in ten years of vacation travel abroad just about holds good with reference to the steerage as well as the cabin. There is hardly a boat crossing the ocean this year that does not carry a comparatively large number of real third-class tourist passengers--men and women who have no idea of abandoning their homes in the land of their birth, and who have no intention of returning to it, but who can afford the luxury of a summer vacation trip to the old home land and are taking it.

A certain trans-Atlantic liner sailed only a few days ago with 600 Scandinavian steerage passengers, all in one party. They expect to remain residents and citizens of the United States as long as they live, and every one of them had a return ticket. They are as properly considered American tourists as if they were native instead of naturalized, and traveled first class instead of third.

The total of the cabin passenger lists on outgoing ships last year was 214,693. If there is an increase of 10 per cent this year the total for 1907 will be more than 235,000. Steerage passengers were taken for Europe from American ports last year by 282,048 persons, making 496,741 by all three classes. Should the increase reach 10 per cent for the year, the total will be more than 540,000 European travelers by steerage alone. These and the cabin passengers will make nearly 500,000 more than half a million, but this cannot possibly mean that so many Americans by birth and adoption take a yearly foreign holiday.

Besides the eastward-bound steerage passengers who are going back to stay, some tens of thousands of the cabin passengers are returning foreign visitors, while an uncounted number are Americans who go over yearly on business. Cut out all these latter, of whom there are a surprisingly large number among commercial travelers, all the immigrants who go to remain, and all the returning foreign visitors, and the total number of holiday American tourists, properly so called, of every grade in Europe, yearly, is probably about 300,000.

It is rather a striking fact that the eastward-bound foreign holiday travel of Americans is more than enough every year to populate a city like Hongkong or Teheran, Bucharest or Montevideo, Havana or Nuremberg. It is rather striking also that while the growth of American foreign travel has increased more than 100 per cent in the decade, the increase in the yearly number of visitors here from abroad on business and pleasure since 1898 has been more than 200 per cent. The official figures show that in 1898 only 21,063 "non-immigrant aliens" arrived in this country; in 1906 the total number of arrivals was 52,618.

All sorts of figures have been made on all sorts of bases as to the amounts spent abroad yearly by American foreign tourists, and some of the figures make geniuses almost have come to blows over the different results obtained. As a matter of fact, no one can make such an estimate with any degree of reliability, but it amounts to many millions, of course. At $300 each--first class tourists are supposed to average $700, and second class $300 apiece--300,000 tourists would spend $150,000,000. An authority quite as likely to guess right as wrong makes a much larger estimate, figuring it out that the tourists from this country spend about $250,000,000 more abroad yearly than is brought here by visiting tourists and immigrants combined.

Figures with regard to the inland travel of the vacation season are many fold more striking than the figures of American vacation travel in foreign parts.

The $90,000 American pleasure tourists abroad make up a trifle more than a quarter of 1 per cent of the total population only, hardly enough to cause a feeling anywhere that anybody is away. But those who spend their vacations in this country make a vastly larger throng. At the lowest expert estimate they number 10 per cent of the whole; at the highest 15 per cent or more. If 10 per cent be accepted, about 9,000,000 of us will be included; more than thirty-one times as many as the foreign tourists. If the higher figures be accepted the total number of Uncle Sam's sons and daughters who take their vacations without leaving his big farm is about a hundred thousand, in excess of 14,000,000, or forty to every one of the foreign travelers.

If only 3,400,000 home holiday takers were each to spend $50 on his vacation the gross expenditure would be $170,000,000, more than half of the $325,000,000 national debt. If the larger of the two estimates be accepted the total amount of cash out into circulation in their own land by American holiday makers, allowing $50 for each, is not less than $170,000,000, nearly three-quarters of a billion. It would wipe out Rockefeller's entire fortune of half a billion and leave a deficit of nearly half as much again for him to borrow from his friends who his philanthropic impulses to take the form of financing the outings of the regulars for just one year.

The increase of 100 per cent in the yearly vacation travel and expenditures cannot have been brought about in ten years without influencing profoundly the business of the entire country. But the heavy growth of the vacation habit reaches further back than ten years. In twenty years it must have amounted to more than 200 per cent, as against a growth in population of only a little more than 51 per cent, the population in 1887 being estimated at a little less than 60,000,000.

The real beginning of the great American summer play-spell dates back forty-one years. By all odds its biggest impulse was furnished by the Centennial exhibition of 1876, which started many thousands on the first big trip of their lives. There was a setback in the lean mid-nineties years, but it was wiped out and forgotten long ago.

An Army of Holiday Helpers. The army of holiday helpers in this country is larger, beyond question, than any army of soldiers ever mustered in on this continent. This army includes many more than the hotel employees at the thousands of vacation resorts, the guides in the shooting and fishing regions, and the employees who operate the summer roads and boats.

It takes in the thousands who spend their time the year round in the production of vacation supplies, the thousands of extra trainmen and conductors on the regular lines, telegraph operators and no end of others who devote only a part of their time to vacation work. There must be at least as many of all these classes as of the vacation takers themselves.

As for those who devote practically all or nearly all their time in the vacation season to vacation work, getting their own rest, if they get any at all, in some other season of the year, there must be quite a million of them at least. Estimates of their number can be only guessed, of course, but no one thinks a million too high, while some believe it altogether too low. At $200 average earnings for the sixteen or eighteen weeks' employment in the vacation season, their wages amount to $320,000,000 at least of the vast total of cash the vacation season puts into circulation.

It would take a good many more than a full million employees of all sorts to care for a 15 per cent vacation army of 14,000,000 were they all to go holiday making at once, or remain at play the entire four months, but they don't.

Two weeks is about the average holiday duration; some take their play-spell early in the season, and others late, the same set of vacation employees caring for both early and late vacationers, while thousands require the help of no one at all during the outing season.

New York is the greatest vacation place in the world, not only because so many thousands of its people take vacations but also because it is a sort of clearing house for vacationers from many sections of the country, and likewise, because thousands of outsiders spend a part or the whole of the outing season yearly within its boundaries.

Thus a large part of those New Englanders who go west for their holiday fun must pass through the metropolis. A correspondingly large part of the Westerners who go "Down East" must do the same thing and so must an even larger part of the Southerners who take their holidays North. Furthermore, according to the steamship experts, eighty-two in every hundred of all the American travelers to Europe sail from the metropolis and spend from a part of a day to a week or so in the city at the Hudson's mouth, either coming or going. It would not be an overestimate to say that 100,000 vacation folk are probably in New York nearly every day of the outing season.

Vacation Outings at Little Cost. Whole classes of New Yorkers as well as dwellers in many other big cities may be selected of whom practically 100 per cent take yearly outings of some sort. There are the staffs and employees of big banking houses, publishing firms, mercantile establishments and concerns in a dozen or two different lines of business, who are entitled to the standard two weeks' outing, with pay, every year. Not all of these tens of thousands spend the average of $50 on vacation; in fact many of them manage to incur hardly any extra expense whatever. You may find these thousands from New York Island shores; on the Jersey shores of New York bay and the two shrewsbury rivers; at the foot of the Palisades; up the Hudson and elsewhere.

These campers are among those whose outings give no employment whatever to vacation "help." The men do the rough work about the tent, the women do the cooking. While they do not entirely get away from business longer than the standard fortnight's time, many of them live in their tents the whole season through at less cost than if they remained in their stuffy city flats all the time. It is not hard to rent ground on which to pitch a tent for a merely nominal sum, the cost of the tent, distributed over its five or six years of life, is merely a trifle, and it is as easy for the bread winners to get from the camp to the shop or office as from the urban flat.

Similar nearby outings are enjoyed by many people of St. Paul and Minneapolis, Buffalo, Rochester, St. Louis and other cities, and while hard times might curtail the vacations of many who spend what seem to them like large sums upon their outings, these campers on the city's edge would not need to cut their outings at all unless Probably Fourteen Millions of American Holiday-Makers Each Year, Spending Nearly Three-Quarters of a Billion--Two Weeks is About the Average Holiday Duration--New York the Greatest Place in the World--Fostering of the Vacation Idea by the Railroads--Yachting Expenses of the Multi-Millionaires Make Ordinary Man Gasp.

times were to become very hard, indeed.

Undoubtedly the country's ten years of exceptional prosperity have been a great factor in the later growth of the vacation habit. Another great factor has been the fostering of the vacation idea by the railroad managers. They have spent millions on special schedules for vacation makers, in persuading hotel and boarding house keepers along the railroad lines to cater to the vacation crowds and in advertising the scenic and other attractions which the railroads reach.

Such great lines as the Pennsylvania, the New York Central and the various Pacific trunk roads have taken the lead in this sort of effort. Scores of lesser railroads also have entered the field, and the vacation literature provided by the many handsomely printed and illustrated "summer books" has been a great stimulus to the vacation increase. These furnish a fair example of the far-reaching effect of the present vacation vogue. Their production gives more or less employment to a young army of paper makers, typesetters, photographers, engravers, pressmen and others, not to speak of the writers, who do the necessary "literary work" connected with the necessary "summer book" is a highly creditable production. There is no way in which a foreigner or a stay-at-home American either, for that matter, can get a fair knowledge of the United States and Canada so inexpensively as by taking a comprehensive course of reading in these books, which the railroads give out for the most part, without price and without price.

Vacation Housing and Feeding. Next to the railroads, the vacation hotels have spent most money in fostering the vacation habit. The increase in the value and number of summer hotels undoubtedly has kept pace with the holiday-makers in the last ten years, to say nothing of the prices. There now must be 30,000 of them at least, perhaps 10,000 more. Many of the newer establishments at the famous seaside, lake and mountain resorts are highly creditable from the architectural point of view, and of almost infinitely softer construction than the summer hotels of the eighties and nineties.

The planting of a big modern summer hotel, in a hill or shore region, which has not hitherto boasted such an institution, irrigates the neighborhood with a golden stream that sometimes almost completely transforms both it and the lives of its inhabitants. The overflow of money from the hotel itself may not always be large, but after a while the big house, with its prices far beyond the average pocketbook, stimulates the erection of cheaper hotels in the vicinity, also the opening of boarding houses where vacationers of very moderate means can live as comfortably, and at about as reasonable cost as the American tourist can live at the much-vaunted boarding house "pension," in Europe.

This may be a good place to say that while some things may be had for less money on the other side than in the United States, there is a good deal of humbug about much of the talk concerning low prices in Europe. The American who wants the best, as he understands it, finds, almost always, that it costs about as much there as here; the American who goes to cheap places there often finds the accommodations are little if any better than could be had on this side for the same money. Besides, he has to pay almost as much for his ocean passage before he can set foot on European soil as he would have to pay to go from New York to San Francisco, so that dollar for dollar, the American trip is as likely to yield as satisfactory a return as the European.

Some years ago a plan was devised for the launching of a "Sea America First" movement, in which all the big railroads were to join, and upon which they were to spend no end of money. Little has yet been spent in this way, however, perhaps because it wasn't found necessary. Tourist travel in this country, even without the big expenditures contemplated, is now about as large as the railroads can accommodate comfortably.

Undoubtedly more money all told is spent on vacation trips, both in the country and in Europe, by the people of moderate means than by the very rich, but the latter have laid out huge sums in their private train tours and their vacation plants in this country, as well as in their foreign travels and their homes abroad. Their palace-like cottages at Newport and other fashionable resorts, their camps, their fishing lakes and their game preserves in the Adirondack and other mountain resorts, North, South, East and West, have absorbed many millions. Yet their costly vacation plants differ not at all in principle and purpose from the inexpensive camps of those who spend their cheap outings under canvas "on the city's edge."

The yachting expenses of the multi-millionaires in the vacation season are big enough to make the ordinary man gasp, and, perhaps, if included in the total vacation cost, would swell the estimate to considerably more than $70,000,000. The vacation folk who devote their outings to the various Chautauques and other semi-educational assemblies, are far more numerous than the multi-millionaires, but the Chautauque expenses should not be added to the estimate.

Vacation social climbers may be found in every place which vacation folk frequent. Whether taking their summer trips at home or abroad, the climbers form the bulk of those who spend more money than they can afford to in the outing season, although some of the richest vacation travelers are persistent climbers. You may read about them in every installment of the news from the resorts, both little and big, in every daily or Sunday newspaper you pick up, and no end of folk with social aspirations have gained rounds in the social ladder while on vacation which they never could have reached had they stayed soberly at home. But it would be unfair to say that any considerable portion of the increasing popularity of vacation travel is due to the climbing classes which these folk spend so much to take.

Tourists From Abroad. There is a great diversity of opinion among experts as to the number of foreigners who visit this country yearly for pleasure. A steamship man of wide experience said the other day that in his opinion about 10,000 or 12,000 European pleasure tourists came to this country last year, including such parties as the several hundred school teachers who were brought over by Moosley, the English publisher.

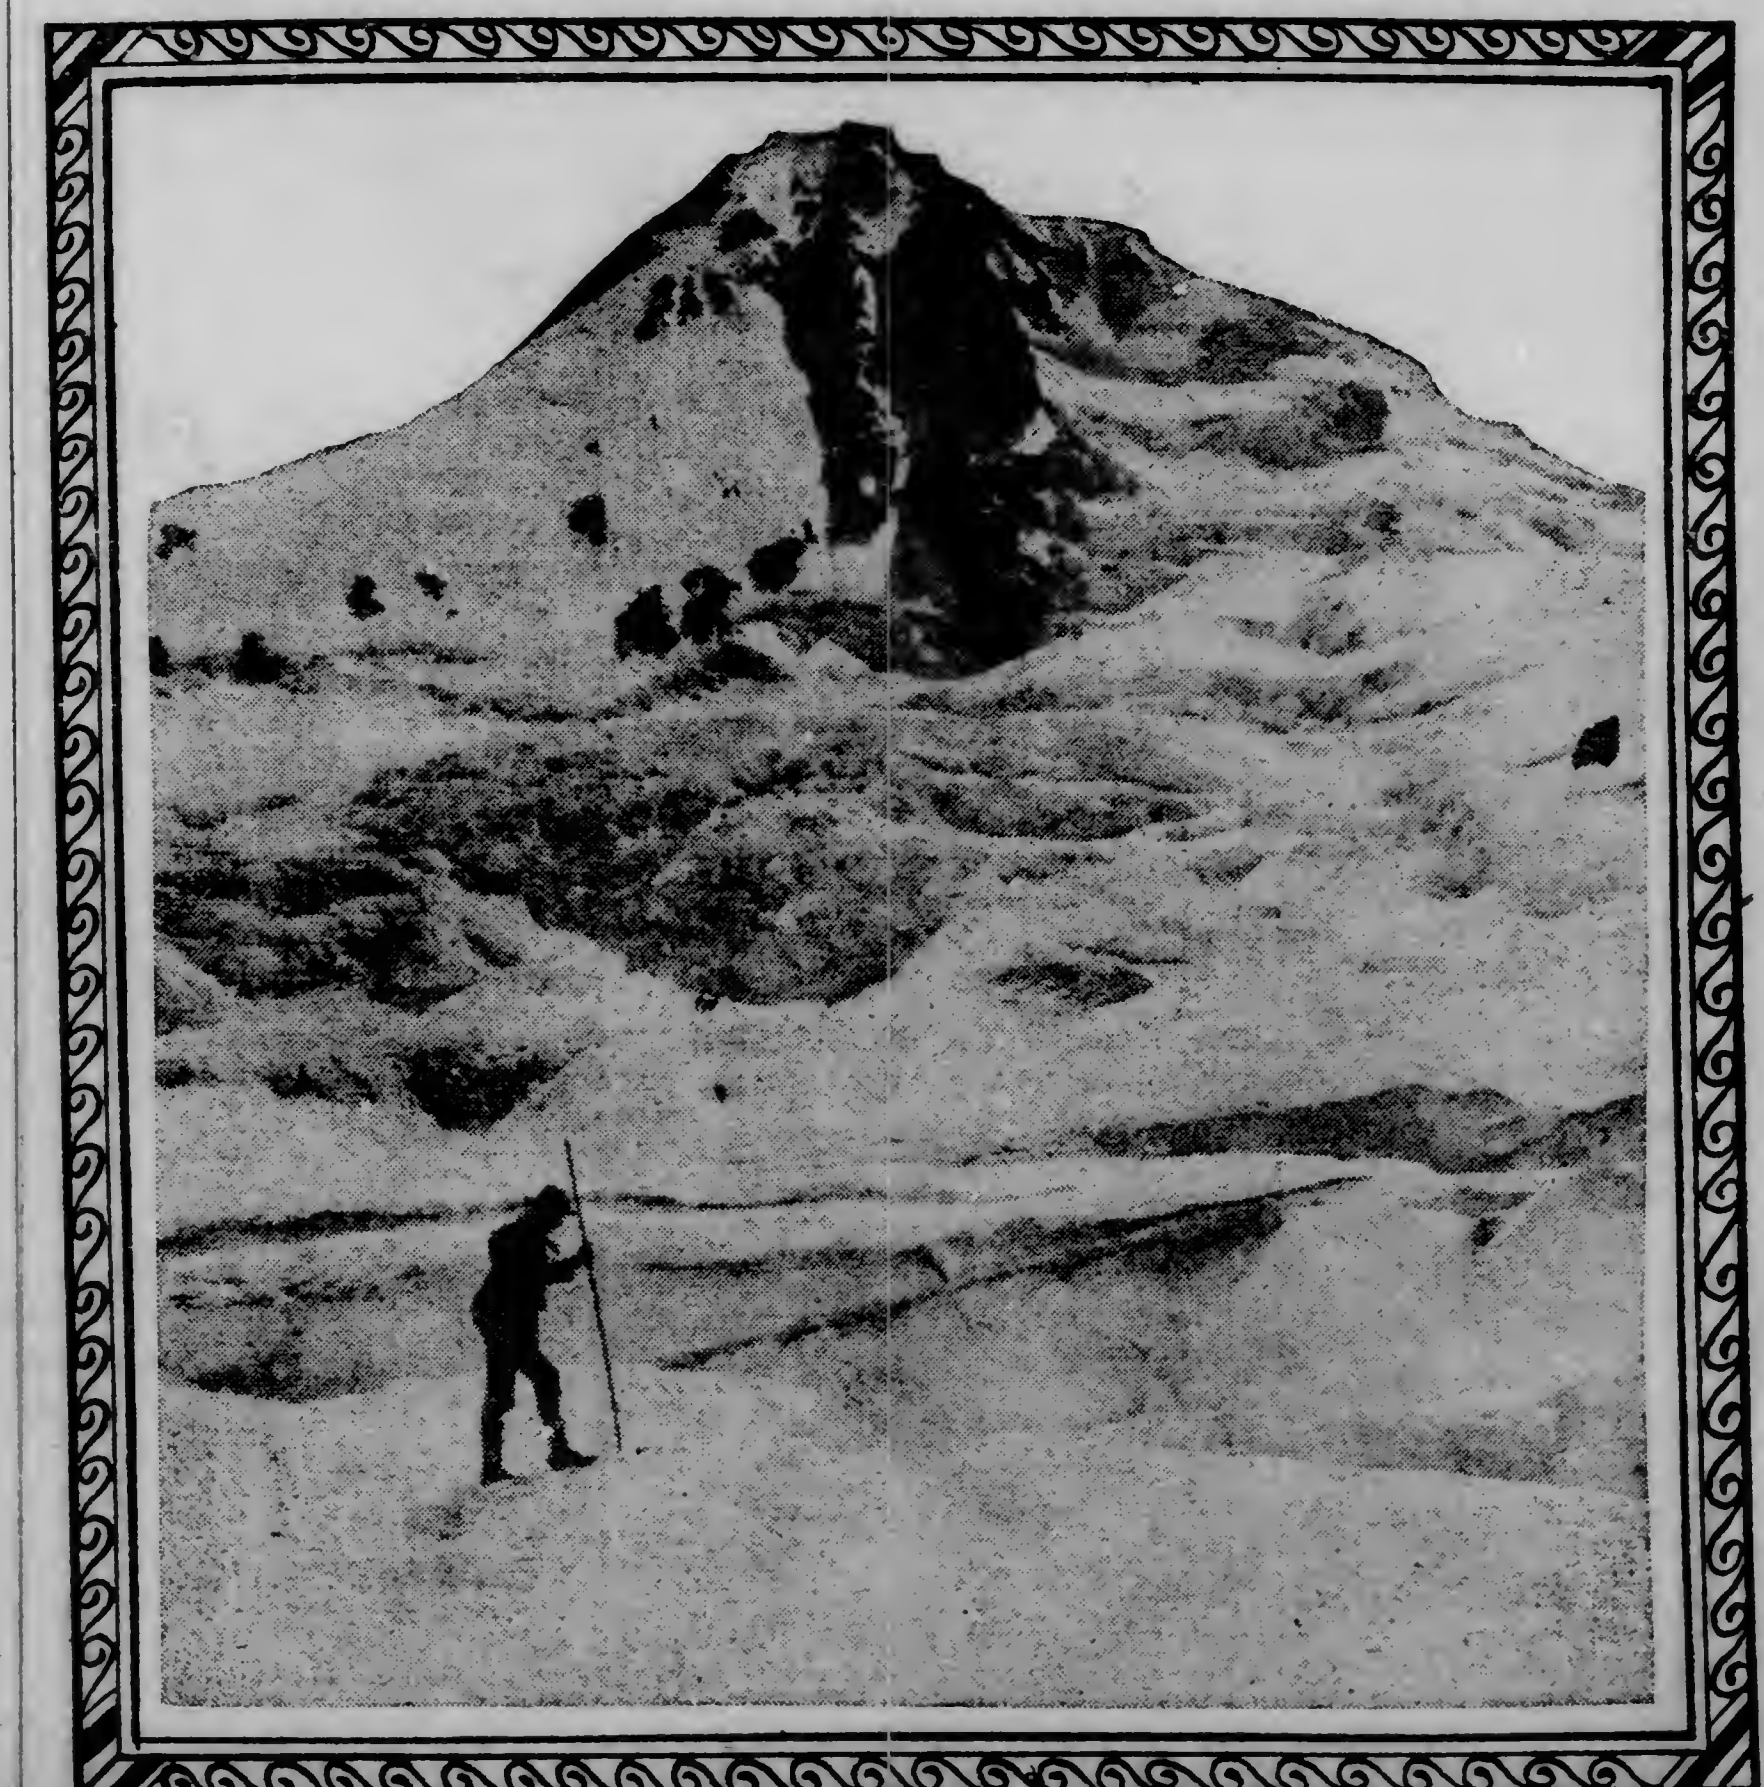

Another tourist expert placed the number at not more than 5,000 at the outside, possibly not more than 3,000. Both agreed that most of the European visitors here come on business. They agreed also that the European of moderate means could not afford to make an American tour unless he could manage to earn his way while doing it, for obvious reasons.

Although railroad passenger mileage is cheaper here than in Europe the distances here are very much greater. The Continental European, visiting America, wishes to see New York, Chicago, perhaps San Francisco, and possibly Washington, among American cities. He wishes also to visit Niagara Falls, the Yellowstone Park, the Yosemite

After getting away badly in the pennant race, the Houghton Giants have shown form in the past two weeks, which marks them as factors. They field and bat well and their pitchers have proved effective against Calumet and Winnipeg. Since their first western trip, the Giants have been strengthened by the addition of some good men and they promise to make things interesting for the other teams before the end of the season.

Percy Solbraa, who succeeds M. O. "Kid" Taylor as playing manager of the Giants about two weeks ago, has shown ability in handling the team, considering the fact that it is his first experience as a manager. Solbraa plays first base and plays it well, besides being a hitter of considerable worth. He came into the Northern-Copper Country league last year, playing with Lake Linden.

Roy Newcombe, the new manager of the Calumet Aristocrats, has a hard proposition in the management of a losing team in a town which won the pennant last year. But Newcombe is making good. His team hasn't been winning, but the form shown indicates that a turn for the better may come at any time. Newcombe is a pitcher, working his regular turn in the box. He played with Lake Linden two years before joining Calumet.

IN RANKS OF AMATEURS

Kelley Hardware Team Will Not Play on Sunday.

Fitwells Will Play Clippers for $50 a Side.

Nothing doing for the Kelley Hardware team tomorrow. With an amateur or semi-professional team in nearly every little burg on the range and in the whole of Northern Minnesota, none seem particularly anxious to take on local men, so the Kellogg will be content with watching other teams work tomorrow. A game had practically been arranged with Virginia, but the range people backed down on the proposition and two Harbors will play there tomorrow. The Kellogg don't like the way they have been treated by the Virginia management and they don't hesitate in saying so.

Tommy Robinson, the catcher of the Kelley Hardware team, announced yesterday that he had accepted an offer to go to Livestock to finish the season, catching for the semi-professional team there. Robinson's loss will be a keen one for the Kelley team as he is probably the best amateur backstop in Duluth and his place will be a hard one to fill. The Kellogg team will gain a good man, who should give strength to the line-up.

Today, in the Duluth Commercial League, the F. A. Patrick and Y. M. C. A. teams are scheduled to play at Lakeside, and the Marshall-Wells and Stone-Ordan-Wells teams at Thirty-second avenue west. The first game in the league was played last Saturday and the teams put up a good article of ball.

Only one game will be played in the Duluth City league tomorrow. The Universal Millers and Scott-Grafts will meet on the grounds at Thirty-second avenue west. Each team has played and won one game, and they are strong after a victory tomorrow.

A game to which probably more interest is attached than to any game at Duluth, and the Clippers of the Wisconsin city, will meet for a side bet of $50. Both teams have an excellent record on the diamond this year, and they should put up an interesting exhibition. The amount at stake will be an incentive to good play and the Fitwells expect to get away with the victory.

Yesterday, the Nettleton, Jr., defeated the Cascade, Jr., by a score of 15 to 13. The Nettleton Jr. challenge all teams, the members of which are about 13 years of age. For games, address Edward Hanson, 315 East Fifth street. The line-up of the teams yesterday follows:

Would Meet Peterson.
W. H. Beaulieu Wants a Match With the Heavyweight.
Wrestling has not yet died in Duluth, despite the fact that the Myerson match was believed to be the last one to fill. The Beaulieu team will gain a good man, who should give strength to the line-up.

TEAM WEAK IN BATting

Second Batch of Averages Compiled by The Herald.

Not Single Man on Team Hitting Above the .300 Mark.

The batting and fielding averages of the Sox, compiled by the sporting editor of The Herald, are presented today. They include the game played at Winnipeg, June 18. Taking the figures on their face, there is no great brilliancy. Not a man is hitting over the .300 mark. Livingston is the highest player, hitting at .282, with McCormick close up at .280.

If he individual has been starting, the team has been hitting consistently. None of the men now on the team has been hitting under .200 and games were won by the hits coming in the right place and sequence. The team figure is .217.

In fielding, no comparisons can be made as the requirement of the positions differ. The work of Smith, Tracey, and Lehigh is notable, Lehigh having an exceptionally high average for a shortstop. The team fielding figure, .525, is about average.

The averages are as follows:

NEW GOLD FIND IN COLORADO

Important Strike Made on Orpha May Property of Stratton Estate—High Grade Silver Ore Found at Ouray.

Colorado Springs, June 22.—A new discovery of gold is reported in the San Juan mountains, thirty-five miles east of Ouray, Colorado. The discovery was made in the San Juan mountains, thirty-five miles east of Ouray, Colorado. The discovery was made in the San Juan mountains, thirty-five miles east of Ouray, Colorado.

The Home Run mine, Cripple Creek, is treating twenty tons of ore daily. The ore is coming from the Home Run mine at 300 feet depth. The Santa Rita mine, a nearby plant, is treating fifteen tons daily of 35 ore.

The Western Improvement company, the heaviest leasing organization in Cripple Creek, reports a strike of much importance on the Orpha May property of the Stratton estate. The vein is three feet wide and the ore is of the best value reaching $300.

The Hayden lease on the W. P. mine is shipping five to six cars of ore monthly. The ore ranges from $30 to $40 per ton. The vein is about four feet wide and the ore is of the best value. This lease yielded Harrison and Seaver $100,000 during a recent three-year period.

Gold Mines company, of which John T. Milliken of St. Louis is in control, is owner. Much interest is shown in the discovery of high grade silver ore at Ouray, Colo., of the mine of Fred Bassinger in Ram's Horn gulch. Select samples show $200 per ton value. This region has never been prospected, and it is believed that the region is rich in mineral wealth. Numerous claims are being staked.

The discovery extends for several miles throughout the Ouray district. George H. Shontz has given a bond in the sum of $30,000 and a lease for eighteen months on the Augustus Fulford and other Cripple Creek mines, fifty acres in the Cripple Creek district. A $5 to $40 per ton assay value runs from 1 to 75 per cent, silver values as high as $400, and gold assays up to $20 per ton have been made. The copper vein is the width of the shaft, and perhaps much larger, as neither has been found. Cross assays of copper values run five to eight. The lease insures active development of the properties.

The Pharmacal Mining & Leasing company, which is operating on the Pharmacal mine, Cripple Creek, is drifting on a four-foot shoot of the old Pharmacal vein, from which good and low grade ores are being extracted.

A syndicate of California capitalists headed by A. E. Lea of Los Angeles, Cal., with a $50,000 capital, proposes to take the old reservoir of Rounty county. The Miller ranch, containing several thousand acres and known to contain silver veins, will be at great depth, will first be exploited.

COLE YOUNGER IS IN MINING

Interested in Some Mining Property in the Sonora District in Mexico and is Backed by Senator Stephen B. Elkins.

Tucson, Ariz., June 22.—Cole Younger, a prosperous and respected business man, and president of the Kansas City street railway corporation, passed through Tucson on his way to Sonora, where he is interested in some mining property.

Mining is a new field for Cole Younger, although for the past three years he has been an active business man engaged in some large undertakings. It will be remembered that Cole Younger was one of the famous desperadoes of the West, who made his name during the Civil war. He entered when only sixteen along with Jesse James, who was his junior by a few months. The Youngers and the James boys soon became leaders and after the war dared not surrender. They continued a life of outlawry and became notorious bandits, wreaking vengeance upon their enemies, robbery in the West, and later in Minnesota. Robbing trains and banks was their forte, and the deeds of daring brigandage were the Youngers and the James boys with their bands have inspired tons of yellow backed literature.

In 1876 Cole Younger and his brother Jim, were captured in Minnesota while attempting to rescue another brother, who had been sentenced to the state prison. The James boys were with them. The Youngers were placed in the state prison at Stillwater, Minn., to serve a life imprisonment. There they remained for twenty-eight years. During their confinement both brothers held responsible positions. Younger was a prison guard and reading services to the inmates from time to time, and Cole being a prisoner of the same prison for eight years they were pardoned, and after following a year's probation in Missouri, they were allowed to return to their old home in Missouri.

Cole Younger at once became an active business man and a president of an interurban car line. Cole Younger has been a successful business man, and now he is also to be seen in the mining business. He is backed by Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia, whose life Younger saved during the war, thereby creating a friendship which prison bars could not sever.

To a Citizen reporter Cole Younger told the story of his friendship. Younger and Steve Elkins had been boys together in northern Missouri, and when Elkins happened to be detached to escort Elkins into the woods and shoot him, but Younger's pistol failed him and when they had entered the woods, Elkins was told to run and Younger followed him. Later, when Elkins reported that his man had escaped, Elkins has since become a wealthy and influential man, and has been through several times as many times through the hands of the law as Younger. Younger knows to be in the interest of saving more lives than he has ever lost. There are now twenty-four heads being hung in the state prison at Stillwater, Minn., and Younger is being no stopping done on this formation.

GOAT LED MEN TO RICH MINE

Story of the Discovery of the Ibex Plomosa, That is Now a Very Promising Property in the Plomosa Mountains.

Blislee, Ariz., June 22.—To the accident of wounding a mountain goat, William C. and Lynne DeSpain owe the discovery of the rich copper claims which have been the basis of the Ibex Plomosa Mining company's organization.

While trailing the hurt animal by the bright blood drops high in the Plomosa range their eyes suddenly were challenged by the bright blue copper stains of a vast ledge of rich copper ore. The red metal had not then come into its own and they went away, not guessing how soon copper would be king.

Now the find promises to make them rich for they have the making of one of Arizona's great copper producers in the four claims on which they have proved and in the work on them of which H. H. McPhaul, vice president of the company, will file when he goes to the mines next week.

When the company was organized a few days ago they thought the goat which they shot had brought them too much good luck that it deserved the lasting credit of the find and that is why they call the mine Ibex.

The company's officers are: Thomas L. DeSpain, president; H. H. McPhaul, vice president; W. C. DeSpain, secretary and treasurer; J. J. DeSpain, J. B. Marrs, directors. Their claims are the Ibex, Ibex No. 2, Ibex No. 3, and Copper Peak. Ibex No. 2 is 600 feet wide by 1,000 feet long. All the other months of the year, placing the property on a practical basis. January and February were the poorest months for the mine's history and while the product for March was much better, the showing which was made during these three months that was submitted to the stockholders, May 31st, the product for January and February fell well below these figures and the failure of the mine to get the rock to the mill.

However, in some quarters it is believed that the only hope for permanency lies in the Baltic lode formation. The drill is still working away, the point of attack being near Peppara Junction. At last, however, the ledge had not been encountered at a depth of 600 feet.

The Eastern management realizes that it is confronted with a problem in deciding what will be best for the interests of the stockholders, and it is certain that they will be given very careful consideration.

President Lamb was at the Mass mine in the last week of the month. He went to the mine in regard to the diamond drill work on the Baltic lode and with Cole & McDonald, the Virginia, Minn., and the Eastern management.

A thorough test will be made of the Baltic formation, it being the intention of the company to drill to a depth of 1,000 feet. The test will be made by Cole & McDonald, the Virginia, Minn., and the Eastern management.

The results are being secured from shaft "C." A large amount of well proven, rich ore has been secured, and the general condition of the lode is growing better. Good ground is being broken in shafts and the work is being sufficient to show a fair profit.

In fact, the outlook for the Baltic lode is very bright. The Baltic lode is being worked with the thoroughness of a mine.

The Atlantic Copper company, in addition to its regular work, is conducting exploration work on the Baltic lode. The company is conducting exploration work on the Baltic lode.

vein average 4.50 per cent copper, eight striking silver and 100 cent gold. Eighteen inches returned 17.50 per cent copper, eighteen ounces in silver and $1.50 in gold. In addition to the foregoing there is a slight on the hanging wall side of five vein three or four feet of concentrating sulphide ore which affords the company think will assay between 3 and 4 per cent copper, although no assay of it has yet been made.

Taken as a whole, the showing in the property is excellent, and demonstrates that the vein of sulphide commercial ore exist in that part of the Butte district. This vein has been found in two places, first cut into it having been made at a depth of between eighty and 120 feet, and the second at 250 feet showing conclusively that it is a true fissure with an unknown depth. The next opening will probably be made at the 400 or 500-foot mark. The shaft is now nearing the 400. The flow of water is not heavy at present.

The members of the British Butte company are not sure now whether the company strikes copper-silver ore, for recent operations on the property have demonstrated the presence of silver metal in the group of claims, there is a lot of yellow metal.

consequence of the exodus, it is nevertheless interesting to note that during recent months a considerable number of shovels have been sent to the Superior region for Panama. Steam shovel operators are getting good wages in the canal zone. The operators receive $200 per month, also board and other camp expenses. The operators receive gold $180 per month. In addition, the shovel men who work ten months receive twelve monthly pay and free transportation to New York in case they desire to spend their two months' vacation in this country. There was a shortage of operators at the time of the recent strike, when numbers of former permanent employees returned to the states, but the depletion ranks have been almost entirely recruited and nearly all of the big excavating machines are at work again.

Exploratory work of no little significance has been undertaken in Iron County, Mich., by George J. Maas and Paul Schuch, respectively, well known in the mining circles of the Lake Superior region. An option has been taken on the J. P. Lorenz homestead in section 10, township 35 N., range 18 E., of the Iron Range. The Lorenz property lies in a portion of the mineral bearing area that has not yet been explored. The Lorenz property is west of Crystal Falls, and on the general line of the formation between that city and the Stambaugh district. The surface is well covered with float ore, and there are present other encouraging indications. There will be a great deal of work done on the Lorenz property in the event merchantable ore deposits are located.

Beer Carriers—17th Century

At that time the most famous breweries in Germany and England were in the possession of the Emperor and the King. Previously the brewing of beer had been one of the prized secrets of convents and monasteries, directed by the skilled hands of monks and assiduously cultivated as one of the important arts.

In our time the art of brewing is indicative of wonderful progress—showing a more refined taste, and also a greater purity and increased food value.

Fitzger's Beer

has a wonderful taste and a most refreshing effect. It pleases the eye by its clearness and brilliancy of color and the palate by its delicacy of flavor, due to the finest imported Bohemian Hops. American citizenship entitles you to the best there is in all the world—Fitzger's.

Andy's Dream.

BY MAUD WALKER.

"Come, Andy, look lively there! It's half-past five. No sleeping after that time in the morning. And Andy, sleeping so soundly in his little bed in the low, unplastered room, half-roused himself at sound of his Uncle Dan's rough voice. "Come, do you hear? I don't want to have to come up that backless ladder again to wake you. So out of there quick, or you'll wish you had."

Then a heavy step on the floor and a grunting and grunting, as a heavy form lowered itself down a ladder, which was the only means of entrance to the attic room, where Andy slept, pronounced Andy's uncle's exit.

Andy forced open his eyes still heavy with sleep. Then he dragged himself from his pillow and proceeded to dress. After a few minutes he went down the ladder—which his clumsy uncle, with his two hundred pounds, had found so difficult to descend—and sought the wash-bench in the back yard. He washed himself, combed his hair before a piece of broken mirror that hung in the kitchen porch, and then proceeded to the cow lot to milk three cows before breakfast. He found the milk pail on a table by the well.

As he drew the warm milk into the shining tin pail he began wondering for the hundredth time how long, oh, how long! it would be before his father should come for him and take him away from life of drudgery. Over a year before this story opens Andy's father—a poor man—had determined to improve his fortunes by going to the gold fields of the far West. Andy's mother, being dead his father had brought him to this uncle—his father's only brother—and arranged

A Story of Five Little Bears.

Five little bears in the mountain;
One heard a lion roar!
It frightened him till he quickly died;
And then there were but four.

Four little bears in the mountain;
One fell from a great high tree!
He broke his neck as soon as he struck;
And then there were but three.

Three little bears in the mountain;
But beneath the water was very deep!
And so there were but two.

Two little bears in the mountain;
They thought to have some fun.
One got too near to a precipice!
And then there was but one.

One little bear in the mountain;
He was so lonely night and day,
That at last he emigrated
To a country far away.

for Andy to live there till his return. The understanding between the two brothers was that Andy should help with the light chores about the house and barnyard, but that he should not have heavy work put upon him as he was a delicate boy and could not endure too much hard labor. His father also requested that he be sent to school regularly while it was in session.

But before Andy had been an inmate of his Uncle Dan's house a week he had taken up his home there in the fall he was kept from school on one pretext and then another by his aunt, who felt no interest in the motherless little boy, who was indeed an orphan, now that his father was away in a new country where letters could reach him very rarely, and by which means she could keep him from school where letters came even more rarely. And it always happened that no matter how hard Andy worked there was found a new job for him as soon as the one in hand was finished. So the months wore away, and the child became a veritable little beast of burden, seldom going to school a week together, and never having any childish pleasures at all.

While the uncle was not wholly a bad man, he had listened to his wife, who reasoned that Andy was delicate from too much fondling by his father, and that work—and plenty of it—would make him strong. As for school—well, he could get book-learning after his father came back. She could not afford to waste time and money on a boy who would not be a help to the family. The boy must earn his bread at last.

And so Andy had worked from early dawn till dark six days in the week, going to school about three months all together during the year and a half that he had been an inmate in his Uncle Dan's home.

Now the summer was with them and the garden and fields were in glorious green, making rich promise of a fine harvest. But though Andy's uncle Dan and aunt Rachel were overjoyed at the prospect of so bounteous a provender for the coming year they made no plans for Andy's schooling during the coming fall and winter. Nor did they get the child what necessary clothing he needed, but let him wear his uncle's cast-off farm clothing, which was, of course, about twice too large for him. Thus he was a deplorable and wretched sight in overalls rolled up about his slim little ankles and held in baggy folds about his body by means of a pair of laced-up "cat-lashes."

After breakfast on the morning of this story Andy's aunt sent him to an adjoining farm on an errand. He was to make the trip over the hills and back in a given time. And she gave him to understand he should suffer punishment if he loitered on the way.

The day was hot and the wind strong, and Andy, having put in three hours' hard work—such as milking, weeding the garden and clearing out the stable yard—felt in no condition to make the three-mile walk in a given time, but with a basket on his arm he started out to do his best, his little body so tired that his heart, in sympathy with it, became very heavy indeed.

He reached the farm and told the good housewife there his errand. But before she took time to prepare him for his homeward journey she gave him a slice of bread and jelly and a glass of milk, declaring, "Andy child, you look as thin as tissue paper and as white as ashes. You're not strong 'nough to walk three miles without resting a bit between. Come, you lay right down on my lounge and rest while I have the hired man hitch up my horse and buggy. I'm going to town today and will drive you home to your own home. Peens to me some people can't see how delicate a child is anyway."

Andy, really exhausted, thanked the good woman for her kindness, and knowing that he should have plenty of time to rest since she was going to take him home, he lay down on the lounge and closed his eyes. He felt a little better, but he knew that the good woman would not let him sleep.

Half an hour later the good woman came tip-toeing into the sitting room, dressed for her visit to town. She stooped over the prostrate Andy, and seeing him sound asleep, decided to step into another room and await his waken-

ing. "He's that tired," sighed she, "that a little sleep in the forenoon will do him good. Then she went to the gate where the horse and buggy had been brought by the hired man, and leading the horse into the shade of a tree said: "We're waiting, look, for that poor little abused boy to have his sleep out."

And while he lay sleeping on the cool floor of the cozy farmhouse sitting-room Andy dreamed sweetly for a dream full of happiness was in his brain. He dreamed that his father had returned from his journey and that they were driving away from his uncle Dan's home to one of their own. He dreamed that his father was happy, for he had found the gold he had gone in quest of. Also, he dreamed that he—Andy—had on a nice new suit of clothes that fitted him like the clothes of the town boys fitted them. And the conversation was a brand new "top buggy," drawn by a span of fine dapple grey horses, Andy's own, so his father declared.

But all things dear come to a close all too soon. And a fly buzzing about Andy's ear roused him from his precious dream to the hard reality of his real existence. He quickly arose and said aloud:

"Goodness, Aunt Rachel will thrash me good for staying away so long. The farmer's wife, sitting dressed and waiting in the adjoining room, heard Andy's words and came into the sitting-room. "No, I shall explain to your aunt how you come to stay," she said. "But if you're rested we'd better go now. It's getting a bit along into the middle of the day."

Andy declared himself very much rested and went to the buggy with the good woman, whom he knew to be his sympathetic friend. As they rode over the country road Andy told her of his dream, sighing and saying: "Oh, how I wish that dream would come true some day. "Maybe it will, Andy child," said the good woman, her heart throbbing with pity for the little orphan beside her. "But if it doesn't come true," she went on, "I'm going to see if I can't get your uncle to allow you to come and live with me. I'd send you to school along with my Tom and you could be his brother." Tears filled Andy's eyes, but he bravely winked them back. He wished he might know how to tell his motherly woman beside him how much he appreciated her kindness and heartfelt sympathy, but he was just a little country-bred boy whose mother had not lived long enough to teach him the little ways of sincere expression, and his father had interested him to the hands of an aunt by marriage who cared nothing for the child himself, only coveting the work she could get out of him.

After depositing Andy at his own doorway the good neighbor woman departed for town, nodding a "howdy-do" to Andy's aunt who came to the doorway in time to see Andy alight from the buggy. As Andy entered the house his aunt, frowning, asked: "Why did Mrs. Jones come over here with the buggy? Did you tell her you couldn't walk home, ah?" "She was going to town," explained Andy, "and said I might rest awhile at her house and she'd bring me round home. I never asked her at all. But I was so tired she said I couldn't walk so far without resting."

"Oh, she did, did she?" sneered Andy's aunt. "Well, do you see that I set for fifteen minutes behind the time I set for you to be at home? And don't you remember that I told you if you didn't get back on time I'd have to punish you? Now, I don't intend to tell a falsehood. And neither do I intend for you to become disobedient, either. You may just as well understand right now that so long as you are a burden in this house you'll have to do as you're told to do or take the consequences. I'm mistress here, you little beggar. So you go and pretend to the neighbors that you're 'ill treated, do you?"

"Oh, no aunt, I never—" "Don't dare to tell me a lie!" exclaimed the aunt. "And since I've got to punish you I might as well do it now as later. I'll have time to give over it before your bedtime. You know how it always effects me to whip a great, big, ungrateful boy like you. Come—"

But before she finished the sentence

a form shadowed the doorway, causing Andy and his aunt to look round quickly. With a leap of joy Andy was in his father's arms, weeping as though his little heart would break. The father had entered the yard unnoticed by either the irate woman or the frightened child, and stood a listener at the side door before entering. On recovering from his shock and anger he turned to his sister-in-law, saying: "Madam, in the future I shall cease to call you a relative or friend. I've heard your angry threats to my little and unoffending son and have seen into your ugly soul. I've come back from my adventures a rich man and my son shall no longer be the little beggar you call him. And, if after questioning him, I think I owe you anything for his accommodations—why, I'll settle the bill. But if, on the other hand, I find that you have wronged my motherless little Andy—well, beware. As for my brother, I shall expect to see him in town, where he will find me at the best hotel. I've engaged apartments there for Andy and myself till my plans for the future are developed. As for you madam, adieu."

And before Andy's aunt, overcome with confusion, could think of a way to pacify her rich brother-in-law he was gone, leaving little Andy to a nice carriage that stood near the gate.

As father and son rode along over the dusty road, Andy's heart full of happiness, said: "Father, I dreamed you'd come home to me, and that you'd come very rich, too."

"Yes, my dearest little man, your father's strange brother-in-law was gone, and you will never eat the bitter bread of dependence any more. Your dream has come true, you see."

vout in her religious observances that she rarely took part in any of the simple and innocent forms of amusement so prevalent at that time in court circles. Indeed, it was this exemplary character which might be said to have won for her a king for a husband, for queen Charlotte of England, learning of Adelaide's virtues, recommended her as a fitting companion for her third son, William, then duke of Clarence.

At Charlotte's suggestion negotiations for a marriage between her son and Adelaide were entered into. The match was speedily made, and the marriage took place in July, 1818.

Although Adelaide and William were the parents of several children, they all died in infancy. In 1830 George IV., died, and having no children to succeed him, the crown reverted to his surviving brother, next in line, William.

During William and Adelaide's reign the court of England assumed a pure and elevating atmosphere, proving a model for the young, something which cannot be said of it at any former period. In the year 1837 William IV. died, and as queen dowager Adelaide survived him twelve years. She was present at the marriage of the young and beautiful Queen Victoria and the charming Prince Albert. Much of her later life was spent in works of charity and religion. She also endeavored herself to the people of England by the generous and unselfish course she pursued in regard to William's illegitimate children, taking them under her own supervision and doing all for them that she could have done had they been her own offspring.

During her life no word of calumny ever stained her name, and no act of selfishness can be imputed to her. Other queens there were who left their names more indelibly printed on the pages of history, but none were more noble and true; none were better as woman, wife, queen and friend.

Big Bug's Wisdom. By William Wallace, Jr.

There had been a great rain, lasting a day and night; one of those rains that come down gently, but persistently, making rivers of streamlets and lakes of tiny ponds. The sun came out after the clouds had cleared away and smiled on everything so gently that Nature's heart throbbed with life and growth.

In the garden the vegetables nodded and smiled a "good-morning" to one another. In the barnyard the chickens gobbled strut about like a veritable monarch. In the pasture the cows ran about in happy frolic, kicking up their heels till the dinner earth flew about them in clouds. Even the older animals—horses and cows—frisked about a bit to show their good feeling with a little in general. Indeed, there is nothing finer than a good summer rain to cool the earth, wash away dust, feed the vegetation and purify the atmosphere when it is followed by brilliant sunshine with a stiff breeze.

And so thought a band of little bugs that had hidden beneath the leaves of the recent rain. But now that the sun was out the little bugs peered from their leafy home and one of them said:

"Geo, buggies this is fine a fine day as I ever saw! Come, stir out of this dark place and get into the open. Pshaw! how stiff my legs are after staying still so long!" And the speaker, a fine fat fellow, crept out from the clump of growing green into the glare of sunlight.

"Well, I must have a bite of breakfast before I wander forth," declared another Little Tim, a greedy bug, ate too much of cake. He went to bed and thought he'd die with a cramping stomach ache.

bug, beginning to climb one of the soft, green, potato leaves whose roots were growing a cluster of fine potatoes. "I'll take a bit of leaf—the softest one I can find—before I'm off for my pastime." And he fell at once to eating with a relish one of the many tender green leaves through whose agency the potatoes in the ground were fed with sun and moisture.

"I'm with you," acquiesced another bug. Then the idea of breakfast determined all to eat before playing. But the big bug—who seemed to be the leader of the bunch—looked at the potato vines that grew under the potato leaves in the ground and were fed with sun and moisture.

The big bug listened. Then he began to think it time to wait a moment and see what he could do. He crept back beneath the vines just as he saw two children coming down a little furrow that lay between two rows of potato hills. They were advancing in his direction. But to him these two little folk appeared to be the most powerful of all the creatures that he had ever seen. They tread on the damp earth made such a roar that it almost deafened him. As fast as he could he went up the potato vines to a spot straining his ears. And the sound did not diminish but became louder and louder. This is what he heard:

"Ah, Sally, look at the tomato vines! Haven't they grown powerful tall since the rain?"

"Ugh, I should say so. But—look at the beet! And look at the potato! Oh, we'll soon have all the potatoes we can eat. Let's go into the patch and look at 'em. I saw mamma dig underneath the potato vines the other day and get out a pan full of nice potatoes, and she never broke a single vine, neither. She said she could get potatoes for us to eat and still not kill the vines."

The big bug listened. Then he began to think it time to wait a moment and see what he could do. He crept back beneath the vines just as he saw two children coming down a little furrow that lay between two rows of potato hills. They were advancing in his direction. But to him these two little folk appeared to be the most powerful of all the creatures that he had ever seen. They tread on the damp earth made such a roar that it almost deafened him. As fast as he could he went up the potato vines to a spot directly to the very vine where the bugs were and began looking for them. His quick blue eyes soon detected the shining striped coats of the round little creatures. They were as they tried to get out of his sight. "Aw," said Tom, looking at them. "So you're eating up our potatoes, are you? Well, I'll just go to work, and I'll see some one to help killing you, she will."

Then for the first time in his life the big bug found his voice of such power that he could speak to the giant that threatened him. Coming into plain view he turned his shining little specks of eyes on Tom and said in a queer, squeaky voice: "Greatest Monster, with but two legs, why would you take our lives for eating these fresh leaves?"

Tom was almost taken off his feet when he heard himself addressed by a potato bug. But the novelty of such a thing appealed to him sufficiently strong to prevent his running away. Indeed, Tom had more glee and curiosity than he had fear. So he stood his ground and replied:

"Because these potatoes are ours, you impudent bug. And you'll kill them if you allow you to eat all the leaves off. So it's move on with you or take a little dose of something what you wouldn't like," answered Tom.

"But how can I come to own all these vines?" asked the big bug. "We are born in the world to live, and can't starve while food is in sight."

"Well, you have to look for it elsewhere," declared Tom. "My father plowed and planted this garden and it's ours. So there's no use arguing the question with you, you can't take it off. Or shall I take a clod and smash you?"

"Suppose, Great Monster, that another as much more powerful than you, as you near the leaves where the members of his company were breakfasting.

"Comrades pleasure and woe," he said, "great danger is coming our way. Hide in the dirt or under the leaves till it passes by. Then we must say farewell to this fine field and start on our way again. I can feel it in my bones that it will not do for us to remain here."

But scarcely had the big bug ceased speaking when the two little folks—Tom and his companion—came along the furrow, playing idly in the moist dirt by making prints of their bare feet in it.

"Oh, Tom!" cried the little girl to the little boy, "I see a bug on the potato vines! Oh, just look at it! Oh! Let's run." And the little Miss fairly flew out of the potato patch.

"Ugh! Let's run," and the little Miss fairly flew out of the potato patch.

habitation was a new one for this crowd of bugs. They had been great travelers, coming over the hills and the valley by stages. With the arrival of the first warm spring days they had come from somewhere (the place has not been located) into the garden lands of a beautiful farming region. There they had found food and fresh dew in plenty to nourish them as they traveled still further on. In fact, they could not rest till they had reached the place that stood forth that sweet, peculiar odor which only their acute sense of smell could detect. It was the potato odor that attracted them. And so they had traveled long and weary way, finding the delicious spot where they had quest of just before the heavy rain began to fall.

And now let us return to the big bug and the sound he heard which broke his legs and his mind. Instead of running he went directly to the very vine where the bugs were and began looking for them. His quick blue eyes soon detected the shining striped coats of the round little creatures. They were as they tried to get out of his sight. "Aw," said Tom, looking at them. "So you're eating up our potatoes, are you? "Suppose, Great Monster, that another as much more powerful than you, as you are more powerful than me, should come and drive you out with a threat to smash you if you refused to go. Would you call that just?" And the big bug looked very seriously at Tom as he waited for an answer.

"Well, I hadn't thought of it that way," admitted Tom. "But, friend bug, as you did nothing to make these potatoes grow you should understand that you have no right to eat them up. My father has worked and worked to get this nice patch of potatoes, and now we've not let you and your wife and children and kindred come in and strip the stalks of the leaves. Of course, we don't like to—harm a hair on your heads, but we can't let you eat up our vegetables."

"Well, since you have explained to me that your father has prepared this nice field for you I'll have my comrades accompany me further into the woods and have no fixed place of abode, and must be driven about before winds and weather. But this I promise you, Great Monster, we'll not harm you without delay if you'll not harm us."

"Sure, go right on," said Tom gaily. "You're a nice sort of old bug, anyway, and I have a good deal of respect for you. I know bugs and worms have the worst of it; for, after all, they're made to eat like we are. I guess, though, you'll find plenty to eat down by the river. There're soft leaves of every kind, except potatoes, of course. And now, I'm going to the house to tell my mother and sister that I've heard a bug and they'll be sure to make these potatoes grow up to the top of the world, but it's so just the same. And another thing, Mr. Bug, I want you to know that from now on I'll think in a very different way about bugs. After all, they were created, and should be treated with consideration. So goodbye, old fellow. Good luck to you and your wife and children. But I won't let you ever go near another potato patch again if you value your heads. Everyone wouldn't listen to your story as I have done." Then Tom ran away and the big bug called to his comrades to follow him. As they marched single file out of the potato patch the big bug said: "With a little common sense and a bit of bravery even a common bug may have his life spared. Had I crawled under the leaves as you each did we would have met with a terrible fate. I ran some risks, I'll admit, but a little is never won without great chances being taken."

"He was a right decent monster, though," said one of the bugs, speaking of Tom. "He might have killed you with one point of his mighty foot."

"Ah, a miss is as good as a mile," laughed the big bug. Then they turned in the direction of the river, and when half an hour later Tom brought Sally to the patch to see if the talking bug were still there on the potato vine, there was not even a trace of him left. "Aw, I'm sorry he's gone," said Tom. "He was so funny, he was. Just think of it—a talking bug!"

NOT HER AFFAIR.

The following conversation took place between a railroad traveler and the train conductor:

"I shall have to ask you for a ticket for that boy, namam," said the conductor, holding up a boy to all the ladies. "And the conductor glared in a determined way at the woman."

"I reckon not," answered the woman, not blushing.

"Indeed you must pay for him," insisted the conductor. "He's too large to be traveling free. He occupies an entire seat and you must pay for it."

"I can't help that," snapped the woman.

"See here, madam, I've no time to argue the matter. If you don't produce a ticket for that boy or pay his fare I'll have to put him off the train." And the conductor glared in a determined way at the woman.

"Put him off, then," said the woman. "He's nothing to me. I never saw him before today."

A SENSATIONAL MURDER TRIAL INVOLVES A HIGH SOCIAL SET AT BRUSSELS

Son of Diplomat Charged With Killing Chilian Secretary.

Latter Was Engaged to Marry the Former's Sister.

Refusal to Right a Wrong Cause of the Killing.

Brussels, June 24.—The trial of Carlos Waddington, 16-year-old son of Senator Luis Waddington, former charge of Chili at Brussels, on the charge of murdering Senator Balmaceda, secretary of the Chilean legation, February 24, last, opened this morning. The court was crowded with members of society, well-dressed women and diplomats. The prisoner's father sat with counsel for the defense. On a table in front of the judge was displayed the bloodstained rug on which Balmaceda fell and the revolver with which he was shot. Balmaceda was engaged to be married to Miss Waddington, the daughter of Senator Waddington and a leading member of the Brussels society. The murder occurred on the evening of the official engagement dinner. A few days before the tragedy Balmaceda requested the Waddingtons to postpone the wedding ceremony, and on the morning of February 24, he called upon Mrs. Waddington and announced his decision to withdraw from the marriage altogether. He admitted, it is charged, that he had behaved improperly towards Miss Waddington, but accused the young woman of having misbehaved before he met her. Later when young Carlos Waddington found his mother prostrated as a result of the interview with Balmaceda he drove to the home of the latter, who was his personal friend and, after a quarrel, shot and killed him.

The contention of the Balmaceda family is that the Waddingtons had tried to force the marriage upon the young secretary of legation, and that upon his refusal to marry her resolved to get rid of him.

The Waddingtons submit as justification for Carlos' act that Balmaceda had refused to redress the wrong he had done Miss Waddington.

The prisoner, who was markedly nervous on entering the court, quickly recovered his composure. The trial is expected to last a long time. There are about sixty witnesses to be examined.

JAPANESE SEE GRAVE DANGER

In Present Commercial Relations With the United States.

Tokyo, June 24.—An informal meeting was held this afternoon by the delegates from the chambers of commerce of Tokyo, Osaka, Kobe, Kyoto and Yokohama. A resolution was drafted indicating the grave danger facing the commercial relations of the United States and Japan owing to the anti-Japanese sentiment on the Pacific coast. The necessity of resorting to speedy measures to remove this obstacle to the development of trade relations was pointed out. At the next meeting to be held within a few days the resolution will be given official form and then wired to the United States for their opinion.

PULP AND PAPER WORKERS IN SESSION.

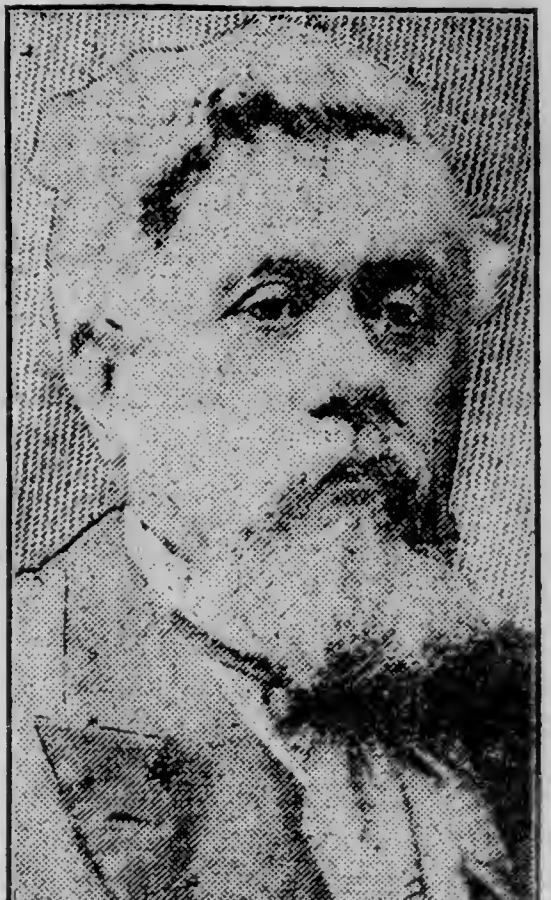

Northampton, Mass., June 24.—Two international conventions of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Mill & Paper Mill Workers, and the International Brotherhood of Pulp & Paper Mill Workers, labor unions composed of craftsmen in the same line of work, but having no connection with each other, opened here today and each will continue in session for at least a week.

Each convention is attended by about eighty delegates. The annual elections will not be held until all other business has been disposed of.

Both Sides Remain Firm in Trouble at San Francisco.

Postal Men Who Remain Out Will All be Discharged.

San Francisco, June 24.—No word indicating an early settlement of the local telegraphers' strike came from the New York head office of the Western Union and Postal companies yesterday. Officials of both companies in this city say they have been instructed to have no dealings with the telegraphers' union looking towards a settlement, but that former employees will be received as individuals.

Postal company here and in Oakland return to work this morning the company says they shall be looked upon as discharged employees and their places will be filled.

A new phase of the strike as it affects the Postal men who are out, lies in the fact that after this morning they will lose standing in point of entitling them to pension of 50 per cent of their salaries after fifteen years, in case of being incapacitated for work. The pension, which amounts to $10 a year at first, is increased at the rate of 3 per cent each year for ten years. In case the strikers from the Postal company return after this morning they will be considered new employees and will have no time to credit towards pension.

Members of the telegraphers' union stated yesterday that they had instructed an operator at Sparks, Nev., to ascertain whether it was true that two carloads of telegraphers were bound westward on an overland train to take the place of the local strikers.

The operator reported that he had learned from the conductor in the train that the cars in question did not contain operators.

President J. S. Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, said last night that he had issued no orders for a strike at El Paso.

"The next strike will be at a larger center than El Paso," said Mr. Small.

THE QUEEN TO RECEIVE

The Peace Delegates at the "House in the Woods."

Conference Still at Work on Dividing Various Questions.

The Hague, June 24.—Queen Wilhelmina arrived here today from Castle Loo and drove from the railroad station to the royal palace. She will remain here only two days and will receive the delegates to the peace conference at the "House in the Woods," situated about one and one-half miles from The Hague. The first international peace conference met in this villa.

Gen. Horace Porter, Brig. Gen. George B. Davis, Admiral Charles S. Sperry, W. I. Buchanan and James Brown Scott were present at a secret meeting this morning.

The third committee has been divided into two subcommittees. The program of the first subcommittee includes the question of the bombardment of harbors, etc., the laying of mines and torpedoes and the adoption of the Red Cross in sea war. Dr. Hagerup of Norway is president of the first subcommittee and Prof. Streit of Greece is the reporter.

The second subcommittee will discuss the treatment of belligerent ships in neutral harbors. Count Tornelli is its president and M. Renault of France is the reporter.

DAY DENIES OMAHA STORY

Says He Did Not Announce the Candidacy of Johnson.

St. Paul, June 24.—(Special to The Herald).—"I did not announce in Omaha, as reported in a news dispatch from that city, that I was authorized to announce Governor John A. Johnson's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination."

This statement was made by Frank A. Day, secretary to Governor Johnson, when he reached St. Paul today.

A telegram in the morning papers said Mr. Day had officially announced the Johnson boom at Omaha. The announcement questioned him about his trip he made statements which he afterwards declared to be false.

"What I did say," explained Mr. Day, "was that Governor Johnson had discouraged the efforts of his friends to have him named as a candidate. Anything else I am quoted as saying is a manufactured story."

POLICEMAN DISMISSED

For Being Too Active in the Gould Divorce Case.

Deputy William Peabody Removed From the New York Force.

New York, June 24.—Deputy William E. Peabody was dismissed from the New York police force today after a trial on a charge of giving testimony, being absent without leave and disobedience. All the charges grew out of the investigation of Peabody's work in securing evidence in the divorce suit of Mrs. Howard Gould against her husband. Peabody was sent to Baltimore by Police Inspector McLaughlin to investigate a report that Mrs. Gould had been married before her marriage to Mr. Gould, but failed to secure such evidence. When the officials of the police department questioned him about his trip he made statements which he afterwards declared to be false.

SERIOUS CHARGES

Made by Yiddish Paper Against the Russian Government.

Claims Three Innocent People Were Killed on Shipboard.

New York, June 24.—The Wahrheit (The Truth), a Yiddish newspaper, and the organ of the Russian Revolutionists in this country, makes the accusation, which it backs up with facsimile copies of what purports to be official letters, that the Russian government, represented by certain of its ministers, brought about the murder of Yankel Tsherniak, a revolutionary leader, on a steamer between Sweden and Antwerp, last winter, and sacrificed the lives of three other passengers, who occupied the same cabin. The paper declares that the murderer was Andrey Viktor, an agent of the Russian government. He was paid 3,000 roubles, and received the "title of citizen of honor" for his work, the paper says. Louis E. Miller, editor of the Wahrheit, announces that he is ready to show the originals of the letters of the officials, which he publishes, but will not disclose how he obtained them. Tsherniak's body was found in his cabin when the steamer on which he and other persons who shared his cabin were also dead, but a fifth had escaped. Revolutionists say this was accomplished with gas, which the assassin carried with him.

RECOGNITION IS REFUSED

To Provisional Government of Honduras by Secretary of State.

Washington, June 24.—Senator Ugarte, whose efforts to secure recognition from the secretary of state for the provisional government of Gen. Davila of Honduras, was unsuccessful, has gone to New York City. His return to Washington is problematical. Mr. Ugarte announced that his departure that he hoped to get into communication with President Roosevelt and inform him about conditions in Honduras with a view to securing the recognition of the new government. The state department holds to the position that there should be some evidence furnished, that the present government of Honduras is a popular one before giving its recognition and that these should be manifested through an election or by some other form satisfactory to the authorities here.

DARROW OPENS FOR THE DEFENSE IN THE TRIAL OF WILLIAM D. HAYWOOD

Great Crowd in Attendance to Hear Chicago Lawyer.

Outlines Plans of Defense in Combatting State's Evidence.

Reminds Jury That They Must Keep Minds Open.

Boise, Idaho, June 24.—A great crowd gathered this morning in the room where William D. Haywood is on trial, to hear the speech of Clarence Darrow of Chicago, outlining the purpose of the defense in combatting the evidence put in by the state. The formality of opening the session is at an end. Mr. Darrow at once took up his place directly in front of the twelve solemn-visaged men in the jury box and began in the slow, mellow drawl characteristic of him to state the theory and plan of the defense to be offered for his client.

Mr. Darrow reminded the jury of the instruction given them by the court that they are to keep their minds entirely open as to the guilt or innocence of the accused man until all the evidence from both sides has been introduced.

"You have listened to the theory and the evidence of the state," said Mr. Darrow. "Mr. Haywood has covered wide ground and we will have to meet him step by step. The defendant here is charged with the murder of Governor Steiengberg. But the state has told you the case rests upon a giant conspiracy of which the defendant among others is a part."

"The state's attorney has told you the murder of Governor Steiengberg was but an incident. They have told you the Western Federation of Miners was an organization to commit murder, to control politics, to hire lawyers and other criminal things."

"Part of this is true. Part of it is not true. It is true there is a labor organization known as the Western Federation of Miners. It is true they have spent money for lawyers. It was unfortunate, but most people have to employ lawyers at some time or another. This organization was really born in 1892-1893, right down in a cell beneath this court room where Ed Hayes, the first president was a prisoner, and where now the three men charged with this murder are awaiting the judgment of this jury. They hired Mr. Hawley."

FRIEND OF PATRICK'S

Goes to the Electric Chair for Killing His Wife.

New York, June 24.—John Johnson, a wife murderer, was put to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison today.

Johnson, an ex-convict, treated his wife badly, and in the presence of their two young children, shot her when she threatened to leave him.

Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer convicted of the murder of Millionaire William Marsh Rice, took a deep interest in Johnson when the two were confined together in the death house of the Sing Sing prison, and it was through advice given by him that Johnson, by appeals to the courts, was able to stave off death to this time.

FIERCE TORNADO AT KALAMAZOO

One Man and Three Valuable Horses Killed by Storm.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 24.—Three valuable horses and a man were killed in a tornado which struck Recreation park early today. William Wiedmayer, aged 39, was found dead two hours after the storm had passed. He was killed by coming in contact with a telephone wire.

The tornado came up without an instant's warning and lifted a long row of stalls, carrying them over the fence.

HUGE TRACT OF LAND AT LESTER RIVER IS SOLD

Thomas F. Cole Purchases 400 Acres From Lakeside Land Company.

One of the largest and most important acreages deals in the city of Duluth for some years past was closed up today when the Lakeside Land company, which owns a considerable amount of platted and unplatted property in Lakeside and Lester Park divisions of Duluth, sold to Thomas F. Cole of this city, 400 acres of land along both branches of Lester river for about a mile back from Lake Superior and between Sixth-third avenue east and Brighton tract on the north shore of the lake. The transaction was made through the office of C. P. Craig & Co., Mr. Craig being the local manager of the Lakeside Land company's interests.

It is expected that the deeds will go on record this afternoon or tomorrow. The deal was referred to by The Herald some weeks ago, just previous to Mayor Cullum's communication to the council in which it was stated that a prominent Duluth citizen was negotiating for the purchase of a large tract of land on Lester river and would give the city an opportunity to purchase such part of it as would be desired for park purposes at a very low price per acre. The purchaser's name was not at that time mentioned.

According to information already had by the park board, Mayor Cullum and others, Mr. Cole purchased the property at a comparatively low price, and desirous of giving the city an opportunity to establish a big public park along Lester river, he has offered to let it purchase from time to time as much of the land as it requires on the most favorable terms.

The proposition has been favored by the park board and Mayor Cullum and is thought well of by the council, and the public at large, as near as can be learned by the opinions expressed. There seems no doubt but that the council will authorize the bonds con-

MARKET IS LISTLESS

Copper Stocks Are Very Quiet During the Day.

Unlisted Shares on Local Curb Are Exceptionally Dull.

Copper stocks were very quiet during the session today. The opening prices showed but slight change from Saturday. The market was a trifle stronger, if anything, at the close.

North Butte opened at $77.50, advanced to $77.50, went off to $77 and closed at $77 bid and $78 asked. Amalgamated opened at $81, sold as low as $80.75, rallied to $82 and closed at $81.87½ bid and $82 asked.

Anaconda opened at $83.75, advanced to $84.50 and closed at $84.50 bid and $85 asked. Butte opened at $83 bid and $84 asked, sold at $83.50, declined to $82.50 and closed at $82 bid and $84 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $108, went off to $105 and closed at $104 bid and $105 asked.

Crowe-Cannett sold at $15.50, advanced to $16.25, and closed at $15.50 bid and $16.25 asked.

The unlisted shares on the local curb were very quiet.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $14.50, advanced to $14.75 and closed at $14.50 bid and $14.75 asked. Denn-Arizona sold at $7.75 and closed at $7.62½ bid and $7.75 asked. Butte & Superior sold at $2.50 and closed at $2.50 bid and $2.62½ asked.

Keweenaw was inactive and closed at $3.12½ bid and $3.25 asked. Hawk stock at $7.75 bid and $8 asked. Globe Consolidated at $11.25 bid and $11.62½ asked. Warren $7.37½ bid and $7.62½ asked. Calumet & Sonora $14.25 bid and $14.75 asked. Carmen $4.75 bid. Copper Queen of Idaho $1.25 bid and $1.37½ asked. and Cliff $3.12½ bid and $3.25 asked.

Black Mountain sold at $5.12½ and closed at $5.12½ bid and $5.25 asked.

Boston News Bureau is the authority for the following: "With yet a week to be accounted for, imports of copper during the fiscal year show an increase of more than 10,000,000 pounds over the year 1906-07. On the other hand, exports of the metal up to this time are 50,000,000 pounds under the total of the previous corresponding twelve months' period and more than 10,000,000 pounds below the total of 1905-06. Values will greatly exceed those of any previous year. For the ten months ended April 30, the latest obtainable government figures show the total value of both exports and imports of copper to and from the United States was $105,000,000, as compared with $102,740,000 for the entire previous year, and $101,500,000 for the twelve months ended June 30, 1905. The total volume of copper moved in and out of the country since July 1 amounts to 105,000,000 pounds against 92,000,000 in 1906-07.

Globe wires to Duluth, Webster & Co.: "The No. 4 crosscut of the fourteenth level of the Old Dominion has reached the No. 1 sulphide vein. The ore is good as in No. 3 crosscut. The drift near the hanging wall connecting No. 2 and No. 3 crosscuts has been completed and improves ventilation. This drift is in high-grade sulphide ore."

To Appear in Light Opera.

William Aronson will leave in a day or two for New York, where he will make his debut next season in light opera. Mr. Aronson was one of those who contributed much to the success of the recent light show and his easy grace and fine voice are expected to win him renown on the stage next year. The just work Aronson was in St. Paul and while it is not as widely known it is expected that he will join the Red Feather company.

C. A. Stark's Brother Dies.

Charles A. Stark, city clerk, received a telegram last evening announcing the death of his elder brother, Byron Stark, in New York city yesterday. The remains will be taken to Saginaw, Mich., the day after tomorrow, where the funeral will be held. Charles Stark will leave tonight to attend the funeral. Mr. Stark, the clerk, has a large number of friends in Duluth, being well known to most of the Michigan colony here.

Narrow Escape.

George Eastman, Earl Haddy and John Henty, painters, had a narrow escape from death yesterday while engaged in painting the sixty-foot stack on the building occupied by the Fifth Avenue Clothing company. They were being hoisted up the side of the stack when the rusted structure gave way as they were about twenty feet from the roof and they fell to the street below. The accident was without serious injury. They had commenced painting from the top of the structure, and had the big stack fallen the day before while they were sixty feet in the air, the results would doubtless have been fatal, or at least very serious.

Big Greenhouse.

A building permit was granted today to W. W. Seeks for the erection of a combined greenhouse and flower store on Superior street between Third and Fourth avenues east to cost $18,000. F. L. Young is the architect.

Court Refuses New Trial.

Judge Dill has denied the motion of the Shenandoah Furnace company for a judgment notwithstanding the verdict, or for a new trial, in the damage action brought against it by Oscar Lattinen. Lattinen was injured by an alleged premature explosion said to be due to a defective fuse.

Defendant Asks Verdict.

The Lake Superior Contracting & Dredging company, which is defendant in a suit for damages brought by the Boston Coast Dock & Wharf company, moved for a directed verdict in its favor, during the trial of the action this morning. The jury was excused and the arguments were heard by Judge Cant. The dock company has completed its case. In case the court refuses to direct a verdict, the defendant will begin its testimony in support of its contentions that it does not owe the dock company anything and is not liable for the damages claimed. The amount involved is about $50,000.

BOY IS ARRESTED FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Charged with committing a criminal assault on an 11-year-old girl, John Quackenbush, a 14-year-old boy, was arrested this afternoon by Detective Terry and Officers Stewart and Rother. The boy is employed as a driver for William Logan, the Eastern Fourth street grocer. This morning the boy started out to deliver some packages, driving up Seventh avenue east. He picked up two little girls, whose names are withheld by the police, in order to avoid unnecessary publicity. The girls asked for a ride, and he carried them around his route with him. The three children drove up to the boulevard, and then along the road leading to the ski jump. When near the hill where the ski trestle stands the boy asked the girls if they did not want to pick some flowers, and leaving one of the girls to guard the horse, he took the other some little distance away. Here he is alleged to have committed the assault and then to have driven back to town, leaving both of the girls.

They ran home as quickly as possible, and informed their parents, who promptly reported the matter to the police.

From the description furnished Detective Terry had no trouble in locating the boy, and he was placed under arrest shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon.

HOLMES TRIAL IS RESUMED

Washington, June 24.—The trial of Edwin S. Holmes, former associate statistician of the department of agriculture on the charge of divulging the secret information of the department was resumed in the criminal court today, with Dr. C. C. Clark, present as associate statistician, on the stand. He identified a letter written by Cotton

Broker T. H. Prince of New York to the department in 1905, making inquiry concerning the cotton crop for that month. James B. Gibson of the Chicago office of the Associated Press was called by the defense and questioned concerning an interview with Secretary Wilson on May 9 last, in which the secretary had predicted a normal crop. The object was to show that that official had himself violated his own rule prohibiting the giving out of information.

Judge Stafford ruled the question out and Mr. Gibson was excused. Judge Stafford said the matter could be limited only in case it could be shown that the secretary had divulged the official information coming to the department through the bureau of statistics.

Counsel for the defense moved to dismiss the case on the ground that the law under which Holmes was indicted does not cover the offense charged. Mr. Lester addressed the court at length on that point.

ARRESTED IN WADENA*Mrs. Henry Flaaten and
B. J. Eide Held on Statutory Charge.*Mrs. Eide and Officer Find Them Together
in Hotel.Mrs. Henry Flaaten, wife of the local musician, and Bernard J. Eide, who has for some time been employed as a traveling salesman for Martin Smith, the liquor dealer, in this city, were arrested early Saturday morning at Wa-dena, Minn., in a room at the Commercial hotel where they registered as Mr. and Mrs. John C. Healy of Minneapolis.Mrs. Eide was the instigator of the arrest. She had suspected her husband of faithlessness for some time, according to reports, and this spring employed a detective to shadow him. Upon the reports of the sleuth, which, it is said, bore out Mrs. Eide's suspicions, she decided to follow her erring spouse upon this last trip and the arrest followed.It was 6 o'clock Saturday morning when Sheriff Irwin of Wadena knocked on the door of the room in the Commercial hotel and when Eide opened it he was confronted by the officer of the law and his wife.Eide at first begged for forgiveness and clemency, claiming that this was his first offense, but his wife confronted him with evidence of former wrongdoings and refused to be pacified. The couple were locked up in the city jail, and later in the morning were arraigned before Judge Sedgwick. He promptly bonded them over to the district court on a statutory charge, and in default of $1,000 bail they were taken to the county jail at Fergus Falls where they are now incarcerated.Mrs. Flaaten, husband of the erring woman, is now at Lake City, attending the encampment of the Third Regiment there, and his wife very evidently tookadvantage of his absence to make the trip with Eide. Mrs. Flaaten, while she took the affair coolly at first, became very upset, broke down when taken to Fergus Falls and wept freely, saying between sobs, that her husband would kill her when he learned of the affair.Eide is well known here, as he worked for Mr. Smith as bartender in the Astoria for some time before going on the road. Those who were intimate with Eide here say that the arrest of the couple is no surprise to them.The Flaaten's have no children, but the Eides have two, a girl, 14 years old, and a boy of 11. Eide is 40 years of age, while Mrs. Flaaten is but 24.A special dispatch to The Herald, later this afternoon, says:Eide and Mrs. Flaaten are still in jail at Fergus Falls, not having furnished bail. Mrs. Flaaten telephoned her husband at Lake City for aid, saying she was in trouble. He replied that he would come to Fergus Falls, but later said he could not get away just yet. Eide appears to be unable to give employment. He telephoned his wife, Martin Smith, of Duluth for aid, but has not yet secured it. It is said Mrs.
Flaaten has long suspected intimacy of his wife and Eide and has threatened to shoot Eide on sight. Eide has been cautioned by the sheriff to keep away from the jail windows lest Flaaten appear and kill him."Mrs. Flaaten said: 'You may think I am a bad woman, but I am not.
This is my first offense. Why did I do it? I think lots of my husband and didn't like Eide, but I knew my husband had been untrue to me, and thought I should have equal liberty with him. I fear for my life when he learns of my disgrace.'""Eide said: 'I have made a fool of myself and am sorry, but it is too late.'"Eide said: 'My poor husband, I am sorry for the poor fellow, and perhaps I have made a mistake in causing his arrest. He carried on with other women until he drove me to distraction.'""The couple were caught red-handed.
Mrs. Eide entering the room with the sheriff. She severely berated her husband and glared desperately at Mrs.
Flaaten. Mrs. Eide appeared determined when she left for Duluth Saturday noon, but she was crying. Eide is greatly affected, but Mrs. Flaaten appears quite calm."The Magic No. 3.

FOR SEWERSPeople Want Wooden Structure on Forty-Ninth Replaced.Large District is Badly
In Need of Sewer System.It is now very probable that when the necessity of constructing a trunk sewer in the Raleigh street district is brought to the attention of the city council, the city will also be urged to construct a sewer to replace the old wooden sewer which at present traverses Forty-ninth avenue west and discharges into the bay.From the expressions of West Duluth citizens, who live in the district which would be affected by the installation of a trunk sewer, it is evident that there is a strong demand for the improvement. At present the district north of Elinor street is without sewers altogether, while below Elinor and Central avenue there are but inadequate sewerage facilities.The old wooden sewer in the gully at Forty-ninth avenue west has long outlived its usefulness. It is connected directly with a few of the houses along its route, but the connections are weak in the extreme, and the entire system fails in its purpose of conveying the sewage to a place beyond menace of the public health. It is considered an unsatisfactory and a good many people, and they want it removed.The proposition is to have a large trunk sewer installed in the gully at Forty-ninth avenue, large enough to take care of the sewage from the entire district north of Ramsey street, for some years to come. The connections could then be put in with little trouble and expense, and the sanitary character of the system would be assured.The conditions in that district were not as bad as in the Raleigh street district, but they will grow constantly worse, and it is felt that the improvement should be made at the earliest possible moment.
In a case of this kind, which calls only for the installation of a trunk sewer, the council is empowered to go ahead on its own initiative without the necessity of a petition from the property holders, who would be affected by the sewer. Trunk sewers are of least trouble and expense in most cases that the presentation of a petition would be almost impossible, and it is gratifying to know that the property holders want the improvement, which can be made at but small cost.At the meeting of the Commercial club last Friday night, a committee was appointed to solicit the signatures of property holders in the Raleigh street district for a sewer there.
In this connection, the ordinance will be given its second reading, and in all probability passed. An amendment to the "housewren" ordinance, which gives the board of public works instead of the city council the right to issue permits for the use of the streets for the moving of houses, will not come up at this evening's meeting.In all probability the railroad ordinance introduced last week by Alderman Wilson pertaining to the rights of the approach to the Interstate bridge, granting to the Eastern Minnnesota railroad the right to build a trestle along certain streets and avenue in lower central Duluth, and giving to the Northern Pacific the right to construct a spur on Travers street to the grounds of the People's Brewery, will not come up at this evening's ordinance committee, who was instructed in drawing up the ordinance is absent on private business in Washington, D.
C.The amendment to the circus license ordinance, suggested by Mayor Edmund, will be given its second reading, and probably will be passed tonight.In response to a request for advice submitted by the council a week ago, Chief Engineer McGilvray, this evening, recommended that the council cut down the bond all Hugh Steele for the maintenance of the West Superior street paving job from $25,000 to between $8,000 and $10,000. This is in response to a communication submitted by the board of public works last week, stating that they had granted the contract for the paving of Fourth avenue west to Hugh Steele, instead of Hugh Steele, though the latter was the lower bidder, because Mr. Steele had failed to put up his $25,000 bond for the maintenance of the tar macadam paving on West Superior street. Mr.
Steele stated that he was unable to meet the requirements of the bonding companies for so large a bond.
Whether the council will adopt the policy of cutting down the bonds from the usual 5 per cent of the cost of the improvement to the comparatively small figures accorded Mr.
Steele is a question.A petition for the paving of Third street, from Twenty-third avenue east to a point 100 feet east of Twenty-seventh avenue east, will be submitted to the council tonight. An estimate on the cost of the improvement will also be submitted by the city engineer. This will provide for a twenty-four-foot roadway, with a five-foot intervening grass space, the paving to be tar macadam, and the estimated cost is $12,500.The petition for the paving of Twelfth avenue east will not be submitted this evening, as an examination by the board has shown it to be insufficient in regard to several of the requirements of the charter. In view of the fact that a goodly portion of the property owners along Twelfth avenue east have been protesting strongly against the work being done, it is improbable that a sufficient petition can be secured this evening.The little argument in regard to the Fourth avenue paving contract may open the road for some of the kickers who have been making a goodly portion of the property owners along Twelfth avenue east to feel that the improvement even at this late date, is understood that they will make an attempt to do so.Ladies' Gordon Gloves at the Columlow their names to be considered again, despite pressure brought to bear by their many friends, but Director Moe tuents and consented to run again.The name of L. A. Barnes looms up as a possibility. The retirement of Director Hendricks gives the West Du-and Mr. Barnes' name is on several petitions being circulated now.

The election will take place on the Saloon Keepers.The rumor that a number of the Bowery saloon keepers, who will be forced to vacate from the Bowery by the entrance of the Wisconsin Central railroad, will ask the city council to transfer their licenses to West Duluth, is arousing considerable anxiety among West Duluth people.

The sentiment among West Duluth people seems to be at present that there are already enough saloons in this part of the city and it is argued that the Bowery saloon keepers are most undesirable. A number of the residents have approached the aldermen from the Seventh and Eighth wards and have protested against the proposed action.It is likely that a delegation of West Duluth people will attend the meeting of the city council this evening and a fight will be made against any

ON THE IRON RANGES IS AGAINST NEW GRADE

Grand Rapids Property Owner Objects to the Proposed Change.
Has Instituted Injunction Proceedings in the District Court.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The term of the district court for Grand Rapids is being held here this fair to extend through the entire month of July, so large is the volume of litigation to be disposed of.

In addition to the large number of civil cases that were on the calendar when the term began, several important cases have since been added to be tried this term, which, with the several murder cases and minor criminal cases, gives a heavy list for Judge McLaughlin to dispose of.

Last week was devoted principally to the trial of minor criminal cases, several of which were disposed of.

An important civil action has been commenced in the case of John Hopel vs. the Village of Grand Rapids. The plaintiff, Hopel, for a purpose of injunction, seeks to restrain the village from attempting to disturb the present grade of Third street, the plaintiff has two store buildings on Third street, and adjoining each it is proposed by the village to lower the grade two or three feet.

The village council undertook to establish a grade at a meeting held June 17, 1907, but Hopel alleges that it was not legally accomplished, and that he filed by City Engineer J. A. Brown is incomplete. Previous to the meeting mentioned the council let a contract to Bowden & McVey for approximately $3,000, to remove the curb from certain streets and avenues down to a certain grade line, and to deposit the dirt thus removed on designated streets near the courthouse for filling-in purposes. The contract also provided for the removal of the old wooden bridge when the streets were filled.

The contractors have been made codefendants with the village.

Judge McLaughlin made an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue, Monday evening. At the same time Judge McLaughlin issued a restraining order stopping all work on Third street until the hearing is held.

F. P. Price and George H. Spar are attorneys for the plaintiff and C. L. Pratt represents the village.

It is expected that the case of the State vs. Keston Willis, charged with murder in the first degree (killing his father at Deer River), will be commenced some time during this week.

In the case of the State vs. Cochrane, charged with murdering Whit at Wiet postoffice, an application has been made for an order from the court directing that the depositions be taken by the plaintiff and Abbotford, Wis., be taken. The application was granted by Judge McLaughlin, but the formal order has not yet been issued. It is expected that the Cochrane case will not be reached for three weeks.

FINNISH PICNIC BIG HIBBING DAY

Temperance Societies Are Having Outing With Large Attendance.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lovering clouds did not deter the enthusiastic members of the Temperance Finnish societies of this city from participating in the midsummer day celebration today.

All the saloons were closed in response to the request of the members of the society. Business houses were also closed, and the day was a general holiday. A parade was held during the morning to the scene of the picnic at the grounds of the Agricultural society park, where an interesting program was carried out.

The parade was a most successful one, and several speeches in the Finnish tongue, and a first-class program of sports. There were also ball games, and a program in the several temperance halls of the city this evening.

GRAND RAPIDS TO HAVE GREAT TIME

Fourth of July Celebration
There to be a Hummer.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Rapids is planning for a red hot celebration of the Fourth. The plans that are being worked out by the committees indicate the town will be among the liveliest on the range.

One of the notable features of the celebration will be a street parade in which cash prizes will be offered for the best supporting floats.

In addition to the local participants in this magnificent occasion, the marvelous Delain Bros., in their great comedy and acrobatic act, "When Heaven Comes to Town," the day's entertainment will begin at 10:30 with the parade. The merchants of Grand Rapids are expected to get up floats representing their several lines of business.

Hon. C. B. Miller of Duluth, who is rated as one of the most brilliant young orators of the Northwest, will deliver the oration.

The Delain Bros. have also been secured to furnish street entertainment in their great comedy revolving ladder performance, and what is known professionally as their hand balancing act. There will be continuous performances on the streets during the day.

Pavilion dancing will be provided for during the day and a grand ball will be given at village hall in the evening.

The Grand Rapids band will furnish street music and the full orchestra will supply the music for the dancing.

Sports of all kinds will be on the program for which cash prizes will be offered. Children's races of all kinds, foot races, wheelbarrow races, potato races, climbing the greasy pole, catch the greasy pig, log rolling, etc., will be provided for. Base ball has been omitted because of the time required to play the game, and the fact that no hour could be spared to the national game.

COLERAINE AND BOVEY EVENTS

Local Happenings in Two Lively Towns on the Range.

Coleraine, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. L. Nicholson will open a job printing office in Bovey at once. He has placed an order for a complete outfit.

A. P. Stock of Winona is visiting his son, W. J., the druggist of Coleraine. Mr. Stock, Sr., is so much pleased with this new city that he contemplates investing here.

John Conney, who died in Bovey last Saturday night, was interred at Lashburn, his old home.

The passenger traffic between Coleraine and Grand Rapids has become so heavy that a new stage line has been put on this route. There are now three stage lines between these towns, all of which carry mail and passengers over the new route.

The board of education has appointed marshals for the new towns of the Western Masaba at the request of several petitioners. The new officials are: John Paulinghough, Peter Westerman, and D. J. McDonald.

The board of education opened bids for heating and plumbing the new Bovey school last Wednesday, but did not award the contract owing to the absence of President Dudley.

Legislative members of the surveying crew is visiting friends in his home city, Fergus Falls this week.

Superintendent Vandike, has returned from Fergus Falls accompanied by Mrs. Vandike, who is making her first visit to her future home. They are preparing to build a residence here this season.

Among the new arrivals are: Charles Nyberg, Lloyd Watson, Ivo Lindal, and Victor Bousquet, all from Fergus Falls. They have accepted positions with the new Mining company.

Notice has been served to all builders and contractors not to place building material on Roswell avenue, which street is to be cleared for extensive improvement in grading and in laying new cement sidewalks.

Coleraine and Bovey will unite in a grand celebration on July Fourth. Committees have been appointed and it is proposed to make the first celebration on the Western end of the Iron range a success.

The village parks are being cleared of underbrush and debris. When completed they will have the finest park system on the range.

H. C. Dankroger has a fish story to tell you that he landed an eight pound pike last evening from Trout lake. He was one of the winners of the season, but who paroled the pike feast held last night.

Rev. Mr. Siloway, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and later from the Boston Theological School, has been stationed at Coleraine and Taconite for the remainder of the conference year as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

MCDONALD DIES BEFORE ORDEAL

Two Harbors Car Shop Employee Succumbs
in Hospital.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John McDonald, for twenty years a resident of Two Harbors and a well known employee in the shoe here of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, died suddenly in a local hospital Sunday where he had gone to submit to an operation. It is said he expired before the physicians began the operation. He had submitted to two prior operations, but the results were not satisfactory, and he presented himself at the hospital yesterday requesting that a third operation be performed. McDonald was in a very weak condition and passed away before the surgeons could afford relief.

The dead man is survived by a wife and one son, the latter 3 years of age. Two brothers live in Two Harbors, James McDonald, who is a freight conductor on the Iron Range, and Alex McDonald who is a pipe foreman for the same company. The dead man was a well known Mason and Oddfellow.

EVELETH MINER IS DEAD FROM INJURIES.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Nemi died at the More hospital here about 11 a. m. Sunday from injuries sustained Saturday night. He was fatally injured at the Adam's striping, and was hurried to the hospital. Everything possible was done but his injuries were of a too serious nature, and he died yesterday as stated.

The dead man was a native of Finland, and unmarried.

Two Harbors Ball Tossers Defeated by a Score of 9 to 1.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a score of 9 to 1 the local baseball nine administered a crushing defeat to the Two Harbors nine on the local grounds Sunday. The visiting team was in good form but is expected to improve with practice.

CHISHOLM DRY GOODS STORE GETS SCORCHING.

Chisholm, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A defective automatic gas light caused a fire in Lewis Bros. drygoods store Sunday morning. The fire department by excellent work saved the building from destruction, but the goods were damaged by fire and water to the extent of probably $3,000.

Fire destroyed the temporary engine house at the Monroe mine near here Saturday. The damage of the fire is unknown.

EVELETH NOTES.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Athletic association has engaged Mrs. Burbank of St. Cloud to give an art lecture at the Mesaba hall Thursday, June 27. A reception will be given.

The Finnish Athletic association went to Hibbing Sunday.

Mrs. Richard Tromma entertained a number of lady friends at cards Saturday afternoon. Bridge was played at the home of Mrs. Edna K. Medler.

RANGES IN BRIEF

Eveleth—Postmaster J. C. Poole drove his new White motor car to Duluth yesterday, a distance of seventy-five miles by road. He followed the Miller trunk line. He made the journey in about six hours.

Biwabik—P. S. Colvin has been appointed president of the Biwabik baseball club and H. H. Salmon will be his assistant. Business men have given $250 to the support of the team. The grounds have not been put in condition, and this fact has delayed the local season to some extent.

Aurora—The Longyear Exploration company will build an office in Aurora. David Graham, the Hibbing contractor, has the contract for the construction of the building. The structure will be two stories in height and will be a substantial building.

Grand Rapids—Mr. Ponti will build a brick office at the corner of Fifth street and Kinross avenue, using the site of the O'Reilly blacksmith shop. It is Mr. Ponti's intention to add to it later. Hoorman & Shook have the contract for the building.

Biwabik—Walks between Biwabik and the Syracuse and Range mines will be built in the near future, a distance of about ten miles. The money and Biwabik's treasury cannot stand the strain at this time of the year.

Two Harbors—A meeting was held here Saturday night which was attended by two Harbors and Two Harbors and W. H. Crossland and D. B. Hansen, vice president and traveling agent respectively for the Twin City & Lake Superior Railroad company, a proposed electric line connecting the cities of Duluth and Biwabik. The officials of the company are endeavoring to build a line from Two Harbors to the stock of the company.

Grand Rapids—The local lodge of Moderns Woodmen will initiate fifty candidates Monday night. Members of the Two Harbors lodge will go to Duluth Tuesday in a special train to attend the ceremonies attendant on the initiation of 20 candidates by the Duluth lodge.

Hibbing—The annual school meeting will be held next month and there is a clerk of the school district to be elected. The school term will expire. So far as known there are no aspirants for the job, and it is understood that Mr. Stillman will not ask for re-election. He has served four years.

Two Harbors—D. M. Bryant, the Duluth & Iron Range brakeman, who was brought here to the Rugg hospital for treatment for a very serious condition. It is reported that blood poisoning was developed and it may terminate fatally.

Chisholm—R. S. O'Neill, president of the village, has appointed the following committees to take charge of the celebration on the Fourth: J. L. Lewis, Benjamin Indoux, John Hirvas and Stephen Gervais.

A large number of fireworks will be spent for fireworks and other necessities of the celebration. The celebration of the Fourth and sports will be held in addition to the regular festivities.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children. Sold by all druggists.

The greatest glove show on record—Gordon $1.25 and $1.50 Kid Gloves for women at 55 cents, tomorrow at the Columbia.

MUST LOOK TO FUTURE

Increasing Use of Gas Means Larger Manufacturing Facilities.

Possibility That City's Gas Contract May Be Extended.

The steadily increasing consumption of gas in the city of Duluth due to the increasing population and demand for extensions, is causing the water and light department and the Zenith Furnace company, which has the contract for furnishing the gas, to figure on the contingency that is likely to occur in the future for added facilities for manufacturing it.

At the last meeting of the water and light commissioners A. B. Volvin, president of the Zenith Furnace company, and C. W. Andrews, manager of the gas department of the company, appeared before the board and a preliminary talk was held, concerning the idea of extending the city's contract for gas contingent on the enlargement of the plant of the Zenith Furnace company. The commissioners merely discussed the possibility of increased facilities for manufacturing gas no definite action being taken.

The contract with the Zenith Furnace company runs for seven years longer, and it is understood that the company, in the event it decides to enlarge its plant, desires to get some idea of the possibility of entering into a longer contract to furnish the city with gas. A larger plant means an increased gas supply, and the necessity of finding a customer for that supply is a big factor in the future plans of the furnace company.

The department will ask the city attorney for an opinion as to the extension of the gas contract, with a view of learning what the time limit may be in such a case.

Petitions have been received by the department for water and gas extensions on Tacoma street, from Fifty-second to Eighty-eighth avenue west, and the same have been ordered made, subject to the approval of the council.

FRENCHMEN CELEBRATE

St. Jean Baptiste Society
Fittingly Observes St.
John's Day.

Members of St. Jean Baptiste society of the French Catholic church are celebrating today in honor of the memory of the French patron saint, St. John. This is St. John's day and it is being fittingly observed.

First on the program of the day's events was the parade which formed on West First street in front of the postoffice. It consisted of about a dozen divisions and was viewed by hundreds of interested citizens crowded on the sidewalks along the parade route.

The parade started from the postoffice at 9:30 and followed First street to Second avenue east, then to Superior street and along that thoroughfare to Twenty-fourth avenue west and thence up to the St. Jean Baptiste church on Third street. As usual the parade was headed by a platoon of mounted police to clear the street, followed by the Marine band, furnished the music and several divisions of French guards, some marching on foot and others in carriages.

The gaily uniformed French guards put up an excellent appearance, the early French pioneers and Greyhounds of the city were very realistic. The St. Jean Baptiste band followed while the allegorical float—The Herald of the Day—came next. Carriages with the various celebration committees and prominent citizens brought up the rear. The following is the manner in which the parade lined up:

Platoon of mounted police, Marshal and French Guards, Marine band, Allegorical float, Uncle Sam; School Boys, Foresters, Union Francaise of

HAU TORTURED, PLEA TO COURT

Friends of American in German Prison Make a Protest.

Carlsruhe, Germany, June 24.—Chargé that Carl Hau, a Washington university professor and an American citizen, is being hounded to death by the medieval torture methods of the German police, American residents and visitors in Germany are raising a cry for fair play for Hau, which promises to penetrate even the walls of the imperial palace.

Hau is held on a charge of murdering his mother-in-law, who was shot at Baden Baden last November. He was treated two days later on a charge of having killed her, extradited, and for the last six months has been imprisoned here awaiting trial.

Less than a month ago, after the suicide of his wife, sensational statements were given out by the police that Hau had confessed, following the delivery to the police of a note written by Mrs.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF SITE WAS PREMATURE

This morning's paper contained a statement giving some purported facts regarding the site of the new steel plant.

In an enterprise of this magnitude it is necessary to have a vast amount of preliminary work to be done in acquiring the property. All of the work connected with property and organization matters has been left entirely in the hands of Messrs. Joseph B. Cotton and Frank D. Adams of the law department of the United States Steel corporation in Duluth. These gentlemen were seen this morning by The Herald representative.

"Our plans are not yet completed and are not ready for publication," said Mr. Cotton. "When they are they will be given to the public. Whoever got up the article for this morning's paper did a lot of guessing without knowing the facts in the matter."

MARINE NEWS

NORTHWEST IS COMING

NO BIDS FOR CONTRACTS

Will Arrive in Duluth Harbor on Schedule Tuesday.

Many Duluthians Apply for Permission to Go Over Boat.

Great interest is being manifested in this city over the arrival of the steamer Northwest of the Northern Steamship company which will be in port for the first time this season, tomorrow evening. The office of the company is flooded with applications for passes to go over the big passenger steamer and it has been necessary to turn hundreds away.

The Northwest left Buffalo on Saturday night for her first trip up the lakes to Duluth and she will arrive in this harbor tomorrow evening at about 8 o'clock, leaving again for Buffalo at 11:30 for the down trip. She has about 250 passengers on board from lower lake ports and it is expected she will also have a good list on the return trip.

Both of the magnificent passenger steamers of the Northern Steamship company, the North Land running between Chicago and Buffalo and the North West running between Buffalo and Duluth, have been thoroughly overhauled and renovated and are now in better shape than ever before. The officials of the company are looking for one of the most successful seasons known in the tourist traffic on the lakes and already the berth reservations are unusually large.

Every season since the Northwest began running into Duluth there has been a large number of people anxious to go over the big steamer. It has been necessary to limit the number, only those with passes being allowed on the boat. The number is limited to fifty and already the applications are far above that mark.

The steamer Huronic, the passenger and package freight boat of the Northern Steamship company, arrived in port at noon today on schedule. She carried a good list of passengers and was well loaded down with freight. She leaves again for Sarnia at 8 o'clock this evening. The Huronic is now running on her regular weekly schedule for the summer.

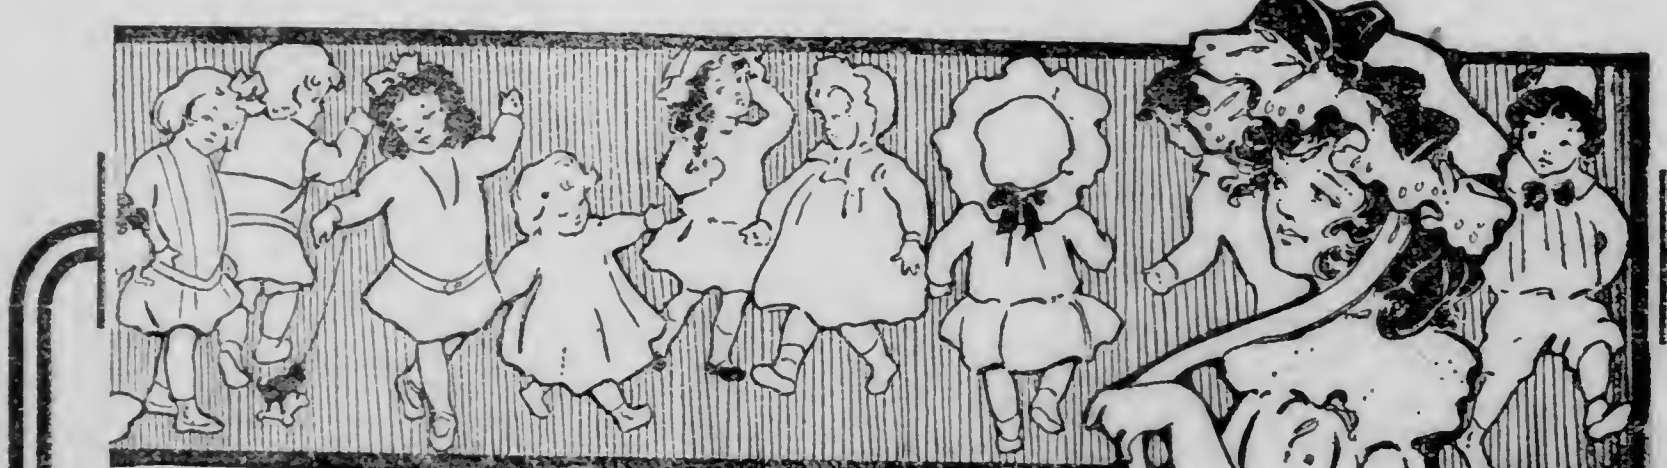

OIL TO QUIET WATERS.

Captain Vroman May Make Experiment at Harbor Mouth.

The plan of pouring "storm oil" into the canal to quiet the heavy seas at the entrance during a northeaster will probably be experimented upon by Capt. Herbert Vroman, the local manager of the Union Towing company during the next storm. This is a new idea in Duluth, but several marine men believe it will prove a success.

"I think there should be a couple of oil tanks on the pier, one on each side, and the oil poured into the canal when the wind comes up strong from the northeast. These tanks could be opened and the oil poured into the canal and it would be carried out into the lake on the current and I believe would result in quieting the sea at the harbor mouth considerably. It has been tried before and if the government will not make the experiment I am going to do it on my own hook."

Among the men who agreed that the plan is a good one was Capt. McDougall and it is likely that he will assist Capt. Vroman when the experiment is made.

MERRILY IT ROLLS ALONG!

Our Children's Week Event

What a lot of children there are in this locality—we never had an idea there were so many. How President Roosevelt would enjoy our children's week event—it would give him conclusive proof that there are no signs of race suicide in this section. And such a lot of healthy, happy, well behaved and accommodating children—some even offered to carry the biggest kind of load of Queen Wire Jump Ropes to relieve us of the quantity. But every one who called this afternoon was made happy and took home a share of the free distribution. Their happiness is mirrored in the faces of the grown-ups, and when fond parents see the beautiful assortments of children's wear things marked at prices so unexpectedly low, their pleasure almost exceeds that of the children. More bargains for tomorrow and rest of the week.

building company and placed in dry dock. The officials of the Pittsburgh company state that the damage is slight and that only two or three plates on the hull of the boat will have to be replaced.

Capt. T. J. Cullen was in command of the vessel at the time of the accident, and the Clemons was in the charge of the Clemons. Both boats were able to proceed under their own steam.

New Freight in Port.

The new freighter W. B. Daycock of the L. C. Smith company arrived in the Duluth harbor for the first time Saturday afternoon with a load of coal from Lake Erie. She is an 8,000-ton boat and was launched early in the spring. She departed again yesterday for the lower lakes with her cargo of ore. Capt. R. J. Lyons is in command of the new boat.

Ore Shipment Big.

Ore shipments for the month of June by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road promise to break all records, just as those for May did. The weather has been exceptionally good for June and the ore roads have been going advantageously. The Duluth & Iron Range and Great Northern roads also report big shipments.

EIGHT LOSE THEIR LIVES

In Wreck on N. Y., N. H. & H. In the City of Hartford.

Passenger Train Crashes Into Cars Loaded With Workmen.

Hartford, Conn., June 24.—Eight workmen were killed and thirty-five injured when a passenger train on the Highland division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad crashed into the rear of a work train that was backing into the city from New Britain last night at the Shogun street crossing. Of the injured, two probably will die.

In one instance it took an hour and a half to rescue one workman who was pinned between the trucks. His head was hanging down backwards and he suffered severely, but the rescuers encouraged him while doctors reached between the frame work that held him a prisoner and treated the wounds on his face and head.

There are three unofficial versions of the cause of the wreck. One is that the passenger train for New Britain went out on a wrong track. The second is that the work train had the right-of-way until 1 o'clock and should have had a clear track, but that the passenger train was ahead of time. The third is that the work train opened a switch and failed to close it.

The engineer of the work train claims that he had the right-of-way and his statements are borne out by others on his train.

Engineer Wilson of the passenger train jumped in time to escape injury. The passengers, however, were badly shaken up, and some were cut by flying glass.

An express train passed on an adjoining track soon after the accident and side swiped the wreckage. There was much danger because the wrecked cars had to be maintained in an upright position by stays, while the rescuers were underneath battling to save the lives of those caught in the wreckage. During the excitement fire broke out.

Soon after the wreck, while an investigation was being made to ascertain the whereabouts of the living victims, one man underneath several tons of debris was seen waving a red flag. Some one reached him with a bottle of whiskey and gave him a draught. He remarked: "The first drink in twelve years, and God knows I need it."

The first thing this morning for both days, Saturday and Sunday, is unusually rainy up to at least twenty, and thirty, or thirty-five, is not unusual. The fear that the habit of taking home a demijohn Saturday night might be the cause of the drunkenness than the social glass on Sunday afternoon is evidently groundless, or else the man who tanks up at home after the house too closely to become under the eye of the law.

The council's action of last week, when a revocation of a license was threatened upon any violation of the Sunday law, was evidently very effective, for not a single saloon opened its doors for any purpose yesterday.

The St. Paul decision, where a saloonkeeper sought to avoid a fine by claiming that he was not selling intoxicants, but was found guilty, and fined, came in plenty of time to avoid any attempts at similar subterfuges in Duluth and would be a warning to the saloonkeepers.

In short, the law was on very tight, and while it might have been possible for the saloonkeepers to find the underground railway leading to the third quench, the game was hardly worth the candle.

CLEVER DOCTOR

Cured a 20-years Trouble Without any Medicine.

A wise and physician cured a 20 years stomach disease without any medicine as his patient tells: "I had stomach trouble for 20 years, tried doctors, medicines, patent medicines and all simple remedies suggested by my friends but grew worse all the time. Finally a doctor who is the most prominent physician in this part of the state told me medicine would do me no good only irritate my stomach and make it worse—and I must look to diet and quit drinking coffee. I tried out in alarm. Quit drinking coffee. Why? What will I drink? "Try Postum," said the doctor, I drink it and you will like it when it is made according to directions, and served with cream for it is delicious and has none of the bad effects coffee has. Well that was over two years ago and I am still drinking Postum. My stomach is right again and I know Doctor hit the nail on the head when he decided coffee was the cause of all my trouble. I only wish I had quit it years ago and drank Postum in its place. Never too late to mend. Ten days' trial of Postum in place of coffee works wonders. There's a Reason. Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pink. Physicians call it "A little health classic."

A Nicely Furnished Home

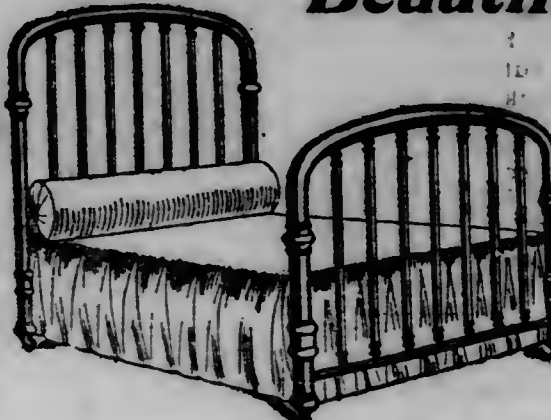

Beautiful Brass

Beds at Low Prices

$19 China Closet $10.50

Here is a solid oak China Closet—curved glass on the ends—closet is 5 feet high and 34 1/2 inches wide. It would be priced at $10.00 in any other store but this one—our price is only $10.50. Has a fine smooth finish, is made of solid oak in rich golden color and is a great big value. It is a sample of our other values in this line. A new shipment of China Closets has just arrived.

We have the largest, finest line of Brass Beds in the city. The best of it is our prices are the lowest. Large, heavy two-inch tubing, finely finished—either polished or dull—the attractive square Mission styles, the heavy continuous tubing beds—all go to make up a fine showing. Priced at from $25 up

A $17.00 Value for $9.50

An exceptional value in a large, heavy dining table—golden quartered oak—45-inch round top—heavy, carved leg—table extends to six feet and will seat eight people. This is one of the best values we ever offered—you won't be disappointed when you see the table. It would be priced at $17.00 in any other store.

The Finest Steel Cart

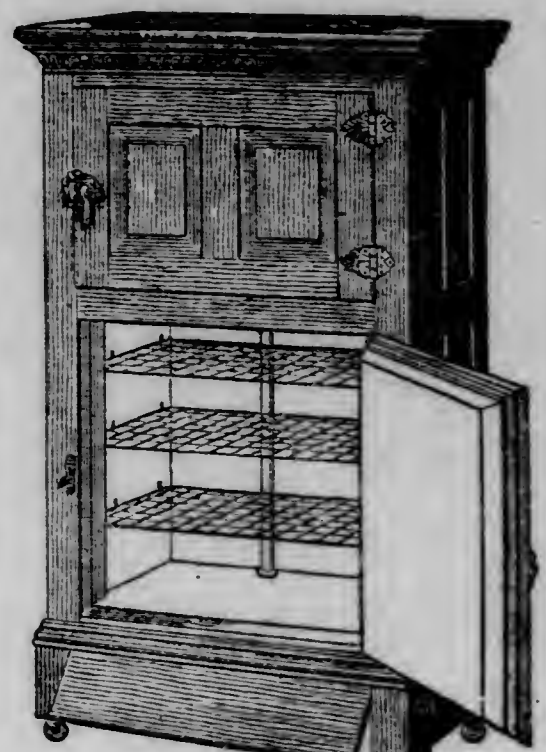

That we know anything about is made entirely of steel tubing, finely enameled—it folds with only one motion—wheels and all. It is strong and durable—covered with leather cloth—has reclining back and is a little beauty. It folds up flat as the cut shows. You will find our price less than others ask.

You Can Use a Good Refrigerator

all the year round. The White Mountain is a perfect Refrigerator—stone lined—a smooth white, absolutely clean lining. Every part is cleanable, can be taken out and put back—it does not ever smell, will not rust or corrode—keeps food perfectly in a cold, dry air and has a fine circulation that insures keeping food sweet and untainted.

The shelves are of heavy tinned mesh that will not rust and will not collect dirt. The ice chamber is large and preserves the ice perfectly. Our prices are acknowledged the very lowest in the city for a high grade, sanitary refrigerator.

Perfection Blue Flame Stoves

They are "perfection" because they do not smoke or smell—they give an even heat and clean and easy to manage. They burn kerosene, which will save you money on your fuel bills. For the kitchen in summer or the cottage they are the thing to use. They keep the kitchen cool, are always ready and make your work lighter.

Priced at $8.50 and $10.50 in different sizes

Fine Oak Table 98c

Large 24x24-inch top, with moulded rim and turned legs. This table is strong, well made and nicely finished. An exceptional value. Has a shelf underneath and would be priced at $1.75 in any other store.

NOT AN ARREST MADE ON SUNDAY

Lid Evidently Had Very Beneficial Effect in Duluth.

Exactly twenty-four hours without an arrest! That is what the lid did for Duluth yesterday.

At 1:15 Sunday morning an arrest was made for drunkenness, but the culprit was far enough from any saloon to convince the officer that he had loaded up before closing time. At exactly 1:15 this morning another arrest was made for drunkenness. This was not a case of drunkenness, however, as the man was arrested because he had been seen drunk by one of the officers on Saturday evening.

The first thing this morning, for both days, Saturday and Sunday, is unusually rainy up to at least twenty, and thirty, or thirty-five, is not unusual. The fear that the habit of taking home a demijohn Saturday night might be the cause of the drunkenness than the social glass on Sunday afternoon is evidently groundless, or else the man who tanks up at home after the house too closely to become under the eye of the law.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Mrs. Charles Alden Smith was hostess at luncheon today at her home at Hunter's Park, in honor of Miss Leora Fenton, whose wedding to Philip Alden Smith will take place Wednesday of this week. The table decorations were most attractive in lilacs of the valley and violets and ferns, and the guests were: Mesdames: W. A. McGonagle, A. R. Fuller, Clyde Fenton, Crookston, R. E. Denfeld, Crookston, Misses: Mack of Chicago, Trufant.

Y. W. C. A. AT ST. PAUL.

Third City Association of State to be Organized Soon.

The members of the local Young Women's Christian association, who have just passed through a strenuous building campaign, are much interested in the movement to organize an association at St. Paul, which has been recently inaugurated. There has never been an association in the Saintly City, and the time now seems most opportune, and the state secretary, Miss Daisy M. Griggs, is working there at the present time. A building site, 120 by 150, located opposite the auditorium, has been donated, provided that the association raises a building fund of $250,000 within a year. The present plans are to establish secretaries and begin the work in the autumn. A membership committee is already at work and it is planned to start the finance committee at active work immediately. The progress of the work will be watched with much interest by the members of the local association. After the organization of the St. Paul association there will be three city associations in the state.

TO HONOR MEMORY.

State Federation to Prepare Memorial for Late Mrs. Williams.

The executive board of the Minnesota State Federation of Women's Clubs have authorized Mrs. Mary McCusick, historian of the federation, to make a collection of the written tributes to the late Mrs. Lydia P. Williams of St. Paul, a former president of the federation and prominent club worker for many years, and these tributes will be issued in the form of small memorial circulars and distributed among the club women of the state at the annual meeting of the federation, which will be held in October at Fairbault.

"Cecil Scott" Chase.

Cards have been received in the city from Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Chase of Fairbault, bearing the smaller card of Cecil Scott Chase, and the date, June 11, 1907. The announcement is of much interest here, where Mrs. Chas. formerly lived and is widely known. Mr. and Mrs. Chase visited in Duluth on their wedding trip, and as a bride Mrs. Chase was introduced to Duluth society.

Informal Afternoon.

Mrs. William Gatty of 429 Fourth avenue east and Mrs. Paul E. Davenport, entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of the former in honor of Mrs. James E. Huskins of Minneapolis, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Davenport.

Luncheon.

Mrs. John Wiley of 222 First avenue east entertained at luncheon Saturday in honor of her cousin, Mrs. McLeod, of Vancouver, B. C. Covers were laid for ten. After a short visit in this city Mrs. McLeod will leave for Canada for a visit with friends.

Personal Mention.

Miss Katherine Van Loo and Miss Houston, who have been abroad for several months will sail from Paris July 3 for America.

Col. and Mrs. M. M. Gasser, Col. T. E. McGilvray and Gen. John Dwan of Two Harbors left this afternoon for

Lake City where Governor Johnson and his staff will review the troops.

Mrs. T. F. Cole and daughter, Miss Elsie Cole, and Mrs. Werner Presentis have gone to Chicago for a short visit.

Mrs. Robert Smith will leave Wednesday for Montreal, from which port she will sail for England where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swart have returned to their home at Winnipeg after a visit with Mrs. H. L. Carey of London Road.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Knox and son, Hazen, who have been the guests of Mrs. A. L. Knox of Ashland, left Saturday for a like trip to Buffalo and Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Blakely and daughters of Chicago are the guests for a few days of Mrs. Blakely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. O'Leary of 28 West Second street.

Mrs. Ray H. Calne and Mrs. Martha Clarke Anderson of Brainerd, Minn., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson of 219 Nineteenth avenue west.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith have as their guest, Mrs. Smith's sister, Miss Mack of Chicago.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Green peas, 3 quarts for 25 cents. New beets, 5 cents a bunch. Kohl-rabi, 5 cents a bunch. Strawberries, 20 cents a box. California cherries, 20 cents a pound. Spinach, 15 cents a peck. Lamb chops, 35 cents a pound. Lamb steaks, 10 cents a pound. Woman may be a creature of infinite variety. There is no use of exposing the sex and owning up to it. She is hopelessly ordinary and the same, day in and day out, and the only reason a person of so little changeability is allowed to clutter society is that the other people who help do the cluttering are even more stoical and unchanging. However, changeable or unchangeable is woman, certain it is that there is nothing under the sky so blue or monotonous as marketing. It always goes the same.

"Good morning," you say, "Good morning," says the market man.

"What is there in the market any way that we would enjoy," you say. "A fine market, this morning, a fine market," says the market man.

"How much are cantaloupes," you inquire. "Only 15 cents each," he chirps cheerfully.

"Never mind sending any," you say. "How much are gooseberries?"

"Twenty cents a quart," he says. "We don't like gooseberries," you say. "How much are watermelons?"

"Only 85 cents each," says the market man.

"Min-hum," you say. "Send us up two pounds of rice and a pound of cheese and some macaroni."

Carefully compounded and packed by machinery. Always good and always uniform. Hunt's Perfect Baking Powder—made in Minneapolis.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER

Man Implicated in Dakota Murder Ordered Out of Town.

Because he was making bragging statements of having been connected with a murder in Cooperstown, Frank Smith was arrested last night by Detectives Irvine and Schulte, near the Union depot, slightly the worse for liquor. Smith was one of the participants in a street row in Cooperstown last fall, as the result of which a man named Farrell was found lying dead in the dust, terribly slashed. Smith was arrested immediately, and a knife, coated with blood, was found in his clothes. He was tried in September, and the jury failed to agree. He was released after an acquittal for lack of convincing evidence in his second trial.

It was reported to the police that Smith was claiming, around the Bowery, that he was the man who was still being held for the affair, was the man who had stabbed Farrell, so they took him in charge.

In spite of the fact that his liquor drinking had made him loquacious and boastful to his comrades Smith closed up absolutely when put through a severe course of cross-examination by the police in the hope that they might secure additional evidence for the Cooperstown authorities. Nothing was gained in this way.

The suspected murderer was arraigned as a pilot in Sent this morning and the police reported the facts of the case with a request that he be ordered out of town, if possible. Judge Winslow imposed a fine of $30 and costs or thirty days at hard labor and gave the prisoner until 2 this afternoon to shake the dust of Duluth from his feet.

Smith was so anxious to escape from the arms of the law that he made a dive for the door of the court room as soon as sentence was pronounced, but was brought up standing by an officer. He had forgotten his watch and some money which he left in the police station.

Bloody Battle Waged in Bowery Booze Dispensary.

"We'll just dig in and clean out this place."

These are the words which are credited to a party of eight railroaders, who entered Joseph Siguruyok's saloon at 509 West Superior street Saturday evening, when the place was filled with Austrians. The railroad men started in to make good their threats and before the inmates fully realized what was happening, some half a dozen of them were hurled bodily into the street.

Then they came to, however, and the railroaders got all that was coming to them. The Austrians got knives busy and every other weapon in the place was brought into play. Fred McCartney went down and out as a flying cupid came flying through the air toward the corner, where the railroaders were making a last stand, and in a fierce hand to hand conflict two of the Austrians slashed Charles Chandler and Leo Kilway across the faces with their knives. As far as can be learned the railroad men confined themselves to the more or less scientific use of their bare fists.

With McCartney, Chandler and Kilway down and out, things were looking rather bad for the remaining five of the car handlers when Patrolman Mason appeared on the scene. One rioter got next to this fact, however, and they dispersed before the assistance could arrive. Mason gathered in the three wounded men and the one who brought to the station. After having their wounds dressed by Dr. A. K. Norton, they were locked up, booked as disorderly.

They were arraigned in the grist this morning, and each fined $5 and costs.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN CANADA
FREE GOLD

Here is the poor man's chance of a life-time. Why heard you money in a savings bank? THE CRY IS NOW, "ON TO LARDER LAKE!" GREAT STAMPEDE HAS SET IN. WHERE IS LARDER LAKE?

The wonderful gold fields of Larder Lake are about 60 miles north-west from Toronto, or west of Montreal. In these hitherto unexplored regions wonderful riches abound untold. Have you any idea what Canada, one of the greatest colonies in the British Empire possesses? In a single answer—Come and see, behold and realize the great and wonderful gold and silver discoveries of the past two years.

Lord Strathcona and Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, are encouraging immigration and investment in Canada. This country is only sparsely settled, and there is more than enough for us all here. We have located a number of central claims among the first and best found in the Larder Lake District. The first of these we are putting on in incorporated under the name of the Larder Central Gold Fields, Limited, consisting of 80 acres, or 12 forty acres, claims, bearing free gold. Assays from these properties are prolific in gold, silver and copper. The Government is building a railroad to bring out the ore; in the meantime we are developing, and as soon as the wagon roads are possible we will be able to send in Stamp Mills for milling and shipping the ore this summer.

We want to interest people in the Mother Country and the United States in this splendid proposition. People and money are scarce in this country, and we need money for the work. That is why we want to interest you, and ask you (outside of Canada) to come in with us on the start, or this first underwriting of this stock at 25¢ per share—par value $1.00, and help us develop our properties and the gold and silver fields.

We strongly advise the purchase of this stock now, while it is cheap. All will be treated alike, all will participate in large profits equally, which is safety and security for you. Every $1.00 you put in for every $1.00, by the end of July if you get in now, as the books will close before then.

Remember, we are not begging you to come in upon these statements, but we are asking you to come in upon the facts and figures we give you. We would prefer to send you all the official statements and bank forms if you care to wait. Remember, if you come in with us and help on the start, your interest will be much greater than if you delay and come in later, as this is the "ground floor."

Any amount, large or small, may be invested with equal advantage, by sending us your order direct or through your broker. For your protection we ask you, however, to be guided only by statements bearing our official stamp.

Any allotment of shares you wish to take from us is entered in rotation as received, with the understanding that the money paid by you is refundable if everything is not as represented, and we give you fifteen days to return your money, and have the property looked into at the camp. This will give you time to get your order in before all are taken.

ALL ORDERS ARE FILLED IN ROTATION.

This is a strong and conservative company. The directors are well-known Canadian public and business men who have other large interests in Canada and Larder Lake. The capital stock is $1,000,000, par value $1.00. Shares fully paid up and non-assessable without any personal liability to shareholders. 100,000 shares are available for working capital, and these we are selling at 25¢ PER SHARE.

These shares, under the statute, are sold at this price named, fully paid up and non-assessable, with no personal liability.

PAID IN AND SPEND YOUR MONEY BELOW.

Shares in the Larder Central Gold Fields, Limited, will be 25¢ for a short time only.

Send in your reservation or cash order immediately. You can wire reservation at our expense.

Official prospectus and bank forms sent free on request. Orders for stock should be sent at once, however, on the fifteen-day guarantee form below, or you may be too late.

Any bank we issue you a draft for any amount you wish, good to us at par, or you can get American Express International money order, or Postoffice Order, at a small cost.

Address all inquiries to HAWES, GIBSON & CO., Traders Bank, Toronto, Can. and remittances to The Trust & Guarantee Co., Limited, 14 King Street West, Toronto.

REV. C. C. ROLLITT AT ST. PAUL'S

Red Wing Pastor Delivers Strong and Interesting Sermon.

At the morning service yesterday at St. Paul's Episcopal church, the speaker was Rev. C. C. Rollitt of Red Wing, who was in attendance last week at the Episcopal convention in this city. His sermon yesterday was a finely presented discourse. He spoke of the love of God as a love that is not only a love of the heart, but a love of the mind and the soul. He spoke of the love of God as a love that is not only a love of the heart, but a love of the mind and the soul. He spoke of the love of God as a love that is not only a love of the heart, but a love of the mind and the soul.

The desire of Philip was a natural one and the demand of all the ages has been the same. The comfort and assurance of such a revelation of the Father has been desired by many in order that their spiritual natures might be enriched by all that such an experience would mean.

All knowledge is a revelation and under the conditions of humanity God was made known to us. We can know God only as he is revealed in nature, history, and in the Bible. Forgiveness means the blotting out of sin. He was the compassionate Christ. He uttered man's physical weakness and misery. He had compassion for our spiritual infirmities.

"All these things are the offspring of love. The love which seeks what is best for the human race. Love is the love at the root of all genuine forgiveness. Love of kind and true. The deepest and truest compassion. These things are the love of God. The love of the human soul. To know that some one believes in us gives us fresh courage; to know that we are forgiven breaks down the strongest barrier against advance; to know that others look with kindly eyes upon us in spite of failure and weakness gives cheer and encouragement. If this be true of human love how much stronger must such a love be in the love of God. When we know Christ's nature we know God's nature; when we understand His judgments we understand God's judgments; when we have taken His point of view we have taken God's point of view and these changes tremendously our idea of life."

St. Paul, June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judges Sanborn, Vandewater, and Adams in the United States circuit court today appointed Former Judge Franklin Peris of St. Louis, examiner in the case of the Standard Oil company. The taking of testimony will begin July 1st, and the Standard Oil company will have until that time to answer to the charges of the government's original bill of complaint to which the defendants took exceptions and which exceptions were recently overruled. The hearing today was held in the court room of the court at the corner of Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul and C. M. Morrison of Chicago for the government and John G. Millum of New York and H. S. Priest of St. Louis. Sentences and the next court hearing of the case at which time other examiners will be appointed if deemed necessary. Robert S. Taylor of St. Paul was appointed as chief stenographer for the examiner.

INTEREST IS GROWING

Dairy Meeting at Commercial Club Thursday Big Event.

Ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin Expected Here Tuesday.

The big meeting to be held at the Commercial club rooms in this city Thursday afternoon, in the interests of the agricultural and dairy interests of St. Louis and adjoining counties, is attracting a great deal of attention among the progressive element in the dairy and stock-raising business in the Northwest. This is evidenced by the letters which C. P. Craig, chairman of the committee in charge is receiving every day relative to the convention.

From all over the country and the Northwest, in fact, inquiry has come, and letters of acceptance to the invitations are coming back by the score. There is every indication that the meeting will be a splendid success in every way.

This morning Mr. Craig received a letter from Prof. A. J. McGuire, who has charge of the state experimental farm at Grand Rapids, Itasca county, Minn. Prof. McGuire accepts the invitation to attend and takes the opportunity of thanking the Duluth men instrumental in arranging for the meeting of the good that it will do Northwestern Minnesota.

An invitation to attend the meeting was extended to W. M. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture of the United States, and it was expected that he would come as he is a Wisconsin man.

Arrangements have been completed to have them take breakfast at the Kitchi Gami club. At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning four automobiles bearing the visitors and a local committee will leave the Kitchi Gami club for a trip out to the Jean Du Luth stock farm on the East Duluth and Lester river road, about twelve miles from the city. The visitors will inspect the farm, dairy herd and have lunch at the farm, returning in the afternoon for a visit at the Trionan stock farm on London road, owned by J. Uno Sebenius.

A banquet will be held at the Commercial club Wednesday evening when the visitors will have the opportunity of discussing with dairymen and stock-raisers the local conditions, preliminary to the meeting Thursday.

The entertainment planned for Thursday morning includes a trip about the harbor followed by a lunch at the Boat club. The meeting at the Commercial stock farm will be at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

DUCHES and PRINCESS

Entertained at Luncheon by American Ambassador and Mrs. Reid.

London, June 24.—Ambassador White-laid Reid and Mrs. Reid gave a luncheon today in honor of duchess of Albany and Princess Victoria; among those present being the German ambassador, Count Wolff-Motternich, Lady Evelyn Merton, Sir Robert H. Collins, Maj. St. Aubyn, Alfred Trelton, Secretary John S. Carter and Mrs. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Cowland, Tr. Barnes, Justice Holmes, Louis Webb, Neil Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Barker Gumm, Mrs. Ogden Mills, the Misses Bryce and others.

After the luncheon a meeting was held to arrange a fête at the duchess of Albany's place, Claremont, in July.

DR. M. B. WOOD of Mankato.

ARE MOVING ON CANTON

Rebel Movement in China
Assuming Greater Proportions.

Are Capturing a Number of Towns and Butchering the Officials.

Victoria, B. C., June 25.—Refugees were fleeing to Hongkong from the districts affected by the revolution in South China when the steamer Empress of Japan, which arrived yesterday, left Hongkong. All reported the rebel movement as a most pretentious one, with an army organized after European methods. War notes, which the rebel leaders promised to redeem at twice their face value after the fall of Canton, were being issued, revolutionary posted and everything carried out in form.

Most of the arms used are French quick-firing rifles and machine guns, snatched during the last three years by way of Amoy and Canton. After capturing the towns on the way to Swatow, the rebel forces moved again northward, seemingly making toward Canton. Hunchow, on the Kowloon mainland, opposite Hongkong, was captured. The imperial troops being badly worsted, France is taking advantage of the outbreak to press for a French expedition, being sent to Canton to protect that city, and Peking officials are reported as strenuously opposing such a move. Large quantities of supplies for the rebels are arriving at Hongkong in the names of foreigners.

Some bloody incidents are reported. At Wong Kong, near Swatow, where the civil and military officials were butchered, as in other cities taken. Yang, a customs official, was killed by the rebels and the standard was sprinkled with his blood, as were some of the banners.

Families of some of the officials were forced to drown themselves in sad conflict, many having committed everything, even sick and children, in their precipitate flight.

DISCIPLINE FOR LEAVITT

Board of Control Appoints M. C. Cutter Purchasing Agent.

St. Paul, June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the state board of control today M. C. Cutter, former secretary, was appointed purchasing agent of the board at a salary of $2,000 a year. This job was formerly held by S. W. Leavitt, a member of the board, but it was taken away from him by the other members of the board because of his activity along certain political lines not compatible with the positions of the other members and this is looked upon as a little dose of discipline. J. D. Mille was made secretary of the board at a salary of $1,800 a year, and Dorner Mullin, chief accountant at a salary of $1,500.

FORMER JUDGE TELLS OF CONDITION OF DAUGHTER
AFTER RIDE WITH ESTES

Said She Had Been Drugged and He Thought That She Had Been Assaulted.

Filled With Indignation, He Found Young Man and Instantly Killed Him.

Houston, Va., June 25.—The trial of Former Judge Loving, charged with the murder of Theodore Estes, was resumed today. At the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon the defendant had just begun to relate a conversation with his brother-in-law, Harry Sneed, who told him of the alleged drugging of his daughter, which led to the killing, when the attorney for the prosecution objected on the grounds that Judge Loving's statement would be hearsay evidence. After arguments today on the admissibility of the conversation, Judge Barkhale rendered his opinion which allowed Judge Loving to relate the conversation with Sneed. Judge Loving continued his testimony from the point where he stopped yesterday.

He said that on the morning of April 22 Harry Sneed came into his office, and with some hesitation said he had a most painful story to tell as to an occurrence to his daughter.

Sneed said while he (Sneed) was out buggy riding on the evening prior he saw Elizabeth Loving and Theodore Estes out riding.

E. L. Kidd came to the home of T.

Stevens and inquired for Sneed, saying that Miss Loving had returned from her buggy ride in a bad condition. Continuing Loving said: "Sneed went to the room at Mrs. Kidd's and saw Miss Loving in the bed. She was delirious, and her condition was pitiful. Sneed said that in the parlor of the Kidd home he saw Mrs. Kidd and Theodore Estes, and told them that he would go for a doctor. Estes, however, insisted on getting a doctor himself. Dr. Strother arrived, and she did not recognize him. Harry said that my daughter was in the care of Dr. Strother. He then went down the street, when W. B. Lee, a merchant of Lovington and kinsman of his wife, told him that Dr. Strother had said that Theodore Estes had informed him (Strother) that Elizabeth was drunk, and to treat her for that and say nothing of it. Sneed said that Dr. Strother had come to him and requested him to communicate it to me.

"Harry said that he returned home that night and decided to tell us. I was shocked, and sent for my wife and daughter. I received a letter and

CHURCHMEN
WANT PEACE

Large Delegation Received by President of Hague Conference.

Dean of Ripon Presents Lengthy Address to
M. Nelidoff.

The Hague, June 25.—The president of the peace conference, M. Nelidoff, today received a deputation from Christian churches throughout the world, headed by the Very Rev. William Henry Fremantle, dean of Ripon, who presented an address urging the conference to ensure peace, justice and humanity. The address was signed by all the leading churchmen of Great Britain, except the Catholics who refused to participate even indirectly in a conference to which the pope was not invited. Nine American Catholic bishops signed the address.

M. Nelidoff cordially thanked the deputation for the interest taken in the work of the conference to which, he said, the address would be communicated, adding that every one earnestly desired the success of its work.

The proposition which France presented to the second committee (land war) has not yet been definitely drafted. It will merely express the wish that a declaration of war be compulsory before the opening of hostilities.

DEFENSE CALLS HARRY ORCHARD TO STAND AND CLOSELY QUESTIONS HIM

With a View of Impeaching Testimony by Later Witnesses for Haywood.

He Answers Most of the Questions Put by Counsel in the Negative.

Boise, Idaho, June 25.—When the Haywood trial was resumed this morning there was a surprise in store for the spectators. The defense in opening its case asked permission to recall Harry Orchard in order to put a few additional impeaching questions to the state's most important witness. Orchard had been brought in from the penitentiary after court opened. Attorney Richardson questioned him. He wanted to know if Orchard had not told Max Malich in a Turkish bath establishment in Denver that Governor Steunenberg was responsible for his being a poor man and that he intended to kill him. Orchard said he had been to the bath with Malich, but denied that there had been any such conversation.

Orchard was next asked if he knew John D. Elliott.

"I do not," replied the witness.

Elliott was in court and was requested to stand up. Orchard looked at him, shook his head and said he did not know the man. He denied having a conversation with the man in which he is alleged to have told Elliott he was in the employ of the Mine Owners association.

Richardson asked Orchard if he had not told Elliott that capital had been terminated to get rid of union labor, and would begin with the Western Federation of Miners; that something was going to happen soon in Idaho that would startle the world.

"I had no such conversation with any person at any time or place," declared Orchard.

Orchard also denied talking with Elliott about Governor Steunenberg.

"Do you know D. G. Copley?" asked Richardson.

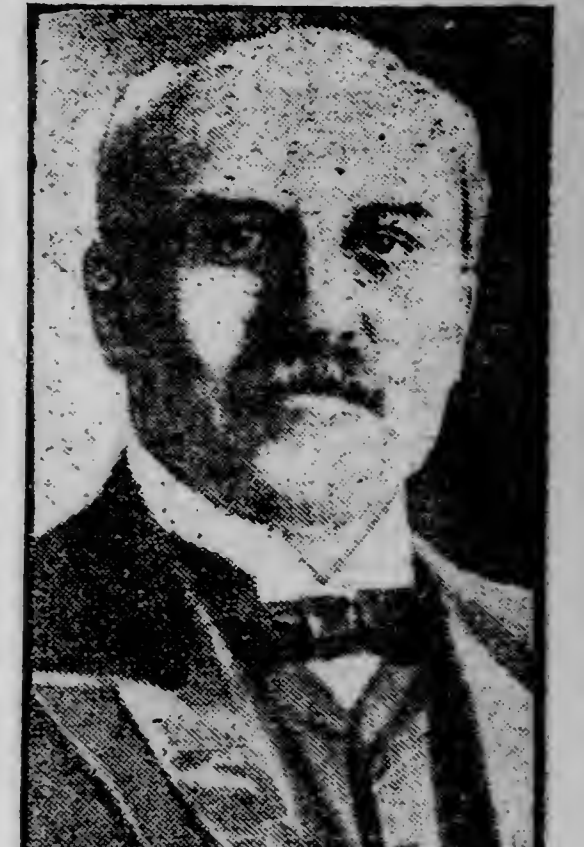

"Yes, sir."

Did you in his room at San Francisco discuss the blowing up of Fred Bradley, and say that Bradley got what he deserved?

"Didn't you say to Copley that there was another man who had a hand in the Oscar d'Alene troubles—Governor Steunenberg—namely that this man had driven you out of the Coeur d'Alene and you intended to kill him?"

"No, sir. I didn't say just that, neither in substance nor effect. There was a conversation in which Governor Steun-

HOME FALLS; SEVEN DEAD

Fatal Collapse of a New York Tenement Building.

Daring Rescue of an Old Man From High Cornice.

New York, June 25.—Seven persons, six of them members of one Italian family, were killed early today in the collapse of a ramshackle tenement in the down town Italian quarter. Three other members of the same family, including the father and mother, are in a hospital, painfully injured but with a chance of recovery. There were some exciting scenes following the accident, one of which was the rescue of an old man from a two-foot ledge forty feet from the ground, this portion of the fallen building having adhered to the joining structure long enough to permit the firemen to get to the scene, raise a ladder and take the man, Jacob Reiger, safely to the ground. Then it also fell into the river.

The collapsed building was a four-story affair built over fifty years ago, and was located at the corner of Walker and Lafayette streets. It belonged to the Mrs. Taylor estate, and for some days has been in a dangerous condition, because of excavations for a new building on the adjoining lot. It had shored up but the constant rumbling of subway trains a block away was too much for it. In its weak condition and it fell in finally at 2 o'clock this morning. Most of the tenants by the time the creaking left the building a few minutes before it collapsed. The dead are: TONY TORCHINO, 17; MAMIE TORCHINO, 23; FRED TORCHINO, 16; LILLIE TORCHINO, 9; RUBY TORCHINO, 12; EDWARD TORCHINO, 12; OSCAR BELUCI, 40, a logger. Tommasi and Amelia Torchino, father and mother of the unfortunate family.

THE COMMITTEE SAYS NO PARADE

Tells Gen. Funston That They Do Not Want
His Troops.

San Francisco, June 25.—The Fourth of July committee after a two-hours' session last evening, drafted a reply to Gen. Funston in which the latter's intimation that United States troops would not be safe from insult in the streets of San Francisco was referred to, and the general's offer of troops declined because the idea of a parade has been abandoned.

The reply covered both the original letter from Gen. Funston dated June 17 and a later communication sent yesterday, advising against the parading of troops. He declared that the expression "as yet unwiped mob" was intended to apply to a certain lawless element in the community and not to the committee. He closed by offering troops for a parade on July 4 with the statement that it was up to the people of San Francisco to deal with any disorder that may occur.

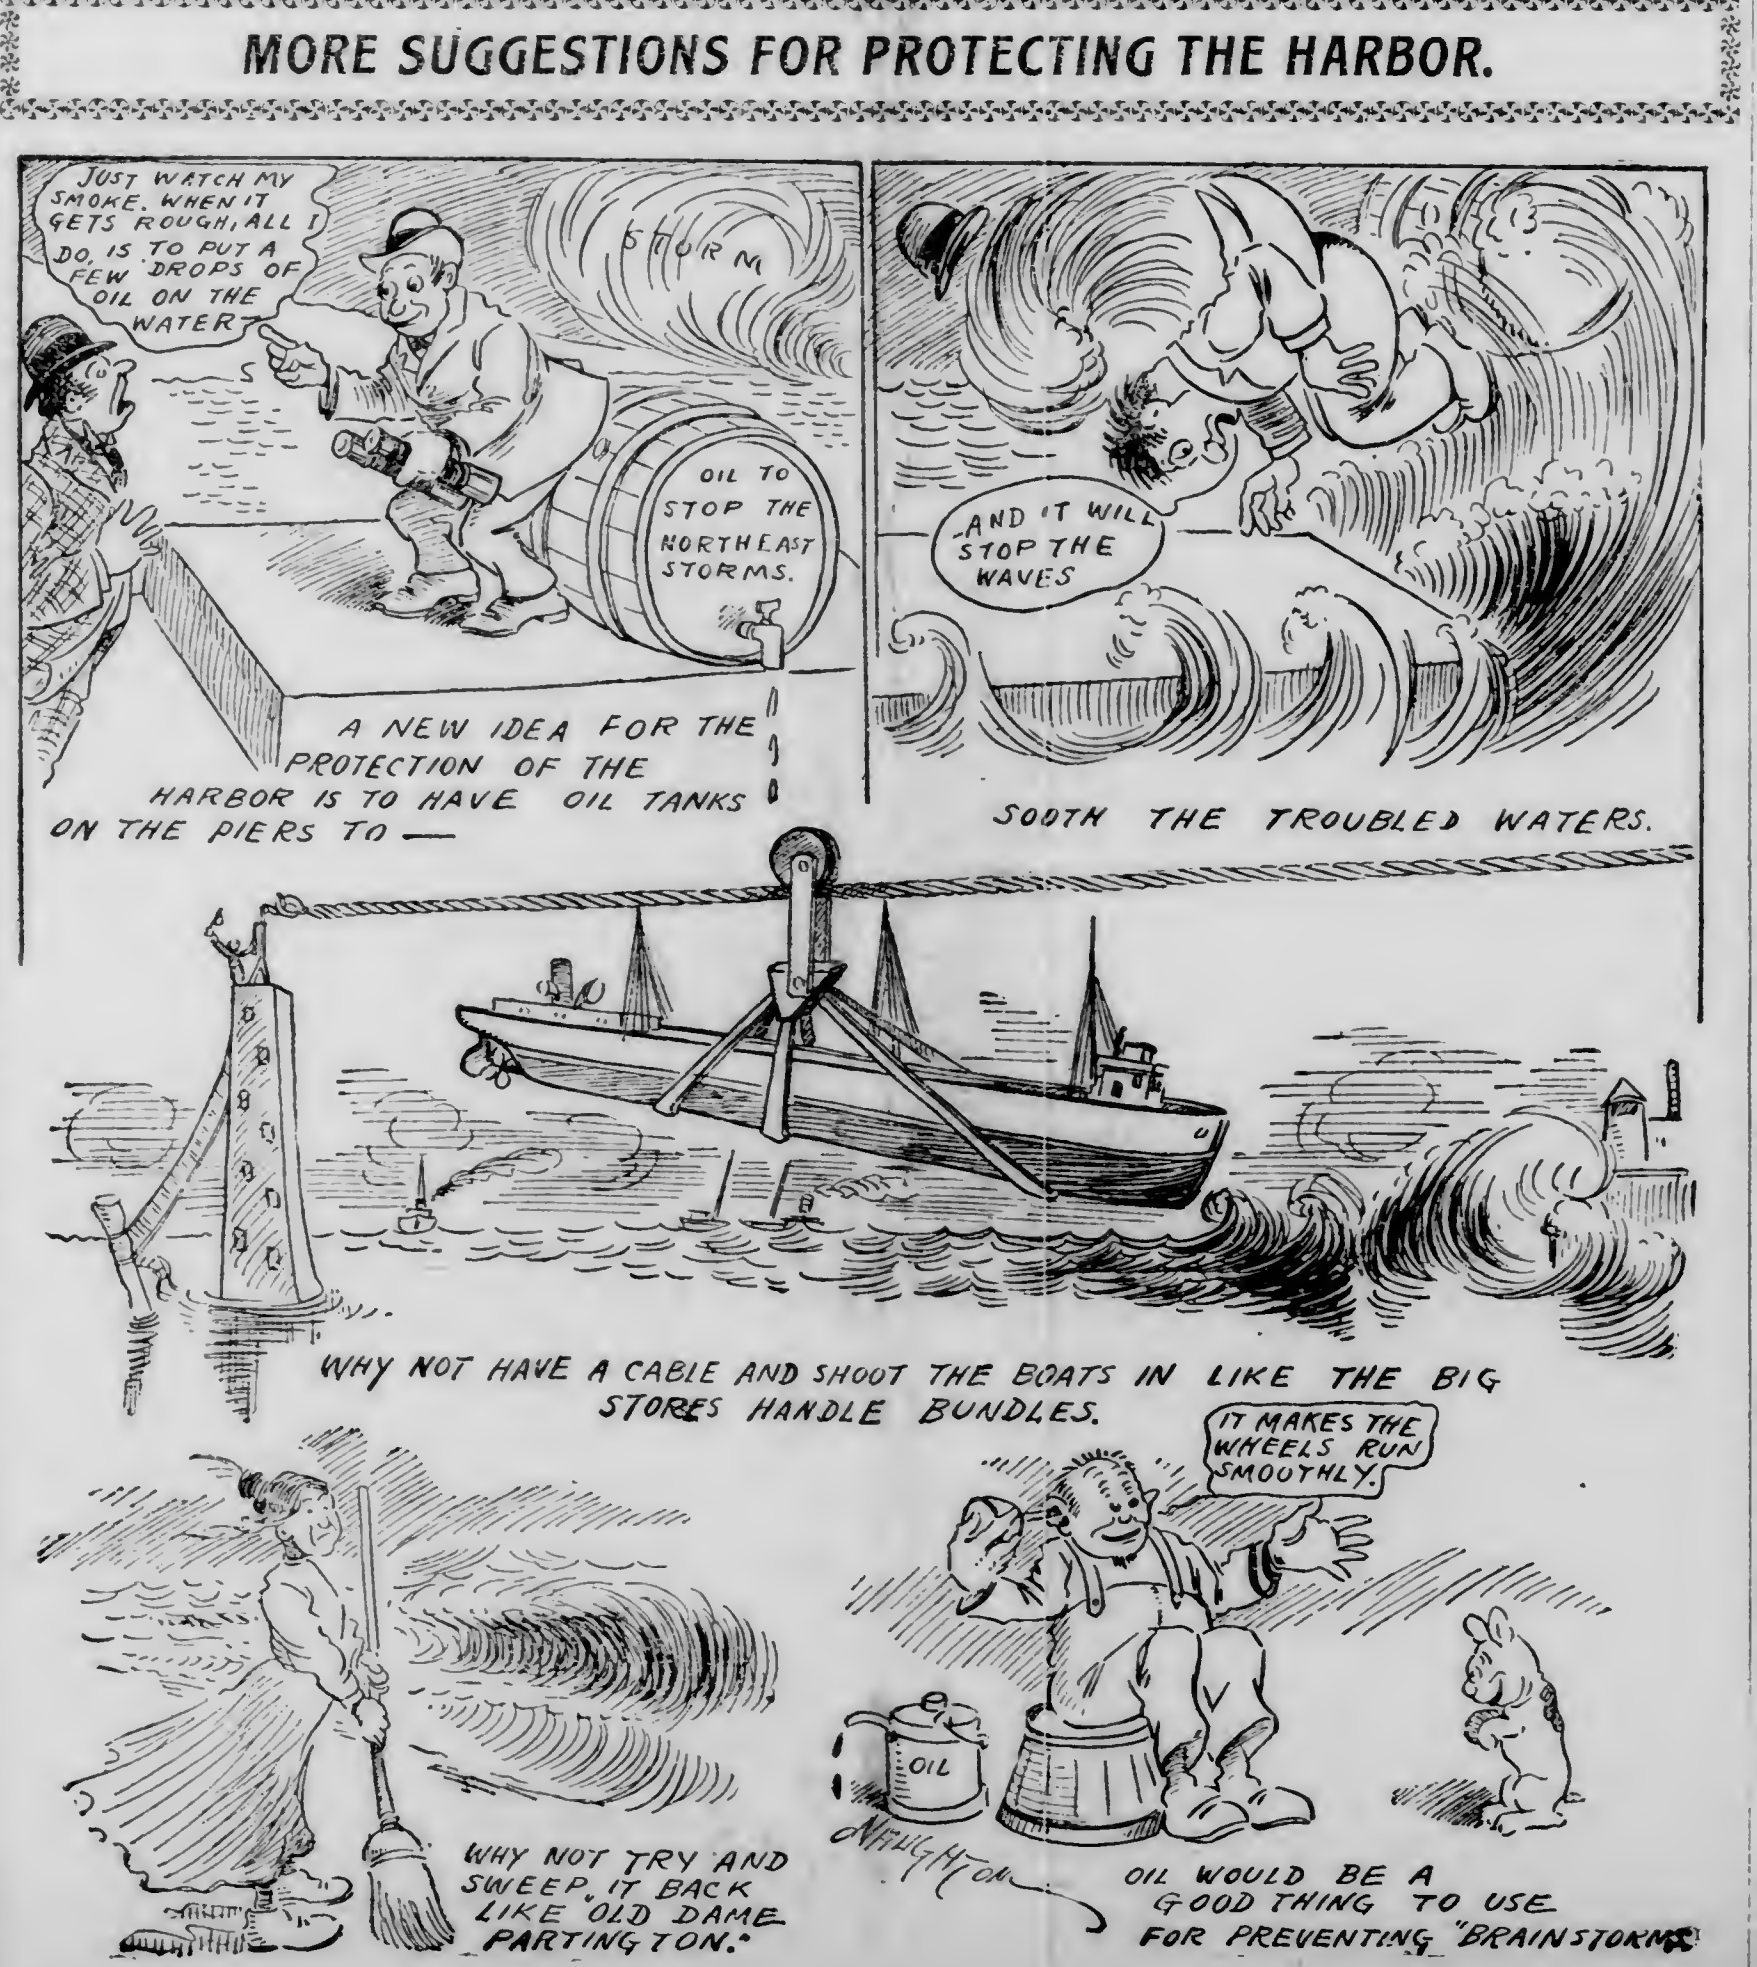

The committee in its reply stated that it did not take the general's expression as a personal insult, but stigmatized as unjust the accusation that United States troops would be unsafe in San Francisco's streets.

Will Leave Same Evening He Arrives in Duluth.

Senator Ben Tillman of South Carolina, will be in the city for a short time this evening. He will arrive from the West at 7 o'clock, and will leave for the East a few hours later, on the steamship Northwest, which will be in Duluth tonight for the first time this season. It was first expected that the distinguished senator from South Carolina would spend the day in Duluth, arriving here in the morning, but it seems his plans have been changed, and that he will not get here until this evening. With a party of friends he has been making a tour of Yellowstone park, and visiting other points of interest in the West.

SUPERIOR NEWS

DUTHEY IS ACQUITTED

Jury Finds Him Not Guilty of Murder of Wife.

He Has Already Served Two Years in State Prison.

Edward Duthey, charged with the murder of his wife at Superior, has been liberated by the jury which has been trying his case for the last six days.

The verdict was returned by the jury at 4:35 yesterday afternoon after the twelve men had been out but fifteen minutes. The jury decided that Duthey was insane when he killed his wife, but that he has since recovered and is now sane.

When the foreman of the jury, George Kane, reported that an agreement had been reached, word was sent to Judge Smith, who had left the building, and notification was made to District Attorney Foley and Attorney Cooper, who defended Duthey, and they both arrived at the court room as the jury entered. Duthey with his son and several relatives had already entered the court room.

The verdict of the jury was as follows: "We, the jury, find that Edward Duthey charged with murder was insane at the time the act was committed and therefore is not guilty. We further find that he has since recovered and is now sane."

While the clerk read the verdict Duthey appeared to be oblivious of everyone in the courtroom except his little boy. As soon as the reading of the verdict was completed the relatives and friends of the accused man crowded around him and he also received the congratulations of the officers. He thanked the jurymen and Judge Smith and left the courtroom in the company of his relatives.

With the acquittal of Duthey one of the most noted cases that have ever been tried in the Superior courts comes to an end. He was charged with murdering his wife, after a series of quarrels, of which it was claimed that Julius Blyenberg was the cause. Duthey was arrested by the sheriff who went West with Ram Langreth. Later Duthey shot his wife at a neighbor's house, and Blyenberg at his saloon. Mrs. Duthey never recovered, although Blyenberg was not fatally wounded.

A plea of insanity was made by Attorney Crawford when the case came up for trial. The jury found Duthey guilty, however, and he was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary. After two years hard work on the part of Attorney Crawford a new trial was secured for Duthey by a decision of the supreme court.

Duthey evidently had the sympathy of the jury and the court officers, and he was again placed on trial last week. The fact that he had served many months in the state prison and had managed to save $130 toward getting a new trial, and that he had two small children depending upon him, made him a subject of sympathy in the eyes of the jury.

The arguments of both attorneys were completed at 3 o'clock. The charges to the jury were completed at 4:20 and the verdict brought in fifteen minutes later.

STRIKE IS ENDED.

Former Employees Ask for Jobs at the Shipyard.

The strike in the Superior shipyard is reported to have been brought to a close yesterday, when the company took back on the work about thirty of the old men, and as soon as places can be arranged the remaining fifty will be given employment.

The men, it is said, have been taken back on the understanding that they come as non-union men. The strikers held a meeting yesterday morning and voted to call off the strike. The strike was inaugurated about four months ago, when eighty riveters and about 150 helpers quit their work. Some trouble occurred during the strike, and one man is held pending trial on the charge of shooting with intent to kill.

When the shipyard company began to import men to fill the places, the strikers began to weaken, and the fact that the company was not delayed in its work finally convinced the men that the strike had failed.

MAY REJECT APPLICANTS.

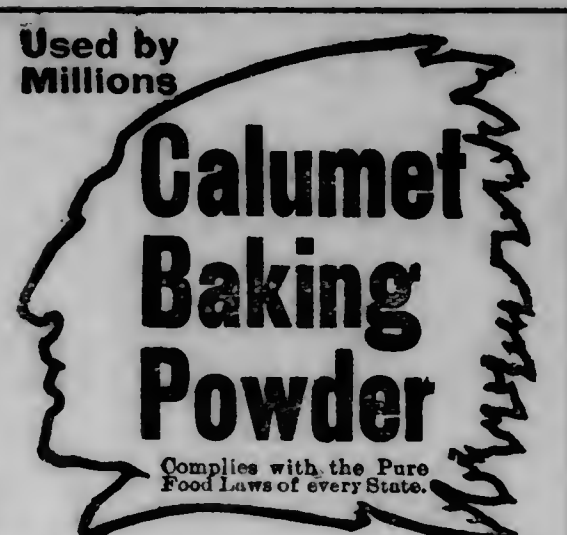

License Committee Will Not Recommend Dozen Saloonkeepers.

At the meeting of the city council tonight the aldermen will be called upon to pass on the desirability of about a dozen Superiorites as saloonkeepers.

At the meeting of the license committee of the council yesterday, the applications for saloon licenses, which must be acted upon by the council tonight, were considered. The members of the committee decided to recommend that all applications be granted, with the exception of about a dozen, which will be put up to the council.

The applications which will not be recommended for acceptance, are those of saloonkeepers against whom complaints have been made from time to time. Some of the cases, the members of the committee decided to recommend that all applications be granted, with the exception of about a dozen, which will be put up to the council.

Little other business is expected to come up at the meeting tonight.

DAY OF WEDDINGS.

Five Superior Couples Enter Bonds of Wedlock.

Today is one of wedding days for Superior people. Five weddings, which one or both of the contracting parties are Superiorites, take place, four of the ceremonies having been performed this morning and one being set for 6 o'clock this evening.

At 8 o'clock this morning at Sacred Heart cathedral, Miss Anna Donnelly became the bride of Dennis Ford of Portland, Or. At 9 o'clock in the cathedral Miss Beatrice Willis and Herbert Barnum of Superior were united. At noon at St. Anne's Episcopal church, Miss Alice Cudde and James Gibson of Hibbing were united in marriage.

The wedding of Rev. William H. Gable, pastor of the English Lutheran church of Superior, and Miss May Harmon was solemnized at noon today at the bride's home, Williamsport, Pa. Rev. Gable and his bride will return to Superior about July 12.

At 6 o'clock this evening at Sacred Heart cathedral, Miss Lillian Tremblat, son of Rev. and Mrs. Tremblat, of Superior, will be united in marriage to Miss Deborah Blue.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at Sacred Heart cathedral, Miss Lillian Tremblat, son of Rev. and Mrs. Tremblat, of Superior, will be united in marriage to Miss Deborah Blue. A. Bruchelide of Chicago will be married, and tomorrow evening at 6:30, Miss Josephine Soran will become the bride of John Ahlerson.

May Have Lively Meeting.

The effort of the Civic league to prevent the collection of the delinquent real estate taxes for 1906, which was taken up yesterday by the city board of equalization, will be continued this morning at the meeting of the council in Superior this evening. It is anticipated, however, that the greater part of the day will be spent in the protest of the league, which have been held up on account of the protests of the league, will be continued this morning at the meeting of the council in Superior this evening.

Court May Be Lenient.

Because David Little, a young man arrested at Haworth, Wis., entered a plea of guilty to the theft of three bearskins, valued at $40, told the officers what he had done and assisted them in recovering the goods, Judge Smith of the superior court yesterday pending sentence until he determines what is best to be done with the young man.

Little, while intoxicated, and did all that he could to make amends as soon as he had sobered. He told the court that he came from a good family in Green Bay, started early to earn his own way, but contracted the bad habit, which finally got him into trouble.

THE MYSTERY GROWS DEEPER

Minnie Digle Has Now Been Gone Four Days.

The mystery which hovers about Miss Minnie Digle, the kidnapped novice, grows deeper. When questioned late this afternoon the sisters at the Sacred Heart Institute denied positively that she had returned to Duluth, and said that they had not heard from her since she reached St. Paul.

As she left home Friday afternoon her whereabouts are growing more and more uncertain, and no one seems to have any line on where she can have gone. The mystery was deepened by a statement made by a Duluth man who does not wish to have his name connected with the affair, who says that his daughter visited Miss Digle while she was being confined in her home in Minneapolis, and who said upon returning that the girl had said she would never return to Duluth.

Whether this statement was made in order to throw her parents off the track or not, is a question. The sisters here continue to say that they expect her back in time to take the veil on the date set, July 11.

Miss Digle's brother in Superior has received no word up to his sister's whereabouts since the first letter received upon her disappearance from home.

RAISE IN TAXES WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO STAND

State Cannot Collect Large Increase in Personal Property Taxes.

The Board of Equalization Cannot Make Original Assessments.

Although the county board of equalization held a long session last summer and a large number of Duluth citizens supposed to have been notified, the "tax stock" not assessed by the city assessor, had their valuations and personal property taxes increased from one to several thousand dollars, the state will fail to collect anything where the increase was based on the "tax stock."

The matter of the proceedings to enforce the collection of the delinquent real estate taxes for 1906, which was taken up yesterday by the city board of equalization, will be continued this morning at the meeting of the council in Superior this evening.

DOCTOR'S FOOD TALK.

Selection of Food One of the Most Important Acts in Life.

A Mass. doctor says: "Our health and physical and mental happiness are so largely under our personal control that the proper selection of food should be, and is one of the most important acts in life."

On this subject, I may say that I know of no food equal in digestibility, and more powerful in point of nutriment, than the modern Grape-Nuts, four heaping teaspoons of which is sufficient for the cereal part of a meal, and experience demonstrates that the user is perfectly nourished from one meal to another.

I am convinced that the extensive and general use of high class foods of this character will increase the term of human life, and to a considerable degree improve society in general. I am free to mention the food, for I personally know of its value.

Grape-Nuts food can be used by babies in arms, or adults. It is ready cooked, can be served instantly, either cold with cream, or with hot water or hot milk poured over. All sorts of puddings, custards, etc., can be made with Grape-Nuts. The food is concentrated and very economical, for four heaping teaspoons are sufficient for the cereal part of the meal. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

WILL ABANDON OLD ARMY POST

Government Begins Gradually to Withdraw From Fort Assiniboine.

Washington, June 25.—The gradual abandonment of Fort Assiniboine, Mont., as an army post, is contemplated by the war department. This is one of the oldest posts in the United States, having been constructed in 1877, and is located on the Northwestern frontier, being under the supervision of the commanding officer of the department of the Dakotas. Its great usefulness as an army post existed during the Indian campaigns. The department needs the men now required to maintain that post, as many of the other barracks posts are only partially filled. As a preliminary step Capt. John J. Boniface of the second cavalry, was yesterday relieved of duty as commanding quartermaster at Fort Assiniboine and directed to turn over the property for which he is accountable to First Lieut. Howard G. Daniels.

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

Ernest Carlson Tries Wild West Stunts and is Fined.

Rode Horse From West Duluth Without Saddle or Bridle.

Ernest Carlson, in spite of his Norwegian name, looks as if he might be a forerunner of a Wild West show. He appeared in police court this morning, attired in brown cowboy trousers, a soft shirt with the traditional handkerchief, and long curling mustachios which would have been insisted if termed a plain "mustache."

And it was a cowboy stunt that got Ernest into trouble. He came tearing down toward the central part of the city on horseback, about 9 o'clock this morning, barebacked and with only a common loose halter with a piece of dangling rope attached, for a bridle. He guided his horse by means of a slap on the side of the head now and then.

At about Twentieth avenue west he came to grief. His spirited steed plunged into a wagon, reared, and in spite of continued frenzied snaps on the side of the head, started back toward West Duluth. It changed its mind again in a minute, and decided that Superior street was the place for it. All this time Carlson had been yelling and pounding the horse, first on one side of the neck, then on the other. The animal was just making headlong for another wagon when Sergeant Gillon grabbed the halter rope.

What do you think this is, Bloody Gulch?" demanded the sergeant, sarcastically, and led his prisoner toward the police station. He arrived in time to be booked with the grist for disorderly conduct, and Judge Windom fined him $12 for running amuck on the streets of the city.

James Wallace, a local horse dealer, was arrested this morning on complaint of his wife, who said that he was in the habit of coming home drunk and abusing her and the children. Wallace said that he was only staying at home because of the two of his children to arrive from Scotland, so that he might turn his horse into a good one, and leave his family in peace. He said that the children had sailed Sunday, and would reach here July 12. Judge Windom suspended sentence until July 15, on condition that Wallace was not to take a drink in the interval.

Pension for Teachers.

The movement to pension school teachers is one for which a great deal can be said both on sentimental and practical grounds. If the defenders of our country are entitled to provision against old age and infirmity, should not the same principle also extend to those who sow the seed of patriotism and progress? A great deal can also be said in regard to the merit of Horatio's Stomach Bitters, but it is sufficient to say that for 33 years it has been before the public as a cure for indigestion, constipation, liver troubles, heartburn, dyspepsia, indigestion, nervousness, female ailments, and without a failure. If you suffer from any of the above ailments try the Bitter today. You will be surprised at the amount of good it will do you.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS DAMAGE

Marquette's Cloudburst of Sunday Was No Tame Affair.

Marquette, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fifty thousand dollars damage was caused here by Sunday night's cloudburst. Two railroads, the Portage Entry Quarries company, and this city are the principal losers. Bursting through its banks, Cemetery creek enormously swollen took a new course flooding the quarry and at the lake shore gouging a huge gap 400 feet long, eighty wide and twenty feet deep across, which main tracks of two railroads now hang like suspension bridges. The quarry is a lake through which the creek is flowing.

Many houses were flooded, streets washed out and sidewalks floated away. Two men sleeping in a basement saloon when rescued were standing on the bar with the water up to their necks.

BOARD IS NOT VERY BUSY

Barely 140 Kicks Registered on Assessments in Two Days.

The board of review is not a very busy organization. Barely 140 protests have been registered so far in the two days' session, and as most of them are vehement but short, this leaves plenty of time for consideration. This morning the board spent a goodly portion of the time dreaming of summer vacations. A very small percentage of the 140 received any consideration from the board, as most of the protests were very general and not specific enough to

WEST DULUTH OWNERS OF DOGS FINED

Two Negligent West Duluthians Were Arrested on Warrants.

Paid $5 and Costs Each and Then Paid Licenses.

That West Duluth is not exempt from the police order regarding dog licenses was forcibly impressed on the minds and pocketbooks of Charles Ellander and Martin Szumura last night. While people in Duluth were being hunted before the court and paying stiff fines for their negligence in providing the little metal tags for their canines, some West Duluth citizens were living in peaceful assurance that they would not be troubled. Some took the safer view and paid their licenses when arrests were made in Duluth, but a few did not.

Ellander and Szumura were among the latter class. They had been told to provide licenses, but they failed to do so and yesterday warrants were sworn out for their arrest. They were brought before Justice J. B. Flack last evening. They protested that they did not know they had to provide license tags, but their protests availed nothing. They each paid $5 and costs and then hastened to secure licenses. This morning the police were kept busy for a time issuing licenses to people who had received a scare, but there are still some who haven't called on the officers with the required amount and they may find themselves compelled to pay about five times the cost of a license. The West Duluth police have been notified to collect all licenses and make arrests where necessary, and they intend to obey the order.

THEY WANT JOHNSON.

People of St. Peter Strong for Governor's Candidacy.

C. Fay of St. Peter, Minn., who owns considerable property in West Duluth, was in town this morning on business. In conversation with The Evening Herald, he talked some of Governor Johnson and his chances for the Democratic nomination for president. "I don't know that Governor Johnson is a candidate for the nomination, but he is, every man, woman and child in St. Peter is with him from the start," he said. "They all swear by Johnson down there. Democrat, Republican, Socialist, or Prohibitionist, it makes no difference. If Johnson has a chance for the presidency of the United States every man in St. Peter will wish him well and do his small part toward getting him the office."

St. Peter has always been that way. When a party draws a candidate for a state office from the town, party lines are eliminated as far as that town's candidacy are concerned and everybody turns out to help him. Governor Johnson is very popular in his home town, and if there is any chance for him to go to Washington, his friends in St. Peter will be glad to see the country honor him."

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of them in Duluth, and Good Reason for It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, after years of backache suffering, days of misery, nights of unrest, the distress of urinary troubles, she finds relief and cure? No reason why any Duluth reader should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. M. McGilley of 1228 Superior street, Duluth, Minn., says: "As I told in my former statement I was troubled with my kidneys a good deal for a year or two and had heavy dull pains through my loins. My back tired easily, especially if I reclined or sat long in one position. In the morning I felt tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I was troubled with persistent headaches. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Duluth Drug Co.'s store, and began to use the preparation. I received wonderful benefit from this remedy. It imparted strength to the different organs and banished the backaches and headaches. I am glad to re-endorse such a valuable remedy for backache and kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TWELVE YOUNG LADIES

Give Up Skin to Save Life of School Teacher.

Dee Moines, Iowa, June 25.—Twelve young ladies belonging to the Christian Endeavor of Highland Park (Presbyterian) church gave up skin to save the life of Jean Horschburg, a pretty school teacher who was faintly burned in a North Western road wreck in February.

Pastor W. Gage appealed in the pulpits Sunday for skin for grafting purposes and volunteered to be one who would furnish cuticle. Twelve young ladies joined with him and the operation today will be successful.

FIRES FOUR SHOTS.

Pittsburg Politician Fails to Hit Broker He Shoots At.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 25.—Thomas L. Harper, a prominent politician, was arrested late yesterday charged with assault upon Levi De Wolf, a well known broker in the latter's office. Harper was held for hearing. According to the broker's employees Harper entered the office and after a few words with De Wolf, discharged a revolver four times. The broker was unharmed. Harper was overpowered by others in the office and taken to the police. When searched at the police station two revolvers, one having four empty chambers, were taken from him.

The man, De Wolf said, had been unkindly for some time and was a member of the American club, a large Republican organization.

Harper was formerly superintendent of the American Steel Hoop company.

NORTHERN NEGROES ARE SAID TO HAVE "NOTIONS."

Nashville, Tenn., June 25.—A tacit conclusion was reached by the Nashville board of education last night that only negroes born, bred and educated in the South need apply for election as teachers in the colored public schools of this city. This action was taken, the board says, for the reason that negroes from north of Mason and Dixon's line have "notions" and are not familiar with Southern traditions and sentiment.

SCALY ERUPTIONS COVERED HIS BODY

Itched Constantly—Scratched Until Blood Flowed—Suffered 10 Years—Doctors and Medicines Were Fruitless—Tries Cuticura and Is Completely Cured

BY THREE BOXES OF CUTICURA OINTMENT

"When I was about nine years old small sores appeared on each of my lower limbs. I scratched them with a large pin and shortly afterwards both of those limbs became so sore that I could scarcely walk. When I had been suffering for about a month the sores began to heal, but small scaly eruptions appeared where the sores had been. From that time onward I was troubled by such severe itching that, until I became accustomed to it, I would scratch the sores until the blood began to flow. This would stop the itching for a few days; but scaly places would appear again and the itching would accompany them. After I suffered about ten years I made a renewed effort to effect a cure. The eruptions by this time had appeared on every part of my body except my face and hands. The best doctor in my native county advised me to use arsenic in small doses and a salve. I then used to bathe the sores in a mixture which gave almost intolerable pain. In addition I used other remedies, such as iodine, sulphur, zinc salve, and in fact I was continually giving some remedy a fair trial, never using less than one or two boxes of bottles. All this was fruitless. Finally my hair began to fall out and I was rapidly becoming bald. I used 's-s-s' but it did no good. A few months after, having used almost everything else, I thought I would try Cuticura Ointment, having previously used Cuticura Soap and being pleased with it. After using three boxes I was completely cured, and my hair was restored after four years of suffering and an expenditure of at least $50 to $60 in vainly endeavoring to find a cure. I shall be glad to write to any one who may be interested in my cure. B. Hiram Mattingly, Vermilion, S. Dak., Aug. 18, 1906."

DIPHTHERIA ON RANGES

Disease Gained Unprecedented Foothold in North Part of State.

Rivalled Smallpox for First Time During Past Winter.

Northern Minnesota is in the grip of an epidemic of diphtheria unprecedented for this district, and in some of the smaller towns on the range, practically one-fourth of the population is said to be afflicted with the disease. Duluth, through the rigid inspection and continuous vigilance of the health department, has managed to keep the disease under control, in spite of the continued influx of afflicted woodsmen and today, with the camps practically emptied, the number of cases in this city is rapidly on the decrease.

Just what caused the terrific spread of the disease this spring is unknown. It originated in one of the lumber camps from which all the men at once deserted, as soon as the nature of the disease was known, and they scattered through every camp in the northern part of the state. The disease was not recognized, however, until a goodly portion of the men had become infected and camp after camp was afflicted in this way.

When the camps broke up this spring the woodsmen, many of them afflicted with the disease, again scattered indiscriminately throughout the towns, Cohasset, Grand Rapids, Eveleth and Bemidji are among the towns most seriously afflicted. In Cohasset practically one-fourth of the population is afflicted with the disease, and while conditions are said to be a little better now than they were two weeks ago, the state of affairs is still serious. Three and four deaths in a family have been reported and the disease has gained a foothold such as it has never known before.

While this is the first time that such a state of affairs has ever occurred in this portion of the country, it is unlikely that it will ever occur again. The wholesale dissemination of the disease could not have occurred save at the breaking up of a camp as did the one where the disease is said to have started. With the county health department at work this could not occur again.

This department did not get under way until the disease had gained such a foothold in the lumber camps that the most strenuous work failed to stop its ravages and with a supervision such as it affords in operation over all the camps from the beginning to the end of the season, it is expected that not only diphtheria but the dreaded smallpox, which up to this year was the bane of the lumber camps, will be kept in check.

In Duluth there are now less than twenty cases, and most of these are on the road to recovery, while comparatively few are now coming in, the influx from the camps being practically over. Duluth was nearer an epidemic of this disease at one stage of the game, however, than the health authorities like to admit even to themselves. While the woodsmen were scouring in greater numbers than somewhat limited health force which Duluth employs was wholly inadequate to watch the incoming hordes. Fortunately, the city escaped and all the danger is past now, and Dr. Murray says that with the county health department in operation there is but little danger of such a state of affairs occurring again.

WEST END MEN FIGHT; THEN DOGS

Argument Over Horses' Board Bill is Lively One.

Bulldogs Belonging to Contestants Bring Mill to Close.

Because he refused to relinquish possession of some horses until the charges for their keep had been paid, an employee of the James Wallace livery barn, near Twentieth avenue west and on First street, received a blow from a hammer in the face and precipitated a lively argument which attracted quite a crowd to the locality yesterday afternoon.

It seems that the horses were owned by a man who was about to ship them to the range to dispose of them. Pending the closing of the negotiations, the animals were fed and cared for at the Wallace barn, for so much per day. But it is charged that when the horse dealer came to get his horses, he was loath to give up any money. The liveryman was obdurate, however, and said he guessed the other fellow wouldn't get his horses until their board bill was settled.

By way of emphasizing his attitude, the horse dealer is said to have struck the liveryman with a hammer. Although he got an ugly knock, the employee of the stable would not give up the horses.

The horse dealer is credited with making threats of another blow, but a young lad stepped out of the crowd and told the dealer that if he was looking for someone to up to, to try and kick him. The lad felt that he was keeping within the code in making the offer, inasmuch as the liveryman was able to see out of but one eye.

After taking an inventory of the young fellow's build and his conversation, and noting the attitude of the Testing the Brew.

The monks of old were the original brewers--and the history of brewing was for years the history of the cathedral. Beer was rarely found outside the convents and monasteries. In 1146, A. D., a brewing charter was granted the Abbey of Weihenstephan in Bavaria, which was then, as now, famous as the home of the finest hops.

Seven hundred and thirty-three years later, in 1877, August Fitger graduated at the Weihenstephan Brewers School and came back to America and brewed crowd, favorable to the lively stable interests, the late horse dealer calmed down somewhat, and finally graciously paid the charges demanded. He did not hit the young chap.

By way of an epilogue two bull dogs, owned by the horse dealer and the lively stable man, respectively, began to chew each other up. The contest was a lively one and interested the crowd, drawn to the spot by the argument over the money.

The dogs were finally pulled away, and the fight called a draw.

No arrests were made.

and Minnie Kinny of Washburn, Wis., spent the week end with Miss Edith Peterson of 223 Vernon street.

Duluth Observatory of the North Star Benefit association will omit its regular meeting this week on account of the concert by the Orpheus Singing society.

Delegates to the sessions of the Minnesota conference of the Swedish Baptist church, who were entertained by members of the First Swedish Baptist church in the West end, were much pleased with their stay in Duluth. For many of them it was their first visit to the Head of the Lakes, and they were much impressed by the beauty of the city and its commercial prosperity.

Rev. Mr. Hall, one of the delegates to the Swedish Baptist conference, preached the sermon at the morning services at the First Swedish Baptist church. Rev. Magnus Larson of St. Paul, and formerly of Bethel church in the East end, preached in the evening. During the Sunday school hour, talks were given by Rev. O. Lind of Duluth, Rev. G. Erickson of Mille Lacs and Rev. G. Johanson of Harris.

Choir practice will be held at St. Luke's Episcopal church on Thursday evening, this week, instead of Wednesday evening, as is customary.

Rev. John A. Anderson, pastor of the First Swedish M. E. church, and Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, preached at Hibbing Sunday.

HAIL DOES DAMAGE.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 25.—Hail fell in several localities through Grand Forks county Sunday evening during the heavy storm, which swept through North Dakota from as far west as Rugby. Thompson and Inkster reported falls of hail, and at both places more or less damage was done.

The hail at Thompson was quite severe, doing considerable damage. It is stated, on the farm of Commissioner Henry Thompson, in Walle township, there was less damage done on the farms adjoining his.

The Inkster report states that large stones fell east of that city, many windows in farm residences being smashed, with little damage to the crops.

From Northwood comes the report of the striking down of the barn of O. Kleven, a farmer residing a short distance northwest of that city. The barn was entirely destroyed, with no other loss, however.

Locally, the storm damage was small, with the exception of the wires of the telephone and telegraph companies. The Western Union was badly crippled during the forenoon, but service was restored by midday. The Northwestern Telephone company reported twelve out of thirty toll lines out of commission, while about seventy-five city lines were out of order, a cable in the South end of the town being struck by lightning.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and pain in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off.

Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free.

WHITTLES THE AWARD

Jury Reduces Damages on Wolff Property by $2,000.

Another jury whittled down the damages awarded by the appraisers in the Wisconsin Central Railway company's condemnation proceedings to acquire a right-of-way and terminals in Duluth. The award of $3,750 for the 90-foot lot immediately adjoining the street railway company's power house on the west, was cut to $1,750, practically a $2,000 reduction on the value of the lot. The lot is really divided into two 25-foot tracts, owned by Cornelia Wolff and Carrie Wolff, respectively. When the award for damages was made the commissioners appraised each of the 25-foot lots at $4,375. The jury found that valuation too high, and reduced the figures to $3,875 per lot. This is the third case that has been tried of the several appeal actions brought by the owners of the lots and the railway company from the award by the commissioners. In every case the jury has reduced the damages. In the first case the award was decreased $5,000, in the second it was decreased $8,000 and in the third case it was decreased $2,000.

The reductions in the awards have been made in spite of expert testimony by several of Duluth's prominent real estate men that the properties taken are worth more money because of their alleged availability for factory or wholesale house locations. The juries seem to have based their verdicts on the opinion of other experts who held the property to have been overestimated in value.

TO START AFTER TRUSTS AGAIN

Department of Justice About to Stir Up the Animals.

Chicago, June 25.—As a parting shot before entering upon his summer vacation, Attorney General Bonaparte will issue this week a statement dealing further with the trust prosecutions by the government, says a Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune. The combinations in powder and tobacco will be targets for the attorney general's legal breachblade. Something also will be said about the harvest combination and the agreement which exists between the blumington coal-carrying roads and allied companies. Exhaustive investigation of the charges against the so-called watch trust satisfied the department of justice that this far no evidence is presented to establish the existence of a combine in restraint of trade.

Admittedly, the initiation of proceedings against the trusts usually increases the price of products. This may be due in part to the effect of the natural law of supply and demand. In the case of beef, for example, Secretary Wilson attributes the advancement in price to the fact that the American population is growing so rapidly and is eating meat three times a day, while there has been no corresponding increase in beef production.

A short time ago, said the secretary, "I made a careful investigation in Chicago to ascertain whether the packers control the beef output. Intelligent commission men informed me they sold a large percentage of hogs and sheep in the eastern markets. They thought probably the bulk of cattle which comes to Chicago are butchered there, though quite a proportion is shipped east. It was the consensus of opinion, however, that the packers of Chicago cannot control the market for hogs and sheep, and there is a great deal of eastern competition for cattle."

"No, I do not believe the beef trust controls the supply in those products. The percentage of profit for the retail dealer wants is high."

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THE KING'S LAST LEVEE.

London, June 25.—King Edward held the last levee of the season at St. James' palace at noon, Indian mutiny veterans again supplying the most striking feature. The second group of survivors of the mutiny, including seventy officers of whom no fewer than thirty-three were generals and several civilians were presented by Field Marshal Wood. They made a brilliant show, all wearing their full uniforms. Ambassador Whitelaw Reid was among the ambassadors who attended the luncheon and he presented Brig. Gen. Henry C. Cook. There was a large attendance, among those present being J. Pierpont Morgan, who had been presented at a previous levee.

R. B. Dear Elected to Presidency of Butte-Balaklava Company.

R. B. Dear was chosen to succeed I. Freimuth as president of the Butte-Balaklava Copper company at a meeting of the directorate yesterday. Mr. Freimuth tendered his resignation some time ago, explaining that owing to the fact that he was about to enlarge his department store at Lake Avenue and Superior street, he would not have time to devote as much attention as he ought to the affairs of the mining company. Mr. Freimuth recommended Mr. Dear as his successor, pointing out that Mr. Dear's interests in the vicinity of the mine would keep him there a large portion of the time, and he could thus give the mine his personal attention.

SALOONS AND CIRCUSES KEEP ALDERMEN BUSY

Council Refuses to Revoke Boyle License for "Lid Lifting."

Circus License Reduced to $250 After Spirited Debate.

The council last evening turned down the proposition to revoke the license of Charles Boyle, "lid lifter."

Turned down a resolution providing that no more saloon licenses should be issued in West Duluth during 1907.

Reduced the circus license from $500 to $250, its original amount up to last year.

Received a communication from the real estate exchange requesting immediate action on the city hospital question.

Laid over the Ramsey street paving project until next week.

Cut down Hugh Steele's West Superior street paving maintenance bond from $25,000 to $10,000.

Ordered the paving of East Third street from Eighteenth avenue west to the north line of Harrison's division.

Granted the board of public works the right to issue permits for house moving.

There were but two arguments advanced in the Boyle license revocation fight in the council last evening. Boyle himself submitting a written communication, setting forth his side of the case, and Alderman Moore's tearing Boyle's defense to pieces in an eloquent talk. But when it came to a show down, Alderman Moore's motion to revoke the license went to the wall by a vote of 9 to 6.

City Clerk Chas. H. Boyle, after reading the communication, Alderman Moore asked Mr. Boyle whether, in his knowledge any other saloon in the city sold liquor on the day of the case, Mr. Boyle said that while he saw none, he had been told that people had bought lotions close case where.

Alderman Moore then took the floor.

"This matter has been brought before us," he said, "at the request of our mayor, and I think we should stick by the executive and take such action as he wishes in enforcing the new policy of the administration. Mr. Boyle has said that he received no notice of the change of policy. Chief Troyer had interviews in both morning and evening papers several times during the week, in which he stated, in no uncertain terms, that the lid would go on on the Sunday when Mr. Boyle was convicted. There is no question but what a reasonable man who wishes to follow the policy of the administration, would have received sufficient notice in the range. More than 170 others closed their doors with no more notice than Mr. Boyle."

"Mr. Boyle has been in a defiant, impudent, antagonistic way, as if he meant to show the administration where they got off at a sort of 'Harriman' idea of attempting to see which was the stronger, the law or he.

"As for Mr. Boyle's record, upon which he bases a plea for clemency before you, I would remind you that a year or two ago the mayor found that the reputation of the place was so bad that he ordered the second story of it closed. The mayor was fully justified in this action at that time, as you all know, for the reputation which Mr. Boyle's establishment had on the streets at that time fully warranted the closing. I fail to see how he can base a plea for clemency upon this record."

"This council is on record for the revocation of the license where the holder shall be convicted of violation of the Sunday closing law. We cannot grant Mr. Boyle a special privilege and go back on this stand. Mr. Boyle pleaded guilty, was sentenced, and the case is clear before the council. No other argument was made and the council was put to vote on Alderman Moore's resolution to revoke, with the result named above."

The police and license committee realizing that the session last night was too full to permit of the introduction of a discussion of the two disputed saloon transfers, decided the issue by leaving them out of its resolution and they will come up next week. Both these transfers were made by the board of public works, and the committee is about to be cleaned out by the Wisconsin Central railway company, one of them going to the Raleigh or "Second street" district in West Duluth and the other to the West End.

Alderman Gatchell attempted to pass a resolution providing that no saloon license be granted in what was formerly the village of West Duluth during the year of 1907 but lost out. Alderman Philpott opposed it. A petition from seventy-five of the residents of Second street district was submitted asking that no more saloons be permitted to operate in that district.

Alderman Philpott spoke for them, pointing out that there were already six saloons in one block in the districts and that the addition of more saloons would make the police expense for the district much higher. He pointed out the reputation which the district has already gained as a riot center, and said that while it was a little exorbitant to demand that no saloon license be issued in West Duluth, he believed that the council would be wise to grant more licenses in the district. There is likely to be another warm session when the transfer to this district comes up next week.

Another petition was received last evening from about forty-five residents of West Michigan street between Tenth and Thirteenth avenues, asking that no saloon licenses be granted in that district. Both petitions were referred to the police and license committee.

Next to saloon licenses, circuses were the chief feature of the long three hour session of the city council last evening. The amendment to the circus ordinance was the cause of the aldermen interesting themselves in the big tent shows and changed during the course of the evening that it would scarcely have recognized itself in the form it was put through. It started in last week with a provision that all shows having a seating capacity of over 5,000, which charged 5 cents admission, should pay a license of $500. Alderman McEwen, acting as chairman of the ordinance committee, recommended an amendment reducing the license of those shows which do not have a seating capacity of over 5,000 to $250. Some interesting arguments were brought up in the progress of the debate. Mr. McEwen's amendment was adopted by a vote of 9 to 6. The council then turned to the reduction of the license of those shows which do not have a seating capacity of over 5,000. Alderman Philpott pointed out that no other city of Duluth's size had a license of $250 and that no business could pay a license fee of this size and live. He said that it was not fair for Duluth to charge $250 and expect the circus people to make up the deficit. He said that the idea that a circus drains the town of money was mistaken as they only take a reasonable percent on the amount of capital they have invested. In return for this the money spent by visitors in the city far exceeds the amount taken out by the circus. He said that there would be 500 visitors in town the day Harnum & Bailey showed. They would average, according to McMahon's claims at least $2.50 each within the city while here. They would pay for the food and drink taken out by the circus. He suggested an amendment to the ordinance, providing that while going to and from the circus the circuses should use a route laid out by the board of public works for their heavy wagons.

Alderman Staples led the opposition to reducing the amount of the circus license. He said that Duluth was one of the best circus towns in the country and that every good circus coming here was packed to its utmost capacity. He said that circuses made money faster than almost any other enterprise and that he could remember the time when he could have bought a house for $500, do not draw from a territory as large as Duluth does.

Alderman McEwen, Haven and Moore espoused the cause of the circus people against the council's plea for clemency. Alderman Moore said:

"This matter has been put up to us fairly. The circus men have come here, have tried to conceal nothing, have given us all the facts of the case. They have not attempted threatening or bullying methods and have acted like gentlemen in every respect. They have shown, to my satisfaction, at least, that we are charging more than the cities of our class in this country are charging."

"The question is not how much we can get out of these people, but how much we can get out of the city. Now we can see that $500 is in reality a high license fee. We can see that if every city of Duluth's class in the country charged $500, circuses would have to go out of business. It is not a question of whether the circus takes money out of the town or not. If you or I go to a circus we pay our 50 cents and if it is a good circus we get our money's worth and a good reputation. I never saw a circus being dissatisfied with it after attending. I believe that the $500 license fee is high enough."

Alderman McEwen pointed out that the members had not raised the point in their own behalf, but that it had been raised by the mayor. He had simply come in to present their side of it while it was being argued before the city council. Alderman McEwen was not in a promise on $250, but this vote was passed. When put to a vote the amendment curtailing the license to $250 passed by a vote of 10 to 6.

The ordinance now stands as it was before being amended last year except that Wild West shows and similar attractions, not having a seating capacity of over 5,000, and the shows must follow a route laid out by the board of public works from their route to and from their show grounds.

A resolution was submitted to the council last evening from the board of directors of the real estate exchange, urging that immediate steps be taken toward the creation of a city hospital. The resolution pointed out the need of such an institution very effectively.

The long-discussed question of paving Ramsey and Ontario streets was brought up in the council meeting rather late in the session last evening, after four of the members had left, and it failed to get enough votes to secure its passage. In order to pass the ordinance on the proposition, a two-thirds vote of the council is necessary. There were twelve members present and the proposition to pave Ramsey and Ontario streets was defeated by a vote of 6 to 6.

A communication from Manager Case of the Duluth Street Railway company was received last evening, calling the attention of the council to the fact that the paving of the Wisconsin Central tunnel under Michigan street might result in serious injury to water mains and gas pipes there which are the only source of supply for gas and water in the city. Mr. Case pointed out that the paving of the tunnel would necessitate the removal of the water mains and gas pipes, and that this would be a very expensive operation. He recommended that the council should consider the matter and take such action as it might deem wise.

The paving of East Third street from Eighteenth to Twenty-third avenues, and from Twenty-third avenue east to the north line of Harrison's addition, was ordered last evening.

The city engineer was called upon to estimate the cost of making certain much-needed repairs to the smallpox hospital.

The St. Louis County Medical Association requested permission to use the council chamber for its meetings which are to be held here on July 11 and Aug. 5. This was granted.

The city engineer was requested to report to the council the maximum grade at which cement sidewalks can be constructed.

The board of fire commissioners was requested to look into the matter of the hay left on the Singer deck after the fire at the St. Paul hotel. It was recommended that it be necessary to protect the surrounding property from fire.

A number of amendments to the house-movers' ordinance, placing the power of granting the permits in the hands of the board of public works instead of the city council, were passed.

HILL AND MORGAN
To be Given Roman Catholic Church Titles by the Pope.
Rome, June 25.—James J. Hill of St. Paul will be honored by the pope with a title of the Roman Catholic church in recognition of Mr. Hill's many acts of magnificence toward the church. Although Mr. Hill for many years has held very close friendly relations with Archbishop John Ireland, his magnificent gifts to the church have been donated in the name of Mrs. Hill, and it is understood that his interest has been influenced by her.

Mr. Hill is generally understood to have contributed liberally to the support of the Catholic church in St. Paul at all times, and some of his benefactions that have been so large as to attract attention have been the fund for the foundation of St. Paul ecclesiastical seminary and St. Thomas' college, which is said to have been $1,000,000; several handsome donations to the House of the Good Shepherd and other institutions; and his gift for the new cathedral, which is understood to have been more than $1,000,000.

It is also said that J. P. Morgan is to be given the title of prince by the pope. A prominent banker of New York, Mr. Morgan had done much toward rescuing ecclesiastical artistic objects from the hands of looters, and who would have let the pope know of his financial difficulties, he was relieved by a check for a large sum from Mr. Morgan.

CLOSE WITH A BANQUET

French Canadians Fitly Celebrate St. Jean Baptiste Day.

So Successful That It Will be Made Annual Affair.

An elaborate banquet in the afternoon, at the Lincoln park auditorium, and an excursion around the horn on the steamer News Boy in the evening, brought to a conclusion the celebration of St. Jean Baptiste day yesterday.

The banquet was a big affair, attended by about 500 guests. There was entertainment and inspiration for all in the toasts and national songs. Rev. J. B. Frigon acted as toastmaster, filling the position in a happy manner. Alderman M. J. Philpott was called upon for a few remarks, and was warmly greeted by members of his former parish and their friends.

Other toasts responded to were "French Americans," Rev. J. B. Frigon; "Les Anciens," P. Bonet; "The Ladies," Joseph LaFontaine; "The Press," W. J. Hayes of The Evening Herald.

Rev. Frigon, in introducing Mr. Hayes, took occasion to speak very highly of the press, particularly of the Duluth newspapers, and extended the thanks of the society to the press for the manner in which it had treated the organization. The toastmaster was very apt in all his introductions, and his remarks were frequently received with shouts of laughter and loud applause. He filled the position to the delight and entire satisfaction of everybody concerned.

The toasts were proposed first in French, and later in English, for the benefit of those present who did not understand the French language. Between toasts La Brosse's orchestra played inspiring music. All the banqueters joined in the singing of the national French-Canadian song with remarkable effect.

The banquet ran along very smoothly, and there was no hitch anywhere, despite the fact that 500 guests were there to be waited upon. The day's celebration was such a success in every way that it will probably prove to be the first of annual affairs of the kind, which will grow in importance from year to year. The prediction was made yesterday that in five years French-Canadians would be coming to Duluth to attend the celebration from a distance of 300 miles or more.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.
Eleven persons are dead and many prostrated as a direct or indirect result of the warm weather experienced in the Pittsburgh district. The maximum temperature was 92 degrees.

The ordinance provided for a city fight with moonshiners in Stokes county on Friday last returned to Asheville, N. C. Monday, having captured thirty-five moonshiners and destroyed thirteen illicit stills.

His officers state that between three and four hundred shots were exchanged with the moonshiners.

MERCHANT ASKS DAMAGES
From Former Friend Who Clipped Ends of His Mustache.

Vienne, June 24.—Herr Borel, a merchant, has brought an action in the high court at Prague, claiming $250 damages from a former friend named Dragone, who had clipped off the ends of his mustache with a pair of scissors at a carnival ball.

Twelve witnesses called by Herr Borel described in glowing terms the magnificence of his mustache. It was the heaviest and longest in the country, and when waxed reached from shoulder to shoulder. It was stated that Herr Borel was so ashamed of his altered appearance that he avoided the public view, and his business suffered in consequence.

The court decided in favor of Dragone on the ground that the act complained of had been done in jest, and no damage had been proved.

Chicago, June 25.—A superannuated horse man, "Old King," is the only obstacle in the way of payment of bequests amounting to $200,000 to charitable institutions made by George C. Wats, a building contractor, who died over a year ago, according to a report made by the executor to the estate to Probate Judge Cutting yesterday. In his will Wats provided an annuity of $200 for the care of the horse, as it was able to work and of $150 thereafter until his death. Like provision was made for the dog, the dog died last spring. By the terms of the will the property cannot be divided until after the death of the horse.

ITS RECORD SPEAKS WELL

Polk County is Certainly a Very Law-Abiding Community.

No Criminal Cases Originate in County This Term.

Crookston, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Practically all the criminal cases to be tried during the June term of the district court have been disposed of. The record is said to be one never equaled in Polk county before, as thus far not a single man from the county has been convicted. While several pleaded guilty and were sentenced to short terms in the state penitentiary, none were residents of the state, being transients who had transgressed the law. One case of importance remains to be tried, Duke Smith, a Grand Forks hack driver, who is alleged to have assaulted a woman passenger, whom he was driving to the home of a friend in East Grand Forks. This case will be on up Wednesday.

For the first time in the history of Polk county not a single person from East Grand Forks has been indicted in the grand jury. This is a record of which the metropolis of Western Polk county may well feel proud. Situated across the river from Grand Forks, it has not only its own rough element to contend with, but the outcasts of Grand Forks, and at times all Northern North Dakota as well, but in the face of this condition of affairs has managed to maintain law and order. The record throughout the county is one of which Sheriff Loneya, the police officials of the various cities and towns, and all peace officers are justly proud.

CROPS LOOKING FINE.

Reports From County Around Crookston Are Most Encouraging.

Crookston, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crop conditions in this section continue ideal. The rain of Sunday night, which was warm and was followed Monday by favorable weather, will result in another phenomenal week's growth, and the advanced state of the crops, as far as the middle of July, with the present conditions prevailing, the crops will be as far advanced as they have ever been on an average year, despite the backward spring. There were reports of hail Monday, but upon investigation they proved groundless, as all the hail that fell was on the Dakota side of the Red river, where it did no harm. Aside from the grain crops, corn is also doing exceedingly well. The past two weeks have been ideal corn weather, plenty of moisture and very warm weather. The rains have also started the grass crops, and with wild and tame hay is doing well, with promise of a bounteous harvest. This means much to the valley for farmers now, more than it did formerly, as so many are engaged in dairy farming.

It Stated He Was Going on a Long Journey, Then He Hanged Himself.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leaving a note to his relative stating he was about to go on a long journey, Gilbert Braderson, living near Clitherall, proceeded to a piece of woods nearby and hanged himself, according to Coroner Hanson who has returned from holding the inquest. The note left by the young man also stated that in case he did not return within two years, his property, real estate and some personal effects—should be given to his brother's children.

His relatives failed to comprehend the full import of this note until his coat and hat were found on the outskirts of the timber. A thorough search was then begun, and it was found that he had climbed a tree and hanged himself.

TO FURTHER TEMPERANCE.

Copper Crown Society of Dollar Day is Growing.

Dollar Day, Minn., June 25.—The Copper Crown Society of Dollar Day, a recently organized temperance association, is rapidly acquiring prominence, and while it is less than two months in existence, the membership is such that success is already assured. A number of church members, numbering about thirty, succeeded in adding to their number fully twenty, and considerable interest is taken in the organization. Any person who agrees to abide by the constitution and by-laws of the organization is admitted to membership. A candidate must be an attendant of some church, and be willing to do all in his power for the cause of temperance. The majority of the members thus far are Swedish, though other nationalities are expected to join in the near future.

This society is entirely independent of any other organization whatever, and is the only one of its kind in the state. But one other exists in the country, that being in Massachusetts, where the president of the local organization formerly lived.

Do Not Neglect the Children. At this season of the year the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention. The best thing that can be given is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by castor oil as directed with each bottle of the remedy. For sale by all druggists.

MEANS DRY ROAD NEAR KELLIHER

Result of This Year's Work Deepening Drainage Ditch.

Donald, Minn., June 25.—Representative J. J. Opsahl says the people living in the vicinity of Kelliher and shotley postoffice will be greatly benefited by the work that is going to be done this year in improving the Kelliher-Shotley ditch, to drain the immense swamp in that section. Mr. Opsahl states that George R. Ralph, state drainage engineer, is authorized for the statement that it is the intention to lower that portion of the ditch which has already been dug two feet, so that the ditch will get below the sandbed bottom of the old ditch, which was of little practical use in draining the territory. The deepening of the ditch will give all the drainage that is desired for a dry road. Two miles of the proposed ditch was dug two years ago, and it is the intention of Mr. Opsahl to continue the ditch from section 16, in the town of Kelliher, to section 9, in the town of Shotley, which is about another two miles.

Mr. Opsahl states that, with the $300 appropriated by the state for the Kelliher-Shotley ditch, together with the money derived from sale of Kelliher township bonds recently, there will be ample funds available to insure to the Shotley settlers a fine road from their settlements into the village of Kelliher.

PAY TRIBUTE TO SERGT. CONKLIN

Stillwater Honors Memory of Dead Member of Militia.

Stillwater, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Michael's church this morning for the repose of the soul of the late Sergt. John Conklin, company F, First regiment, M. N. G., who was drowned Sunday in the Croix river. It was in a sense a military funeral, as company K turned out in a body in uniform and performed the duties of a military band. The Foresters also attended largely, and the church was crowded to the doors.

There was general sadness about the town, as Sergt. Conklin was very popular, and the tragic manner of his death made his going all the more heartrending for relatives and friends. The dead man, James Scully and William Spindale went up to the Croix river early Sunday to fish, going in a steam launch. The launch struck a boom log while running at a high rate of speed causing the stern to go down and the boat to sink. Sergt. Conklin was in the launch, and he was the only one who was saved by remaining with the launch until rescued. The current is swift and makes an eddy at the point where the accident occurred, near the Vascoulin Central bridge. About 10 o'clock in the afternoon Frank Carroll, one of the many searchers, caught the body with a hook on a pole and pulled it to the surface.

The position of the hands, arms and legs indicated that the young man had been seized with cramps that prevented his swimming. The body was brought to this city in the gasoline launch of Judge J. C. Nohaway. Sergt. Conklin was an excellent drill master and was much admired by the company. He was the only son of Mrs. Emma Conklin. He was 24 years of age. He was a member of the local court of Independent Foresters and carried $1,000 insurance in that order.

FATAL CLOTHES LINE.

Lightning Strikes One in St. Paul, Killing Woman and Her Son.

St. Paul, June 25.—Mrs. Clara M. Lemon and her son, Clarence, aged 14, were killed by lightning late Monday afternoon. Mrs. Lemon had been doing the family washing and had the clothes on the line when a storm came up. She called to her son to assist her, and together they started to take the clothes from the line. Lightning struck one of the trees to which the wire line was attached, ran along the wire and instantly killed both the woman and son.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

East Grand Forks.—Mrs. J. C. Sherlock has been entertaining her brother, Thomas B. McGuire of Dundee, Minn., and his bride who are here for a brief visit while on their wedding trip. They have left for Duluth and other points. Fergus Falls.—E. C. Burke, who is constructing a large county ditch three miles north of this city, has found several pockets of coal in cutting through a small hill. The coal was found at a depth of about 100 feet and looks somewhat better than lignite, though not equal to hard coal. The find is not sufficiently large to justify mining, but the people here are hoping that more will be found.

East Grand Forks.—Thomas Hanson, the young man of East Grand Forks who stole some time ago and who was captured by the police later, deciding to plead guilty to the charge, has been taken to Stillwater to begin serving the sentence of one year at hard labor imposed on him by Judge Watts. Stillwater.—Mrs. Tom Thum, the Countess Margt. here with the Gen. show, addressed the inmates of the state prison at chapel exercises Sunday after religious exercises. Big Falls.—Phil Beland, a settler living in the Sturgeon river, was taken by a raving maniac, and has left his home and is now hiding in the woods along the river, pursued by a crowd of his neighbors, bent upon his capture and restraint.

DAKOTAS

WIDOW ASKS FOR $25,000 AT HANCOCK

Wife of Victim of Train Wreck Sues the Railroad.

Mrs. Adams Wants Damages for Killing of Her Husband.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Damages in the sum of $25,000 are sought by Mrs. Harry F. Adams, wife of a theatrical man, who is believed to have perished in the Great Northern wreck, near Bartlett, April 16, when several coaches were burned. Suit for that amount has been instituted. Some doubt has been raised by the railroad as to whether Adams was in the train when the wreck occurred. However, that he has evidence to show that Adams perished in the smoke of the burned train. Adams had been in Grand Forks and Winnipeg, and was hurrying to join his wife at Rock Lake, where he claimed to have lost his life. It is claimed that jewelry belonging to Adams was found in the wreck, that passengers on the train noticed a man of his description asleep in the forward coach shortly before the crash, and it is known positively that Adams was in Grand Forks the evening before the wreck and stated that he intended to take a train to Rock Lake, and from there would go to Rock Lake, his 5-month-old baby being very ill. He talked to Miss Sue Maloney while here, and before taking the belated flyer for the West, and her evidence will be valuable in the case.

It is the theory of relatives that Adams went to the forward end of the train to smoke and to sleep, never to awaken. He was tired after a hurried trip from Winnipeg, where he left the Virginia train. Adams was formerly a resident of Butte, Mont., where he was connected with Dick Sator, theater. His wife was a resident of Kansas City when they met, several years ago. They were married six years ago. The Great Northern claim agents have declined to settle with the widow. They have insisted that the evidence has not conclusively shown that Adams perished in the car.

FINE CROPS ASSURED.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—Crop prospects along the entire Dakota division of the Northern Pacific could scarcely be more improved. The crops are reaching here July 31, has given an impetus to the development of the country. The Northern Pacific has been devoted to sight-seeing while the afternoon will be taken up with business of the league, the election of officers and selection of next meeting. In the evening there will be a grand smoker in Germania hall with a vaudeville program and speeches. At this time the league trophy will be presented to the winner of the contest.

It is a fine tract of property known as the Lacey mill, five miles west of Colerhorst. Williston, N. D.—The Old Fellows will lay the corner stone of their building on Saturday night. A fine program has been prepared for the occasion, which will mark an epoch in Old Fellowship in Western North Dakota. Among the speakers for the occasion are Hon. J. M. Devine, and Hon. E. B. Goss of Minn.

UPPER MICHIGAN

K. P. REUNION AT HANCOCK

Large Attendance of Members of Upper Peninsula Pythians.

Four Days of Business and Pleasure Mapped Out.

Hancock, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the week in Hancock, the occasion being the annual reunion of the Upper Peninsula Pythian league, which began here last evening and will continue four days. Business and pleasure will be combined to make the reunion a greater success than ever. The attendance is large and the visitors are loud in their praise of the treatment accorded them. Many delegates and others arrived last night and this morning. At 10 a. m. today an address of welcome was delivered in Germania hall by Mayor A. K. Scott of Hancock, and Webster Dock for the Hancock lodge. Grand Chancellor P. L. Abner of Kalamazoo, and Henry L. Baer of Hancock, president of the league, delivered appropriate responses.

This afternoon the contest for the league degree team trophy is being held with contestants from Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette, Escanaba, Ishpeming, Hancock and Houghton. The contest will be continued this evening and probably Thursday.

The program for tomorrow is as follows: Excursion to Eagle Harbor and the Justus S. Taft school house on the steamer C. W. Moore of the Booth line. The entire day will be spent at the old school house and the steamer will land the party in Hancock at 5 o'clock in the evening.

Evening—Band concert at Montezuma Park by the Portage Lake band, William Morgan director.

On Thursday there will be an excursion in the morning to Dollar Bay, Lake Linden and the mines of Calumet, lunch being served at the latter place by the Pythian sisters.

Thursday evening there will be a social session of the grand lodge at Germania hall. Friday morning will be devoted to sight-seeing while the afternoon will be taken up with business of the league, the election of officers and selection of next meeting. In the evening there will be a grand smoker in Germania hall with a vaudeville program and speeches. At this time the league trophy will be presented to the winner of the contest.

Referee in Bankruptcy in Heller Case Protects Creditors.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—The referee in bankruptcy has ordered all assets of Frank Heller, the absconding secretary of the Skunk River Mutual Loan & Building association, to be sold. These consist principally of lands in Itasca county, Minn. The total claims against him are now $135,000, and the creditors will get about 20 per cent.

Heller is now reported in the British Honduras, and one story says he is with Horner Herman, who absconded with $50,000 four years ago. Heller's wife has gone, and is reported to have joined her husband.

THE PEOPLE TO DECIDE QUESTION OF SENATORSHIP.

Madison, Wis., June 25.—The assembly late Monday passed the Nye bill providing that if none of the candidates for the nomination for United States senator receives a majority of the votes cast by a party, the names of the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be placed at the foot of the general election ballot.

The assembly has provided for a charter for a charter convention for the city of Milwaukee. The bill now goes to the governor. It provides that each political party shall be entitled to one delegate for every 1,000 votes. The convention's duties, as set forth in the bill are to make a study of the needs of cities of the first class.

A long discussion developed on the bill establishing a school of mines at Platteville and appropriating $30,000 annually. The bill was finally ordered to a third reading.

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

Madison—Irving Wagner, aged 14, was drowned in Honey creek, near Prairie du Sac, twenty miles west of here, while bathing with a younger brother, Sunday. His mother may go insane with grief.

La Crosse—Following the arrest of half a dozen saloonkeepers on complaint of Rev. Messrs. L. L. Sanders and J. E. Zimmer, several dealers have posted notices that they will not sell liquor to minors. Four cases have been tried, and three defendants were acquitted, and in the fourth case the jury was unable to agree.

Ashland—Mrs. John Nelson, who returned from a three months' visit from Clareholm, Alberta, Can., Friday evening has received a message from there, saying that her sister, Mrs. George Nelson had died as a result of a runaway accident.

Eau Claire—Byrne Caldwell of this city was stabbed by a young woman Sunday evening, whom he met on the street and went walking with. He has been taken to a hospital and a warrant sworn out for the woman, who it is said, hailed from Wabasha. The police thus far have been unable to find her.

Eau Claire—The body of Ole Dahl, who was drowned near Shawtown last week was found in the Chippewa river a short distance below Carvilleville Sunday. The body had floated several miles and the body was in bad condition. It had been in the water nearly four days.

Meriden—The body of Ole Dahl, son of Robert Dahl of Meriden, who was drowned in the Chippewa river the other evening, has been recovered. For a while it was believed that the body was either caught in some entangling net work in the bottom of the river or had floated some distance down the river.

Fond du Lac—H. D. Hill of Oakfield, a pioneer citizen of Wisconsin is dead of paralysis. Mr. Hill was 84 years of age and had been director of the First National bank of Oakfield for the last thirty years.

Chippewa Falls—Alexander McLaren died here Sunday after a year's illness. He was one of Wisconsin's wealthiest lumbermen and was well known in the Northwest.

Marshfield—The Gurnsey breeders of Wood, Clark and Marathon counties have organized the Marshfield Gurnsey breeders' association, aiming to follow out Dean Henry's plan of community breeding and development.

Barron—The Frank T. Stare company is preparing for a new factory for a record breaking run. A large crew is now employed putting it in shape. Field Manager Van Lare has a crew of men at work on the farm and when the seeding is completed the company will have over 1,500 acres into peas.

Ashland—Miss F. Beeke of Duluth has arrived in the city. While here she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Al La-bounty.

Ashland—Miss Mary Maloney has gone to Duluth, where she will remain for a few days, visiting friends and relatives. On Saturday next the party will leave on the trip Rogers and spend the day at the islands.

Dollar Bay.—The output at the sawmill is steadily increasing, the production at the present time being equal to that of the old mill. It is stated that more machinery will be installed the latter part of the season.

Calumet.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Arnold Miller was held on Monday morning at the Calumet church. Rev. E. Y. Isaacson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, and George Skoberg, a delegate from the annual meeting of the Augustana synod, held at New Britain, Conn. Much important business was disposed of at the funeral.

Marquette.—The "tree" in the case of Adol C. Rich vs. Victoria Copper Mining company, an action to establish the title to mining lands in Ontonagon county, was given a verdict according to the plaintiff an eight-twentieth interest in two quarter sections, fixing the value at $20 an acre.

Isle Royale.—A unique reunion of the members of the Norwegian Church society of this city is being held this week. All the churches of the denomination who have been confirmed here during the thirty-five years the local church has been in existence have been invited to attend.

Marquette.—Mrs. John Kalaski, aged 45, died at her home, No. 64 South Fourth street, Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The funeral was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock, from St. Peter's cathedral, with interment at Holy Cross cemetery.

CARS RUN AWAY.

St. Paul, June 25.—A string of seven cars broke loose in the Great Northern yard, last night, ran two miles and collided with a horse car in the Union depot yards. Adelbert Soper, a switchman, was killed, and Engineer George R. Hanson was seriously injured by being caught in the wreckage.

AT ALL SODA FOUNTAINS INSIST!!!

WOODMEN CELEBRATE

Will Initiate 500 New Members Into the Order.

Speakers Praise Duluth and St. Louis County at Banquet.

Modern Woodmen of America, to the number of 200, sat down to the elaborate banquet held in honor of the visiting officials of the order at the St. Louis hotel last evening.

This morning the distinguished guests of the three local lodges of the M. W. A. enjoyed a boulevard drive, this afternoon a boat ride, and this evening they will take charge of the initiation of 500 new members into the ranks of the order.

Special trains are to be run in to Duluth from many points within a radius of 100 miles. Delegations are coming from Hibbing, Two Harbors, Virginia, Cloquet and many neighboring towns.

Candidates from Duluth and from the neighboring towns will be inducted to the mysteries of the Modern Woodmen, with elaborate and appropriate ceremonies at the Armory tonight, when head officials of the lodge from all parts of the country will participate, assisted by state and local officers.

The out of town officials of the society who will take part in the program tonight—which begins at 7:45 and is, naturally, only for members—include: A. R. Tulbot, head counsel, Lincoln, Neb.; Dan B. Horn, head advisor, Davenport, Iowa; C. W. Hawes, head clerk, Rock Island, Ill.; Charles H. McNider, head banker, Mason City, Iowa; Benjamin D. Smith, general attorney, Mankato, Minn. The following members of the board of directors have also arrived: C. J. Byrns, Ishpeming, Mich.; E. E. Murphy, Leavenworth, Kan.; G. W. Reilly, Danville, Ill.; A. N. Bort, Beloit, Wis.; H. R. Smith, Brookfield, and Drs. H. D. Jones, E. L. Kearns and F. A. Smith, all of Rock Island, Ill., the board of medical examiners.

Many of them arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and spoke at the banquet in the evening, and the rest will arrive this afternoon or early this evening.

Alderman W. E. McEwen was toastmaster at the banquet, and with happy prefaces and anecdotes, he introduced eight or more speakers, who said pleasant things about Duluth, its citizens, its three lodges of Modern Woodmen of America and the purposes and success of the society in general.

Mayor Cullum delivered the formal address of welcome, on behalf of the city government. He dwelt upon the benefits of fraternity. It is customary in the Woodmen's session, to call fellow members neighbors and the mayor told of the significance the word neighbor had to him.

He said that when he was a boy on the farm, it was always the neighbor who came if there was sickness in the family, or work to be done.

Mayor Cullum also stated that he expected that the population of Duluth would double in five years, so certain was the growth of the city, in view of the coming of the steel plant and many varied industries. He said that the city offered great opportunities to young men.

County Attorney John H. Norton delivered an address of welcome to the visitors on behalf of the three local lodges of the Modern Woodmen. He spoke of the growth of the order here, and became eloquent over the resources of St. Louis county.

Maj. C. W. Hawes, head clerk in the head camp of the society at Rock Island, Ill., a veteran of the Modern Woodmen service and of the Civil war, advised all of his hearers to buy Duluth real estate. Although he was a stranger in this city, he said he was satisfied that it was a safe place to place extra dollars.

The major also spoke to some length on the condition of the Modern Woodmen at the present time, and the growth of the order has enjoyed during the many years he has been in the head office at Rock Island. He said that the total membership was now more than $500,000, scattered over thirty-five states, and that the deposits amounted to $3,500,000. Maj. C. W. Hawes is 67 years of age, but he has lost none of his youthful enthusiasm. He was very cordially received.

F. O. Van Gilder of Rock Island, editor of the Modern Woodman, the official organ of the society, spoke briefly, in a humorous vein. Incidentally, that he had heard a great deal about Duluth lately, and that it was "one of the most talked-of cities in the country."

E. D. Smith of Mankato, attorney general of the order, said with great faith in St. Louis county, as he had just made a large purchase of land here. He also spoke of the Modern Woodmen from the legal point of view.

G. W. Reilly of Danville, Ill., and E. E. Murphy of Leavenworth, Kan., members of the board of directors, spoke briefly. Mr. Murphy and A. W. Dowers told several family stories. Lammier's orchestra furnished the music.

LARGER SALES—MORE BUILDINGS

To keep pace with our enormous increase last year together with what we expect this year we are now spending over a quarter of a million dollars in the erection of an additional stock house. It is safe to say that this stock house will be the most modern building of its kind in the world. It will be equipped throughout with over four hundred of the celebrated glass enameled steel tanks (ten train loads, the largest single consignment ever shipped.)

These enameled tanks represent the latest and best ideas in the storing of beer. They are in every way superior to the old wooden variety and although very much more expensive, the high cost incurred in their installment is offset when the matter of the perfect cleanliness they insure is taken into consideration.

These tanks have a combined capacity of 100,000 barrels which in addition to our present storage will make 200,000 barrels, the largest storage capacity in proportion to its output of any brewery in existence. There never can be any question as to the pure of Hamm's Beer.

Made from the best materials which Nature affords, brewed with the utmost care in a brewery where cleanliness is paramount, stored from three to four months so that it is thoroughly matured, HAMM'S fulfils every possible requirement of a perfect beer.

Banquet Lagercrantz and Drink Toasts to President and King.

Chicago, June 25.—Toasts to the health of President Roosevelt and King Oscar were drunk with equal zest by the Swedish-Americans, who attended the banquet given last night at the Auditorium hotel, in honor of S. L. F. Lagercrantz, the new Swedish minister to the United States. Addresses were made by Governor Deneen, Chief Justice Olson of the municipal court, Corporation Counsel Brundage, the latter in behalf of Mayor Busse, John R. Lindgren, Swedish vice consul; E. A. Lindstrand, proprietor of the Swedish-American, and Dr. Jacob Bonggren.

SUMMER TRAVEL LIKELY TO BREAK ALL RECORDS.

New York, June 25.—Judging from the traffic of the last few days and the number of reservations being made for berths and accommodations, for the next two weeks, the passenger travel from New York city to the seashore and mountains will this summer break all previous records. Officials of the different roads report that they are being swamped with business, but by pressing into service every bit of rolling stock and the full force of employees are taking care of it. That the residents of the city are more prosperous than usual is indicated in the unprecedented number of tickets that are being sold for points in the distant West and Northwest.

MRS. EIDE MAY LET CASE AGAINST HUSBAND DROP

Mrs. Bernard J. Eide, wife of the bartender of this city who was arrested at Wadena, Saturday, in company with Mrs. Henry Flaaten, also of this city, has returned to her home at 423 Second avenue west. Mrs. Eide's husband and Mrs. Flaaten are still in jail at Fergus Falls, not having yet furnished bail. Martin Smith, who was Eide's employer in this city, has gone to Fergus Falls and, at the request of Mrs. Eide, may furnish bail. At the time the couple were arrested, Mrs. Eide was with the sheriff and confronted her husband as soon as he had opened the door to their room. Judge Stigwick bound the couple over to the district court on a statutory charge, and in default of $1,000 had them taken to the county jail at Fergus Falls. The intimacy of Mr. Eide and Mrs. Flaaten has long been suspected by Mrs. Eide, as well as by Mr. Flaaten, although neither thought that it was so serious. The couple have been intimate company as far back as last summer, and the above picture was taken at the White City.

CONVENTION HAS OPENED

Sons of Veterans Are in Session in Duluth.

Delegates Are Entertained With Trip on the Gopher.

The annual encampment of the division of Minnesota and Dakota of the Sons of Veterans opened this morning at hall A, Kalamaazoo hall, with thirty-three delegates in attendance. The afternoon train was expected to bring a number of other delegates from the lower part of the state and they will be in attendance for the important work of the convention tomorrow.

The session this morning was taken up mainly by the organization of the convention. The committee on credentials was appointed. This afternoon the reports of the division officers will be presented and the other committees appointed. The delegates leave the hall at 3:30 for a cruise on the Gopher, the training ship of the Minnesota Naval Reserve. The trip is made by courtesy of Commander Eaton of the naval militia, who will accompany the Sons of Veterans on the trip. Tomorrow morning the different committees will report and the regular business of the convention will be disposed of. At the afternoon session, tomorrow, the officers will be elected, and the next place meeting chosen and the encampment closed.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans, which is to hold its meeting simultaneously with the Sons of Veterans, in hall B, did not convene this morning on account of a lack of a sufficient number of delegates present to organize the convention under the constitution. The afternoon session today will bring other delegates and the ladies will hold their first session tomorrow morning, rushing their business so as to complete the work of the convention by tomorrow evening.

STORY IS DENIED.

No Effort Being Made to Secure the Traverse.

The morning paper has recently credited some unnamed source in Duluth with having been conducting negotiations for the securing of the Steamer City of Traverse for the purpose of operating it as a floating saloon to dock the new "Hull." The report was today denied through the Duluth Evening Herald. In the following dispatch:

"Had White today denied any negotiations for using Traverse as saloon boat at Duluth."

CITY BRIEFS

Eight Admitted.
Eight natives of Finland were admitted to the privileges of United States citizenship yesterday. Their language of the English language nearly got them into trouble, for when they were asked whether they were married or not, they supposed that it was a necessary requirement and all answered yes. They were more than anxious to change, however, when the meaning of the term was explained to them. Their names were August Hannuksela, Simon Hakkarinen, Kelly Wauri, Matti Kananen, Gustaf Wirtanen, Edward Newman, Andrew Meri and David Mikola.

Moonlight Excursion.
The Duluth Christian Endeavor union made arrangements to give a moonlight excursion tomorrow evening. A trip will be made around the north and if the weather is suitable, a large crowd is expected.

Pool Tournament.
Last evening in the tournament being conducted at the Ideal pool hall, Westberg defeated Nuri by a score of 10 to 7. It was a closely contested game and aroused considerable interest among the spectators. This evening, Nabs will meet Cummings.

Miss Getty Dies.
Miss Katy Ethel Getty, 22 years of age, died at her home at 111 East Fourth street this morning of peritonitis and pneumonia. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence and interment will be made at Forest Hill. The hour has not yet been fixed. Miss Getty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Getty.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

Antiseptic and Hygienic

A Hair Investigator—Just what its name implies. It supplies nourishment, the elements of growth, which when absorbed by the hair, strengthens and beautifies it the same way that soap glorifies the foliage of a tree. Even where the follicles are seemingly dead, which the scalp is massaged daily with Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic, a vigorous growth will be produced. It has honestly earned its title of "The Great Hair Grower." It stimulates the most stunted growth and makes the hair magnificent, healthy and beautiful. By its use women can provide themselves with a trailing mantle of hair—woman's natural raiment her birthright.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic is prized equally by men and women particularly when the hair begins to weaken or fade. Cures baldness, grayness, splitting of the hair, dandruff and all diseases of the hair, scalp and beard. One application usually stops hair falling. A nursery requisite; no mother should neglect to use it for her boys and girls; when the hair is made strong in childhood remains proof against disease and retains its vigor and youthfulness throughout life.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic is a colorless, fragrant, delightful hair dressing; neither sticky, gritty, nor greasy; makes the hair soft, fluffy and glossy. Contains no artificial coloring; would not soil the whitest hair; restores original color by invigorating the scalp and re-establishing normal circulation and proper distribution of the coloring matter. Beautiful hair redeems the plainest countenance and any one can secure it by using Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic. Now in all sizes. Our special price

GOOD TONE TO MARKET

Leading Shares Have Good Advance During the Day.

Copper stocks advanced two points or so and closed at the high prices today.

The tone was listless and unchanged at the opening, but during the latter part of the session, the listed shares began to perk up and the unlisted ones on the local curb showed improvement. The leading shares in the Boston and New York markets had good advances during the day.

North Butte opened at $7.25, advanced to $7.50 and closed at $7.50 bid and $80 asked. Anaconda opened at $28.25, declined to $28.12½, reacted to $28.12½ and closed at $28.12½ bid.

The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 was declared on Anaconda, payable July 17. The stock opened at $44.25, advanced to $45 and closed at $45 bid and $45.25 asked. Butte Coal opened at $23.50, declined to $23.37½, rallied to $25 and closed at $25 bid and $25.25 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $15, advanced to $15.75 and closed at $15.75 bid and $15.75 asked.

Greene-Cannan sold at $15.50 at the opening and went up as high as $16.25, declined to $15.75 and closed at $15.75 bid and $16.12½ asked.

Superior & Pittsburgh sold at $14.50, declined to $14.37½ and closed at $14.37½ bid and $14.75 asked. Globe Consolidated sold at $12 and closed at $11.75 bid and $12.25 asked. Dem-Arizona sold at $7.62½, advanced to $7.75 and closed at $7.62½ bid and $7.75 asked.

Warren was inactive and closed at $7.75 bid and $8 asked. Hancock at $7.75 bid and $8 asked. Calumet & Sonora $14.50 bid and $14.75 asked. Carman $4.75 bid and $4.87½ asked. Black Mountain sold at $5.12½ and closed at $5.12½ bid and $5.25 asked.

Now that the painters have put the last finishing touches on the new black-board and the new office furniture has been installed, Walter W. Carr, on the second floor of the Manhattan building, has one of the best appointed brokerage offices in this part of the country.

The wire service, both telegraphic and telephonic, has been improved at Mr. Carr's office is in the closest touch with the outside markets. On his new board are given quotations, sales and amount of shares of the leading unlisted shares on the local curb and the latest quotations on the principal stocks listed on the Boston exchange and the principal shares traded in the New York market. In addition, a portion of the board is given over to the leading Nevada stocks.

Mr. Carr now has a much larger office than formerly, having taken over an adjoining office.

QUACKENBUSH BOY IS FOUND IN OUTHOUSE.

John Quackenbush, the 14-year-old boy who was arrested yesterday on the charge of criminally assaulting an 11-year-old girl yesterday, and who escaped from his father's custody later in the day, was captured again this afternoon, and is now in the custody of the police.

Young Quackenbush was hiding in an outhouse at his home. He was badly frightened and had had nothing to eat since yesterday morning. The first arrest was made yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The boy was allowed to return home in custody of his father, who promised to see that he did not leave the premises. He managed to evade the father's vigilant eye, however, and all day an energetic search has been prosecuted with the result that his hiding place was found this afternoon.

TENTH ATTORNEY FOR HAYWOOD APPEARS AT OPENING OF THE TRIAL

Walter McCormack of Chicago Joins Forces for Defendant.

Has Been Engaged in Search of Evidence in Colorado.

Mrs. Lottie Day of Denver the First Witness of the Morning.

Boise, Idaho, June 26.—A new attorney appeared at the defendant counsel table when the Haywood trial was resumed this morning, making the tenth in the list of attorneys engaged in behalf of the accused miners. The newcomer is Walter F. McCormack of Chicago. Mr. McCormack has been engaged in the search for evidence for the defense in Colorado and has been in Boise only since the defense opened its case.

The first witness of the day was Mrs. Lottie Day, who knew Harry Orchard at the Belmont rooming house in Denver under the name of J. Dempsey. Mrs. Day said she met Orchard just prior to the convention of the Western Federation of Miners in 1904. Once while she was talking to Orchard, Haywood and a man named McDonald, who also was connected with the federation, came in. Orchard introduced her to Haywood and then went away with him. Mrs. Day said she was first summoned to Boise by the state, but was sent back to Denver two weeks ago. The witness related a conversation with Orchard when the latter told her that he was always responsible for his being poor and he would get even with him if it was the last act of his life.

"Didn't he say that 'd-d Steenberg'?"

"No, sir. I'm sure he didn't swear like that. I think he said 'Devil of a Steenberg'."

Mrs. Day said that one day when Orchard was telling her about his gambling exploits he said he always kept a little money put away, that when he made a "raise" he put some

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

Made at the Commencement of Yale University Are Made Public.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—The most important awards for scholarship at Yale university were made public during the commencement exercises today, and in the list were the following: The Colburn silver medal to Henry F. Waldron of Whitman, Mass., a senior, for the greatest proficiency in the elements of political science; the James Gordon Bennett prize for the best essay in English prose divided between Roger B. Hull of Greenfield, Mass., and Robert R. Lookwood of Zanesville, Pa., the prize being the income of $1,000; John Addison Porter, prize of $300, established by the Kingsley Trust association (skull and bones), to Charles F. Franklin of Rouses Point, Miss., a member of the graduating class in the divinity school. Mr. Franklin is a graduate of central college.

Honorable mention went to Albert T. Steele of Bethel, Conn., also of the divinity school. The theme in both essays was Christian science.

IN SHADOW OF GALLOWS WILL GO TO HIGH COURT

Convict to Hang Thursday, Exonerates Another.

Says Kline, Held for Train Robbery, is Innocent.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 26.—Harry Vaughan, one of three convicts to be hanged here tomorrow made a sworn statement at the penitentiary here in which he exonerated a man named Kline, supposed to be in the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., from participation in the hold-up of the Illinois Central train near Chicago in August, 1906.

After a man named Morris was killed in a fight in St. Louis with detectives, Vaughan says that Kline was taken to St. Louis for the purpose of identification.

Vaughan says in his statement: "Morris and others did the train robbery, but this man Kline, who was brought from Chicago and placed in the cell with me to be identified by Morris, was in no way connected with the robbery, and if he is serving time in the penitentiary for this offense he should be released as he is an innocent man."

CLOSES ITS 27TH YEAR

Harvard University Graduates a Class of 550 Students.

The Time-Honored Features of the Day Are Observed.

Cambridge, Mass., June 26.—America's oldest educational institution, Harvard university, today closed its 27th year, graduating a class of 550. Features of the day were the meeting of the board of overseers for the opening of the polls for the elections for the graduation of three years' standing, the arrival of the governor, the gathering at Old Massachusetts hall of the president, fellows, overtures, faculties, invited guests, a portion of the alumni and the candidates for degrees, the march to the time honored Sanders theater, the assembly of the distinguished company with the president seated in his chair, the learned addresses, and finally the meeting of the Alumni association.

As in former years the exercises of the day and processions to Sanders theater and Memorial hall were in charge of the class that is celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its graduation, this year the class of 1882.

Harvard was honored today by the presence of Secretary of State Elihu Root, James Bryce, Great Britain's ambassador to America, and the duke of the Abruzzi, on whom honorary degrees were conferred.

The Harvard yard was closed for the day.

The delivery of the undergraduate, divinity school and law school orations occupied nearly an hour, and this was followed by the awarding of degrees by President Eliot.

Kansas City, June 26.—The attorneys for the eighteen principal Missouri railroads and Attorney General Hadley, for the state, have practically agreed to take the matter of jurisdiction in the enforcement of the Missouri 2-cent law to the United States supreme court. This move probably will be made within the next ten days. This was decided upon as the result of a conference here today between Mr. Hadley and Assistant Attorney General Kenneth for the state and Frank Hagerman and other attorneys representing the various railroads.

It was agreed that Mr. Hagerman would amend the pleadings of the railroads in their injunction suit and Mr. Hadley will deny that the federal court has jurisdiction. The federal court, who was asserted jurisdiction, will be asked to make an order in one of the cases. If he does, that question will be taken to the supreme court.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT MARS COMMENCEMENT AT YALE

Automobile Accident Kills One Student, Injures Three Others.

D. Leet Oliver of Pittsburgh the One Who Was Killed.

Baltimore and New Jersey Men the Seriously Injured.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—A frightful accident, causing the death of one undergraduate and injuring more or less seriously two other students and a guest, cast a gloom over the commencement exercises at Yale university today. The victim was D. Leet Oliver, son of Mrs. J. B. Oliver of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a senior in Sheffield Scientific school, a member of St. Anthony's fraternity and one of the most prominent socially of the upper classmen. The injured were W. Strothers Jones of Redbank, N. J., a Sheffield junior, and J. C. Colston of Baltimore, a senior in the same department, and E. Hudson, a commencement guest of the others, all of whom live at St. Anthony's house. Oliver died from a broken back, being crushed under his automobile after it had jumped off a bridge in Centerville, about four miles from the college. The others are suffering from manifold

The gaieties surrounding the annual commencement at Yale university were sadly interrupted by a frightful automobile accident which caused the death of a most promising undergraduate, seriously injured two other college men and also a guest. The young man killed was D. Leet Oliver, a son of one of the late Pittsburgh Oliviers, famous in steel and mining circles. The dead student was very prominent socially. The accident was caused by the automobile skidding and jumping off a bridge, falling on Oliver, who was instantly killed.

bruises, and Colston had his nose broken.

The party were coming into the city just about daybreak and the machine apparently skidded off the end of the bridge which spans a small stream. As the machine took its flight into the air it turned over and landed just at the edge of the water, the crushing weight coming upon Oliver, who was driving, and he was almost instantly killed. The others in the party sought help from nearby houses, and Messrs. Jones, Hudson and Colston were carried into New Haven for hospital treatment.

A story of the accident was told after the survivors had recovered from the shock. The party started out at an early hour to take a pleasure ride in the cool air and intended to return over a country road which runs as a loop connecting with the extension of Dixwell avenue in this city. Oliver's route makes a course much used by automobilists. Oliver's machine was of a thirty-horsepower racing type, and the party went out Whitney avenue at a high speed. A mile this side of the bridge, where the accident occurred, there is a hill and down this the machine went. In the gray light of dawn it is thought Oliver did not realize that the bridge was narrow and as he was in the car tracks he turned to travel over the space reserved for vehicles, but the swerving of the machine and then the skidding of the hind wheels brought the machine against a fence a short distance from the bridge, and the momentum impelling the machine forward, sent it against a strip of the bridge. The machine then went into the air, flew over the stream and landed fifteen feet on the other bank, then turning a somersault fell towards the water. The flight of the machine threw out Oliver's companions, but Oliver came down with the machine and was crushed.

Oliver's body was brought into this city and it was said it would be for-

A BAD BLAZE AT JAMESTOWN

A Whole Block in Pine Beach Section is Destroyed.

Norfolk, Va., June 26.—One whole block of the Pine Beach section immediately adjoining the Jamestown exposition grounds was swept by fire early today, the area burned being between the Jamestown grounds on the west, extending to the Pine Beach hotel, and from the car track running from the exposition grounds west to the original Pine Beach pier to the water on the north. The loss may run up to $300,000, partly insured.

CRUISER ASHORE. Cairns, Queensland, June 26.—The British cruiser Pyramus went ashore last Sunday, 150 miles north of Cooktown.

LOS ANGELES LIMITED WRECKED ON BRIDGE.

North Platte, Neb., June 26.—The West bound Los Angeles Limited Express on the Union Pacific was wrecked at the West end of the Platte river bridge, near here at 9 o'clock last night. Practically the whole train was derailed, two sleepers being turned completely over. No one was killed and only one passenger, a Los Angeles lady, name unknown, was injured. The wreck was caused by a broken wheel on the car while the train was still on the bridge. The baggage car left the track, but the heavy guard rail prevented it falling into the river, and the train remained intact until it cleared the bridge. The train will be tied up until morning.

AFTER THE TENT TRUST. Denver, Colo., June 26.—Five other members of the so called "tent trust," William H. Brooks, R. H. Brooks, Robert S. Gutshall, Alfred A. Proctor, and Charles C. Cross, all of Denver, were arrested yesterday on federal grand jury indictments, charged with combining to raise the price of tents for the government. Each gave bond for $2,500.

PRESSURE ON KING CARLOS

Is Being Brought to Bear by Austria and Spain.

Vienna, June 26.—The crisis in Portugal is followed closely here. The contingent chances of Duke Miguel of Braganza in the event of a revolution are watched with the greatest interest. Interest in the situation so far as imperial circles are concerned probably centers chiefly in the effect which a Republican triumph in Portugal would be likely to have in Spain and on the dynasty there. There are reports that Austria and Spain are both bringing pressure on King Carlos to change his form of government to appease popular indignation with a view to preventing trouble which they believe would not be confined to the limits of his kingdom.

WITNESS SAYS LOWING WAS DRUNK FOUR YEARS IN COUNTY OF AMHERST

MISS ELIZABETH LOVING, Daughter of Former Judge Loving, Whose Father Is on Trial for Murdering Young Estes.

Sheriff Gives Testimony Against Defendant in Murder Case.

Says Prisoner Was High-Tempered and Non-Tolerating.

Relatives of Gov. Swanson Present at the Trial.

Houston, Va., June 26.—At the opening of court today in the trial of Former Judge Loving for the killing of Theodore Estes, the defendant looked careworn, the result, no doubt, of the severe strain he underwent yesterday when he took the stand in his own behalf and heard his daughter repeat the story of her carriage ride in the company of young Estes. Seated with the defendant, were his son, W. G. Loving, Jr., and his brother, Maj. T. Loving. John P. Swanson, W. G. Swanson and Henry Swanson, brothers of Governor Swanson, had seats on the prosecution's side. Mrs. J. P. Swanson is a sister of Estes, and her husband is taking an active part in defending the memory of the dead man. Sheriff J. B. Beard of Amherst county, who has known Judge Loving for years, testified as to the defendant being an excessive drinker, and that he had suffered at times from delirium tremens. The witness stated that the dissipation of Judge Loving had completely changed his disposition and that before he started drinking he was pleasant and agreeable, though in later years he had become unreasonably and disagreeable. Sheriff Beard said that he knew that Judge Loving was continuously drunk for four years while in Amherst county.

Mr. Bouldin attempted to bring from the witness a statement that Judge Loving had always been a high-tempered man and had no tolerance for those who opposed him. The answers were evasive. Sheriff Beard was asked if he had not favored Judge Loving when his name was mentioned for congress. The witness replied:

"No." Mr. Harrison of Amherst, formerly a lawyer, testified along the same line, as Sheriff Beard, as to the excessive drinking and the change it had brought on Loving. The witness declared that Loving worshipped his daughter, Elizabeth.

Dr. Charles L. Emmons, a brain specialist of Washington, D. C., testified that whiskey caused a large percentage of the cases of insanity. A

SCOUT SHIP LAUNCHED

Cruiser Chester of New Class Leaves Ways at Bath.

First United States War Vessel to Have Turbine Engines.

Washington, June 26.—The scout cruiser Chester, which was launched at the Bath (Maine) Iron works today, is one of a class of three vessels to be known as scout cruisers authorized by congress April 17, 1904. The cost of the vessel will be $1,668,000. Its construction is of an entirely new type as far as the United States navy is concerned and it will be the first in which English turbines will be used. The contract speed is 24 knots and is exceeded only by that of the torpedo boats and destroyers. While the speed is slightly less than that of the English scouts, the difference is more than compensated for by the ability to maintain the high speed in all conditions of the weather, and having twice the Cornell the Favorite in Betting on Eight-Oared Crews.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26.—All Poughkeepsie was early astir today to prepare for what promises to be a pleasant day for the rowing of the thirtieth annual intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson river this afternoon. The first race, the university four-oared shells for the Kennedy challenge cup brings together Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell in a contest over a two-mile course. This event is scheduled to start at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The second race, the freshmen eight-oared shells, sends Cornell, Wisconsin, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Columbia over a two-mile course for the Stewards cup. This race is scheduled to start at 4:45 o'clock. The university eight-oared shells, over the four-mile course for the varsity challenge cup, will find seven competitors at the starting line, Columbia, Cornell, Syracuse, Georgetown, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Amherst. This will be the first appearance of the naval academy boys in the Poughkeepsie regatta and the midshipmen from Annapolis who are here on a practice cruise aboard the United States monitors, will see the race from ten cars on the observation trains which have been reserved for their use. The big race is scheduled to start at 6 o'clock. The weather was hot and sultry today. The sky was slightly overcast.

AN APPEAL TO MACKAY

Telegraphers Want to Present Their Side of Case.

Committee Appointed to Open Negotiations With Companies.

San Francisco, June 26.—President S. J. Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, appealed yesterday directly to Clarence Mackay, head of the Postal Telegraph company. Small wrote a letter directed to offset the one written by Mackay to the officials of the Postal company in which Mackay commended the operators who refused to go out and condemned the men who struck.

President Mackay and the officials of the company have enjoyed the esteem of the telegraphers, who said yesterday that they hoped that Small's exposition of the case, from the standpoint of the employees might be the production of peace.

A possible step toward a settlement was made yesterday when the striking operators appointed a conference committee of seven members, including President Small, with a view of opening negotiations with the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. Although the powers of the committee were not announced following its appointment, it is thought the committee will be clothed with authority to arrange a basis for the settlement of the strike. One of the instructions of the board will be to place the demands of the strikers before the heads of the companies.

The operators declare that the companies are seriously crippled and must ultimately yield to the demands for a 35 per cent increase in wages. It was conceded generally that the strike was likely to continue for several weeks, and the possibility of extending the strike zone was also admitted. Officials of both companies declared that they were handling expeditiously all the business that came to them. Both claimed gains in the staff of operators.

BOOK PLATES.

Journal of American History: It was within half a century from the invention of printing that book plates were introduced as identifying marks to indicate the ownership of the volume. Germany, the fatherland of printing, from movable type and of wood cuttings for making impressions in ink or paper, is likewise the home land of the book plate.

The earliest dated wood cut of accepted authenticity is the well known "St. Christopher of 1423," which was discovered in the Carthusian monastery of Buxheim in Swabia.

It was to insure the right of ownership in a book that the owner had it marked with the coat-of-arms of the family or some other hereditary device. Libraries were kept intact and passed from generation to generation, bearing the emblem of the family.

The first book plate in France is dated 1547; in Sweden, 1575; Switzerland, 1607; and Italy, 1628. The earliest English book plate is found in a folio volume once the property of Cardinal Wolsey and afterward belonging to his royal master.

The earliest mention of the book plate in English literature is by Pepys, July 16, 1688. The first known book plate in America belonged to Governor Dudley, Paul Faneuil, the patriot, was one of the first American engravers of book plates and a designer of great ability.

BOTH WERE COLLECTORS.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: A local newspaper artist got a letter one day from a man over in Indiana who said he was making a collection of sketches. "I have drawings," the Indiana man wrote, "but I have none from Ohio. I have seen some of your work and I think it is good. If you will send me some little sketches for my collection I shall have it framed."

The artist noticed from the letterhead that the Indiana man was connected with a bank in one of the small towns over in the state of literature. That gave him a hunch, and he wrote back as follows:

"I am making a collection of ten dollar bills. I haven't secured specimens from every state in the Union, but I have several tens and a few twenties, and I am particularly anxious to have a ten dollar bill from Indiana. I notice that you are employed in a place where ten dollar bills are kept, and if you send me one for my collection I shall be glad to have it framed."

SYMPATHY. Los Angeles Times: Upon Sinclair, in an address before a body of Chicago Socialists, said of charity: "The average charity, the charity of the rich, seems rather futile to me. The rich oppress the poor enormously, then they help them slightly. It is like the young lady angler."

Why, said the man to this young lady, "do you always carry a bottle of liniment with you on your fishing excursions?" She sighed. "I am so sorry," she said plaintively, "for the poor little fish. And so, when I take one off the hook, always rub its cut mouth with some liniment."

GRAIN MEN CONSIDER BIG ADDITION TO BUILDING

Whether or not a sum approximating $100,000 will be expended for an addition to the Duluth Board of Trade building, is being decided at a meeting of the members this afternoon. The plans which will be submitted to the meeting, call for the addition of several stories to the present trading floor section of the building. This part of the building will be built up to a height of nine stories, or two stories higher than the remainder of the building. The first seven stories will be used for offices and the trading floor will occupy the eighth and ninth floors. The addition is rapidly becoming a necessity. More offices are needed, and the new Y. M. C. A. building will, to a great extent, cut off the light from the present trading floor.

The plans have as yet been but roughly outlined, but if they are accepted and approved by the members at the meeting this afternoon, the work will be undertaken at once.

LAURA'S TRIAL

By Florence Hull Winterburn.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowler.) When Laura McHenry quietly turned her back upon the wealthy and desirable man who had been her husband for many years, and gave her hand to William May, a middle-aged lawyer of no particular standing or prospects, everybody decided that she had thrown herself away. Mr. May began his married life upon a windfall of $100, his largest fee in a dozen years. They were really happy. And it lasted quite six months, all the $100 dollars had been drawn out of the bank, except the bare moiety necessary to keep the household. When Bridget's wages were a month overdue, her substantial presence disappeared out of the kitchen, and Laura's laundry white hands made acquaintance with dish-wrings, stove-litters and brooms. Such an ignominy as she found herself. And with what zeal she bent her mind to the study of cookery books and the household duties of the new marriage. She left the flour out of her first cake, but her second one was a triumph of art and muffins, veal cutlets, and custards came out from under her finger and thumb. She was so proud of her new position that she had her hair cut and dressed in a new gown. She was so proud of her new position that she had her hair cut and dressed in a new gown. She was so proud of her new position that she had her hair cut and dressed in a new gown.

Heaves in the ability of her sex to do almost anything a man can do and, when taking care of flat buildings is considered, she has proved her belief.

For Mrs. Johnson does the paper hanging, kalsomining and painting in eight apartments and does not hesitate to decorate window frames three stories up.

She is a carpenter also, can hit a nail with a hammer ten times out of ten, and in winter puts up the storm windows. In a few days she will fit each window with a combined screen and awning, patented by herself.

She mixes her own paint and goes about the task with a smile, which she thinks should enter into every can of paint. When the colors are ready Mrs. Johnson cleans the wood-work with a wire brush, leaving a fresh surface, and then, to complete the job, washes the windows.

Day after day "The Herald" want columns show a procession of opportunities—opportunities to buy, to sell, to lease, to hire, to find people to work for, to find boarders, lodgers, tenants, or partners. These want ad opportunities touch almost all phases of life and living in this city.

SLEEPER BLOCK IS DESTROYED

Fire of Unknown Origin Does Heavy Damage at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., June 26.—(Special to the Herald.)—Fire of an unknown origin started the two-story brick building known as the Sleeper block last night, entailing a loss of about $50,000. The building was occupied by the following: Frank Drosky, clothing; John Carlson, clothing; the Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Ingersoll & Wichard, proprietors, and Smith Bros., law, real estate and insurance. Frank Drosky places his loss at $13,000, with $5,000 insurance. Carlson lost $25,000, with $5,000 insurance. No part of the stock of either of these stores was saved and the loss was total.

The Dispatch succeeded in saving its forms, mailing galley and books, and was issued today as usual. The owners place their loss at $5,000, with $2,000 insurance. Smith Bros. moved their furniture and books, and their loss was comparatively slight.

R. J. Holden's saloon adjoining the Sleeper block was threatened by the flames and was saved only by the excellent work of the department and the efforts of citizens.

WILL MAKE IT A TEST CASE
Hack Drivers Are Not Wanted on Steamer Docks.

Martin C. Miller, one of the local hack drivers, was arrested last evening after driving his vehicle upon N. P. Dock No. 4. Just before the arrival of the North West. He was locked up charged with trespass, but was released on $10 bail to insure his appearance this morning. He fore Judge Windom Miller pleaded not guilty and his case will be heard Friday morning at 10 o'clock. This case will be made a test case by the transportation people who claim they have been annoyed by hack drivers driving upon the dock and want to determine whether or not they have a right to keep them off. The passengers on the North West have transfer checks to Sullivan's dray line by which they can secure free transportation to the different hotels, but when a number of other carriages are standing about they frequently get into the wrong ones and are forced to pay. Miller has signified his intention of securing an attorney to fight the case on behalf of the hackmen.

We don't care if you are skeptical; we don't care if you have no confidence. It makes no difference to us. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do the work or no pay—that's fair. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

TELEGRAM REFERRED

Appeal of Labor Union Sent to Commissioner Smith.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—The telegram asking President Roosevelt to investigate an alleged violation of the anti-trust law by the telegraph companies, received yesterday from the Washington Central Labor union, was today transmitted by Secretary Loeb to Herbert Knox Smith, chief of the bureau of corporations of the department of commerce and labor. No instructions were given Mr. Smith with reference to the matter. Although the statement was made that the American Federation of Labor had sent out a general order to local unions to send similar telegrams to the president, only one has been received.

ARE NOT IN THE TRUST

Duluth Brewers Deny That They Have Joined Merger.

Beer Trust May Try to Force Them to It.

It is reported from Cincinnati that Duluth breweries are in a new billion dollar brewery merger. It is denied in Duluth that this is the case. P. C. Schmidt, attorney for A. Fitzer & Co., when seen today, acknowledged that there was such a thing as a brewery trust in existence, or a merger which the people like to call a trust, but said most emphatically that the Duluth breweries are not in it, and have no intention of getting in.

The formation of the trust may mean higher prices, smaller glasses, or both. Trusts generally have some such effect on the common people, according to the politicians and the public, made ugly by long experience, is willing to believe it. The Duluth breweries seem to be doing very nicely, working along independent lines and say they are satisfied with things as they are.

Ordinarily trusts will not tolerate competition, and it is rumored that if Duluth brewers fail to fall in line, the merger will try to compel them to, whether they want to or not, or else attempt to drive them to the wall, by underselling them so badly on the local market as to do away with all the profits. Whether this will be done or not is merely conjecture, however.

WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY

Passes Bill Relating to the Election of Insurance Directors.

Madison, Wis., June 25.—The assembly today passed the bill as reported from committee relating to the election of directors of the mutual life insurance companies, which provides that policyholders may vote by mail, proxy or person. The bill permits a ballot for every $500 of insurance or interest in the election according to the amount of insurance. Speaker Ecken favored the abolition of the proxy. The bill passed by a vote of 68 to 26 and now goes to the senate. The assembly concurred in the senate amendment to bill fixing eight hours as the length of the day for railroad telegraphers.

STOCK FARM INSPECTED

Dairymen Make Trip to Jean Duluth Farm in Autos.

Boat Ride or Boulevard Drive Preliminary to Meeting Thursday.

The party of dairy experts and local men who were to visit the model Jean Duluth stock farm left about 10 o'clock this morning in four automobiles, which had been very obligingly loaned for the occasion. The weather was perfect for the trip and a good sized, representative delegation of Duluth men accompanied the experts.

Among the party were: Ex-governor W. D. Hoard of Fort Atkinson; Dr. M. B. Wood of Mankato; O. B. Grett of Farmington, superintendent of the Farmers' Institute; F. H. Scribner of Rosendale, Wis.; A. J. McGuire of the State Experimental farm; J. W. Martin of Gettysburg, Wis.; B. C. Richardson of Hinckley, and Dr. Camp of Brainerd. The local men who accompanied them were J. B. McLaren, A. C. Jones, John Owens, A. C. Weiss, H. C. Mitchell, C. S. Mitchell, Edward Huxen, John G. Williams and C. P. P.

On the way out the party stopped at the hardwood timber tract and looked them over, going from there to the stock farm. The trip was made in good time, considering the stops and was highly enjoyable. After examining the farm the delegation again boarded the machines and at about 2 o'clock reached the Trion farm of J. Uno Seebach, on the lake shore. Later they went to the Commercial club for dinner.

Tomorrow the program will consist of either a boulevard ride or a boat trip about the harbor, and in the afternoon the big dairy meeting which will be open to every one will be held at the Commercial club.

MEN ESCAPE FROM CRUISER

Forty Desertions From British Man-of-War at Victoria.

Victoria, B. C., June 26.—There have been about forty desertions from the British cruiser Monmouth while lying at anchor here. Sixteen men swam ashore from the cruiser and escaped. Six escaped from a guard of honor formed to escort Prince Fushimi on the vessel this morning, some hiding under the naval wharf. Seven were captured while attempting to escape and were taken on board in irons.

JUDGE DENIES ALL MOTIONS

Made by the Attorneys For the Standard Oil Company.

Chicago, June 25.—Judge Landis, in the United States district court today refused a new trial to the Standard Oil company, charged with making illegal rates between Whiting, Ind., and East St. Louis. After the denial of the motion asking for a new trial, Attorney John S. Miller for the oil company entered a motion in arrest of judgment. This was promptly overruled. Mr. Miller then asked the court to elect a particular count in the indictment on which to base the final judgment of the court. This was also denied by Judge Landis. The court then announced that he was desirous of obtaining information regarding the financial resources of

CONCERNING WOMEN

At a beautiful home wedding service at 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Leora Fenton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fenton, became the bride of Philip Alden Smith. The ceremony took place in the parlor where the ceremony took place, the white flowers and greens were used, and in the living room yellow tulips were the flowers chosen. The dining room was most attractive in red flowers and appointments. The wedding service was read at 4 o'clock by Rev. Alexander Milne of the Pilgrim Congregational church. The bride's only attendant was Miss Carrie Neff, and the groomsmen were Ray Fenton, the bride's brother, and Master Earl Bradley, the groom's brother. The bride wore a dainty gown of white point d'esprit, and she carried a shower bouquet of daisies and ferns. The bridesmaids were Miss Mack of Chicago, Mrs. A. R. Fuller and Mrs. E. Netzer of Crookston and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman of Grand Rapids.

What Retail Markets Offer.

New carrots, 10 cents a bunch.
Red raspberries, 20 cents a pint box.
Cantaloupes, 2 for 25 cents.
Watermelons, 60 cents each.
Porterhouse steak, 25 cents and 30 cents a lb.
Sirloin, 22 cents a lb.
Beef steak, 10 cents a lb.
Raspberries to be fine must be placed on the table immediately after they are gently coaxed from the bushes. Waiting, and shipping and being exposed to the vulgar gaze of the public, have with raspberries. There are a few in the market. The cantaloupes are gradually getting cheaper and men vouch that they are especially fine for this time of the year. The price of watermelons is also gradually descending, and it is expected that by the national holiday time the great common people will be able to afford the luxury and perfect enjoyment of this thoroughly American delicacy. The vegetables, such as carrots and beets and such things are very fine, and the quality of the produce is being sold at two pounds for 5 cents.

A MONSTER GATHERING

Modern Woodmen Initiate 400 New Members Into Order.

High Officials Conduct Appropriate Exercises at the Armory.

Four hundred new members were admitted to the ranks of the Modern Woodmen of America, at the Armory, last evening, when the annual initiation exercises for the entire Northern district of this state were conducted by the state and grand officers of the order.

The gathering was a notable one. Grand officers of the Woodmen were present from all parts of the country, in addition to prominent members from the Northwest. The Duluth camps, three in number, turned out en masse to do honor to the new members and special trains brought novices and old members from Clouet, Two Harbors, Hibbing, Virginia, Eveleth and many other towns in the vicinity.

Many of the Woodmen met at the Imperial Camp's headquarters on First street, and many of the novices, introduced the speakers. Alderman Samuel F. Staples presided as master of ceremonies, and the program began shortly after 5 o'clock. Alderman Samuel F. Staples presided as master of ceremonies, and the program began shortly after 5 o'clock. Major Cullen welcomed the grand officers of the order and the banquet. The work of initiation began, in which the grand and state officers, and the degree teams took part. The ceremonies were most impressive.

Among those on the platform, during the program, were: A. R. Talbot, head council, Lincoln, Neb.; Dan B. Horne, head advisor, Davenport, Iowa; C. W. Haves, head clerk, Rock Island, Ill.; Charles H. McVicker, head banker, Mason City, Iowa; Benjamin D. Smith, general attorney, Mankota, Minn.; the following members of the board of directors: C. J. Byrns, Ishpeming, Mich.; E. E. Murphy, Leavenworth, Kan.; G. W. Kelly, Danville, Ill.; A. N. Bert, Beloit, Wis.; R. R. Smith, Brookfield, Ill.; and Drs. B. E. Jones, E. L. Kerna and F. A. Smith, all of Rock Island, Ill., of the medical board.

Following Mr. Talbot's address, the formal work of initiation began, in which the grand and state officers, and the degree teams took part. The ceremonies were most impressive.

Van Camp's PORK AND BEANS

It's so easy to make a bluff at perfection; "pretty near" and "good enough" are such easy taskmasters. But that's just where we don't allow ourselves to be fooled. And for a very good reason, too; for we know just as well as you do that you won't allow yourself to be fooled, either.

Now, when we know that Van Camp's Pork and Beans with Tomato Sauce are perfection, we are taking no chances with you. For Van Camp's carry their own convincing argument. They're so perfectly good that you just naturally think of Van Camp's when you think of Pork and Beans.

We want you to order a can of Van Camp's Pork and Beans with Tomato Sauce from your grocer today. We only want you but once to taste their smacking flavor, their full-bodied, nutritious goodness, —You'll never be satisfied with "pretty near" or "good enough" afterwards.

You'll know then what we mean by Van Camp Quality and You'll always

WEST DULUTH

TO OPPOSE TRANSFERS

Delegation Will be Sent to the Council Meeting.

Don't Want Any More Saloons on Raleigh Street.

The leaders in the opposition to the transferring of licenses from saloon-keepers to West Duluth have redoubled their efforts and when the matter comes up for consideration at the council meeting next Monday night, the aldermen will find action favorable to the saloon-keepers vigorously opposed.

A movement is now on to send a delegation of prominent citizens of West Duluth to the council meeting next week to enter verbal protest to the transferring of the licenses. A petition signed by seventy-five West Duluthians was presented to the council last Monday night, declaring against the applicants for transfers, but it is thought that a verbal protest will have more effect.

There is no doubt of the sentiment of West Duluth people in the matter. Raleigh street, otherwise known as Second street and "two street," has already a decidedly unsavory reputation. There are six saloons in one block on that street and some of them are the subjects of numerous complaints to the police department. It is felt by West Duluth citizens that there is no room for more saloons on that street and the issuing of any licenses for saloons there will be opposed.

There is no decided opposition to the issuing of licenses for saloons in West Duluth in general. The people are willing to tolerate orderly places, but they do not want a Bowersy to spring up in their midst and they feel that the addition of several saloons to those already on Raleigh street, would bring about such a condition.

WANT BALL GAMES.

West Duluth Team Unable to Secure Opponents.

The West Duluth baseball team, captained by Oscar Bergren, is looking for games. The boys say nearly every team in Duluth and Superior has steered clear of them and now they want to go outside and play with amateur teams of Two Harbors, Hibbing or any of the other range towns, the members to be under 18 years of age. The West Duluth boys have lost but one game in three years, that being to the Mork team, now the Universal. They think they are good enough to give them a good claim to the championship of Duluth and Superior for teams of their age. Any team in Duluth, Superior or any of the surrounding towns will be able to secure games by calling on F. E. Mickesch at 229 on the new phone.

West Duluth Briefs.

Officer Joseph Mix, a member of the West Duluth police force for the past four years past, has resigned, the resignation to take effect July 1. SHOOTING AT BAGLEY.

Frank Gurton Tries to Slay Albert Dahm for Robbing Him of $40.

Bagley, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald).—Charming that he had been knocked down and robbed of $40 by Albert Dahm, Frank Gurton, an Italian working on the Great Northern gravel train on this place, made a desperate attempt to kill Gurton yesterday.

He fired five shots, one of which took effect in Gurton's right side, inflicting a serious, but not necessarily fatal wound. Gurton did not give up his efforts to kill Dahm until he was overpowered and placed in jail.

Gurton said he was crossing the track when Dahm knocked him down, beat him in the face, and robbed him. Gurton secured a revolver and located Dahm, shot at him, the shot taking effect. Dahm started to run across the street, but stumbled and fell. Gurton followed closely and fired four shots while Dahm was lying on the ground. One hit Dahm in the right side.

Dahm was picked up and taken into a building, when Gurton stuck his revolver against the window glass from the outside, and declared that if Dahm was not brought out he would shoot everybody in sight.

The would-be murderer was overpowered and taken to jail, where he said that he intended to kill Dahm, and would yet accomplish his purpose, that he was not sorry, and only regretted that his shots had not struck a fatal spot.

GRADUATE DIES.

Jemima Gilmore Succumbs Suddenly to Scarlet Fever.

Jemima Gilmore, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J.

Gilmore of 1832 West Michigan street, who graduated from the Adams school this year, died about 5:30 this morning after three days' illness with scarlet fever. She was taken ill Sunday, but it was thought about midnight last night she was on the road to recovery. Shortly before 5 o'clock this morning, however, she began to show signs of falling, and Dr. Coventry was summoned. She died a few minutes after his arrival.

No funeral services will be held in Duluth, and the remains will be shipped to Pine City tomorrow at 9 o'clock.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 26.—(Special to The Herald).—Professor C. E. Bole of Grand Forks college has declined a fellowship in Old England in the University of Illinois and will remain here as professor of English. He is a very able educator and the college is to be congratulated on his decision. Professor Bole left Monday evening for Glenwood, Minn., where he will visit his father.

NEW LIFE TO MARKET

Copper Stocks Have Lively Tone and Close Stronger.

Globe Consolidated is Big Feature, Having Good Advance.

Copper stocks took on new life today and trading was more active and prices better than they have been for some time.

The New York market opened strong and the Boston coppers followed. Many of the favorite listed stocks opened a point or so above yesterday's close and advanced during the day. With heavy realizing sales, they fell off somewhat at the close but at that they were stronger than yesterday.

There was lively trading in the unlisted shares on the local curb. Almost every stock traded in along Superior street showed an improved tone. Some of them which have been very dull for days spruced up and were active.

Globe Consolidated was a big feature of the local market, advancing from $12.25 to $13.50. Later it sold off to $12.37 1/2 and closed at $12.57 1/2 bid and $13.12 1/2 asked. Superior & Pittsburg sold at $15 at the opening, went off to $14.57 1/2, reacted to $15.50 and closed at $16 bid and $15.25 asked. Greene-Canaan sold at $16.37 1/2, went off to $15.37 1/2, reacted to $16 and closed at $15.57 1/2 bid and $16 asked.

North Butte opened at $30.50, advanced to $31.50, declined to $30.37 1/2 and closed at $30 bid and $30.50 asked. Amalgamated opened at $30.12 1/2, went as high as $35.75, sold off to $33.75 and closed at $33.87 1/2 bid.

Anaconda opened at $57.25, declined to $56.37 1/2, rallied to $57.50 and closed at $56.75 bid. Butte Coalition opened at $35.12 1/2, advanced to $35.50, declined to $35 and closed at $34.50 bid and $35 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $180, advanced to $181 and closed at $180 bid and $181 asked.

Denn-Arizona sold at $7.57 1/2 and $8 and closed at $8 bid and $8.12 1/2 asked. Hancock at $3.25 and closed at $3 bid and $3.50 asked; Carman at $4.57 1/2 and $5 and closed at $4.75 bid, and Butte & Superior at $2.02 1/2 and closed at $2 bid and $2.02 1/2 asked.

Keweenaw was inactive and closed at $1.12 1/2 bid and $1.25 asked. Calumet & Senora at $14.50 bid and $15 asked; Copper Queen of Idaho at $12.50 bid and $12.75 asked; and Cliff at $3.12 1/2 bid and $3.25 asked. GOVERNMENT'S HOPES BLASTED

Expected Change of Attitude of Winegrowers
Not Forthcoming.

Paris, June 24.—The government's hope that the return of Marcellin Albert, the leader of the winegrowers' movement, to the south after his interview with Premier Clemenceau would result in a change of attitude on the part of his followers has been blasted. The federated committees have decided to maintain the strike and the "redemption" of "dissident" as he is termed, has no alternative but to surrender himself to the authorities in accordance with his promise to M. Clemenceau. Nevertheless the trouble in the disturbed territory continues to subside and the government believes that having some opportunity incident which may again inflame the people the latter will gradually come to their senses and realize that a prolongation of the present situation will only increase their misery.

The government now apparently is as much concerned over the insubordination manifested among the troops as the unrest of winegrowers for, in spite of the efforts to minimize them, the new outbreaks show that breaches of discipline are occurring in the army daily. The government is now awakened to the necessity of dealing with the demoralizing propaganda of the Socialist anti-military propaganda and the press continues to exhort the government to exile the mutineers of the Seventeenth Infantry and to postpone indefinitely the bill providing for the abolition of court-martial in times of peace.

AITKIN MAN IS ELECTED

John Harrison New Commander of Sons of Veterans.

Society Turns Down Resolution Opposing the Citizens' Staff.

The annual encampment of the division of Minnesota and Dakota of the Sons of Veterans, which convened in Kalamazoo hall yesterday morning, closed shortly after noon today. Minneapolis was chosen as the next place of encampment, the gathering to be held simultaneously with the state encampment of the G. A. R. The following officers were elected:

Division commander, John Harrison, Aitkin.
Senior vice commander, W. W. Huntley, Duluth.
Junior vice commander, George Turer, Minneapolis.

Division adjutant, George Gibson, H. A. Wing, Duluth; George Gibson, Minneapolis.

The feature of the session today was a discussion on the value of citizens' staffs such as that organized in Duluth just previous to Memorial day. A resolution, which had been passed by the Minneapolis camp, taking exception to citizens' staff on the ground that they were designed to take upon themselves activities, which belong by right of succession to the G. A. R., to the Sons of Veterans, was introduced. The Minneapolis delegates explained that they were under the impression that citizens' staffs might take on a political nature and thus destroy their main reason for existence, while such a condition could never come about in the Sons of Veterans on account of its membership being restricted to direct descendants of soldiers in the War of the Rebellion.

The Duluth delegates opposed the resolution and Commander Clark of Culver post, G. A. R., who was present at the meeting, explained the plans of organization and methods of activity of the Duluth citizens' staff. Division Commander Heller also spoke briefly on the subject, pointing out wherein the Minneapolis members were mistaken in their impression.

The resolution was then withdrawn and another substituted, commending the spirit which prompted the organization of the citizens' staff in Duluth and offering the co-operation of the Sons of Veterans in arranging for a proper observance of Memorial day and relieving the aging members of the Grand Army from the cares of arranging the details of Memorial day observances.

On the reconvening of the encampment this morning, the committee on officers' reports presented the reports of Col. Heller, Treasurer Wing and Adjutant Huntley. The commander's report was one of the best in years and showed the division in flourishing condition. The business methods of the adjutant and treasurer were also warmly commended by the delegates. The committee appointed to appear before the legislature and ask for an appropriation for the erection of a statue to Col. William A. Caldwell of the First Minnesota reported the successful issue of their mission, the sum of $20,000 having been appropriated.

Resolutions of thanks to Commander Eton of the Duluth Naval Reserves for his hospitality yesterday afternoon, and the local members for their reception of the visitors, were also passed before final adjournment was taken.

The Ladies' Auxiliary convention opened this morning in Hall B of Kalamazoo hall, and it is expected all business will be finished up by this evening, when adjournment will be taken. Miss B. Lyons of Minneapolis was this morning elected division president by the ladies.

PUT $200 IN HIS POCKET

Evidence Against Dearth
by Insurance Man is Damaging.

Minneapolis, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—I placed an envelope containing $200 in Mr. Dearth's pocket as he left the office of the insurance company.

This is the testimony of W. F. Bechtel on the stand in the trial of Elmer H. Dearth, charged with receiving a bribe, and the statement came as a climax to the morning session of court today.

Mr. Bechtel was called to the stand by the state this morning and he told his story with little hesitation.

He swore that on Sunday, Feb. 17, 1904, Mr. Dearth came to his office, and at this time he was shown a report on the condition of the company's finances, which had been drawn by A. F. Timme, actuary of the company, and Fred J. Sackett, secretary and treasurer.

This report was a preliminary draft of the annual statement of the company and Mr. Dearth, in his official capacity, as insurance commissioner, examined it and compared it with the books and documents on file in the insurance office.

Questioned by John F. Dahl, assistant county attorney, Mr. Bechtel testified that he explained to Mr. Dearth that $2,000 was owed by the company as the result of the reinsurance of an Iowa concern and that this indebtedness did not show on the liability report.

"I explained to him," said Mr. Bechtel, "that we had premium notes ample to meet the obligation and that these premium notes could not be included in the list of assets. I told him as we expected to pay the $2,000 obligation from the premium notes it would be fair to balance one against the other and not incorporate the $2,000 item in the statement. Mr. Dearth said he thought this would be fair."

Intense interest had been aroused in the court room by Mr. Bechtel's appearance on the stand and his story of the Dearth transaction, and when Mr. Dahl asked: "Did you pay Mr. Dearth any money on that day?" the spectators and lawyers leaned forward in their seats, eager to hear the arrest of the former insurance president.

Mr. Bechtel hesitated a moment, and then replied:

"Yes, sir, I did as he left the building. Nothing had been said of money, but as he started out I asked Mr. Timme if he had any money and he said he had."

At this point in the trial Mr. Dahl suggested that the court adjourn until afternoon.

MARINE NEWS

BIG DREDGE ON BOTTOM

Government Work at Ontonagon Delayed for Several Days.

Craft Pushes Herself on Tile and Soon Sinks.

According to a telegram received this morning at the office of Maj. Fitch, government engineer in charge, the Zenith dredge company's dredge No. 1, at work on the improvements at Ontonagon, Mich., pulled herself on to a big tile or dead-end, and as a result is now on the bottom.

When the dredge went on the dead-end it pushed a big hole in her side and the water poured into her hold rapidly, so that she sank only a few minutes after the accident. She is now directly in the channel into the harbor, and the work on the improvements and navigation in and out of the harbor will be delayed for several days.

The dredge sank about 150 feet north of the lumber docks and is wholly submerged at the bow, while her stern is out of the water only about two feet. It is expected that several days will be consumed in the raising of the dredge, and it is not thought that the vessel is badly damaged except for the hole punched in her hull.

The sinking of this dredge is the first occurrence of the kind that has happened during government improvements at Ontonagon, which was making improvements in Superior bay.

At Ontonagon the government is digging a channel into the harbor so that larger boats can make that port. The improvements were only begun this week by the Zenith dredge company, which has the contract for the improvement.

TACOMA FIRM GETS IT.

Will Supply Square Timber for Work at Superior Entry.

The contract for furnishing the million feet of square timber for the government work at the Superior entry has been awarded to the Foster Lumber company of Tacoma. They agree to furnish the lumber for the work at a price of 10 cents per foot, f. o. b. cars at any station on the main line of the Northern Pacific.

The bids were open a couple of weeks ago and the recommendations sent by the major Fitch of the government at Washington, on the freight from Washington, there will be a saving of 50 per cent as the Northern Pacific is a land grant road and is compelled to give a rebate when carrying freight or passengers for the government.

TO BUILD BREAKWATER.

Maj. Fitch Decides That Government Will Do the Work.

Major Graham D. Fitch, government engineer, decided yesterday in the absence of any bids from contractors the government will do the work on the rubble mound breakwaters to be built at the Superior entry. The work was to have been opened on Monday but then no tenders whatever from the contractors.

In order to do the work on the rubble mound breakwaters, it will be necessary to build a breakwater to the north of the main line of the Northern Pacific. The work here is completed, however, the special apparatus may be moved to any other point where it should be needed.

The government decided to do its own work in this district on another occasion previously where no bids were received. When the pier at the Superior entry were completed, the government decided to do the work, although it was in the nature of an experiment, it has proceeded in a satisfactory manner.

NORTH WEST ARRIVES LATE.

Delayed by Congestion at Sault—Passengers Had Good Trip.

For the first time this season the steamer North West of the Northern Steamer company reached Duluth last evening about 11:45, being three hours late owing to a congestion of boats at the Sault canal. The big passenger boat brought up about eighty people from lower lake ports.

Capt. Minar reported a good trip up and except for the usual heavy fog hanging over Lake Superior, the weather was delightful. The passengers were apparently enjoyed the voyage.

Owing to the fact that the steamer was over three hours late in reaching Duluth, no visitors were allowed on board, and in less than an hour the vessel left on the return trip. The passenger list for the first trip of the year is as follows:

Miss S. Erickson, Z. Purson, St. Paul.

OPEN BIDS ON FRIDAY

Big Contract for Dredging Will Soon be Awarded.

Includes All Government Work for Duluth-Superior Harbor.

On Friday of this week bids will be opened at 12 o'clock at the office of Maj. Fitch, government engineer, for the harbor improvements to be made at the head of the Lakes during the present season. The total contract calls for the removal of a million cubic yards of refuse and mud from the bottom of the harbor and channels.

Several weeks ago bids were opened for the temporary work at the mouth of the Nemadji river at Superior, but the big contract will include the completion of this work. The contract at that time was let only so that the channel would be made safe for the passage of vessels immediately.

Besides the work of removing the remainder of the shoal at Nemadji river the big contract will include the removal of a million cubic yards of refuse and mud from the bottom of the harbor and channels. It is expected, however, that the work at Nemadji will be completed first, after which the other jobs will be begun.

The completion of the work at Nemadji river will mean that about 50,000 cubic yards of refuse will be removed. The deepening of the lake approach of the Duluth harbor, to a minimum depth of thirty feet will mean that about 35,000 cubic yards will be dredged while the corresponding work at the lake approach to the Superior entry will mean the removal of about 10,000 cubic yards.

In the upper harbor more improvements will be made and numerous minor sized shoals will be removed to make navigation more safe. The channel in the Duluth bay, where the Northern Pacific bridge is being improved, will be widened to its full width of 1,000 feet. The bids for the big contract will be opened by Maj. Fitch, who will after words make such recommendations as he may see fit to the board of engineers at Washington.

HOME ON ROLLERS.

Family Still Occupies House Being Moved in West End.The rather odd sight of a house being moved while the inmates still occupy it as a home, may be witnessed this week in the West end near the corner of Twenty-fourth avenue west and Michigan street.Children are playing about on the veranda, and occasionally a member of the family may be seen seated on the front steps, while the house is being dragged along the street on rollers.

A New Refrigerator.

You have probably been thinking of getting a new refrigerator, but thought they were high priced and maybe didn't know what one to buy.We want you to look at the Seeger-Gallusche of the White Mountain—two of the best made refrigerators on the market. The dry air system is used in both—they preserve food perfectly—the cold, dry air has perfect circulation, insuring non-tainted food.
They save ice—are easily cleaned and keep sweet and fresh.Zinc lined, enamel lined and stone lined, just as you choose.
The price varies according to size and construction, but you will find our prices lower and values better than in any store in Duluth, where refrigerators are sold.The Seeger-Gallusche refrigerator is used by large cold storage companies, refrigerator car lines, hotels and hospitals, because they find it better and more economical than other similar makes.Just come in and look at these refrigerators. They will pay you to do it. We will gladly show them and explain their good points.Upon comparing values and prices with other stores, we are certain you will find our prices
the very lowest.

Rice and Shoes Caused Depot Janitor to Resign.

Agent Buckley, who rules over the fortunes and misfortunes of the Union station, was surprised by the description this morning when John Napper, the faithful janitor, burst into his office as soon as the door was opened, and unconsciously announced that his job was vacant. He quite resigned and refused all at once and the agent had to hold him to prevent his leaving without an explanation.Napper said that the Superior bride parade were too much for him. Superior has had more weddings this month than any previous one in the history of the city. Every bride party goes away and John has trouble as the train bears away the happy couple. John is compelled to get to work and clean up rice and old shoes for about two hours until yesterday. Yesterday morning one couple left and John did his regular cleaning act. But he had no sooner put the depot in respectable condition again, when in came another party to leave it worse than it was before. Too much John made up his mind to quit and he didn't lose any time presenting his resolution.When convinced that June is a heavy wedding month and he will be given a respite for the remainder of the summer, he consented to remain in office, but he declares Dan Cupid is no friend of his.

TWO BROTHERS FIGHT.

Three Meals Served for Two Cause of Row.A. and P. Phillips are brotherly brothers until it comes to financial matters.
Their inability to settle a question as to who should pay for an extra meal at the Belmont restaurant last night, led them into municipal court this morning to confront the price of several meals to the city officers.The two brothers dined in brotherly fashion last evening at the Belmont.
A. ordered a meal for himself, but P. didn't hear him and he more brotherly spirit ordered two meals. The three meals for two were served in proper style and disposed of as usual when the checks came, a question arose as to who should pay for the extra meal. A.
said he paid for his own meal, but P.
contended he and P. ought to pay for the extra meal. Then things started in short order. Tables and chairs were overturned, dishes smashed, and the brothers were merely pounding each other in unbrotherly fashion. The officers happened on the scene.
They arrested the two brothers, and each drew $5 and costs.

LONG SESSION.

Council Grants Licenses and Gives Up Lighting Plant.In a session lasting until midnight last evening, the city council of Superior granted 150 licenses to sell liquor within the limits of the city. Eleven of the applications were laid over until an adjourned meeting to be held next Friday. None of the licenses was turned down flat last evening though it was not until 11 o'clock that the council removed certain tables from the second story of its place, which the aldermen suspected were used for gambling purposes, that the license to operate was granted.After a heated discussion the aldermen included the mayor in a committee of five, who before which the lighting company was summoned to appear with Tuesday evening to state the terms upon which it would grant the use of the public utilities bill makes it impossible for Superior to erect a new plant for one year at least.On a recommendation from Mayor Lincoln, the committee was requested to prepare a draft of an ordinance forbidding children to enter schools for any purpose. Alderman Russell's milk ordinance was adopted.

BIG LAND DEAL.

Big Tract Near Recent 1,000 Acre Purchase Changes Hands.The Massachusetts Investment company yesterday transferred the Feltz Investment company, 28 lots in Billings park, near the big 1,000-acre tract up the river, recently sold to outside parties for speculative purposes. The lots were transferred for a consideration of $200.Neither of the companies involved in the deal filed certificates of incorporation with the register of deeds and it is not known who are the real purchasers of the land.

TWO NEW UNIONS.

Dredgemen and Elevator Employees Join Labor Assembly.Two new labor organizations affiliated themselves with the Superior Trades and Labor Assembly last evening and delegates from them were received. They are the steam dredgemen and the elevator employees. Frank Sullivan, George Moore and Trip Thomas were received as delegates from the dredgemen and Henry Hilland will represent them when they meet. Besides receiving of the new organizations lit-

Broke Record.

The Wisconsin employment bureau at Superior smashed all records yesterday by furnishing employment to eighty men between the opening and closing hours. The average for last week, the bureau week in the institution, was forty-four per day, so it can be realized what a busy day the office put in. A large portion of the men placed yesterday went to Fargo to work for the Northern Pacific.

Boys Could Not Wait.

Roy Bullis and Archie McAllister, two boys residing at Billings Park, could not wait until the fourth of July but started their fireworks yesterday.
They admitted in municipal court that they had thrown firecrackers at people passing by. The court continued their case until July 6, the youngsters promising they would be good if given another trial.

Legislation Raises Questions.

Recent state legislation in Wisconsin as to salable licenses has raised some legal questions. One of these is whether the council can issue a license for a location that is now only a vacant lot. The other question is whether the council can get a transfer of the license without changing its location. The city attorney said a transfer of the license without changing its location had at the next meeting of the council.

May Build in Superior.

Several of the leading commission houses of Duluth are said to have been looking over the ground in Superior recently with a view to establishing storage houses and branch offices. Some of the concerns already have been renting branch houses in Superior but are figuring on enlarging their business and building houses of their own.

MARK TWAIN GETS DEGREE

Oxford Honors American Humorist, With Many Others.

Oxford, Eng., June 26.—With thirty men distinguished in politics, arts, sciences or letters, including Premier Campbell-Bannerman, Lord Chancelor Loreburn, the speaker of the house of commons, Mr. Lowther, Gen. Booth, Rudyard Kipling and the archbishop of Armagh, the Most Rev. William Alexander and Mark Twain (Samuel L.
Clemens), received a university degree today in the Sheldonian theater, the scene of many notable gatherings, which was crowded with university dignitaries in their robes of office, students and many visitors, including Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and numerous other Americans. Lord Curzon of Kedleston, chancellor of the university, presided, and did much to enliven the proceedings, which ordinarily have the exception of the undergraduates chaffing are rather dull. Mr.
Reid was cheered on entering the theater, but an ovation was reserved for Mark Twain, who certainly was the lion of the occasion. Everyone rose when he was escorted up the aisle, and he was applauded for a quarter of an hour. When Ingram Walker, registrars professor of Greek, presented the American humorist to the audience, the students started a fire of chaffing about the books and their heroes.

DEFENSE IS OUTLINED

Will Attempt to Prove Van Riper's Testimony Untrue.

Washington, June 26.—In the "cotton leaf" case against Porter, Assistant Attorney General Holmes, Judge Stafford today overruled the motion of Holmes counsel that the court direct the jury to acquit on the ground that there is no law covering the offense charged.Attorney General Holmes today briefly outlined the case for the defense, saying principally that it would be shown that the testimony given by Witness Van Riper, the chief reliance of the government, had been "a tissue of lies" because Mr. Holmes had never entered into the conspiracy alleged to have been formed to give out the secret information of the department had never done so. Furthermore, it would be shown that even if he had given the information as charged he did not do so for any real information, but only an opinion.

MOTHER WORRIED.

Mrs. Mary Snow of Minneapolis Searching for Son Emory.Worrying for fear that he has lost her son, or that he may be sick in some hospital, or have met with foul play, Mrs. Mary E. Snow of 411 Fifth avenue south, Minneapolis, has written to the local police for aid in finding her 18-year-old boy, Emory. She last heard from him on May 12, when he was coming at once to Duluth and would write to her from here. This is the last she heard from him, and she says it is the first time he has neglected to write to her and she is afraid something has happened to him. She described the boy as being five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds, with brown eyes and hair. The police have not been able to locate the wandering boy for the anxious mother as yet.

FOUR CRACK COMPANIES

Third Regiment Marks- men Will Shoot Here in July.

Co. A. Will Represent Third at Regimental Shoot This Fall.

The results of the competitive shoot at Lake City Monday afternoon where the Third regiment has been encamped, are most gratifying to Duluthians. Not only did Company A of Duluth win first place in the affair with a margin of twenty-two points over their nearest rivals, Company G of Princeton, but Company C was a close third and the individual showings of the men were with one or two exceptions, of even a higher order than was expected.The results of the meet, too, speak well for the quality of marksmanship which will be displayed when the militia companies of Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin clash here in the middle of June on the boulevard range west of the city. The handsomest Martin Smith punch bowl trophy.The four leading teams of the Third regiment, the Duluth, Princeton, Company G, Princeton; Company C, Duluth, and Company B, Anoka, will all be present at this shoot. The marksmanship should be on even a higher level than that displayed by the soldier boys in camp at Lake City. Besides the teams the meet in July will be attended by militia companies from Superior, Ashland, Eau Claire and Rice lakes. Duluth's field staff and Band

TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR.

SPECIAL MAIL EDITION FOR FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 28, 1907.

(ON TRAINS, FIVE CENTS.) TWO CENTS.

A STRONG PLEA FOR ARBITRATION FROM ARGENTINA

The Hague, June 27.—The first subcommittee (arbitration) of the first committee (arbitration) met this morning. M. Bourgeois presiding. M. Bourgeois read a communication addressed by the Pan-American congress held at Rio Janeiro to the government of The Netherlands, for transmission to the peace conference, announcing the results reached on the subject of arbitration and expressing the hope to see these principles adopted by the conference in a form corresponding with the interests of the civilized world. M. Bourgeois also read a communication from Argentina regarding arbitration in general and its relations to The Hague court of arbitration. The Argentine delegation submitted the text of all the arbitration treaties concluded since the conference of 1899. M. Bourgeois therefore invited suggestions on the subject. He pointed out that the conference is a diplomatic assembly and not a parliamentary one, adding that the reading of articles did not imply their adoption.

"ECONOMIC BARBARISM"

Noted Englishman So Terms Labor Strikes in U. S.

Employs Thousands But Never Has Any Trouble.

New York, June 27.—Robert Perkins, M. P., who returns to England on the Celtic today after a business trip of a month in Canada said in an interview that the frequent labor strikes in the United States were an "economic barbarism."

Mr. Perkins is at the head of the Georgian Bay & Montreal Canal company, which has the contract for the construction of St. Lawrence canal. He is an engineer and has been associated with the largest engineering undertaking in England and South America. He said that at one time his company had employed on the different undertakings 35,000 men and that there was never a strike.

"President Roosevelt," said Perkins, "deserves credit for his great courage in opposing the tyranny of the trusts but there is also tyranny in the unions and in dealing with the combinations he has adopted a middle course. One thing that surprised me here was the numerous strikes. I think they are economic barbarism. All questions arising between employers and employees can be settled without appeal to arbitration. I have always met it a practice to meet the men employed by us and discuss the problems with them and tell them what we could afford to pay. We never had a strike."

The St. Lawrence canal will cost about $100,000,000 and if the Dominion government, Mr. Perkins said, would adopt the plans it ought to be finished in four years.

St. Paul, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry E. Ricker, formerly business manager of the Metropolitan opera house, St. Paul's leading theater, was today found guilty by a jury in the district court on a charge of having stolen over $3,000 from the funds of the theater. Ricker's defense was that he was held up by a man in the theater on the night of April 27 of over $2,000 while he was carrying that amount from the box office receipts to the safe in the office. An examination of the books showed further shortage of funds. Ricker had been in the employ of Manager L. N. Scott for ten years.

FIGHT DATE NOT POSTPONED.
San Francisco, June 27.—The Britt-Nelson fight which was scheduled for July 4, was postponed last night until July 31. A reason given for the postponement was the inability of Nelson to continue training owing to an abscess in his ear. The referee for the fight will be chosen July 15.

LAWYERS IN HAYWOOD CASE ARE CONTINUOUSLY SPARRING ON EVIDENCE

Objections to Alleged Irrelevant Testimony is Usually Overruled.

Witness Davis, for Defense, is Subjected to Close Cross-Examination.

Boise, Idaho, June 27.—When W. F. Davis was recalled to the stand in the Haywood trial today, Senator Borah took him over the period he spent in hiding in the Hercules mine after the Bunker Hill explosion. He said that Paulson and another man were there. He could not identify the other man. He remembered two men calling at the mine while he was there. They were union men, getting out of the country. Orchard said that he was at the Hercules mine at that time. Davis was unable to recall Orchard as one of these men.

NEW BILL OF LADING

Has Been Agreed Upon by Shippers and Railroads.

Dream of American Commerce to be Realized at Last.

Chicago, June 27.—A binding agreement between shippers and the railroads, the dream of American commerce, in the form of a uniform bill of lading, practically has been agreed upon. Representatives of commercial interests and all the trunk lines of the country have settled upon the form of the new bill and the interstate commerce commission has concurred. It will be submitted for the ratification of the railroad and commercial interests of the country early in July.

The effect of the ratification will be to make the new bill of lading a part of the interstate commerce law. The shippers then will have the thing for which they have clamored for the last decade—a railroad receipt binding on the carriers. The regulations have been thus far carried on by railroad representatives and members of the board of directors of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the American Shippers' association. The new bill will hold the initial road and its connections liable for a shipment from time it is delivered to the company until it is delivered to the consignee at its destination.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association and the American Shippers' association have pressed the matter before the interstate commerce commission for three years. The conditions were argued upon at a conference May 24 and 25 in Chicago. The conditions were placed before the interstate commerce commission in the view of having them incorporated into a law that would be mutually protective, and it was agreed that a draft of the bill of lading and conditions would be submitted to the railroad and commercial interests early in July.

MAIL CARRIERS QUIT THEIR JOBS

Postmen at Butte Strike on Account of High Living.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—All of the mail carriers of this city went out on a strike last night, the men declaring they could not live in Butte on the present scale of wages paid by the government, despite the increase, effective July 1. The men have been receiving $80 for the first year and $85 for the succeeding years.

ASHLAND AUTO CLUB.
Ashland, Wis., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ashland Automobile club was organized here last night at a meeting of well known motorists. The club will work for better roads in this vicinity and to keep alive interest in automobilism. Dr. W. T. Rinehart was elected president and B. Mayor Hoppeny secretary and treasurer. A committee was also appointed to draw up by-laws, rules and regulations for the new club.

OIL BARONS SUMMONED

Subpoenas Issued for John D., Henry Rogers and Others.

Must Appear in Court to Tell Value of Corporation.

Chicago, June 27.—Subpoenas were issued today in the United States district court for the officers of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. Subpoenas were also issued for the officers of the Standard Oil company of Indiana. They were returnable July 6. The officials of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey for whom summons have been issued are: John D. Rockefeller, president; William Rockefeller, John D. Archibald and Henry H. Rogers, vice presidents; W. H. Tilford, treasurer; C. M. Pratt, secretary; William F. Howe, assistant treasurer, and Charles T. White, assistant secretary. The following officials of the Standard Oil company of Indiana have also been summoned to court on July 6: J. A. Moffett, president; W. F. Cowan, vice president; G. W. Smith, secretary and treasurer; H. E. Felton, president of the Union Tank Line, and F. A. Wann, former general freight agent of the Chicago & Alton railroad, have also been served with subpoenas. The issuance of the subpoenas was the direct result of the refusal of the Chicago & Alton railroad, have also been served with subpoenas.

EVIDENCE TO DISPROVE MISS LOVING'S STORY IS RULED OUT BY JUDGE

Holds That Character of Girl or Man Who Was Killed Has No Bearing in Case.

Witness Testifies That Judge Loving Showed no Evidence of Peculiarity.

Houston, Va., June 27.—Judge Barksdale, in the Loving murder trial today, gave his opinion as to the admissibility of evidence by the prosecution tending to disprove the story told by Miss Elizabeth Loving to her father of her ruin at the hands of Theodore Estes. The opinion was in favor of Judge Loving, and the evidence will not be submitted. Judge Barksdale ruled that the character of the girl or the character of the man who was killed was not the issue, and her story had no bearing on the case.

HEAVY BLOWS AT SMOKE NUISANCE

International Conference Will Demand National Pure Air Laws.

Chicago, June 27.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Milwaukee, Wis., says: The international association for the prevention of smoke opened its second annual convention here yesterday and in debate and lecture dealt the smoke nuisance a number of heavy blows. The convention opened at the council chamber with President John Fairgrieve of Detroit in the chair. Secretary R. C. Harris of Toronto, in his report stated there were sixty-two members in the association which embraced sixteen cities.

It is probable that action will be taken during the convention that will demand state and national pure air laws along the lines of the present pure food statute.

CARNEGIE APPROVES SITE.
The Hague, June 27.—Andrew Carnegie, having approved the site and plans for the palace of peace building, left The Hague yesterday afternoon for Brussels on his way to Scotland.

THREE MEN ARE HANGED

Harry Vaughan, Edward Raymond and George Ryan Executed.

Pay the Death Penalty for Killing a Prison Guard.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 27.—Harry Vaughan and Edward Raymond, convicted sentenced to the penitentiary from St. Louis and George Ryan, a convict sentenced from Kansas City, were hanged in the county jail here this morning for the killing of Prison Guard John Clay. During a concerted attempt to escape from the penitentiary.

The three were hanged at the same moment. Sheriff Scott sprung the trap, and five minutes later all three were pronounced dead. No statement was made from the scaffold.

The execution of Convict Harry Vaughan, George Ryan and Edward Raymond is the final result of a desperate attempt which they made on the afternoon of Nov. 24, 1905, to escape from the penitentiary. In the fight over their effort to get

CAUSES OF ACCIDENTS

With Reference to Rails to be Discussed by Steel Men.

New York, June 27.—A conference of steel manufacturers and the presidents of some of the most important railroad in the country will be held in the office of Eliott H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation for the purpose of discussing the causes that have led to the breakage of rails recently and the serious accidents due to imperfect rails.

Steel rails are now sold at $28 per ton. It is said at the meeting today the manufacturers will offer to produce a much superior class of rail if the railroads agree to pay $33 a ton.

JACOB RIIS TO MARRY AGAIN
Famous Sociologist and Author to Wed His Stenographer.

New York, June 27.—According to a published announcement today, Jacob A. Riis, sociologist and author, whom President Roosevelt has called New York's most useful citizen is to be married in August to Miss Mary Phillips, his stenographer and secretary.

Mr. Riis' first wife, who was his inspiration and the theme of many paragraphs in his writings, died two years ago.

Miss Phillips who is 25 years of age, is the daughter of Mrs. H. Phillips, formerly of St. Louis, but now of Boston.

A MINNEAPOLIS MAN IS CHARGED WITH BIG THEFT

Minneapolis, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. U. Barnes of Minneapolis, president of the defunct Minnesota Title Insurance & Trust Co., was arrested Wednesday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Assistant County Attorney John F. Bernhagen. He is charged with embezzling $13,000 of the funds of the company of which he was president. There is said to be a shortage of $150,000 on the books of the company.

The complaint was filed late yesterday with the clerk of the municipal court. The most important allegation against Barnes is that the Minnesota Title & Trust Co. loaned him, as president, $13,000 through the medium of a "straw man." The date of the transaction, as set down in the complaint, is Aug. 28, 1906.

The warrant was sworn out at the instance of the public examiner and the attorney general, who brought the matter of the alleged embezzlements by Barnes to the attention of the county attorney. The arrest is the outcome of the action brought late in March by the bank examiner to have the affairs of the Minnesota Title Insurance & Trust Co. wound up. Many irregularities appeared in the books when they were examined by an expert accountant.

ALL RACES POSTPONED

Rough Water Interferes With Harvard-Yale Annual Events.

Great 'Varsity Race Will Not Come Off Until Evening.

Gales Ferry, June 27.—At 1:40 P. M. Helldickham announced that the 'Varsity race had been postponed until this evening on account of rough water. He also said that an effort would be made at 3 o'clock to hold the four-year and freshmen races, both being rowed down stream.

New London, Conn., June 27.—Clear skies and a refreshing northeasterly breeze followed the storm of last night and the early morning prospects for the annual races between Yale and Harvard universities were delightful, although some of the river men thought the breeze on the incoming tide might rather rough water on the shores of the course, especially above the river bend at Navy yard. In the harbor the breeze made the landing on the scores of yachts snap vigorously and the craft to toss at their anchorages. In the city proper the wind was not strongly felt, but the current in the rival camps, four miles above, invigorated by a quiet night's sleep and hurried air along their heads in some doubt as to the likelihood of rowing on the morning tide. The freshmen eight event, to start at the draw at 10 o'clock, was scheduled for 10 o'clock. A train load of spectators came from New London before New Londoners had arisen. The trains from New Haven brought the cohorts of Yale, Harvard and the other universities. More people were in town last night for the races and at the hotel on the harbor shores than in several years, and Harvard and Yale men fraternized with better feeling than ever. There was not a great deal doing in the betting line. Harvard men had been looking for Yale money, but after the shakeup in the 'Varsity eight following the illness of Gordon Glass, even money offered by Crimmon was no

POISONS MAN BY ACCIDENT

Leo King Gives Companions Drink of Cyanide of Potassium.

Rochester, N. Y., June 27.—Peter and David Morad of Philadelphia traveling to Geneva on the Black Diamond express last night, accepted a drink of whisky from Leo L. King, who boarded the train at the Westchester. The three men drank the contents and King produced a second one. Peter Morad took the first drink when King remembered that the bottle contained cyanide of potassium. Morad died in a few hours.

King was arrested at Geneva. At the station he said he had secured the poison for himself, that he intended to end his life on account of family troubles. He said he was foreman for a screw to machine company in Rockton, Pa., and that his mother was living in Rockford, Ill.

GET LICENSES IN SUPERIOR

Three Duluth Couples Will Wed in Wisconsin City.

Duluth young people apparently have a leaning toward Superior as a place in which to enter the bonds of matrimony, for no less than three licenses were issued today in the city across the bay to residents of the Minnesota side of the harbor.

The first license was to Barney Johnson and Miss Mabel L. Wheeler, both of whom are residents of Duluth.

E. L. Davidson of Duluth secured a license to wed Miss Carrie L. Oakes of Superior, and Wesley T. White of Duluth secured a license to marry Laura B. Howson, also of this city.

Ald. Watson S. Moore Takes Blame for His Employee.

Alderman Watson S. Moore evidently believes that he is responsible for the acts of the person who runs his automobile whether he is in the machine himself or not.

Tuesday evening the new machine, which is a large red touring car, was being tried out by a local expert, who exceeded the speed limit and was caught at it. Mr. Moore was not in the car at the time, but learning that a "John Doe" warrant was out for the reckless chauffeur, Mr. Moore appeared in court this afternoon, entered a plea of guilty to the warrant, and was fined $10 and costs, which he paid.

creatures and a big noise is often mistaken for a big danger.

It was this "big noise" method that was adopted by the railway brother-hoods to "big" the senate back from passing an anti-pass bill which would cover railway employees and their families. A representative of the organization who sat fully in the reserved gallery said that the telegram of warning.

The response was spectacular and historic. It is known as the "train of telegrams." They began to come early in the day. They continued until dark, and the desk of every senator was filled with scores of personal entreaties. All that night they kept on coming.

The Western Union company was swamped, and Superintendent Collins called on Philadelphia and Baltimore for operators, all that night and the following day the telegrams poured in. It is estimated that there were no less than ten thousand and the tolls on them amounted to $3,000.

And in the senate Democrats vied with Republicans for a chance to get the floor and to offer an amendment exempting the noisy class. It was navy-intended, they explained, that railway employees should be made to pay their fares, not yet their families; nor their families, nor the sick, nor the old, nor the young, nor the man looking for a job in the fields. And so the senate framed up that momentous and foolish list of exceptions to an otherwise good law.

STEPS TO FORTUNE. New York Weekly: A modest, unassuming young business man, in mind and in body, was recently promoted to a position of considerable importance and he occupied it with credit.

Indeed, if he had had the position to which he has been advanced in mind from the outset, and if every step he took had been a step toward the goal, he could not have adopted a more effective means for the attainment of his end.

And a day, this young man did not wait to be told things, or to do this or that, or to be told that it was a good idea to do this or that.

He did everything that was given him to do as well as he possibly could do. He did not wait for an opportunity, but he found his chance in every little thing.

In every act he performed he found a chance to be prompt, businesslike, and polite. In every letter he wrote he found an opportunity for self-culture, for learning how to be concise and how to express himself in the clearest and purest English.

He found an opportunity for neatness and order in filing away papers and in keeping his desk and his office in good order. There are a few of the steps which led him to his high position, but he was taking them; he was not conscious that he was laying the foundation of his career by doing so.

WORTH TRYING.

Los Angeles Times: D. H. Morris, ex-president of the Automobile club of America, was describing in New York city to a group of a certain wily automobile club.

"The man's cleverness is wonderful," Mr. Morris said. "In some ways it reminds me of the cleverness of old John Jacob Astor."

"What do you mean by that?" asked a friend who said you were joking with you, this evening, I snatched Mr. Morris' words and turned them into a beautiful appointed table.

"He couldn't come," John answered calmly. "And then, with no little enjoyment, the clever fellow fell to upon the first subject he had to get down to for some weeks."

The man who never tries to trade something he needs slightly for something he needs badly overlooks a sure in the answer.

COUNTERFEIT COINS.

The most dangerous counterfeiters are struck from a die, and are usually imitations of gold coins. Molds of various kinds are extensively used, but counterfeiters so made are inferior to those made with a die.

The die made counterfeit, according to Dickerman's United States Counterfeit Detector, have a fine appearance, lettering and milling being sharp and clear and the ring usually good. In some instances, however, the edges are not so sharp and clear as in genuine. Many of these coins are full weight.

In counterfeit made from a mold lettering, milling and reeding are usually poor, weight very defective; the coins in circulation are made from molds, as it is an inexpensive method of counterfeiting. Some fair specimens have been produced in this way, but usually they are much lighter than the genuine, and if of require weight differ in diameter or thickness.

Various metals are used by counterfeiters, principally platinum, silver, copper, brass, antimony, aluminum, zinc type metal, lead and their numerous compositions.

Among the most dangerous counterfeits of gold coin are those of a composition of gold, silver and copper. They are of low grade gold, and the acid test shows they lack the fineness of standard gold used by the United States mint, which is 900 fine, or 21.9 carats. These counterfeit average from 400 to 800 fine. Platinum counterfeiters are dangerous, as the metal used gives required weight, and they are heavily gold plated. When they have been in circulation for a time the plating wears off, especially on the edges.

The most dangerous counterfeit of silver coin is made of a composition of antimony and lead, the former metal predominating. These counterfeiters are the most dangerous, have fine appearance, are heavily silver plated, with fair ring, some are only slightly below the standard weight.

Some pieces among the smaller coins are made of brass, struck from a die, and when heavily plated are fair imitations. They lack required weight, except in a few instances. Counterfeit's of type metal, lead and other compositions are much lighter than genuine; those having required weight are much too thick.

Genuine coins of all kinds, for the sake of gain, are tampered with in various ways. These operations are confined almost exclusively to gold coins, which are sweated, plugged and filed.

Sweating is removing a portion of the gold from surface of coin. The process does not interfere with the ring, and as a portion of the gold is removed, the coin is left with a very fair appearance, weight only being defective. The principal method of sweating are the acid bath, filing the edges or reeding, the operator finding a profit in the small quantities of gold removed from numerous pieces. The average reduction in value of coins subjected to these processes is from one-twentieth to one-tenth.

Plugging is done by boring holes in the coin, extracting the gold and filling cavity with a cheaper material. The larger "colts"—double eagles and eagles ($20 and $10 pieces)—are used for this purpose. Holes are bored into the coin from the edge or reeding, the gold extracted and cavity filled with a base metal. The small surface of the plugging material, where it shows on the edge of the coin, is covered with gold and reeding touched with a file or machine. The average loss in value to coins treated in this way is from one-eighth to one-sixth. Coins of this kind are very dangerous, as they are perfect in appearance, the edges only having been tampered with.

Filing is most commonly done by saving the coin through a hole in the edge or reeding, removing the interior portion and replacing it with a cheap metal. Another method of filing is sawing the coin partly in two, from edge to edge, and subjecting to this process.

When platinum is used to replace gold extracted the coin has same weight as genuine. By this process coins lose four-fifths of their value, as the original surfaces are left only of paper thickness.

When edges have been covered with gold and reeding restored, the coin has the appearance of being genuine, having correct size and weight and a fair ring. Sometimes the covering of gold on edges is so thin that filing can be distinctly seen. When other and less costly filling than platinum is used coins are of light weight and have a bad ring. If of correct weight they are too thick.

From detecting counterfeit coin, compare impress, size, weight, ring and general appearance with genuine coin of same period and coinage. The three tests of weight, diameter and thickness should be applied, for it is almost impossible for the counterfeit to comply with these three tests without using genuine metal.

Thomas Fraser, 636 Second St., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes: "Peruna has done so much for me that I feel it my duty to tell you and those afflicted of its merits. I was a sufferer from indigestion and biliousness until I could only attend to my duties in an indifferent way and really took no pleasure in life."

"I was advised to try a change of climate, which of course would mean a loss of my position, when fortunately one of my friends advised me to use Peruna."

"I did so and in two weeks I was cured of my stomach trouble. It is certainly a great medicine."

How many people in this country are afflicted with biliousness and indigestion. Hundreds of thousands of people."

After they have tried physic and drugs and travel and sanitariums many of them at last resort to Peruna. Of course they will. It could not be otherwise with such testimony as this before their eyes. A great multitude of people have taken Peruna and know what it will do. Many of them declare themselves cured of chronic catarrh by using Peruna."

HUSBAND WAS CRUEL

Court Severs the Marriage Ties for May M. Moore.

Testimony Showed Moore Assaulted His Wife In Public.

Because her husband, Percy F. Moore, a clerk employed by the Duluth, Mississ. & Northern Railway company, treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner, May Martha Moore was this morning granted a decree of absolute divorce, with permission to resume her maiden name of Wise. The case was heard before Judge Ensign.

Mrs. Moore alleged that she is 21 and her husband is 27 years old, that they were married in Duluth, Oct. 28, 1895, boarded for some time and then began housekeeping in the vicinity of Sixteenth avenue east and Fourth street.

According to the testimony given this morning, there being no appearance on the part of the defendant, Moore was accustomed to going home drunk about three nights in a week. When he did not feel sober enough in the morning to go to work, he asked his wife or the landlady to telephone his employers and tell them he was sick.

Mrs. Moore claimed that her husband assaulted her on several occasions, twice on the streets in presence of other people.

During the alleged assaults, Moore is said to have struck his wife in the face with his fist, cutting her lip and bruising it.

Mrs. Moore further testified that her husband, when he had been drinking had a violent temper, and threw knives and dishes at her, sometimes smashing the pictures on the walls when he missed her with the missiles.

Mrs. Moore's testimony was corroborated by her sister and another young woman from her former boarding house.

THE CITY IS ADVERTISED

Conventions Are Great Help in Spreading General Information.

Delegates All Speak Well of Duluth After Returning Home.

That conventions are good advertisers for a city and that the delegates do a vast amount of good toward spreading information about the country has been shown this year.

During the last few weeks Duluth has been having several of these gatherings, and after each one has adjourned, reports have come in about what the delegates are saying about the city to their neighbors after they return home. Everyone speaks of Duluth's great future and the many advantages which will eventually make it one of the most important commercial and manufacturing centers in the country.

Another thing which is invariably commented upon by delegates after their return to their homes is the spirit of push and energy manifested by Duluthians. The boisterous tendency is general in this city and cannot help, but be noticed.

The following article clipped from one of the Little Falls papers is a sample of what a citizen of that city thinks and says of this city:

"Secretary Gordon of the Little Falls Water Power company, who returned Friday from a visit to Duluth, was much impressed by the business tendency of all the natives that he met there. That city is assured of several new and large enterprises in the near future, and several new railroads are building to the city to get a share of the present great trade and the immense volume assured for the future. Large numbers of business blocks and fine residences are being built, and vast sums expended to improve the shipping facilities along the bay. The certain growth of the city is advancing real estate values in the business center as well as the residence districts. Mr. Gordon said that all the citizens were enthusiastic in praising the city, and that his visit was very enjoyable. He said Superior street, the leading business district, was the best illuminated thoroughfare he had seen in Minnesota."

The opinion of practically all the visitors who have been in Duluth during the last few months is contained in the above article, and according to these criticisms Duluth's future is bright and rosy.

It goes to the root of disease, invigorates, strengthens, exhilarates, its life-giving properties are not contained in any other known remedy. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, 70 Tablets, 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

WEST DULUTH

MANY LAUNCHES OUT.

St. Louis River Popular Stream for Pleasure Seekers.

"Did you take a trip up the river any evening this week in a launch?" said a West Duluth man this morning, when the never-old subject of conversation, the weather, was occupying the center of the stage in the discussions of a group of young men who were sitting on a bench in the park, looking out over the water.

There is nothing in the world more enjoyable, which can give the quiet rest and pleasure of these trips and on every fine evening I can possibly arrange matters, get away."

"And there are evidently a good many people who feel the same way, for the popularity of the launch has increased in the past few years. Five or six years ago the owner of a launch was regarded as a sort of a curiosity. Now everybody else draws an equal amount of enjoyment from his. The St. Louis river is the place to see them. Every fine evening there are launches of every size and shape, from the small, pretty and ugly, fast and slow, clean and unclean."

"I never saw anything like the number of the launches that go up the river every evening this summer. It seems that everybody who can scrape the price to charter is having a launch, and I can't say that I blame them. I feel the same about it myself."

Meeting of Parish Board. The parish board of Holy Apostles Episcopal church held a meeting last evening at the office of J. A. Scott, when the members determined to continue in their course of progression and activity in church affairs. There were kindly expressions on the efforts of the rector, Rev. Frederick J. Money, to secure the rectory, and he was commended for his successful direction of the church work. The reports were that the church is flourishing numerically and financially and a pleasing state of affairs was revealed on every side.

Purchases a Home. Alfred Bandin has purchased through the J. A. Scott real estate agency the house at 101st and North Fifth, a six-room house. The house is that recently built by M. L. Olander, and is one of the finest homes in the district. The consideration was $14,000.

Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright of 126 North Sixty-third avenue west, arrived in West Duluth this morning with his bride, Mrs. Wright was married yesterday in Oregon, Ill., to Miss Alice Ott of that town. They will visit in West Duluth for a short time, after which they will return to Oregon to make their home. They were accompanied here by Mr. Wright's parents and sister, who went to the Illinois town to attend the wedding.

GOING TO HIBBING.

Lake Linden Team Will Play Three Games With Miners.

Houghton, Mich., June 27.—(Special to The Herald).—This evening the fast Lake Linden semi-professional baseball team, with twelve players and a manager, will leave the Copper country for Duluth, en route to Hibbing, Minn., to play a series of three games with the Hibbing team, understood here to be one of the fast independent baseball organizations in the Northwest. The Lake Linden team is a strong one and has not but one defeat this season, that being at the hands of the Ontonagon team last Sunday at Calumet. Bert Simecek, who pitched at the University of Michigan during the past spring, was in the box against the Lake Linden team Sunday and meted out defeat to them. But he will go West with the team and will help greatly in the general improvement of the team. Simecek will be with the Lake Linden team for the remainder of the season.

A half dozen or so Lake Linden fans will go West with the team. Parker will be placed on the firing line with Simecek, and Baril behind the bat. It is expected that the Hibbing team will come to the Copper country to play the Lakes on the Lake Linden and Calumet diamonds later in the season, probably not long after the visit East of the Northern-Copper country teams.

It is not at all unlikely that the Houghton county team, which is an organization of Houghton county last year, and the Ontonagon team, which held the semi-professional championship of the upper peninsula, will visit Hibbing.

Have you tried it? If not, do so at once.

FATAL SWIMMING.

Twelve-Year-Old John Borgan of Little Falls Loses His Life.

Little Falls, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald).—Another name is added to the increasing list of fatalities in Minnesota by a sad occurrence here.

Yesterday afternoon a little boy, twelve years of age, named John Borgan, who was with a group of friends, was playing on a beach near the city, and was not able to keep himself afloat. He sank in a rapid current and was drowned. Search for the body was prosecuted nearly all night and resumed this morning. Late in the day it is reported that the body had been found. His widowed mother, Mrs. Annie Borgan, and two brothers, Michael and Benedict, survived him.

PETITIONS TO AN EMPEROR.

Prague correspondence Pall Mall Gazette: One of the most interesting features of the present administration is the number of petitions which were, so to speak, thrown at the emperor's feet. The emperor, who is not able to keep himself afloat, is surrounded by a crowd of petitioners. The emperor was always extremely courteous, and when, as frequently happened, the letters missed the emperor, he fell into the road he invariably ordered the coachman to stop while the document was brought to him.

The household chancery is now dealing with something more than a few petitions. The emperor is now receiving petitions from all quarters. All of them are carefully investigated, and whenever it is possible something is done for the applicant.

CANNON BALLS OF STONE. Philadelphian Public Ledger. On either side of the entrance to the Naval academy on Gerry's Ferry road, is an immense stone sphere, measuring about twenty-five inches in diameter. These balls were given to the institution soon after its founding by Commodore J. D. Elliot, who obtained them during a cruise on the frigate Constitution in European waters. An inscription on one of the balls relates that they were obtained on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, and it is within the realms of possibility that the Turks may have intended them to serve as shot in a mortar. It is also more than probable that with sufficient powder to project them the stones would have been badly shattered.

Commodore Elliot presented them in 1858, and ever since then they have ornamented the entrance and mystified curious visitors.

WILL NOT DROP CASE

Mrs. B. J. Eide Says She Will See It Through.

Denied That Mr. and Mrs. Flaaten Have Been Reconciled.

"I wish to contradict the stories which have been published regarding my dropping this case," said Mrs. B. J. Eide to The Herald this morning. "I intend to see it through to a finish and I have never voiced an intention of dropping it. For the children's sake I would rather that the rest of the unfortunate affair be kept as quiet as possible."

Flaaten is quoted this morning as saying that I am responsible for Mrs. Eide's leaving the room in the way I was. I think that is a cowardly attempt to shift the blame of their wrong doing upon an innocent party. Mrs. Flaaten has also been quoted several times as saying that this was their first offense. I am sure that this is not the case."

Mrs. Flaaten was released from the Otter Tail county jail at Fergus Falls yesterday on her own recognizance and returned to the city last evening.

Mrs. Flaaten is quoted as reiterating the statement that her husband has forgiven her, but friends of Mr. Flaaten say that there has been no reconciliation. It is claimed that he will take steps to secure a divorce.

Eide was also released at the time that Mrs. Flaaten was, but he was not expected in Duluth until today.

RAILROADS TO CALL ON VISITORS

Railroad Club Will Listen to Car Accountants' Addresses.

Large Railroad Systems Spend $15,000,000 for New Equipment.

The regular monthly meeting of the Northern Railroad club at the Commercial club tomorrow evening will be made doubly interesting from the fact that the members of the American Association of Transportation and Car Accounting Officers, who will arrive in the city about 10 o'clock, will be in attendance, and there is a strong probability that some of them will be called upon to speak.

There is always a good attendance at these meetings, but tomorrow night it will be a good deal larger than usual. Another phenomenon, which never fails to excite surprise at first, is to see night settling in completely at the bottom of the same moment in which at the surface it is broad day.

It is an illustration of the custom of depicting divers walking upright on the bottom of the sea; it is not so in reality.

Just as a cyclist bends over his handle bar in order to overcome the resistance of the wind, the submarine diver is obliged, if he wishes to advance, to bend stoutly forward. Besides, his body takes this slanting position instinctively, which he could not assume on land without falling.

At first, you are not able to regulate your motions according to the resistance to be overcome, or you are inclined to overrate it, and you impart to your action a suddenness more detrimental than useful, and which fatigues to no purpose. On trying to seize a plant or a zoophyte, the hand either seizes it where it is soft and crushes it roughly, and if one endeavors to surmount an obstacle, the effort you make carries you four times as high as necessary.

If water as a medium has its drawbacks, it has its advantages, too. The diver can regulate its density at will, and effect downright feats of strength. Thus, it is child's play to him, merely by using his finger ends and his toes, without danger of falling, to climb up or down perpendicular rocks or dizzy precipices; to remain under water or rise like a balloon rapidly to the surface.

It is generally believed that marine plants keep perfectly upright in the midst of the water, and a celebrated writer has said: "At the bottom of the sea the water weeds have never appeared to me to affect this position in a more marked degree than the plants of the land. Like the latter, in calm places they spread out and bend their branches."

An inexperienced observer having descended to marine ground might believe that the life there is comprised in the fish that pass rapidly before the bottom of the sea is a region full of mystery for all but the very few who either have made diving their profession or have put on the helmet in the cause of science.

One of the latter class furnishes to the Lady's Realm some very curious photographs which he himself took under water. He says that each picture can be made with any excellent camera having an unusually luminous optic by inclosing it, in a watertight case, capable also of resisting the pressure of the water. The submarine scenery, as he calls it, is never still enough to give satisfactory results from a time exposure, but instantaneous pictures are made by the light given by fireworks burning under a crystal ball glass filled with compressed oxygen. The best results are obtained by this method when the waters are absolutely dark at night.

The effect of such a light is wonderful. The bottom of the sea looks like fairyland. Hosts of fishes, attracted by the light, gleam like gold and silver, while the transparent jellyfish move slowly through the glowing water like bells of crystal.

The beauty of the sight is increased by the number of minute gas bubbles which cover the seaweed, and in the illuminated water have the appearance of innumerable diamonds and myriads of delicate pearls.

As the diver goes down into the sea the diver soon enters a kind of twilight, which envelops him like a thick mist. The sky and the clouds, which may be seen at the beginning of the dive, soon fade and disappear. The sun alone remains visible to a great depth, like a small reddish disc through the green and blue films of water.

At the bottom objects seem nearer and larger than in reality and appear under a color other than their own; for the rays of light traverse a thickness of green and blue water which absorbs their unequal rays; as the red rays, for instance, are ex-

ISSUES IN THE STATE

Discussed Exclusively in Platform of Pennsylvania Democrats.

Deals at Length With Frauds of New State Capitol.

Harrisburg, June 27.—John G. Harman, was nominated for state treasurer by today's Democratic state convention on a platform confined to state issues.

The platform is devoted entirely to state issues, the resolutions of the legislative commission, which is investigating the expenditure of $9,000,000 in furnishing the state capitol forming the feature of the document. It challenges the wisdom of continuing Republican rule in Pennsylvania and declares the dominant issue before the people of the commonwealth to be the "dishonest and corrupt practices of the Republican party in the construction of the capitol building, and the frauds of the new state capitol."

"Believing this to be the vital question in this state," says the platform, "we demand that the state government be reformed, and that the capitol building be reconstructed, so that it shall be a fitting and proper residence for the state government, and that the state treasury be reformed, so that it shall be a fitting and proper residence for the state treasury."

"Nothing that the Republican platform disavows, and we demand that the state government be reformed, and that the capitol building be reconstructed, so that it shall be a fitting and proper residence for the state government, and that the state treasury be reformed, so that it shall be a fitting and proper residence for the state treasury."

WILL NOT DROP CASE

Mrs. B. J. Eide Says She Will See It Through.

Denied That Mr. and Mrs. Flaaten Have Been Reconciled.

"I wish to contradict the stories which have been published regarding my dropping this case," said Mrs. B. J. Eide to The Herald this morning. "I intend to see it through to a finish and I have never voiced an intention of dropping it. For the children's sake I would rather that the rest of the unfortunate affair be kept as quiet as possible."

Flaaten is quoted this morning as saying that I am responsible for Mrs. Eide's leaving the room in the way I was. I think that is a cowardly attempt to shift the blame of their wrong doing upon an innocent party. Mrs. Flaaten has also been quoted several times as saying that this was their first offense. I am sure that this is not the case."

Mrs. Flaaten was released from the Otter Tail county jail at Fergus Falls yesterday on her own recognizance and returned to the city last evening.

Mrs. Flaaten is quoted as reiterating the statement that her husband has forgiven her, but friends of Mr. Flaaten say that there has been no reconciliation. It is claimed that he will take steps to secure a divorce.

Eide was also released at the time that Mrs. Flaaten was, but he was not expected in Duluth until today.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The maid had gone out. It was the day of the week upon which she insisted upon that privilege, so she had finished up what work she could, and whisked other things into shape, and had gone. The woman of the house was leisurely dressing herself. There was no soul in the house to disturb her, and she had gotten to that stage where her black silk stockings and pumps were nicely adjusted, and so was a frilly thing of muslin and insertion lace which extended from her neck to her knees, and which is thoroughly satisfactory as a garment to be clothed in provided that no one is admitted to the sanctum of the dressing room. The special bit of lingerie is delightful in its grace and chicness, so the woman who was alone in the house admired herself while she dressed her hair and fussed around doing innumerable little things which one can do if one has plenty of time. In this same rather becoming, but very intimate dishevelled, she walked to the bathroom to brush her teeth, and was engaged in that interesting and quite essential process, when a gruff voice in her left ear said:

"Meter man."

"No," she said, in a decided but agitated tone, "I can't meet man or woman. It doesn't make any difference. I'm not fit for receiving," and she did her best to hide behind the door.

"I've come to read the meter," he said, in non-committal tones.

"I won't have it read," she said, with some asperity. "Not this afternoon, at any rate," and she tried hard for dignity, but then she remembered that from her knees down there was no other covering than black silk stockings, which are all right, of course, but you know how it is.

"Then's the orders," he said, inexorably.

"Well," she went on, in desperation, "Mr. Smith and I were just talking it over the other day, and we have decided not to have the meter read until he comes home in the evening. And anyway," she went on, her rising as she considered her predicament, "how, I would like to know, did you get into this house?"

"Walked in," he said.

"And by what right, may I ask, can you enter a private household without knocking or ringing, letting your presence be known in the slightest way? That, I think, is down on the state books, and I have no way of knowing that you didn't take a handful of diamonds from my room as you came by, and that is grand larceny, and when you have been convicted and are breaking rocks, or keeping books, or something like that at Sing Sing, you will probably wish that you had at least rung the bell. I think you are suspicious looking, and I have a very great notion to go down and telephone to the police."

"I only," he began the rather dazed meter inspector.

"I don't care what you only," said the lady who had been surprised. "I want you to go down the stairs which you came up and ring the door bell if you have any business in this house, and if you haven't, you need not ring the bell. And I want you to go at once."

"He went," "The idea," said the woman to herself, as she flew to her room to get a nice flowered Japanese silk kimono in which to wrap herself. And then there was a peep of the door bell.

The lady of the house went down. "Good afternoon," she said pleasantly. "Meter man," said the individual at the door, in a rather dazed fashion.

"Certainly," she said, graciously. "Go right up," she said, as he went to the turn of the stairs. "don't you ever come in this house again without ringing. I shall have you arrested for trespass."

"What the meter man said he said under his breath."

IN HONOR OF GUEST.

Mrs. E. T. Buxton Receives in Honor of Mrs. Healy.

Mrs. Byron Healy of Warsaw, N. Y., was the guest in honor of whom Mrs. Edward T. Buxton, of Chicago, gave a beautiful reception this afternoon at her home at Eden Hall. The rooms were decorated with American beauty roses, the beautiful flowers making a charming setting for the function. Assisting about the rooms were Mesdames W. C. Agnew, W. S. Bishop, C. C. Coyle, A. H. Comstock, J. B. Cotton, J. Q. A. Crosby, D. G. Cutler, William Dalrymple, A. F. C. Cutler, Grant, Frederic Lee, Gilbert, A. E. Gilbert, F. E. House, J. N. McKindley, A. M. Marshall, Morton Miller, C. H. Munger, Page Morris, W. B. Silver, George Ripley, E. P. Towne, H. F. Williamson, Mrs. J. B. Adams and Mrs. C. E. DeWitt and Mrs. C. E. DeWitt. The assisting ladies from Superior were Mrs. Bradshaw and Miss Bradshaw, Mrs. Thomas Simons, Mrs. Scabury, Mrs. J. A. Chase, Mrs. Robert Kelly, Mrs. F. H. Rucker, Mrs. R. G. Stratton and Mrs. E. S. Loney.

The receiving hours were from 4 to 6 o'clock and nearly 200 guests called during the afternoon.

PRETTY WEDDING.

Miss Trufant Becomes Bride of F. J. Ober.

A pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Danford of Hunter's Park, when their daughter, Miss Blanche Walmsley Trufant, became the bride of Frederick J. Ober of this city. The rooms were prettily decorated in the summer blossoms and ferns. Lilacs and ferns were used in the hall and in the dining room the white blossoms and ferns were used in the living room, where the service took place, wild roses were the dainty flowers that appeared in the decorations. The wedding service was read by Rev. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and the wedding music was played by Prof. A. F. Cuntze.

The only attendant was Miss Katherine Danford. The bride wore a gown of white and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ober left for an Eastern wedding trip. The bride's going away gown was of blue serge with a hat to match. After Aug. 1 they will be at home in the Portland flats.

HOME WEDDING.

Pretty Service Unites Miss Murphy and Fred Anderson.

A pretty home wedding took place this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alice Murphy, of 407 First avenue west, when her daughter, Miss Louella May Murphy, became the bride of Frederick Rowell Anderson. The rooms were prettily decorated in the summer blossoms and ferns, and the wedding service was read by Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church, and the wedding music was played by the organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for a wedding trip. The bride wore a gown of white and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Church Meetings.

The Altar Guild of St. Paul's church will meet tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, with Miss Mae Wylie of 1531 West Superior street.

Mrs. John Carson of 127 West Third street will entertain the women of the First Methodist church at the regular monthly missionary thing, this evening at 7 o'clock.

Flaaten Recitals.

Pupils from the class of the Flaaten Conservatory of Music will be heard in a recital this evening at the hall. The friends of the pupils are invited to be present.

Miss Florence Gill, pianist and Miss Christine Thiers, soprano, both of the faculty of the Flaaten Conservatory of Music in theory and harmony, and has also graduated in public school music from the Mount Pleasant normal school. Miss Thiers has had a number of years of experience in teaching, and has appeared much in concert.

Peterson-Nelson.

The wedding of Miss Anna Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorwald Peterson, of 230 West Second street, and Ellsworth Nelson took place last evening at the First Norwegian Danish Methodist church at the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The wedding service was read by Rev. H. K. Matheson, and the wedding music was played by the organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left for a wedding trip. The bride wore a gown of white and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Gibson L. Douglas, Jr. and daughter, Faith, of 239 East Fifth street, have returned from a visit in the East.

Mrs. C. A. Crane and family have gone to Jackson, Minn., to spend the summer.

Misses Jean and Laurie Johnson of Hudson, Wis., are visiting with their aunt, Mrs. Asa Dalley of Lakeside.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hubbs have returned from their wedding trip.

Miss Bessie Hall of Seattle, is the guest of Miss Coy Hall.

Mrs. B. B. Owens of Park Point, left last evening for Chicago called there by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Wagsatt, formerly of this city.

Miss Zenana Guck of this city, had as her guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Guck of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Feetham and children are their summer home at Deerwood for a short outing.

Mrs. D. H. Roe of East First street returned today from a two-weeks' visit at Chicago.

Miss Louise Snyder of Minneapolis, who has often visited here, is spending the summer in Duluth, and is at Chester terrace.

WHAT RETAIL MARKETS OFFER.

Watermelons, 40 cents each. Nice lengthy radishes, 2 bunches for 5 cents. Peaches, 35 cents a dozen. Plums, 75 cents a basket. Wisconsin strawberries, $3 a 16-quart case.

Leg of lamb, 20 to 30 and 40 cents a pound. Trout, 15 cents a pound. Fresh fish.

Some philosophies of thought and religion and life and morality and all that sort of thing, say that there is but one kind of people—just people. That there are none who actually prefer evil and wrongdoing and that there are none who will betray a trust or go back on their word and all that sort of thing, and by the same law of ethics or depraved human nature, or whatever it is, there is just one sort of people in regard to their likes for things to eat. Everybody prefers lamb chops to lamb stew. There isn't a single doubt but that lambs would be all quarters and chops if they would eat their choice of the part they would eat. But between 12 cents and 35 cents there is a difference that means half a peck of potatoes or a box of strawberries, or a cucumber and a bunch of lettuce, or any one of half a dozen other things. The question in their selection of meats one might come to think that some people really preferred stew to chops. But it isn't so.

More than once they had seen the black form of a bear hovering in the edge of the clearing, watching the little flock of sheep. But when the thought of a mutton dinner. More than once they heard terrific screams beyond the clearing in the silent night, and though great-grandfather Winslow knew the sound, he did not know the cause, only, compelling that the children should stay near the house in the night.

He had also purchased a new musket and had also old one, over the door, while every animal was safely housed at night. That spring Mrs. Waldron by name, an energetic Province woman.

"What is it?" she asked, looking at the truth by his wife's terrified looks.

"The Indian Devil, Square Winslow. You don't mean to say you didn't know the reason was wrong?" asked the girl, curiously.

"No, I don't mean to say any such thing, for I did know it," he admitted reluctantly.

"Oh, father!" It was the terrified voice of his grandmother Ruth. "And that's why you bought the new musket? Why you kept the animals housed, and why you were so anxious that we should all stay near the house for awhile?" cried his great-grandfather, nervously.

"Just that, my dear," he replied, calmly. "It is always well to be prepared. But there isn't the slightest danger, mother. We will keep snug awhile, and the brute will soon go somewhere. They never stay long in one place. I've been told."

You may be sure that my great-grandfather and his helpful eldest daughter watched the little ones shakily after that. The boys were always at work in the field with their father, and although he had said that there wasn't the slightest danger, he constantly carried the musket with him in quiet for awhile.

One fine morning, toward the last of June, my great-grandfather said as not extend to the remote region to which he was bound.

Grandmother Ruth was the eldest of the family; then came Edward, a sturdy lad of 18, Joseph, but two years younger and nearly as large; John, who was almost nine, and three girls, Sally, Molly, and the little Jane, the latter not quite two years old.

The uncle's family, settled upon the next lot of land, was much the same. The little clearing widened under the resolute blows of my great-grandfather's strong, eager arms.

Neighbors were scarce, and were reached by paths, by narrow paths through the unbroken forests.

More than once they had seen the affair most thoroughly. The numbers were daintily given by the small performers, and the program was well arranged. Solos were played by Cynthia Gross, Marion Bridgeman, Lillian Harrison, Ray Cook, Virginia Harrison, Marguerite Gels, Esther Gombert, Rhea McManus, Nathalie Smith, Jeanette Gromberg, Bessie Markowitz, Gertrude Hogan, Grace Koelke and Alyda Flaaten. Two piano numbers were also played by Rachael Hammett, Guy Marquardt, Marian McLellan and Vivian Turkish and Mrs. J. H. Fern, Mrs. A. J. Hunter, Miss Bertha Mendeless and Laura LeDuc.

There was much interest in the readings by Miss Rachael St. Clair, who is a graduate of this year of the Emerson School of Oratory, and in the dainty selection of "Dreams" and "The most amusing reading, "The Girl Who Telephones," she was heard with much pleasure. Miss St. Clair has a charming stage presence, and the numbers were given with a dainty grace that appealed to the auditors.

The prologue from "Il Pagliaccio" was sung with good effect by George Suflet, accompanied by Miss Mae Wylie.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER ST. LOUIS COUNTY AS DAIRYING DISTRICT

Ex-Governor Hoard Says it is Revelation to Him.

Other Dairy Experts Equally Pleased With the Country.

"A finer soil than I saw today I don't know of. I have a farm in Jefferson county, Wis., worth in the market $140 an acre. It is not the equal of the soil that I saw today. It has been a great revelation to me. Today I have been walking before the Lord with my hat off."

The above expression by ex-Governor W. D. Hoard, Wisconsin's great dairyman, and others of similar import by other prominent dairy and stockmen, who yesterday spent the day inspecting farms and dairy herds in the vicinity of Duluth, gave much encouragement to the men who have been for some time past striving to bring the people of this part of the country to a full realization of the possibilities before it along dairy and agricultural lines.

The dinner that was given the visiting dairymen at the Commercial club, last evening, by local men, who are interested in the development of St. Louis and other counties, was one to be long remembered. Never before in the history of the county or the city has there been gathered about one table such a body of specialists or experts in the dairy and stock-raising business—men of national reputation, who were pleased with what they had seen and heard, and were ready to give every encouragement that they could to those interests who are at the present time working toward the end of making the best of the country, and of the greatest dairying sections in the country.

Dinner a Climax.
The dinner was a fitting climax to a busy, but instructive day, for the visitors as well as the local men. The event was carefully planned and elaborately carried out.

John G. Williams, Duluth's lawyer-farmer, acted as toastmaster, which alone would assure the success of the banquet.

In his opening address, Mr. Williams said in part:
"We are here tonight in the interest of agriculture and about the future of the country. There is, in reality, no state line between us. It is for North Wisconsin and for North Minnesota."

"Duluth and Superior have been making progress. Our harbor is one of the largest, and one of the most important in the country. Ninety-eight per cent of the supplies for the city go through the Duluth jobbing houses. The discovery of the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges has opened up new ranges. So far as the lumber, the manufacturer and the merchant are concerned, the range is the suburbs of Duluth."

"But with all these things, and the desire for manufacturing institutions—and we are getting them—very little attention has been paid to the country around us. In St. Louis county we have a population of 150,000. Douglas county, Wis., has a population of about 200,000 people to be fed in this district around the Head of the Lakes."

Money Going Out.
"I am told that in milk, cream and butter the people of St. Louis county are consuming annually $3,000,000 worth, to say nothing of the hay, grain, etc., necessary for its production. The least percentage of that production is raised in the country. Our money is going out of the country to buy these things. We want to stop it."

Farming in this country does not mean the clipping of coupons for the first six months of a year. It means hard work. I am told that the wonderful growth of Minnesota is due to the fact that it is adjoining a rich agricultural district."

Fusel Oil is What Makes Whisky So Injurious

It's an objectionable constituent which forms in whisky during distillation.

Fusel oil has poisonous properties—causes headache—coated tongue—it's that "kick" in the whisky.

But in "G. & W. Special" there isn't a bit of fusel oil, because Gooderham & Worts, by a special process, take it all out.

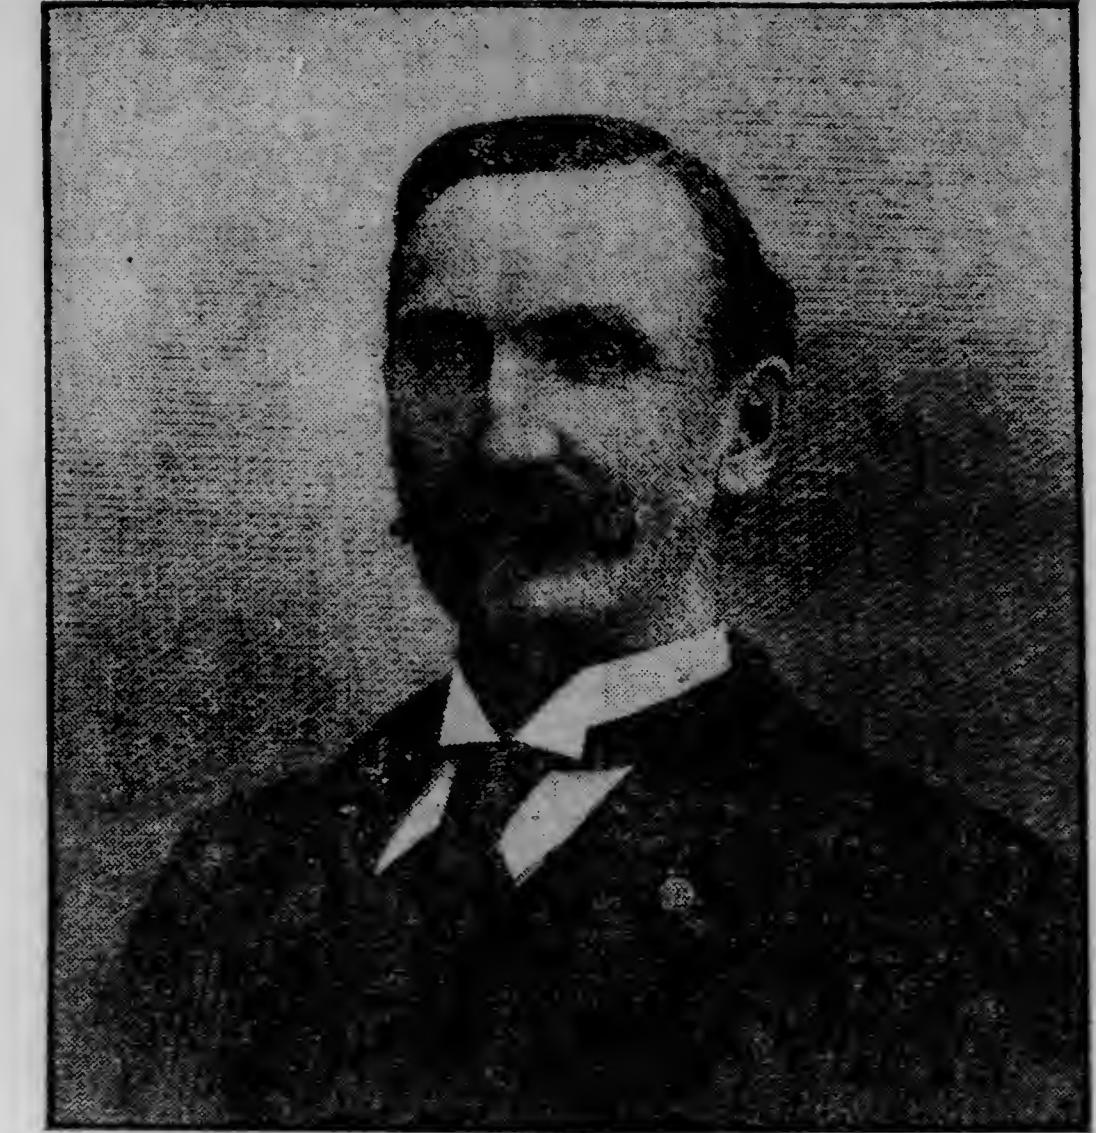

That's why "G. & W. Special" is so healthful—so digestible.

cultural district. The lack of such a district, they say, is one of the great drawbacks to Duluth.

"The question of providing food and homes for the working men is one of the factors in the future of this city. I am going on record in a prediction about Duluth."

"With the corner of Lake avenue and Superior, street as a center, take a string fifty miles long and with this as a radius describe a circle. Exclude that portion comprising the lake and the remainder of it in fifty years, will become the greatest dairy section in the United States. I am sure of it. This will not take place over night. In the next year or the next thirteen years, but the time is coming when it will prove true. The germ of possibility is in this district and what it needs is development."

"You will find that the circle described will include a five-sixteenth part of Wisconsin, a two-sixteenth part of Minnesota, and a nine-sixteenth part of the state of Michigan. The Minnesota portion will include the southwestern part of Lake county, the southern part of St. Louis county to the edge of the Mesaba range, a little of Aitkin county and two-fifths of Pine county."

"The Wisconsin segment will include all of Douglas county and parts of Washburn and Burnett counties."

Empire in Itself.
"In these segments excluding the lake, there would be about 5,000,000 acres of land that would be an empire in itself with Duluth and Superior as the hub."

"What kind of country is this? It is good soil, all glacial, perfectly micropized and mostly low. The clay soil is hard to handle but it is good."

"That about the climate?"
"The climate is bracing and is good for humans and for stock. The precipitation is thirty inches a year and the snowfall is forty-eight inches a year. We have no rain from November to April. About one-half the precipitation falls during the growing months of June, July and August. We have our last killing frost May 3, and the first October 4."

"This whole section is well watered. It is no wonder our crops grow. The snowfall is forty-eight inches a year. This is one of the best grass countries."

Mr. Williams also dwelt on the adaptability of the soil for the crops. He pointed out the timber growth which in many instances will pay for the clearing and urged that every merchant, business man and citizen help to exploit the country.

he has come to love it and glories in what it can accomplish. He said that many of the farmers in the northern country have hard lives and work under adverse circumstances, but that with the development and settling up of the land, their lot will be made easier. In the behalf of the farmers Mr. McGuire thanked the Duluth men for their efforts along the line of developing the country.

Experimental Farm.
R. C. Mitchell declared that he was always been heart and soul in the movement for the agricultural development of St. Louis county. He said that his visit to the Jean Duluth farm yesterday was a great revelation to him. He urged that the people of Duluth vicinity work hard for the establishment of an experimental farm in this section of the state.

Ex-Governor Hoard talked about "Thinking Toward Expression." He said that the thoughts of the men of Duluth seem to have been turned toward commercial development, and that they have given no thought of the great empire about them that is worth more than their commercial advantages. He declared that the trip to the Jean Duluth farm was a revelation to him that he never saw a finer soil, one that could produce such a clover crop as he saw. He said he believes that alfalfa can be grown 4 per cent easier and better in Jefferson county, Wis., where he lives. He was offered $100 for his 100 tons of alfalfa but he refused to sell it as he needed it for his stock. The price was on the basis of a return of $50 to the acre.

Mr. Hoard argued that it is easier to clear the ground today than fifty years ago. He said that every person is a producer of dairy products, and only half of the bovine kind born are dairy producers.

"Dairy products are holding steady as a rock," declared Mr. Hoard. "There is today a greater demand than was ever known in the history of the world for dairy products. The market is open and the price is high. This is a marvelous empire. There is no finer spot for the production of dairy products than this country. You have everything: climate, pure water and a marvelous growth of grass. You have everything but the concentration of human intelligence to make this proposition a go."

Dr. M. B. Wood of Menomonie, the pioneer breeder of Guernsey cattle in Minnesota and a prominent stock judge, admitted that the dairy farmers of this country sell milk from experience about handling the soil of this country, as it is the dairy farmers in their respective districts, but they may be able to offer helpful suggestions. Dr. Wood believes that the future of this part of the country rests with the small farmers on their own farms. He said that the dairy farmers of this country should be helped to pay. Luther Mendenhall said that this section of the country, before it can reach its full development, must have better roads and some more rapid means of transportation. Mr. Mendenhall advocated the idea of electric car lines into the country, built and operated by the dairy farmers. He said that the electric transportation companies would secure favorable legislation from the people who would be benefited by such a plan.

F. H. Scribner Talks.
F. H. Scribner, owner of the famous Seacare farm at Rosendale, Wis., talked about "Intensified Cultivation." He declared that all he had today he owes to the dairy cow. He has eighty head of cattle on eighty acres of land. In the last year the farm turned off $150,000 worth of milk. He said that he is an advocate of the idea that more must be put back into the ground than is taken out, and he believes this can be best accomplished with the dairy herd. He expressed his belief that this district may become one of the greatest dairy sections in the country.

Dr. J. L. Camp of Brainerd said his present visit to Duluth and the trip he had yesterday, has changed his ideas about the possibilities of this part of the country. He formerly thought that the country about Duluth would never amount to much along agricultural lines. J. W. Martin of Gosham, Wis., the Nestor of the Red Fox cattle breeders in this country, told of a few of the things that the cattle have done for his country. He urged that the work of clearing the land be done thoroughly. Mr. Martin believes that the country about Duluth is admirably suited for raising cattle.

O. C. Gregg of Marshall, Minn., superintendent of the State Farmers' Institute, said he wanted to say "Amen" to all that the previous speakers had said about the possibilities of this district in the way of the development of agriculture and dairying. He intimated that he had some ideas, backed by long years of experience, that do not exactly agree with those of some of the other dairy men here and that at the meeting today he would express himself more fully.

Among those present were the following: Ex-Governor W. D. Hoard, Fort A. Kinson, Wis.; E. H. Scribner, Rosendale, Wis.; Dr. M. B. Wood, Menomonie, Wis.; A. J. McGuire, Grand Rapids, Minn.; B. C. Richardson, Hinckley, Minn.; W. E. Magnus, Brainerd, Minn.; Mayor Victor Linley, Duluth; J. E. Watts, bricklayer, living at 915 Tenth avenue west, Duluth, Minn.; says: "I have no reason to change the opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I expressed in a testimonial given in 1898. At that time it cured me of a bad attack of backache and the kidneys and made me stop work. I was unable to stoop and the pain was severe. I used kidney pills and through the loins. Plasters and other remedies I used brought no relief. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. I was cured. I found that they were just the remedy for my case. In a few days the pains left me, and the cure has been permanent."

Washington, June 27.—It has been decided by Attorney General Bonaparte to prosecute the powder trust for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, in entering into a conspiracy in restraint of trade by creating a monopoly in the powder product.

Assistant Attorney General Purdy, the trust busting expert of the department, is now preparing the bill of complaint against the trust. It will be completed in a few days and submitted to Attorney General Bonaparte. After it receives his approval it will be filed in the United States circuit court, probably in New York city. The chief companies in the trust are located in New York, Delaware and New Jersey and the suit is likely to be filed in New York City.

This bill will allege that an unlawful combination has been entered into by the constituent companies of the trust and the specific instances in which the law has been violated will be cited. The government will then ask for an order dissolving the trust. It is the belief of the officers of the department of justice that a clear case has been made out against the trust and that it will be successful in breaking the monopoly.

The government charges in its complaint that there has been an illegal merger of the International Smokeless Powder & Dynamite company of New Jersey, of which E. G. Buckner is president, E. I. Dupont, De Nemours & Co. of Delaware, of which United States Senator Arthur D. Dupont is president; the Lafin & Hand Powder company of New York; the Marston company of New Jersey, and the California company of California, under the name of the Dupont-International Smokeless Powder company.

There has been much discussion of the powder trust in congress, and the government has been unable to buy powder at reasonable rates. Last year it purchased more than 6,000,000 pounds of powder at a cost of nearly $5,000,000, the net profit of the trust being $2,348,354, or more than 50 per cent. It purchased 5,473,320 pounds of ordinary smokeless powder at 70 cents a pound. The cost of manufacturing this powder was 32 cents a pound.

HARRIMAN LOANS ALTON $1,000,000

Washington, June 27.—Edward H. Harriman has adopted a new attitude toward the Chicago & Alton railroad, different from the predatory policy which members of the interstate commerce commission alleged he observed toward that property.

Authoritative information has reached here to the effect that in order to prevent the passage of a dividend recently on Chicago & Alton, Harriman made a loan of $1,000,000 to that line, to be used for improvements. It has been the history of the road under the dual arrangement between Harriman and the Rock Island system that in the years it was controlled by the latter it made money, while this was not the case in alternate years.

At the last meeting of the parties to the agreement in New York it was announced that the surplus for the year aggregated $1,000,000, but as the road needed improvements it would waive the dividend and use the money for additional equipment. Harriman, however, instantly objected, insisting that the dividend should be issued. To practical men, however, who listened to him it was evident it was against the interests of the road to pass the dividend, because of the criticism that would follow.

However, the representatives of the Rock Island were insistent and Harriman, after thinking a few moments, proposed to make a personal loan of $1,000,000 to the Chicago & Alton, to be repaid in 1912, if the board would declare dividends. The proposition was accepted. Further Sloux City, Iowa, June 27.—A swarm of bees clustered on the handle of a switch in the railroad yards here and for half an hour tied up traffic on four railroads. Half a hundred trainmen and trainmasters and yardmasters galloped and fretted, but the swarming bees buzzed merrily and clung to the switch handle. A small boy took in the situation.

"My pop can get them bees off there," he volunteered.

"Go get your pop," chorused the division superintendent and the yardmaster.

"Pop" was brought and he deftly snuffed the bees into a wash boiler and carried them home. Traffic was resumed.

INITIATE IN CANADA

Duluth Knights of Columbus Will Go to Port Arthur.

Have Been Selected to Initiate Large Class There.

About fifty or more of the members of the order of Knights of Columbus of Duluth and Superior will leave Sunday morning on the steamer America for Port Arthur, where on Monday a large class of candidates will be initiated into the order. It is expected that representatives will be present at the meeting from many cities and towns in Canada and the Northwest.

Leo A. Ball, district deputy of the Knights of Columbus, will have charge of the degree work, assisted by the officers of the councils of the order from this city and Superior. It is expected that the class to be initiated at Port Arthur will be in the neighborhood of seventy-five candidates.

The members of the two councils of Duluth and Superior feel quite jubilant over the fact that the officers of these lodges should be chosen to do the degree work at Port Arthur, as this work is of a particular character, and the officials are generally very particular about those who are placed in charge of the initiations.

The degree work at Port Arthur will be witnessed by a large number of the members of the order. The Duluth members have learned that there will be representatives from Winnipeg, St. Paul, St. Louis, St. Mary, and several other important points.

The party will arrive at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning and will arrive at the Canadian Head of the Lakes early Monday morning. The degree work will commence most of the day and Monday evening a big banquet will be given. The Duluth party will return Tuesday arriving here Wednesday evening.

A STONEWALL JACKSON STORY. Los Angeles Times: "Stonewall Jackson," said a Virginia veteran, "used to tell a good story about a bridge builder called old Miles. Miles was very necessary to Jackson because the flimsy bridges on the line of march were continually being swept away by the floods or destroyed by the enemy, and in these contingencies Miles was a regular jewel. He could run up a bridge in the time it would take another man to make the measurements. One day the Union army was crossing a bridge across the Shenandoah. Stonewall Jackson called old Miles to him and said:

"You must put all your men to work, Miles, for we must keep them at it all night, for I've got to have a bridge across this stream by morning. My engineer—an inviolable fellow, by the way—will draw up the plans for you."

"Well, early the next morning, Jackson, very much worried, met old Miles. "See here," said the general, "how about that bridge? Did the engineer give you the plan?"

"Old Miles took the cigar from his mouth, and flicked the ash off with a snout."

"General," he said, "the bridge is done, I dunno whether the piker is or not."

MEXICO'S GRAND OLD MAN. Modern Mexico: Not a chance traveler who visits this country but must write a piece about Mexico's Grand Old Man. He is lauded as the savior of a nation, as the soldier who brought order out of chaos and established a republic.

Intimacy mostly dims hero worship somewhat, and certainly we who have lived in Mexico for years, know that the republic is still something of a form. Yet when we begin to analyze the things that have brought her out of a chaos of riot and revolution that lasted for almost three-quarters of a century, this one figure stands out so prominently that we can only join the chorus of universal praise and concede that the soldier has grown into the statesman, that the iron hand has relaxed as circumstances warranted.

Porfirio Diaz is practically an absolute ruler in Mexico today, yet certainly one of the strongest evidences of his character has been the fact that during all these years that his word has been law, he has promulgated no word through the channels of a regularly organized Republican government. He has never sought the name and appearance of a dictator, on the other hand he has endeavored to accustom his people to the machinery of a Democracy. If it appear at times that the machinery is working backward, the time will come when the machine will in reality be turned around and worked the other way.

SUPERIOR NEWS

MASSONS WILL BUILD.

Superior Lodges Planning to Erect Handsome Temple.

At a meeting of the Massons of Superior held last night a Masonic Building association was formed to take charge of the preliminaries to the construction of a Masonic temple. A board of directors, consisting of H. H. Grace, P. S. Thompson, J. S. Torgglin, Martin Patterson and W. A. Webb was elected and they will meet shortly, elect their officers and lay plans for their work.

The Massons already own two lots on the northwest corner of Belknap street and Hughitt avenue, and there the temple will be erected. A two story building with basement is planned, and it is to be erected as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. The sum of $10,000 has already been subscribed to the building fund, and the Massons expect little trouble in securing the amount of money necessary for the undertaking.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED.

Only Charge Was That They Slept in Wagon.

Frank Fretzel and Jacob Moss, two North Dakota boys who landed in Superior some time last night to go to work on a contract here, found themselves in municipal court this morning. The two boys, who are under 18 years of age, came into Superior late last night and did not think it worth while to look up a boarding house. They found a convenient wagon, searched out a soft spot, and were soon in the land of nod.

They had a rude awakening. A cop came upon the scene, didn't like the look of the two youths sleeping in the wagon, and took them to jail. When brought into court this morning, they didn't take kindly to their situation. A charge of vagrancy had been placed against them and the ordinance was explained. Fretzel said that in North Dakota, people can sleep in the open air or in the house, just as their fancy dictates. The judge let them off on suspended sentence, it being clear that they weren't vagrants in the accepted sense of the term.

ORE DOCK COMPLETED.

Great Northern Now Has Largest Shipping Capacity.

The Great Northern Railway company hung the last pockets on its rebuilt No. 1 ore dock at Allouez Bay last evening. The company now has what is claimed to be the largest ore shipping dock in the world. The dock has, taking into consideration the old and the rebuilt portions, about 1,050 pockets with a total capacity of 275,000 tons.

Although the Great Northern docks have the largest shipping capacity, by reason of being able to handle the ore faster, the Missabe docks in Duluth have somewhat larger storage capacity. The new dock just completed for the Great Northern company has a capacity of 110,000 tons.

The company is taking soundings for a fourth dock similar to the largest now in use which is likely to be constructed this season. The fourth dock will give the Allouez dock the largest storage capacity in the world.

ANOTHER TRANSFER.

Northern Pacific and Great Northern Busy Buying Land.

The Mill Lake company yesterday transferred seventy-five lots between the tract of land owned by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroad company. The financial condition of the company is such that the Northern Pacific in Superior for the past few years, it is understood that the purchase of land is necessary for the carrying out of the scheme of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern to buy up all of the land between their tracks.

BEGIN SURVEY.

Terminal Company Plans Important Improvement in Superior.

The Terminal company began the survey yesterday for its proposed yard enlargement. A crew of surveyors was put to work laying out tracks in the district between Belknap and Winter streets, between the Northern Pacific tracks and the Great Northern tracks. The work of construction will be begun as soon as the surveyors have completed their work.

It is rumored that the increasing business of the terminal company will cause other extensive improvements to be made in Superior in the near future.

INCORRIGIBLE.

Nine-Year-Old is Sent to the Industrial School.

Judge Smith yesterday sentenced 9-year-old Stanley Smith to spend the remaining twelve years until he becomes of age in the state industrial school at Wausau. The boy's mother died a number of years ago, and three years ago his father deserted him. He has been living with his sister, Mrs. Stanley Brooks, since that time. Mrs. Brooks has done all she could for him, she has lost control over the motherless youngster, and he is rapidly becoming a hopeless incorrigible. Mrs. Brooks told the story of the boy's condition between sobs. The youngster was sulky and refused to answer questions put to him by the judge.

BID TOO HIGH.

Third Street Paving May Be Indefinitely Delayed.

Because E. A. Davis and Peterson & Holm, the only contractors who bid for the job of macadamizing East Third street from the city limits to Bear creek, about three-quarters of a mile, figured almost twice as much as the amount of the engineer's estimate for the work, the job may be indefinitely delayed. Engineer Banks estimated the cost of the improvement at $3,000 and the contractors wanted nearly $6,000 for the work. Peterson & Holm being slightly lower than Davis on the job.

It is regretted that there is to be a delay in the construction of the road, as it was to have been the first step toward an improved highway to Solon Springs and Gordon. The proposition has not Suspects Released.

G. H. Smith and Sam Savick, the two suspects arrested some time ago charged with being the confederates of Matt Shady, who is accused of stealing $100 from Larson's grocery store, were released yesterday on a motion for dismissal by Assistant District Attorney McKay, who stated in explanation that the grocery store clerk had failed completely to identify them, and as a result thought it was useless to push the case.

Says Wife is Cruel.
Ernest Seymour this morning filed papers in a divorce suit against his wife, Margaret, charging cruelty and inhuman treatment. The couple were married in East Dorset, Vermont, Jan. 4, 1906. Seymour claims that his wife swears at and curses him in the presence of others, especially when any members of his family are present. He says that, on account of his wife's cruelty and inhuman treatment, living with her has become unbearable and he asks for a separation. They have no children.

Want Next Convention.
A large delegation of Superior Sons of Norway will leave tomorrow for Chipewagon Falls to attend the annual state convention of the order, which will be held there. They will make a determined effort to land the next convention for Superior. A committee of the Commercial club, consisting of A. J. Pedersen, Jack Knike and Ernest Olson, will accompany the party to assist in urging Superior's claims for the next convention on the delegates.

MUSIC AND MONEY.
Contest Between Plain Craft and Artistic Temperament.

There is never a season that does not bring forth some striking exhibition of the musical temperament, especially when it collides with finance. It is at this psychological moment that the exhibition of the musical genius is most interesting, says the New York Sun.

One of the tales of the season relates to a pianist who played an engagement under the auspices of a former singer who occasionally superintended concerts in a neighboring town. She came to New York, saw the pianist, the virtuoso and arranged to play $50 for a concert. There were plenty of unused seats when the pianist arrived in town and a considerable deficit as to the party to assist in urging Superior's claims for the next convention on the delegates.

After the concert the pianist was still under discussion when a friend of the singer entered the room. He was not a singer but he knew many of them.

"You must know M. Wobbelin's address," the singer said. "Tell these ladies that morning may write to him about the concert next week."

The newcomer obligingly gave the address and disappeared after a very brief call. He did not go home, however. He was in the telephone booth downstairs calling up the barytons.

"You will give me 10 per cent, then, will you be saying, 'If I get you a concert next week?'"

"Over the telephone sound the assent to this proposition."

"All right," he said, "the ladies will write to you tonight. I get 10 per cent."

The facts of this little arrangement did not come to light until the middleman who had thought it was picking up $50 at an informal Sunday call had to hire a lawyer to get it for the barytone with identity to his musical temperament had declined to pay the promised commission.

Once a rich grandfather volunteered to give his grandson a piano. He made a study of music, appeared in public with success and thought he would like to be a musical manager. Grandfather decided to give him a piano. He was in the telephone booth downstairs calling up the barytons.

Then he sat down and wrote this note to the singer.

"Dear Seymour: Since I learn from our friend Mrs. X. that you are to receive compensation for your appearance at her charity concert yesterday I cannot, of course, be expected to accompany you for nothing. I spoke to Mrs. X. about the matter and she reminded me that I had been secured solely by you, never accompany now, as you know, my fee the last time I played accompaniment was $25. I will not raise it on you, but let it stand at that. Mrs. X. tells me that I must look to you for my check, as she will also look to you. So send it along as soon as she pays up."

This of course put the enterprising tenor into a rage. It may be said, moreover, of opening his eyes to what had been done. He had never suspected that what he had done would reach any other ears. He wrote, therefore, to his accompanist that he had been misinformed, as he had no idea of taking any compensation, and simultaneously dispatched a note to the lady saying that he had heard that his agent had sent her a bill under a misapprehension, supposing that the concert was a commercial one in the ordinary course of business.

A MORAL PINCUSHION.
Crown: There are few families in which there is not a moral pincushion, and in the above case the moral pincushion is usually a person eaten up with self-consciousness.

This type of woman gets wrinkles around her eyes, has her mouth drawn down at the corners and her forehead puckered with heavy lines, the result of deep study as to how each wicked speech could be meant for her.

PILGRIM FISH CAUGHT.
London Globe: Another Breton fishing town—Cannecau—has had a novel experience of its own. One of its trawl boats, the Saint Louis, has just returned to port not with the heavy cargo of surfwracks that all the good folk so much desired, but with a catch of an entirely unwanted and unwelcome kind.

This took the form of a monster fish, measuring not less than twenty-five feet in length. The fish is one of the "pilgrim" kind, and is associated with the shark family, though said to be less ferocious than the ordinary shark, though, as the monster is very rarely seen, but little that is definite is known of him. The incident has no parallel within living Breton memory.

TRY ANOTHER PLAN.
People who used to suffer torments of thirst in typhoid fever will wish they had postponed the attack until the present day, when such theories of treatment as the following from the Medical Brief prevail:

"If I were asked to name the cardinal features in the management of typhoid fever I would say (1), proper feeding; (2), the prevention of excessive waste incident to high temperature, by the use of water, externally and internally; (3), elimination, through the skin, kidneys and intestinal tract, by supplying the patient with an abundance of water and keeping the body clean and comfortable.

"I make it an invariable rule to insist that the patient drink frequently and freely of water, therefore giving elimination through the intervention of the skin and kidneys, keeping the general tone of the patient at the highest standard, and the temperature is held more readily in check. In fact, I regard the internal use of an abundance of water of so much importance that I always instruct the nurse to record the quantity of water given, just as assiduously as she does the medicine and food."

Whether buyers come to your store by ones and twos or by tens and dozens depends upon how convincing your store advertising is in "The Herald."

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Four Princeton Young Men "Bumming" Passage to Dakota.

Harvest Field Wages Will Go for an Education.

With a view to earning enough money to carry them through Princeton university the coming school year, and at the same time acquire a knowledge of the West and see as much of the country as possible, four juniors from the Eastern institution of learning, two from Buffalo and two from Schenectady, N. Y., arrived in the city yesterday bound for the Western harvest fields.

The young men are about 20 years of age, and all of them seem enthusiastic over their plans. The four are T. P. Fraser and John G. Tanner, while their friends from Schenectady are Edward J. and John H. H. Roswell and Harry Ferguson. To make the matter more interesting, it is understood that the fathers of all the students are considered well-to-do, and well able and willing to pay the expenses of their sons through college. The sons, however, are of an independent turn of mind, and feel that they will be much better satisfied with themselves if they earn their own way through the summer, and look agents through the East, South, and say they made a handsome margin of profit, as well as getting a good deal of pleasure out of the venture.

Western trip, they thought, would be interesting for a change.

"There is nothing so tiresome as hanging around doing nothing the summer," said Mr. Fraser last evening. "We have known each other for a good many years, and all are agreed on that point. A man with more character and individuality if he hews his own way through the world, without being dependent upon somebody else."

"None of us pose as being the son of rich parents, but our fathers are well enough fixed so that we could bum around doing nothing during vacation if we wanted to. But we intend to work this summer, gives us practical knowledge and experience that will, we think, prove invaluable to us after our graduation. We will know something about what we are going to go up against when we leave the university and start to make our own way in earnest."

"We realize it is a little early to work in the harvest fields, but the season will open up there soon, and meantime we may hire out as railroad laborers. Any way, it will take us perhaps a week to get to the Dakotas, for we expect to stop the part of the way, and it is better to leave our way on freight trains. That is something we have never tried, and it ought to prove interesting. It may be dishonest in a way, but I think it is permissible under the circumstances. We didn't have any trouble getting work on the lakes, and besides getting our passage we were paid for the trip. I was deekhand, and the work was a little harder than I expected. I enjoyed the experience, nevertheless."

LODGE NOTES

WILL HONOR DEAD MEMBERS

Knights of Pythias to Hold Memorial Services Sunday.

Annual memorial services in honor of the dead members of the Knights of Pythias of this city will be held by the three local lodges on the coming Sunday. The lodges which will participate in the services will be the North Star, Diamond and Kitchi Gami lodges.

Morning memorial services will be held at the Endion M. E. church at 10:30, which will be attended by members of the three lodges in a body. The members will meet at the club rooms of the North Star lodge, 118 West Superior street and go to the church together.

At the church the memorial address will be delivered by Rev. John Powell, who is himself one of the knights.

In the afternoon the members of the three lodges will assemble at Hill cemetery at 4 o'clock where the graves of the departed members will be decorated. The Uniform rank, assisted by the other members, will be in charge of the services and the decorations on the graves will consist of the planting of a geranium shrub on each of the graves.

The services, both in the morning and afternoon will be very impressive and interesting to the members, and outsiders as well. The general public is invited to attend both services.

We don't care if you are skeptical; we don't care if you have no religion; it makes no difference to us. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do the work or no pay—that's fair, 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

WILL LET CONTRACT

Eastern Firm Will Probably Build New Duluth Brewery.

Deal Will be Closed by the End of Week.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the new People's Brewing company of this city, held last evening, it was practically decided that the contract for the new brewery will be let to an Eastern firm and that the construction work will be begun immediately.

It is understood that the new brewery will be situated at a favorable location on the docks between Forty-second and Forty-third avenues and it will be one of the most modern of its kind in the city.

The matter of letting the contract has not yet been entirely closed, but it is expected that it will be let by the end of the present week. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000 and will be constructed so that it will be practically fireproof.

Today the officers of the company refused to divulge the name of the firm which it is expected will secure the contract, but it is thought to be a Pittsburgh company. This firm put in the lowest bid for the construction work and unless there is some change in the details, the contract will be let to the Pittsburgh company.

At present the company's plans and specifications are being examined by the local architects and the engineering company and they should find any flaws in them the deal might fall through in which case another contracting firm would probably get the contract.

A representative of the Pittsburgh firm is expected to be in the city on Saturday at which time the contract for the brewery will probably be actually let. Work upon the building will probably be commenced immediately after the formal letting of the contract and will be rushed through so that the building may be completed as soon as possible.

The contracting firm which will probably let the contract for the new brewery has contracts for the building of several other like buildings in different parts of the country.

North American Exploration Company

The North American Exploration Co. has recently been organized under the laws of Delaware, with an authorized capital stock of $20,000,000, divided into 4,000,000 $5 par value shares.

H. C. Brown, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, is President. The purpose of the company is to form an exploration company, for the purchase, sale, development and working of mining property, and the operation of mills, smelters or other works, for the reduction of ores and refining of metals.

The company owns a valuable option on a controlling interest in a large mining property in Montana, and to take up the same has authorized the issue of 200,000 shares of its stock.

H. C. Brown & Co. are offering 100,000 shares of stock of the North American Exploration Co. at $5.00 per share, which is the par value of the stock. Their subscription books will remain open until 3 p. m. July 6th.

TO DETERMINE RIPARIAN RIGHTS

Dock Property at Oneota Involved in Court Case.

An action has been commenced in district court by Luther D. Marshall, George L. Raymond, C. S. Southworth et al., for the purpose of determining relative riparian rights in property covered by water, situated at Oneota, between Forty-sixth and Forty-eighth avenues west.

It is alleged in the complaint that the United States government granted a patent to the town council of Oneota in 1882, and that it was granted by that town Marshall and Grant claim that they have title to the property, and that they have through a number of conveyances.

An interest in the riparian rights to a great deal of the property is claimed by the Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central railroads, and the city of Duluth. It is for the purpose of establishing the relative rights of all the claimants that the action has been started.

The plaintiffs in the case are represented by R. S. Powell and L. C. Harris.

FOUGHT WOUNDED BEAR.

Denver Post: "Never in my life did I have such a thrilling adventure with a bear as I had last Friday about thirty miles northwest of Cebolla, in Gunnison county. It was a hot fight."

This was the way Gordon Pickett started his story of the biggest bear fight of the season. He and Harry Carpenter, with J. J. Carpenter's fine string of bear dogs, eight in number, started out last Friday afternoon from Cebolla.

"The dogs jumped a good sized black bear about 1 o'clock," said Mr. Pickett. "We followed him something like three miles and took a long shot at him, wounding him in the right foreleg. We lost sight of him for a while and then the dogs got next to him again. This time they had him cornered on the edge of a big bluff, at least 100 feet high."

"It seems that the wound I had given him made the bear crazy mad. He nuzzled two of the dogs, one after the other, and crunched their necks like so many soda crackers. He jumped down into a cleft of rocks, where there was a little platform about twelve feet square, and beyond that the precipice."

"The dogs went after him and he went after them good and proper. He had already killed two and it looked as if he was going to finish the third. To save the lives of the dogs I jumped down to the little bench, but not till he had finished with one of the best dogs and cuffed him clear over the cliff."

"Of course that finished that dog, and the bear turned. He wasn't five feet from me when I tore the top of his head off with a quick shot from my rifle. He didn't exactly have me 'buffaloed,' but I think I never in all my twenty-five years' hunting experience came so near being seriously rattled. The dogs killed were among the best fighters in the pack."

GOOD BUSINESS METHODS.
Los Angeles Times: "A musical critic was congratulating Caruso, the great tenor, on the fact that his rates next season will be doubled."

"Yes," said the artist, "I am a good man of affairs. I can make a bargain. I am like the druggist they tell of in Rome. 'This druggist had a shop on the Corso, and his excellent business methods are making him rich.'"

"One afternoon, a lady, returning from the Piccolo, got out of her carriage, entered the shop, and bought of the druggist a bottle of liniment."

"It will be 50 centesimi," said the man—'50 for the liniment, and 10 for the bottle.'"

"The lady frowned."

"But," she said, "I paid nothing for the bottle the last time I got liniment here."

"In that case," said the druggist, "it will be 50 centesimi."

TRAMPS ARE HERE AGAIN

Two Weary Willies Arrested for Sleeping on Private Property.

Report That Body is Offered for Sale for Dissecting Purposes.

The tramp season is on again and Duluth is getting its share of the homeless hobos. The police are going after them with vigor, and vagrancy and trespass are the usual charges booked against the nomadic ones. An occasional "weary" is booked up for begging on the street, but this is rare as the more skillful of the tramps are far too wise to allow an officer to catch them in their depredations. The housewives of the suburban and residence districts of the city are again being troubled by report that the hungry men are again commencing their rounds in search of food.

This morning two of the fraternity were arraigned in police court charged with trespass. One of them, Thomas Hart by name, was sleeping under a platform in the rear of one of the wholesale houses on West Michigan, and the second, a brawny Finlander, was asleep in a box car in the Northern Pacific yards. Judge Windom fined them $5 each.

"I took just what I wanted in Protol Knott, yer honor," said Morris Cannon when arraigned for drunkenness this morning, "an' I put me on the bum in the morning, so I did. Of never seen such strong whiskey in me life, yer honor, never. It made me drunker than I have been for many a long day."

Judge Windom suspended sentence after advising the culprit to be more careful where he got his whiskey in future.

Roy Scartey got into an altercation in the Ohio restaurant last night and threw the sulphurous language a little too freely. It offended the young woman who presides over the cash counter and an officer gathered him in. As Scartey had no money for bail he spent the night in the lockup and was fined $5 and costs this morning.

A young man reported to Sergeant Keena last evening that a man at the Tremont hotel had offered to sell him a human body for dissecting purposes.

An investigation brought nothing to light and the police are inclined to regard the whole affair as a "pipe." The affair was not reported to the coroner.

GAINING IN POPULARITY

CANADIAN BOAT BURNS

Warmer Weather Causes Steamer Batchawanna, Patronage of Excursion Boats to Improve.

Steamer Newsboy Making Regular Trips Up the River.

The river and lake excursion business is in full swing having opened up with the coming of warmer weather in good style. Excursion parties have been frequent during the last ten days or more and they will probably increase from now on until the end of the summer.

The excursion and river boat Newsboy which has been making regular trips up the St. Louis river to Fond du Lac for the past two or three weeks is receiving good patronage. At times on pleasant days, her decks are loaded down to the limit with regular passengers and tourists. The Newsboy makes one trip up the river every day and on Saturdays and Sundays two regular trips.

Clow & Nicholson, owners of the Newsboy, have also leased the paddle wheel steamer Fremont and she will be put in commission by the end of the week. The United States inspectors will make an investigation of her tomorrow so that she will be ready by Saturday. She has been thoroughly overhauled and fitted out with new furniture and is in good condition for excursion business. She will probably be run on the river trip.

On Sundays the regular summer excursion to two harbors are being taken care of by the boat line with the steamer Easton. Good patronage has been secured and it is necessary to run the steamer out on three separate trips. These excursions will be continued during the remainder of the summer. Excursion parties are frequently taking advantage of the regular trips made by the boats. America and Easton to Port Arthur and Lake Superior, although no special trips are made on these points.

Launch parties for trips up the river are frequent and the owners of the smaller craft are doing a profitable business.

LAI'D OFF FOR SEASON.

Inspectors Refuse to Pass Favorably on Old Steamer Duluth.

St. Ignace, Mich., June 27.—The steamer Duluth, of the Island Transportation company's line, is out of commission for the summer and must stay out, the government inspectors refusing to pass favorably upon her boiler in consequence of the discovery of a crack in the boiler. Another Boat Karolled. A bill of sale was yesterday filed at the United States customs office for the transfer of the steamer John R. Sterling from Peter P. Schmitz and Louis McMillan to the Northern Michigan Transportation company. The steamer was also enrolled at the port of Duluth at the same time. It was formerly a Chicago boat and is 380 tons, built at Bay City about ten years ago. The consideration in the sale was $15,000.

PUSH WORK ON BRIDGE

Structure Over Little Fork to be Completed by July 1.

International Falls Expects Trains by End of Next Month.

International Falls, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Piles are being driven in the bed of the Little Fork river at the crossing of the Minnesota and International railroad for the bridge that is to span the stream. The work is being pushed with all speed.

Chief Engineer Hues hopes to be able to cross by July 1, and it can now be but a question of a few weeks until this city will welcome the coming of the trains. The iron bridge is expected here July 31. The grade is now completed a point four miles from town, and another mile is being installed by the contractors in the intervening space. It is located out about two and one-half miles from town and it is known as No. 15. All of the work up to the village limits will be done from the new camp, and the outfit and men from the completed portion of the work will be located at No. 15 in order to hasten the completion of the grade. The telephone wire is expected to be strung by the end of the next ten days, and everything that will in any way hasten the work of completing the road is being done.

ELECT PARKER AS PRESIDENT

Duluth Man is Honored at State Eagle Convention.

Winona, Minn., June 27.—The Eagles' state convention voted to meet in Brainerd next year, officers were elected as follows: Deputy, Lee Plummer of Parkersburg, president, James William Parker, Duluth; vice president, Rufus Goff, Stillwater; chaplain, Dr. P. D. Winship, Park Rapids; secretary, James Kidder, Fergus Falls; inside guard, Harry Leroy, Montevideo; outside guard, S. H. Housh, Brainerd; conductor, J. C. O'Keefe, Minneapolis; trustees, George Jarmon, Thief River Falls; Thomas Rothman, Winona; physician, Dr. William H. Murray, Minneapolis.

The contest over the next meeting place was a spirited one, Brainerd winning over Hibbing, 42 to 41.

SEABURG'S CLOSE CALL.

Assistant Roadmaster of N. P. Nearly Killed by Passenger Train.

Stillwater, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Seaburg, assistant roadmaster of the Northern Pacific railroad, came near being killed near here Tuesday afternoon. He was inspecting the track, traveling on a track alongside and attempting to mount the White Bear switch ahead of the fast train from St. Paul. He was making such fast speed to get to the White Bear junction before the train that the journals of his vehicle, operated by gasoline, got hot. He heard the train coming his way at the usual speed. He applied the brakes and was able to stop before the train struck him and thus avoided serious injury or possible death. But the vehicle was completely wrecked, and the wheels were broken and the work and other parts were wrecked in splinters and scrap iron. The machine was picked up and placed in the baggage car and brought to this city by Mr. Seaburg, and the wreck taken off the car in armfuls and placed on the platform.

WILL BE BIG ONE.

Bemidji's Celebration of the Fourth to be Record-Breaker.

Bemidji, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations for the celebration on the Fourth are progressing nicely, and present indications are that this year's event will surpass any previous celebration here.

The members of the various committees are bending every effort to perfect the arrangements, with the result that everything is being nicely shaped for the nation's natal day.

The parade promises to be a good one, with many colorful features, together with a grand float of children representing the various states, which is being prepared under the direction of Mrs. Gaudin.

The various games and contests will have many entries, and there is every indication that there will be a large crowd here from outside points, especially as there is no celebration planned for the north country towns.

The baseball game, which will be a feature of the afternoon's program, will be between Bemidji and some nearby town.

The program is nearly arranged.

WAS MINNEAPOLIS BOY.

James Whalen, Drowned at Beaudette, Was Resident of Flour City.

Minneapolis, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Whalen, who was drowned at Beaudette, Minn., Tuesday, was the son of George C. Whalen, 2524 Pillsbury avenue. He was 19 years old, and at the time of his death was in the employ of the Shevlin-Mathews Lumber company. The body has been recovered and is being brought here for burial. He was canoeing when the boat upset and sank.

INDIANS PLAN TO CELEBRATE

Redmen to Hold Unique Observance of Fourth.

Walker, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Possibly the most unique Fourth of July celebration to be witnessed this year by white people will occur at Onigum, the old Chippewa Indian agency, about three miles from Walker. Here the Indians are planning a special demonstration of their own this year, a majority of the people will, of course, be found at Onigum to partake of the dog-fest.

TOUCHING COURT SCENE.

Wail Proves He Is a Singer and is Granted His Freedom by Judge.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Cooper, a sprig of a boy, won his freedom in the juvenile court here yesterday afternoon because he made good his claim that he was a singer and had been lured away from home by concert hall women to go to Alaska. He was picked up here by the police and in order to test his veracity as to his unusual voice, Judge Smith had him sing. The lad knew it was his trial for freedom. He threw his head back and started a song. The notes waivered at first, but confidence returned as he sang. The voice was surely a voice of unusual strength and sweetness. It echoed through the dark corridors of the big courthouse, and a crowd of appreciative listeners gathered in front of Judge Smith's door. When the song was ended the boy had won his case. "Have you a mother?" asked the judge.

"Yes," he answered, and the boy's face as he reached in a pocket and handed the court a soiled telegram blank on which was written a message for his Chicago home.

"Dear mother: Will be home tomorrow. In a few minutes he was on his way to a telegraphic office to send his last quarter for the message. Supplied with new clothes by new friends, he left for Chicago on a train with the agreement that he would pay for his passage by washing dishes in the dining car.

JURY FINDS SMITH IS GUILTY IN TEN MINUTES.

Crookston, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of "Dude" Smith a Grand Forks back driver, for attempting assault on Mrs. Agnes Benson, while driving her Minnesota car, ended here Monday evening and the verdict of guilty in ten minutes. He will probably get about seven years in the penitentiary.

SISTERS DO HEROIC ACT

Fight a Fire and Save a Residence at New Richmond.

Organize Women Into Bucket Brigade to Carry Water.

New Richmond, Wis., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sisters of St. Agnes, teachers in St. Mary's school in this city, have won the commendation of everyone by performing a heroic act that saved the residence of a well known citizen from destruction by fire.

The residence of Mrs. P. H. Ryan was discovered to be burning. The house is three blocks from the nearest hydrant and while the volunteer fire company was getting its apparatus on the scene the sisters, who were the first to respond to the alarm, organized the women of the neighborhood into a bucket brigade and, fighting desperately, managed to hold the flames in check until the firemen had a stream of water on the blaze. As it was the damage was nominal.

LOOKING FOR O'NEIL.

Millie Lacs Resident Said to Have Assaulted Hotel Employee.

Atkins, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Haugen is looking for Edward O'Neil who lives in the neighborhood of Millie Lacs Lake to answer to a serious charge.

It is alleged that on June 17, O'Neil hired a rig and drove to the hotel where he was employed at one of the hotels to go out home with him to attend a dance. He accepted his invitation and it was charged that when a few miles from town he committed an assault upon her after she had changed into night clothing. They came back to town and he is supposed to have taken the night train with a driving crew to go to Fargo.

The girl was reluctant to say anything about the experience she had met with, but did so finally and a warrant was issued for the arrest of O'Neil.

PROCEEDINGS IN LOVING CASE AWAITING COUNSEL

Attorneys Have Not Finished Preparation of Instructions

Which They Will Present to Justice Barksdale.

Witnesses Give Testimony in Rebuttal to the Defense.

Houston, Va., June 28.—When court resumed this morning for the fifth day of the trial of Former Judge Loving, the attorneys had not finished the preparation of instructions to be presented to the court. Judge Barksdale stated that the arguments in the case would not begin until after 2 o'clock and the jury was discharged until that hour.

The fight for instructions may be somewhat drawn out. Judge Loving looked more composed today than at any time during the progress of the trial.

After the opinion of Judge Barksdale had been rendered yesterday, the prosecution began the examination of a number of witnesses in rebuttal of the evidence introduced by the defense. The witnesses were called in the order in which they were named in the indictment.

Most of the witnesses reside in America and Nelson counties and have known Judge Loving for many years. The tendency of their testimony was that they had never heard the insanity of Judge Loving discussed before this trial, and they had always regarded him as a sane man, with a mind.

FREIGHT RATES TO BE ADVANCED

Western Railroads to Make Changes in the Classifications.

Chicago, June 28.—Freight rates in the territory between the Mississippi river and the Rocky Mountains will be advanced 5 per cent by the action of the Western railroads in raising the minimums on carload shipments and other changes in the classification.

It has not yet been determined to cancel many of the carload commodity tariffs, though a few of those whose usefulness has passed will be cancelled, and the commodity rates according to classification. It is the intention to cancel all less than carload commodity rates, but as they were made to meet special conditions, the shippers generally have not made any specific complaint.

The call for the meeting of the Western classification committee, at Chicago, Mich., July 16, was sent out yesterday. The committee contains 425 subjects, many of which were rulings issued by F. O. Becker, chairman of the committee, since Jan. 1, 1907, and will be ratified by the committee. The most important of the subjects is "the minimum weights," on which special classification will become effective, Sept. 1, 1907.

RUSSIAN TROOPS STRENGTHENED

On the Turkish Frontier on Account of Anarchal Conditions.

Tiflis, Russia, June 28.—On account of the anarchal conditions of Russia, Turkish Armenia, where much of the fighting between Mussulmen and Armenians has occurred, the Russian troops on the Turkish frontier have been heavily strengthened in order to prevent the transportation of Armenian and spread of the agitation to Russian territory, and also for the moral effect of the movement on the Turkish government. A repetition of the Armenian massacres of 1896, when thousands of Armenians were massacred, has since periodically drenched Southern Caucasus with blood.

CONVENTION BREAKS UP IN A TUMULT.

Hobart, Okla., June 28.—As a result of three days' balloting, the Democratic convention in the Fifth congressional district, here, late yesterday, ended in a sensational tumult, and two candidates, Scott Harris of Lawton and Carson Weaver of Ada, I. T., will contest for places on the ticket. The party forces walked out of the hall, leaving the Weaver men in possession of the official ballot. Harris claims the nomination by a vote of 15 to 22, and Weaver claims a plurality of 35.

YALE WINS THE 'VARSITY FOUR-OARED, AND HARVARD THE FRESHMAN CONTEST

KUAN HGSU, Young Emperor of China, Who Has Commanded His Minister at Washington to Express His Profound Thanks to President Roosevelt for Relieving His Country of Full Payment of the Boxer Indemnity.

Rival Colleges Split Even on Races on the Thames.

The Freshman Eight-Oared Was a Fine Exhibition.

The 'Varsity Was Won by Yale by Ten Lengths.

New London, Conn., June 28.—Harvard won the freshman eight by one and a half lengths, and Yale the 'Varsity four-oared boat race by perhaps ten lengths on the morning tide on the Thames river today, and the result confirmed predictions.

Coming with the great victory of the Yale 'Varsity eight last night the winning of the four today was a source of gratification to Yale men and an evidence of the efficiency of Coach Kennedy's training. It was an easy race for the blue to win, while the freshman race was a hard one for Yale to lose. The races were worth the seeing, although a mere remnant of the host of yesterday had the courage to stay over for them.

Both races were up stream on the incoming tide, in smooth water, and both were rowed in slow time. It was Harvard strength in the freshmen and lack of it in the four-oared which made the results as they were.

The unofficial times for the freshmen eight were:

Half mile Harvard, 2:45; Yale, 2:51; one mile Harvard, 5:18; Yale, 5:20; one mile and a half Harvard, 8:57; Yale, 8:59; finish Harvard, 11:12; Yale, 11:14. The unofficial time for 'Varsity fours for two miles: Yale, 12:31; Harvard, 12:38.

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES

Will be Investigated by Order of the President

To See If They Are Violating Anti-Trust Laws.

Chicago, June 28.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, D. C., says: In accordance with the instructions of President Roosevelt, Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith is arranging for an immediate investigation of the relations between the telegraph companies of the United States. This investigation will be conducted in such a manner as to avoid giving any company or official the privilege of immunity from prosecution in case a violation of the law should be discovered. The investigation will determine the nature and extent of the agreements existing between the telegraph companies, the rate of wages paid to employees, the operating expenses, and such other data as will be useful to the department of justice in determining whether to institute legal proceedings, and to congress should that body wish to have the government exercise control over the telegraphic service.

NOVEL PLEA FREES MAN

Makes Psychic Epilepsy Defense for Assault on Street.

New York, June 28.—Dr. Elmore E. Elliott has escaped the meshes of the law through a unique plea. He had been arrested for brutally assaulting, without provocation, a man and wife on the public highway. Psychic epilepsy, defined as epilepsy without any external manifestations, was the defense successfully offered.

Dr. Elliott, in his own behalf, testified that he had been subject to attacks of psychic epilepsy since childhood, and that during these attacks he had no knowledge of his acts, or recollections of them upon recovery. Medical testimony was offered to sustain this plea, and the prisoner was discharged.

OHIO JURY FAILS TO CONVICT THE STANDARD OIL CO.

Pindlay, Ohio, June 28.—The jury in the case of the state of Ohio against the Standard Oil company, charged with violating the anti-trust laws, this morning reported to Judge Duncan that it had been found impossible to agree upon a verdict. The court thereupon ordered the jury discharged.

According to rumor, the jury when it first retired stood six for conviction and six for acquittal. Subsequently, it is said, the jury stood eight to four for acquittal, and when the disagreement report was brought in the vote stood seven to five.

The case was given to the jury on Wednesday last.

OPERATORS ARE HOPING

That President Will Take Hand in Settling Strike.

Commissioner Neill Asks Telegraphers' Officials to Visit Him.

San Francisco, June 28.—The belief that the strike of the telegraphers would be of short duration has been strengthened and a spirit of optimism prevails among the operators. The prospect that President Roosevelt may take a hand in adjusting the differences tended to brighten the situation.

The appearance of the president of the United States in the controversy was suggested by a telegram sent by S. J. Koenekamp, deputy president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, in New York City, to President Small.

The telegram stated that Koenekamp had been invited by Labor Commissioner Neill to visit him in Washington to discuss the situation. President Small says that he will welcome any official investigation of the strike.

No new men, it is said, were put to work yesterday, either by the Western

JUDGE LANDIS REFUSES TO WITHDRAW SUBPOENA FOR STANDARD OIL KING

Attorney's Urgent Plea for John D. of No Avail.

Tells Court Oil President Knows Nothing of the Business.

Judge Replies by Subpoenaing More of the Officers.

Chicago, June 28.—Judge Landis, in the United States district court, today refused to withdraw the subpoena issued for John D. Rockefeller, although John S. Miller, attorney for the Standard Oil company, urgently requested him to do so.

Mr. Miller informed the court that Mr. Rockefeller, although president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, was not possessed of the information regarding the financial condition of the Standard Oil company desired by the court. He also informed the court that Mr. Rockefeller was an old man who had many business cares, and that no advantage could be gained by any person by bringing him into the court.

The request of the attorney did not appeal to Judge Landis, for he promptly refused to recall the subpoena, and in addition directed that subpoenas be issued for the vice president and secretary-treasurer of the Union Tank line.

At the opening of court today Attorney Miller went to the room of District Attorney Sims and said that he had a matter which he would like to present to Judge Landis, in relation to the Standard Oil case. He was accompanied to the chambers of Judge Landis by the district attorney.

"I have some suggestions to make," said Mr. Miller to the judge. "I should like to say that I am willing to furnish the district attorney with the names of men who are in a position to

PRIVILEGES CURTAILED

Frisco Japs Denied Right of Running Intelligence Offices.

Board Says Americans Should Have the Preference.

San Francisco, June 28.—The board of police commissioners yesterday denied the application of five Japanese for the privilege of renewing their permits to keep intelligence offices in this city, on the ground that the applicants were not citizens of the United States, and heretofore the policy of the board had been always to give the preference in these privileges to citizens, against those who are not and cannot become citizens. It had been urged on behalf of the petitioners that they were entitled to the privilege by virtue of the provisions of the treaty, but the police commission contends that if such right does exist, it is still subject to laws enacted under the general powers of the state concerning police and sanitary regulations. A refusal to grant such permits is not, according to the construction of the board, a violation of the right to trade.

President Hagerly, in giving the decision of the board, said that it was the policy of the board to grant such permits only to citizens of the United States, and not to citizens of foreign countries, and he further suggested that the refusal to grant would permit would open the way for a determination in court of the extent of the rights of Japanese in this respect under the treaty between the United States and Japan, should the applicants desire to take the matter into the courts.

PAPER MAKERS ARE UNDECIDED

Whether to Merge Their Respective Organizations or Not.

Northampton, Mass., June 28.—The question of the merging of the International Brotherhood of Paper Workers and the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Makers was not settled when the delegates opened their respective sessions here today, and the finished report of the committee appointed to consider the question was awaited with interest by both bodies. The Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Makers planned to close their convention today, whether or not the committee reported, while the paper makers have as yet to elect their officers, and probably will do so at their closing session tomorrow.

Never Much Talk of Violence at Union Meetings.

The Witness Covers Much Ground Covered by Davis.

Dr. McGee Called By State For Cross Examination.

Boise, Idaho, June 28.—When court opened this morning in the Haywood case today, Dr. McGee was called by the state for cross-examination. Dr. McGee had testified that he saw Harry Orchard in the Coeur d'Alenes in 1904. On one occasion he observed Orchard in company with a man named Cunningham. Orchard claims to have given the Peabody bomb to a man of this name. The prosecution today wanted Dr. McGee to describe Cunningham. The witness said he had seen the man but twice, and then they almost came to blows over a political discussion.

"Was Cunningham a stout man?" asked Mr. Hawley of the state.

"We did not get that far," replied the witness.

"Did he have a mustache?" "I don't know, but he had a gun."

Following Dr. McGee, W. B. Eastery was called to continue his testimony begun yesterday.

Eastery denied positively that he had ever talked with Harry Orchard as to the independence depot explosion. Or-

BONFIRES IN N. Y. STREETS

Necessary to Burn the Accumulation of Garbage.

New York, June 28.—Bonfires lighted many streets of this city last night, especially on the East side, but the occasion for them was far from being a festive one. They were fed by householders and janitors from the mounds of refuse lying in the gutters, by reason of the Garbage Wagon Drivers' strike.

The smell from these heaps is perceptible everywhere, but fortunately the weather is cool just at present or excessive discomfort would be suffered.

The real reason for the strike appears, is not that the men want shorter hours and higher wages, but that they are dissatisfied with the superintendency of Deputy Commissioner of Streets Edwards. The strikers talk of calling out the cart drivers and street sweepers today if their grievances are not remedied. The sweepers number about 2,500.

Today Commissioner Craven will put a number of strike breakers at work, and an effort will be made to clear up the garbage heaps. Mounted and bicycle policemen will follow the carts and guard the new drivers.

SWEEPERS MAY JOIN STRIKERS

New York's Street Cleaning Department in Bad Shape.

New York, June 28.—A sympathetic strike of 2,000 street sweepers threatened today if the street cleaning department does not accede to the demands of the striking garbage drivers. Dr. Darlington of the health board, started an investigation today. Several physicians have already reported that much illness is being caused by filth in the streets.

The striking garbage men have been on strike three days, and unless they return in two days they will be discharged.

CUTTING AFFRAY NEAR GREENWOOD

Two Farmers in Wisconsin Town Slash Each Other.

Greenwood, Wis., June 28.—As a result of a quarrel over some stock running at large, Fred Zells and A. Dazens, two farmers living near here, were seriously slashed with pocket knives and Dazens may die. Both are being cared for in a local hotel. They appear now to bear no enmity toward each other.

Zells has seven deep wounds, including a cut on his wrist, and Dazens bears a full dozen stabs, one of which penetrated his lung. He is advanced in years, and his condition is serious.

HARRY C. WITHROW DIES OF NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Friend of "Incorrigible" Boys Passes Away In the West.

Too Close Devotion To His Work Caused His Death.

Harry C. Withrow, humane agent, passed away in Helena, Mont., this morning, at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. H. Crum of that place. His death is the result of a nervous breakdown which has been coming on for a long time, by which he was unable to do his work. He was in the West, where he had gone in the hope that a few weeks' rest might cure him. He was a devoted and devoted himself more entirely to the work of bettering the conditions of the unfortunate in St. Louis county than any human being could do and live. His work was his life, and he died of it. He was a devoted and devoted himself more entirely to the work of bettering the conditions of the unfortunate in St. Louis county than any human being could do and live. His work was his life, and he died of it.

all those with whom he came in contact and they were many. It may truly be said of him that his heart was in his work for he was the friend of every fatherless, motherless or wayward boy in St. Louis county and by some strange magic seemed endowed with a power to bring out of the apparently most depraved and vicious cases.

He made what ordinarily would have been a thankless position one which placed him high in the esteem of even those boys and girls with whom, in the course of his work, he was forced to deal most harshly, and the toughest proposition in the county would swear by the humane agent. "I don't know 'bout the rest of 'em but Withrow's all right," voices the sentiments of the little specimens of humanity which are labeled "incorrigibles" with whom Mr. Withrow had to deal. And he deserved all the confidence which was placed in him.

It was his hard, untiring, constant effort in his work here which is believed to be responsible for his breakdown. Mr. Withrow did more, sacrificed more, and devoted himself more entirely to the work of bettering the conditions of the unfortunate in St. Louis county than any human being could do and live. His work was his life, and he died of it.

Mrs. Forney, assistant humane agent here, is Mr. Withrow's sister and she also has a mother, over 80 years of age, who is now with Mrs. Crum at whose home he died. The funeral announcement will be made later.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

Mrs. Leslie Carter.

BIJOU—Vaudeville.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER.

Mrs. Leslie Carter will appear at the Bijou Saturday, in her greatest success, "Du Barry," by David Belasco. Mrs. Leslie Carter's management here promises to be notable in every respect. Foremost among the stars on the American stage, Mrs. Carter has never been seen to better advantage than this season in "Du Barry" and "Zola."

In the past decade there has not been produced a play of more engrossing interest than "Du Barry." The dominating figure of the play is the light-hearted favorite of Louis XV, of France, Madame Du Barry. The period admits of gorgeous stage pictures and the promise in this direction has been fulfilled. In the first act Jeanette Van der Meer is shown as the gay little milliner's apprentice and then as Madame Du Barry, the favorite of the king. Last of all, shown of her glory, she is shown during the stirring days of the French revolution on her way to the guillotine.

The production of "Du Barry" here will be on the same scale that characterized it during the long run in New York and the company, surrounding Mrs. Leslie Carter will be large in numbers and of merit. Owing to the length of the performance the curtain will rise at 8 o'clock.

Bijou Has Good Bill.

The program at the Bijou this week is of more than usual merit. One of the most pleasing acts is the amusing little sketch by Willard, Sewall and his company, entitled "Last Night." The usual burlesque material will be given tomorrow.

J. E. Reynolds of Mankato Will Boost Northern Minnesota.

Free Press Man Will Conduct Campaign of Friendliness.

J. E. Reynolds, editor and publisher of the Mankato Free Press, is in the city today, on his way from a tour of Northern Minnesota. He paid particular attention to the Western Mesaba range, and expresses himself as being delighted with the agricultural and general development possibilities of the region as a whole.

"It is my intention to write an exhaustive article on Northern Minnesota and the possibilities of development, dwelling on its extensive resources, attractions and the very excellent conditions for farming and dairying," said Mr. Reynolds. "There is popularly supposed to be a prejudice on the part of Southern Minnesota toward the northern half of the state, but I do not believe this is so marked as is generally believed up here. Speaking for myself and my paper, we have only the most friendly feelings towards Northern Minnesota, and I shall do everything in my power to spread this feeling. The development of this region is essential to the further development of Southern Minnesota. Whatever helps you helps us. Every paper in Southern Minnesota should lend its assistance to any movement planned for the betterment of the Northern district. You have a wonderful country up here. From a selfish standpoint alone, if for no other, the Southern district can well afford to boost Northern Minnesota's interests, because of the larger tax income that results to the state from the further development of this region.

The Free Press will boost Northern Minnesota at every opportunity, and I hope and believe that other papers through that section of the state will do likewise. There should be nothing but a friendly feeling existing between Northern and Southern Minnesota, and I shall do what I can to promote such a feeling."

SAMARITANS ENTERTAIN.

Hold Social Session and Make Plans for Picnic.

Alpha council No. 1, Modern Samaritans, enjoyed a ceremonial session last evening, traveled the road from Jerusalem to Jericho, and enjoyed the bananas and orange groves in the way. The "Inkkeeper" furnished cigars for the neighbors, and the ladies were served with ice cream by Samaritan Kugel. Next Thursday a joint session will be held and plans for the annual picnic will be discussed. The picnic committee is making arrangements to have a band of Indians give an exhibition of their various dances, such as "colts," the hickory, the medicine dance, "war dance," etc. It is expected that visitors from all over the Northwest will come to the picnic and the committee will get some novelties that will be well worth seeing.

On July 15 Astoria council's degree team of St. Paul will visit Alpha and put on some degree work for a large class of new members. A banquet will be served on that evening, and the members of the grand council will be present and give instructions in the work.

WOULD SEE SON.

Police Asked to Locate Man Whose Mother is Dying.

A telegram was received by the police last evening, asking them to locate, if possible, S. Reoch, an electrician, as his mother was dying at Detroit, Mich., and was anxious to see him before she died. The telegram was signed by his wife, who is in Detroit. When last heard from Mr. Reoch was in Duluth, but an inquiry at the electric offices here failed to locate him.

FARMERS ARE COMPLAINING

That New Hepburn Law Is Interfering With Crop Help.

Topeka, Kan., June 28.—T. B. Gerow, director of the Free Employment bureau of Kansas, yesterday sent a letter to E. E. Clark, a member of the interstate commerce commission, formerly protesting against the manner in which he asserts the Hepburn bill has destroyed the former effective plans of sending out harvest hands into Kansas.

"Heretofore we have been able to send five men in a party at the rate," wrote Mr. Gerow. "Now we must have a party of fifteen. Further than that, pay agents are sending them from depots to places where they are not wanted. Farmers are telegraphing me about the troubles in getting men. We cannot afford to have our wheat crop destroyed in this manner. I wish to make my protest now."

RECEIVER APPOINTED.

For the Marquette Mutual Life Insurance Company of Chicago.

Chicago, June 28.—On the application of Frederick W. Potter, state superintendent of insurance, Judge Honore today appointed a receiver for the Marquette Mutual Life Insurance company of Chicago.

The company is said to have outstanding policies amounting to $1,380,000, and its financial responsibility, it is said by the state superintendent of insurance to be so slight that its continuation in business is a menace to the public and to the policyholders.

NEWSBOY AND FREMONT

Will Handle Big Crowds With Comfort on Fond du Lac Trip.

Beginning next Sunday, Clow & Nicholson will operate two boats to Fond du Lac, the Newsboy and the Fremont, on Sundays and special occasions. Capt. D. J. Clow will handle the Newsboy, and Capt. Wm. Nicholson the Fremont. Two hundred people can be handled with comfort each trip. The Newsboy will leave the dock at the foot of Fifth avenue west Sunday at 9 a. m., and 2 p. m., returning at 1:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. It will leave the end of the Merrill & King dock at West Duluth at 9:45 a. m. The steamer Fremont will leave Twenty-first avenue west Sunday at 10 a. m., giving those who have missed getting on board the Newsboy at 9 a. m. an hour to catch the Fremont at Twenty-first avenue west. The Fremont will return to Twenty-first avenue west at 5:30 p. m., and Fifth avenue west at 9:30 p. m. Steamers returning leave Fond du Lac at 12 noon, 5:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. The trip to Fond du Lac along the picturesque and winding St. Louis river is a joy forever, and this season's business, with the increased facilities will undoubtedly be a record breaker.

GIVES WARNING TO AMERICANS

Not to Under-Estimate the Strength of the Japanese.

San Francisco, June 28.—The Rev. Henry C. Mable, general secretary of the American Baptist Mission union, who arrived on the Korea yesterday, has been on a four months' tour of the Orient, inspecting the mission stations. He gave careful study to the Japanese question and says that Americans should be warned against under-estimating Japan's strength. "They have a standing army of a million men," he said, "and their drill work is not the performance of perfunctory evolutions. They go at it in the greatest earnestness."

INSPECT STATE DITCH.

State Officials Return From Visiting Work at Roseau.

Crookston, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald)—State Auditor Iverson, Secretary of State Schmitt, F. A. Day, Governor Johnson's private secretary and George A. Ralph, engineer of the state drainage commission, were in the city Wednesday evening between trains en route to St. Paul after a flying trip to Roseau, where the state ditch work was inspected. A public reception was tendered them on the street, and they were greeted by the Crookston band.

Brief addresses were made in connection with the development of Northern Minnesota by Secretary Schmitt, Mr. Sherman of the immigration bureau, Congressman Stevenson, and Senator A. D. Stephens which aroused a great deal of enthusiasm. Secretary Schmitt was particularly enthusiastic regarding the development of Northern Minnesota and believed the drainage projects when completed would mean a wonderful era of prosperity.

IN DIAMOND FACTORIES

Thousands of Stones Cut Yearly by Women at Amsterdam.

Diamonds Worth $12,500,000 Sent to United States Last Year.

Washington, June 28.—The state department has made public an interesting statement from our consul resident at Amsterdam, in which he says that diamonds to the value of $12,500,000 were shipped from that town last year to the United States. He makes some other interesting statements and gives a graphic account of diamond cutting. In part, he says: "Among the many industries of Amsterdam, that of diamond cutting has long been an important one. Since the fifteenth century when it was started, it has been extensively carried on, and today no fewer than sixty firms are registered in Amsterdam as diamond cutting or diamond polishing companies. Some of the firms restrict themselves entirely to one process, that of diamond polishing. In one of these typical complete factories 90 per cent of all the many thousands of rough uncut diamonds received every year come from South Africa, and those principally from the De Beers mine at Kimberley. It gives one a little idea of the importance of this industry in Amsterdam to realize that in this factory in one year alone, and that 30 to 35 men are daily employed in the different workrooms by this one company, which also employs about twenty women, who deserve to be mentioned, since they are entrusted with the very important work of diamond cutting. Although the firm was established in 1882, it was not until 1885 that women were employed in the factory, but so satisfactory was the work of diamond cutting done by them, thousands of diamonds passing annually through their skillful fingers, through which the rough, uncut diamond has to pass is that of splitting the stone. About twelve men are employed at this work, which is all done by hand without the aid of machinery. It is not a lengthy process, unless the stone contains a great many flaws, for an ordinary diamond weighing about ten karats can generally be split in fifteen minutes. The object (causing flaws) into several pure, flawless stones, and in order to do this, strong pressure is exerted on the weak spots (caused by flaws) by means of a diamond tool, which is held in the left hand and held a diamond-shaped little frame into which the rough diamond now to be split has been firmly waxed. Great pressure is then used on the weak spot, and in a few moments the diamond splits into two portions. Should there be any more flaws in either of these sections, the process is repeated until several pure, flawless diamonds lie on the rough wooden tables of the workmen, ready now for the second process, that of cutting. This process, like the first, is almost entirely performed by hand, but with one striking difference—the work is done by women and girls instead of men. Only in the case of very hard, difficult stones is machinery necessary, and then a mere man is employed to use it. "A pleasant workshop has been built for the women on the quay close to the factory. In this room about twenty women and girls sit at several tables, placed where the light from the six large windows can fall on their work. They work eight hours a day, their wages varying from $3 to $30 guilders ($2.25 to $23.50 a week). "The work of diamond cutting is a delicate and difficult task, very trying to the eyes, too, for some of the diamonds are so minute that 100 of them or more may weigh only half a carat. Each worker is responsible for the packet of stones she receives at intervals from the forewoman, and if by accident she loses one of the precious stones she has either to find it again or refund its value. "The tools employed in diamond cutting are very similar in appearance to those employed in the first process, that of diamond splitting. In both cases diamonds are used as knives after having been firmly waxed into the tip of pear-shaped tools. The women hold in their left hand the diamond they wish to cut, while the right hand is used to cut the wooden frame. Little jets of gas are at ways kept burning on the various tables, ready to be used at any moment when molten wax is necessary. "The only real difference in the two processes of diamond splitting and diamond cutting lies in the fact that whereas, as the men who split the diamonds use pressure on one spot only (where the flaw occurs), the women spend their energies in rounding the whole stone, and carefully cutting off all angles to be seen on its surface by means of the sharp diamonds they hold in their right hands. Occasionally they have very large diamonds to cut, which take a great deal of time, but an ordinary stone weighing about 10 carats would take on an average a whole day's work—a day of eight hours. When the diamond has been sufficiently cut and rounded, it is then ready for the third and last process, that of polishing. This work requires a great deal of time and skill, and is performed entirely by machinery, a huge steam engine supplying the motive power for all the iron disks. "There are ten large workrooms, in which the 300 men work who are engaged in the difficult process of diamond polishing, their wages averaging about 20 guilders a week ($20). The process consists in giving to the rounded diamonds what is termed in technical language their 'necessary sides.' All diamonds are divided into two classes, 'brilliant' and 'rose,' although it is only a real difference between them lies in the number of sides they individually possess after having been polished in one of the many diamond factories. "A 'brilliant' must possess fifty-eight 'sides' (a few years ago the lowest number was sixty-four, for there are fashions in diamond-cutting), but a 'rose' need only possess twenty-four 'sides.' Another though slight difference between them is that a 'brilliant' is pointed at both ends, while a 'rose' diamond has one end flattened and the other merely turned into a preparation of oil and diamond dust before being fastened (with three or four) into a strong frame placed in close proximity to an iron wheel. This little disk is then set in motion by connecting it with the great engine on the ground floor, and the wheel immediately turns at the rate of 2,000 revolutions to the minute. As it revolves the four diamonds set in the adjacent frame are gradually polished by means of the friction produced on their surface by the particles of diamond dust still adhering to the oil into which they had been previously dipped. "Only one portion of a diamond can be polished at once, and consequently when this part has been dealt with, the stone has to be resoldered, so that another portion of its surface may be subjected to the friction of the wheel. This process of resoldering takes place about twenty times in the case of every brilliant before it can be considered to be thoroughly polished, and to have acquired all the necessary fifty-eight 'sides.' The 'rose' diamond, with its smaller complement of twenty-four 'sides,' needs to be resoldered only about six times. "Many celebrated diamonds have been cut and polished in this factory, among them the 'Victory,' weighing 40 karats, the 'Mogul,' 20 karats, and the 'Regent of France,' now in the Louvre. The great 'Kohinoor' diamond was recut here, and although it lost half its weight in the process, its value has been more than doubled. "The West end is a thickly-populated section of the city, and it is considered important that a dock that can be used by both large and small boats should be maintained there. Very little dredging would put the dock in fit condition.

is so shallow that nothing but row boats and small launches can land there. It is intended to be for the use of large boats as well as small, but this appears to be another case where good intentions have gone wrong. The steamer Newsboy, in attempting to make a landing at the West end dock last evening, ran aground, and was gotten off with considerable difficulty to herself and considerable inconvenience to her passengers. It was found that the water was only five or six feet deep. "The West end is a thickly-populated section of the city, and it is considered important that a dock that can be used by both large and small boats should be maintained there. Very little dredging would put the dock in fit condition.

are alleged to have been withheld from the plaintiff. McGreevy claims that he was instrumental in getting Mr. Chisholm interested in the land and was promised an interest in the lease for his services. He claims that Mr. Chisholm delayed giving him the stock and that when the mine was proved to be a valuable one Mr. Chisholm offered the plaintiff about one-third the stock due him. It is alleged that over a million tons of high grade ore has been blocked out and that it is worth in the ground more than $1 a ton.

MAILBAG DEVICE NEEDED.
Fortune Awaits Man Who Can Solve Two Railway Problems.
Washington, June 28.—A large fortune awaits the man who invents a device to deliver mailbags from moving trains," declared Assistant Postmaster General McCleary. "A substitute for twine in wrapping up letters also will bring great riches to the inventor. "Men with brains have been experimenting for years to solve the problem of how mailbags shall be received from trains under full speed. "The government has hunted in vain for a practical device for catching these flitting bags. It will pay a big price for the use of a patent which solves this problem. "Whether buyers come to your store by ones and twos or by tens and dozens depends upon how convincing your store advertising is in The Herald.

CARRIERS GET PRAISE

After July 1 Salaries Will be Increased $50 a Year.

Clerks in Local Office Will Also Probably Get More.

After July 1, which is the beginning of the fiscal year, all of the mail carriers of this city will receive an increase in salary owing to the new law passed by congress last winter. The increase will be approximately $50 a year for all of the carriers. Notice to this effect was received today by Postmaster Guy Eaton from the department officials at Washington.

It has been expected that the clerks would also receive an increase and Postmaster Eaton recommended them all for promotion, but no notice has yet been received in Duluth that the clerks are to get the raise. Postmaster Eaton is still confident, however, that they will be granted the same increase as the carriers.

According to the interpretation of the new law by the postal department instead of three classes in the postal service there will now be six classes. Heretofore the Duluth clerks and carriers were in the third class, but they will now be in the third class in which the salary is $800 an increase of $50. Most of the clerks and carriers in this city are in this class.

After the first year under the new law the carriers in the $600 class will be promoted one class or given an increase of $100 every year until they are receiving $1,100 after which they will only be promoted upon the recommendation of their chief. The $1,400 salary is the limit in the service. At the present time the Duluth carriers will receive an increase of $50. In 1908 they will be raised $100 and again in 1909 another $100.

It is not known yet how many additional clerks and carriers will be granted the Duluth office this year. Postmaster Eaton has requested five more carriers and five clerks, but until the postal inspectors are here again and make an investigation of the need of the additional force nothing will be done in the matter. The department at Washington has already appointed a chief railway mail clerk for this city.

but the finance clerk asked for was turned down. After the report of the inspectors who will investigate the conditions here some time next month, the local postal officials will be notified whether or not the additional carriers will be granted.

LUNATIC WAS WISE

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Cor. New York World: Policeman Steve Maloney of the Omaha police force, spent an hour in St. Bernard insane asylum today while the insane man whom Maloney had taken to the asylum walked away and, with a man after convincing the asylum authorities that Maloney was the crazy man and that he himself had brought him to the place as a patient.

The patient was not violent and wore no shackles. Within the building as Maloney and his man entered a private room the lunatic shoved the door into the room and locked the door from the outside. Then he turned the key over to the authorities, telling them to watch their man closely. Afterward he calmly walked out of the building and disappeared. Maloney insisted that he was the policeman and became violently angry because he was kept a prisoner. Finally he asked that the police captain of Omaha be phoned for. The captain arrived, and Maloney was then released. The lunatic has not been arrested.

RACE FOR DEVIL'S CHAIR.

THIRDS: At Yarmouth, in St. Nicholas church (which, by the way, is the largest parish church in England), with a more wider even than that of York Minster) one of the most curious objects is known as the Devil's Chair. It is formed out of the huge jawbone of a whale, and stands at the west end of the church. When fisher lasses get married they think it good for the newly wedded couple to race from the chancel down the immense nave, and they believe that whoever reaches the Devil's Chair first will rule the roost in the little household they are about to set up.

WEST END TAKES WALK AND IS LOST

West End Child Has Entire Neighborhood Searching for It.

Three-Year-Old Wanted to Take in the Town.

Little Paulo Shubiski wanted to take in the town.

He wanted to see something new. The old familiar scenes in the neighborhood of Twentieth avenue west and Michigan street had begun to pall upon him. Although Paulo is only 3½ years old, as he stood in his father's doorway yesterday afternoon he suffered an acute attack of ennui and straightway recommended travel for himself.

He did not stop to say goodbye, but started off. He was simply attired in a little blue frock and a blue sunbonnet, and he carried a bunch of dandelions.

Past the familiar Esmond hotel, David Adams' print shop, and the back of Forward's store, he went. At Eighteenth avenue west, the green trees leading up the hill tempted Paulo and he turned toward Superior street.

Passing for a moment at that busy thoroughfare, he went on, up the hill into a strange part of the city. He was only four blocks from home but when one is 3½, four blocks from home is a strange part of the city.

Paulo kept strolling on. Occasionally he would stop for a minute or two and survey his surroundings. It was plain to be seen that Paulo was in no hurry; he had all the time in the world.

But all was not well at the Shubiski home, several blocks away. Mrs. Shubiski called to Rosie, from the back part of the house and wanted to know where the baby was. Rosie took an inventory of the front yard and the immediate neighborhood and reported that she didn't know where Paulo had gone.

This brought Mrs. Shubiski to the door with no further delay. A few looks around the house, the yard and the neighbor's doorsteps and yards did not reveal Paulo, but told the anxious mother that the child was lost.

Several of the neighbors offered their services as searchers and a number of little girls and a half grown youth or two joined in the hunt. For a time no clues as to the direction taken by the little wanderer were obtained. Finally in answer to the query: "Have you seen a little baby in a blue sunbonnet going along here?" He is lost," a child going up the hill on Eighteenth avenue.

When Paulo was restored to the arms of Mrs. Shubiski, he was being amused by the firemen at the station on Fleet street. He had been found asleep under a tree near at hand, and carried to the fire hall to be called for. He did not lose the dandelions, though.

ELECTION SEEMS CERTAIN.

Friends of J. J. Moe Would See Him Stay on Board.

It seems certain that J. J. Moe will return to the school board after the special school elections, to be held the third Saturday in July.

Along with those of Directors Washburn and Hendricks, the term of Mr. Moe as a school director expires next month and it was his intention not to allow his name to be used again for re-election.

However, so many earnest friends called on him and urged to consider another term on the board, that Mr. Moe finally decided that he would not oppose any movement on the part of his friends to bring about his re-election to the board.

Several petitions bearing his name are now being circulated in the West end, and he is in the hands of the clerk of the school board, Charles A. Bronson, before June 30, which is the last day nominating petitions can be turned in.

After June 30, the petitions will be looked over and the eight or so men receiving the greatest endorsement by the petition method will have their names placed on the official ballots, as regular nominees.

PAVEMENT IS MELTING.

West Superior Street is Pretty Soft at Present Time.

These warm days are melting the tar macadam pavement on West Superior street, and everywhere are dents where the iron shoes of big horses sank in, or ruts where the wheels of heavily-laden wagons have passed.

Last summer a circus was taken to task in court for denting the pavement with its heavy wagons, but during the past week, with the sun showering a genial warmth upon the streets and town, home talent has managed to perforate the pavement without any difficulty.

West End Shortfalls.

Richard Wallin of 2407 West Third street is now able to be out, after a week's illness.

B. B. Haugen delivered a lecture at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church last evening. A large audience heard him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fletcher and son of Cohasset, Minn., are in the West end, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Newman of 214 West Second street.

R. M. Stitt has returned from Hibbing, where he went the first of the week on business.

Dr. Arthur Sheelen of Hallock, Minn., is visiting his brother, J. A. Sheelen, of Twenty-third avenue west.

Elst Bergholm has gone to Bovey on the Coeuraine branch of the Milwaukee and St. Paul.

The banquet took place at an Eighth street restaurant and there were 100 guests. A notable feature was the fact that the wives and children of the guests sat down at the same table with the heads of families. A most elaborate menu, comprising birds' nest soup, steam stuffed duck, Fong Yon Ho, shark's fins and other rare and costly Celestial dishes were served.

The banquet cost the happy father $1,500. During the evening quite a number of prominent members of the San Francisco clearing house called at the restaurant to offer their felicitations to him. The hair-cutting ceremony, which was observed with picturesque rites, symbolizes that Fong Hoek's heir is now a factor in the family. The hair-cutting brought presents for the little son worth thousands of dollars.

FIFTEEN NEW CARS

Duluthians Adding Rapidly to List of Motor Vehicles.

A Number of Others Due to Arrive Next Month.

It has been charged that Duluth is not an ideal automobile town, and that as soon as her people awake to her advantages the attention of the city will be devoted to motor boating, rather than motoring on land. Duluth, has very evidently, however, failed to realize this state of affairs so far in her career, and the beautiful run up along the St. Louis river, the boulevard trip, the lake shore drive along London road, the Pike Lake run, and the other big, twenty-mile run to Two Harbors and a tri-city highway to St. Paul and Minneapolis, in the near future, have proved sufficient inducements to keep Duluthians interested in automobiles.

As evidence of this the record of the last two weeks may be taken. Since June 1 there have been no less than fifteen new automobiles registered in this city, and by far the greater part of them are big, six-cylinder touring cars of the most expensive and finest makes.

Louis Ransford of West Duluth has a red Rambler touring car, 118 C. A. Luster of the Clyde Iron works has a Pope, Waverly runabout, 119. Frank P. Nyberg has one of the big Thomas Flyers, an especially handsome car, 120. W. J. Power has a big Lincoln touring car, 121, which is one of the snappiest cars in the city. J. F. Killorin's big Packard, 122, adds to the big list of Packards already in the city. Packards and White steamers are more numerous than any of the other big cars, and the Maxwells lead the runabouts in numbers.

Mrs. Stephen H. Jones has a Pope Waverly electric runabout, 123, while F. A. Pauk has registered a Maxwells, 124, and two Knox delivery drays, 125, 126, within the last week. A. E. Swedberg has one of the Red touring cars, with detachable top, 127.

W. H. Cole has a White steamer, 128, which has been brought to the city this week, and is the first of West Duluth has a new Maxwell runabout, 129. One of the late additions is William S. Maynard's new Stevens Duryea, which was brought to the city this week, and is the first touring car of its make in the city.

C. H. Munger's Woods electric was registered on Tuesday, and C. A. Payne, with a motor cycle is the last of the motor vehicles to be brought to the city.

J. P. McCarthy has this week received a new big red touring car, as his old car, 120, was sold. Besides this rather imposing list are a number of other cars, both touring and runabouts, for the city, which are due to arrive before the close of the month, or early in the next. The cars are arriving now were ordered during the winter, with the expectation that they would be here for the very first of the season, but the factories have been rushed far beyond their capacities, and the cars have not been able to catch up with back orders.

MURDERED BY INCHES.

Frenchman, Urged On by Sweetheart, Slowly Poisons Wife.

Paris, June 28.—Further developments indicate that a passionate romance surrounds the case of a man named Laforest, who is now in custody on charges of poisoning his wife.

The woman was an invalid, and was treated by her husband, who frequently gave her truces of food, which he claimed aggravated her condition. The dead woman's sister has declared that before her death the invalid confessed with tears that she believed her husband was poisoning her.

FACTS ABOUT FLOUR

Made White by Leaving Out the Part Which Helps Digest.

Modern methods of milling separate the parts of the wheat berry that contain the diastatic element, and furnish only the white flour made up almost entirely of starch.

One of the principle elements needed to digest starch has been left out in the process, and therefore the person who eats much white bread is almost sure to have intestinal troubles, for the starch does not digest properly and must, of necessity, decay, and cause all sorts of trouble.

Grape-Nuts food, on the contrary, is made up of the entire wheat and barley, and the processes of digestion as shown in the human body, are followed as exactly as possible, in a mechanical way, by the use of moisture, time, and warmth. No chemicals or other ingredients are used, but simple methods scientifically arranged.

In this way the starch of the grain is transformed into grape-sugar and the Grape-Nuts food, which appears in a granular form, shows on the outside of the little granules, glittering specks of this grape-sugar, which is not put on to the food from the outside, but is the result of the change of the starch into grape-sugar which works out to the surface, very much as the sap of the hickory or maple tree will frequently show in the shape of white sugar on the sawed-off ends of logs.

A handful of Grape-Nuts held to the light will show the little glittering particles of grape-sugar. It is naturally and scientifically predigested, therefore the food agrees with the weakest stomach. It must not be used in large quantities at one meal, for it is concentrated, and overfeeding of even the strongest stomach is undesirable.

Being perfectly cooked at the factory, the food can be served instantly with cream or good milk. There is a definite, distinct and unobtainable gain in nervous energy, and vitality when Grape-Nuts food is used. There's a Reason.

READY FOR THE FOURTH

Produce Dealers Are Looking for a Heavy Business.

Market Well Supplied With Both Fruits and Vegetables.

Local produce dealers say they are in a position to supply all the wants of the Fourth of July trade. The market, taken as a whole, is probably in better condition now than it has been at any other time this year. Independence day generally means an increase in the business of the commission men, particularly in the line of fruits. Probably so many Fourth of July picnics and other outings have something to do with this fact.

California fruits are coming forward in good shape, but the supply does not exceed the demand. The indications are that all varieties of fruits will command good prices until after July 4. After that time the market is well supplied with large Florida and Georgia watermelons, Texas and Oklahoma and Virginia new potatoes.

Conditions in the strawberry market are not so straitened this week as they were last. The Wisconsin and Michigan crops are being harvested, and numerous consignments of berries from those two states are being received on the local market. It is understood that Wisconsin has a very good crop, and that Michigan will begin arriving within the next four or five days. California and Washington cherries are moving forward freely, and there is still a liberal supply of Florida pineapples. There are also plenty of bananas.

There is a good supply of all kinds of green vegetables common to the Duluth market. Cucumbers, lettuce, spinach, cauliflower, asparagus, peas, beans, carrots, turnips, etc., are to be had in any desired amounts, and the prices are considered reasonable.

The butter and egg market offers little that is new. Creamery is slightly firmer at the same prices as last week.

The warm weather has had a tendency to advance the price of lemons, and there is a possibility of a famine in this fruit during the summer.

Rains in the South have retarded the receipts of new potatoes. The outlook is that they will command good prices until the home-grown varieties are placed on the market. This will be a month or more yet.

Tenatoes are cheaper and better in quality than they have been. Cucumbers are about the only kind of green vegetable that has not dropped in price during the last week or two.

Conditions might be better in the fish and poultry markets. But the supply is not so plentiful as they have been, and the market is not so good as it was a few weeks ago.

While the market is not so good as it was a few weeks ago, it is still a liberal supply of Florida pineapples. There are also plenty of bananas.

There is a good supply of all kinds of green vegetables common to the Duluth market. Cucumbers, lettuce, spinach, cauliflower, asparagus, peas, beans, carrots, turnips, etc., are to be had in any desired amounts, and the prices are considered reasonable.

The butter and egg market offers little that is new. Creamery is slightly firmer at the same prices as last week.

The warm weather has had a tendency to advance the price of lemons, and there is a possibility of a famine in this fruit during the summer.

Rains in the South have retarded the receipts of new potatoes. The outlook is that they will command good prices until the home-grown varieties are placed on the market. This will be a month or more yet.

Tenatoes are cheaper and better in quality than they have been. Cucumbers are about the only kind of green vegetable that has not dropped in price during the last week or two.

SUPERIOR NEWS

WAS TOUGH PRISONER

Fred Christianson Took Refuge In Chapel Of Hospital.

Trouble Arose Over Pretty Captain Of Salvation Army.

Fred Christianson is a bad actor. At least so the police think after the trouble he gave them this morning. Arrested for threatening to kill, he drew a sentence, broke away, and was recaptured, fought against being mugged, and finally fought against going to jail, so that the officers had to beat him almost into insensibility before they could handle him.

The pretty little captain of the Finnish Salvation Army corps here was the sole cause of Christianson's downfall. He was a sailor on one of the boats coming into Superior and being attracted by the leader of the Salvation Army corps, he decided to forsake the life on the water and make Superior his home. He began to attend the Salvation Army meetings regularly and was not slow in showing his affection for the captain.

He was insanely jealous of her and, though his attentions were not acceptable, he continually forced them on her. Whenever she talked or walked or labored in pursuit of her duties with other men, Christianson gave such a display of jealousy that she began to fear him. His jealousy finally got him into trouble.

After the services last night, the captain walked home with Chief Allen, and Christianson saw them. He threatened Allen's life, saying he would cut his throat and perform other deeds, and Allen feared he would carry out the threats. So he swore out a warrant for Christianson's arrest. Christianson was brought into court this morning and arraigned on the charge. He was sentenced to three months in jail with the stipulation that he would be released under bonds of $300 to keep the peace. He couldn't furnish the bonds, so was remanded to jail.

While descending the stairs from the courtroom to the police headquarters, Christianson suddenly made a break, and before the officers had recovered, he had reached the door and the open air. Detective McGowan gave chase, and there was a merry race. For six blocks the fleeing prisoner led the officer through alleys, and yards, and barns, and houses, the officer continually keeping his prey in sight. Finally Christianson dove through a fire hole in St. Mary's hospital, ran up stairs through the corridors, and took refuge behind the organ in the chapel. There he was discovered by the officer and once more taken into custody. Christianson's break led the officers to believe that he might be more than appeared on the surface, so they decided to "mug" him. Christianson didn't take kindly to the proceeding. He fought, and kicked, and scratched, and bit, and put up a fearful struggle. As he is a man over six feet tall, and weighing close to 200, the officers had no easy time, but they finally secured a rather poor picture of him. Christianson started things again when the officers prepared to take him to jail. He objected to going down on Tower avenue to take the car, saying he didn't want anybody to see him. The officers wouldn't take him up Hammond avenue, so the prisoner started another fight. He was a tough proposition, and finally the officers had to use him pretty roughly before he was sufficiently subdued to go along quietly.

ADJOURNED SESSION.

Superior Council Will Discuss Licenses and Lighting.

There are likely to be some warm fights over a number of liquor licenses which were laid over from Tuesday's session at the adjourned meeting of the Superior council tonight. The Civic league, led by President Villars will be on the scene and a number of the saloon men are said to be engaged in backing one or two of the licenses themselves.

Before the meeting a discussion of the lighting problem by a committee of the aldermen and the mayor will be held, and a one-year contract with the lighting company will be discussed.

LAST SESSION.

Board of Education Will be Radically Changed This Year.

The old board of education will hold one last long session this evening in an effort to get all the routine work out of the way before the new board comes into office next Tuesday. The new board is a decided change from the old. George C. Cooper being succeeded by Louis Hanich, Louis Williams succeeded by W. F. Cowdin, John Holman taking the place of H. P. Booth, and T. J. Oyaas representing the Ninth ward as successor to J. A. Campbell. Supt. Maddeck is expected home from his vacation today.

Case is Dismissed.

Mrs. Beesie Fisher, the woman charged with relieving Fred Goodman of $60 in a Hammond avenue resort was released yesterday on a motion by Assistant District Attorney McKay. It seems that the money had been returned to its rightful owner, and he refused to testify. Under these conditions the dismissal was advisable.

After Convention.

The Sons of Norway from Superior at the big convention of the order now on at Chippewa Falls, Wis., will make strenuous effort to land the next convention for Superior. Nearly 150 Superiors will be at the convention which will be attended by members from Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas, and a determined effort will be made to bring the next affair to the Head of the Lakes.

Judge Ostrander Dead.

Judge Dempster Ostrander, who delivered the commencement address to the first class which ever graduated from the Superior normal, died in Chicago yesterday morning. Judge Ostrander was the father of the late Frank Ostrander, who was president of the Northwestern National bank of Superior. Judge Ostrander had often visited Superior, and had a wide circle of acquaintances here.

School Board Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the school board tonight, when contracts will be let for the construction of cement sidewalks around the schools and also for repairs to some of the buildings. The contract for supplying coal for next year will also probably be let tonight.

Ten Vags Up.

Ten vags, typical specimens of the summer rover, appeared before Judge Parker in police court this morning, having been gathered in by the officers during the night. Each had a prize hard luck story, all different, some original, and some badly frayed by fre-

MESSAGE IS DELAYED

Grain Company Sues the Western Union For Damages.

Had to Repurchase Flax at a Higher Price.

Claiming that they were damaged to the extent of $7750 by a flax deal by reason of the delayed transmission of a telegram to William Porter of Crystal, N. D., the Minnesota Grain company has started a suit against the Western Union Telegraph company, in district court, to recover that amount.

In the complaint, which was filed today by Alexander Marshall, attorney for the grain company, it is alleged that the plaintiff, who was handling 4000 bushels of flax for Porter, sold 2000 bushels at $1.12 1/2 and 2000 bushels at $1.12 1/2, notice for confirmation being given Mr. Porter in the usual way by telegram, sent the same day as the sale, Dec. 27, 1906. It is claimed that Mr. Porter did not get the telegram until Dec. 28, indicating a delayed transmission of the message for two days more than twenty-four hours, the usual time for confirmation having expired.

It is alleged that Mr. Porter repudiated the sale and that the Minnesota Grain company had to repurchase for him 4000 bushels of flax. The market for 2000 bushels and $1.17 1/2 for the remaining 2000, causing a loss to the company of $7750 by reason of the advance in the price of flax.

GOLFERS ELECT OFFICERS. Marshalltown, Iowa, June 28.—The Iowa State Golf association today elected Lloyd R. Maxwell of Marshalltown, president; Henry Ferguson of Cedar Rapids, vice president; and Warren Dickinson of Des Moines, secretary-treasurer. The Des Moines country club, which were chosen for the next tournament.

CHERMAR IS HELD FOR THE KILLING

Charged With Slaying His Nephew, He Waives Hearing.

Houghton, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—On his examination for the murder of his nephew, Rudolph Cerny, last Sunday night, Albert Chermar, an aged Bohemian of Houghton, did not deny having killed the young man, but alleged self-defense. He waived examination and was bound over for trial at the next term of the district court, which will convene here during the first week in September.

The case has awakened more than the usual amount of interest in Houghton county, as all of the participants and the victim of the shooting were quite well known in Bohemian circles throughout the district. Chermar is a patriarchal-looking old man of about 60 years, while his nephew, the victim, was about 32 years of age. Both were first-class molders, employed at the Carrol foundry here. The shooting occurred after Cerny had been ordered from the house by Mrs. Chermar and when he returned with a companion. It seems that Chermar and Cerny had quarreled over their wages, and Chermar expected an attack from the younger man. He fired through two open doors from the front of the back of the house and killed Cerny instantly.

MARKET DAY SATURDAY.

Verndale Plans Novel Method for Drawing Trade From the Country.

Verndale, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Verndale will have a market day Saturday, and the event is expected to be a red-letter one among the local merchants.

It will be the first market day of this year, the event having been originated last year. The plan is for each merchant in the village to have a special price on certain articles, which attracts a large trade on market day.

A program of sports and games has been prepared for the entertainment of farmers and other visitors on Saturday, and as a special attraction, the Staples band has been engaged to furnish music during the day.

The program will be a two-mile auto race. The Verndale and Motley baseball teams will play a game for a purse of $100. A free lunch will be served to everybody who is in the village that day.

Clearance Sale prices now prevail, suits, raincoats, top coats reduced. "Fitwell."

ACTIONS OF HARRIMAN

On the Race Course Has Caused Considerable Comment.

New London, Conn., June 28.—The arrest of E. H. Harriman for interfering with the varsity race last evening was the talk of the river today. Mr. Harriman was not spoken kindly of by the boating men, who year after year have labored hard to make it possible for crews to row a twenty-minute race without having the lives of the oarsmen endangered and the sport of the race spoiled by fast boats.

When Lieut. Billard returned to the Gresham last evening he turned Mr. Harriman over to Capt. J. L. Sill of the revenue cutter Dexter, who was the senior officer in charge of the course. Capt. Sill ordered Mr. Harriman's power boat tied up at the navy yard and then allowed Mr. Harriman to go down the harbor and board his yacht, the Sultana, which is lying off the Pequot house. Mr. Harriman immediately left. Mr. Harriman had with him last evening a party of about twenty persons, who were with him when he was arrested.

Mr. Harriman is a student at the Groton school, where it is understood he is preparing for Harvard. Young Harriman had with him a school friend. Mr. Harriman also had with him on his power boat two ladies whose names were not learned.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

TO SUBSCRIBERS:

It is important when desiring the address of your paper changed to give both old and new addresses.

A VALUABLE LESSON.

The dairy convention which closed yesterday afternoon was in some respects the most valuable and most important meeting ever held in Duluth. Later, when the effort of which it was the start proves successful, and the rich country around Duluth is supplying this city with a large part of its food, its value and importance will perhaps be more evident than they are today.

All Duluth knows now what many of its citizens have known for years: that its surrounding territory is the greatest dairying field in the world. There is rich waiting for those who will come and take them, not only in dairying but in raising garden stuff for the Duluth market.

Besides bringing men from outside to tell Duluthians what wealth lies out of doors within reach, this meeting has had the additional result of showing how to get at it. Experts have told of the best methods for getting the best results, and have marvelled at the natural advantages already at hand. They have shown that while the wealthy farmers who have paved the way have performed a great public service, there is room for the little fellows, too, who can take forty or eighty acres, handle them intelligently and scientifically, and gain independence.

If this lesson is not lost, there are hundreds of workmen in this city today, living a hard existence that barely yields food and clothes and shelter, that will in a few years be free, happy and independent upon dairy and truck farms of their own near Duluth.

The market is here, and it will grow much faster than the supply. The natural advantages of soil and climate, unexcelled anywhere, are free to everybody. Land is cheap, though it cannot remain cheap very much longer.

Given a small tract of ground, near Duluth, with a soil that grows fodder that cannot be grown anywhere else, in the hands of a man of strength, energy and intelligence, and you have a comfortable and independent fortune in embryo. A few years of patient toil, in clearing and planting the land, a few cattle of good blood well cared for, with a greedy market ready to take at good prices all that can be produced, and a life of uninteresting and unprofitable toil in the city can be replaced by a life of comfort, of profit and of independence in the country.

Duluth owes a debt of gratitude to the men who have given their time, their energies, their intelligence and their money to the work of proving the facts about the country near Duluth that are now public property. John G. Williams, C. P. Craig, G. O. Hartley, S. F. Snively, J. U. Scheubert, J. B. McLeran and others have devoted infinite patience to the demonstration of their faith in the practicability of dairying and agriculture in this section, and have made the way clear for the men of less means but of no less energy who will populate the acres now idle and unproductive.

As a final evidence of what they had discovered they got together an array of experts in these lines such as this country has seldom seen and from the earnest tongues of these specialists the people of Duluth have learned the full truth.

Let the lesson be remembered.

A PRIVILEGE WITHHELD.

You can send a parcel from London or Yokohama to Duluth by mail, and send it very cheaply.

You cannot mail one of more than four pounds from Duluth to Ely, and if you send one of that weight you must pay 64 cents for it.

In France you can send a parcel weighing 661 pounds and have it delivered at the home of the addressee for 17 cents, and you can send twenty-two pounds anywhere in France for 30 cents.

In Germany, Switzerland and Sweden parcels can be sent by mail, the postage to be paid on delivery. Thus a man leaving a hotel unexpectedly can have his laundry mailed after him, without going to the trouble of writing to find out how much the express is—for of course it would go by express in this country—before sending for it.

You can avail yourself of the admirable conveniences of the parcels post plan if you are sending parcels to nearly any country in the world, but it is denied you if your parcel is intended for any point in your own native land. Since March 1 the postoffice department has made parcels post arrangements with Equador, Bermuda, the Windward Islands, Japan, Hongkong, Chili, Honduras, Peru and many other countries, but it has made none between Duluth and Hibbing, between New York and San Francisco, or between any points in its own territory.

John Wanamaker once said that there were four reasons why the United States has no modern parcels post system. They are as follows: The American Express company, the United States Express company, the Adams Express company and the Wells-Fargo Express company.

But it proposed to have a parcels post convention with Turkey, and the plan will probably be carried out. In view of these facts it is no wonder that the agitation for a parcels post is growing in this country. The only wonder is that it has not swamped congress long ago and forced it into action.

The campaign against the adoption of this convenience is supported by the express companies, who would, of course, lose a large share of the business they now enjoy if the parcels post plan were to be provided. In addition to them, however, there is opposition, which the express companies have made the most of, from the small merchants in small towns, who fear in it another opening for the mail order houses. It would help the country merchants as well, because by it they could send goods out on the rural free delivery routes to customers in the country, and increase their own business thereby.

There is no more reason why private companies should enjoy a monopoly of parcel carriage than there is why the carrying of letters should be turned over to them.

There has been much talk of late about making the express companies share some of their enormous profits with the people by reducing rates. The way to make them do it is to compel congress to give the people the parcels post.

SOUTH DAKOTA'S SHAME.

South Dakota is going to have a hard time, apparently, to redeem herself from the stigma of being the champion divorce factory of the Union.

The last legislature passed a law making it less easy to get divorces in that state, but it has not become a law because its opponents—you wouldn't think there would be any, but there are lots of them—have appealed to the referendum, and therefore the people will have to vote upon it before it becomes effective. This is a use of the principle of the referendum that was probably not contemplated by its advocates, but it is perfectly in accord with the provisions of the initiative and referendum law, because it has been referred to the voters by the proper number of petitioners.

The main attraction of the South Dakota divorce laws is that you only have to live in that state six months to become a citizen and thus to be able to avail yourself of their provisions. The grounds on which divorce is granted are no easier than they are in many other states, including Minnesota, but those living in states where divorce is difficult, and who can afford to live six months in Sioux Falls, find it convenient to go there to be freed from hateful marriage ties.

The new law requires a year's residence instead of one of only six months, or will it the people adopt it.

They probably will adopt it, but the divorce lawyers, the hotel keepers and others who profit by the divorce colony are putting up a strong fight, and the passage of the law at the polls will not be so easy as it would seem likely, in view of the fact that the people of South Dakota are pretty much like the people of other states, and are therefore not at all proud of the unpleasant notoriety the state has gained from its divorce mill.

In the meantime, the divorce courts are doing a great business. Those who wish to slip off matrimonial contracts that they do not like any longer are hurrying there to establish their residence in order to come under the old law before it is superseded by the new one. Sioux Falls is said to be full of seekers for divorce, and the colony there is larger than ever. As one observer puts it, it is a "sort of bargain sale rush."

The mere fact that South Dakota is trying to get rid of her unenviable notoriety is encouraging, because it shows that public sentiment is strongly against such trifling with a sacred contract, and that its influence is working toward reform.

The whole thing has been absurd. A person who goes to South Dakota, lives there six months, gets a divorce and then goes back home again, is no more a citizen of South Dakota after he gets his divorce than he was before he started from home. Perhaps he is legally, but it oughtn't to be regarded as legal to establish a residence for such a purpose, and for that purpose only, when the residence is to be abandoned when the purpose is attained.

CITIES AS HOMES.

Charles Mulford Robinson, "civic expert," says: "There is a new conception of cities, based upon a qualitative, not the quantitative, analysis."

He means that we in this country are ceasing to believe that size is everything, and are beginning to pay some attention to other things, such as the comfort and convenience and happiness of the citizens.

It is a splendid change, too, though it has not yet reached the full completeness that it deserves.

Which is the better: a city of a million people, misgoverned because everybody's business is nobody's business and the business of government is left to self-seekers, with large and horrible slums, with thousands of unemployed, with their families suffering for the necessities of life, because the congestion is so great that it is impossible to find work for all; or a city of a few thousand, cleanly and economically governed, with parks and public playgrounds, with tidy lots and well kept lawns and gardens, with no slums to bother with and with everybody working and drawing good wages because there is no congestion, and because there are no more men than there are places? Which of these two cities would you prefer to live in?

Of course the citizen takes pride in his city's growth. Duluth is growing. Within a very few years it will double its population, and its people are proud of it. But growth is not the only thing. A city is a place to live in; a home for a great family. It should be looked upon in that light, and without abating efforts toward producing growth, work just as hard should be done toward making this great home a pleasant and comfortable place to live in.

Duluth is already pretty well cared for in this respect, but there is need of greater public attention to details. There are many yards and vacant lots that don't look at all like you would like to have any corner of a home look. There is need of more parks and children's playgrounds. There is need of greater attention to Duluth as a home rather than as a mass of separate homes.

A few years ago Chicago, for instance, was clamoring for growth, and it got it, accompanied by a mass of slums that smelt to heaven, a horde of paupers, and a mass of men unemployed most of the time. Now it is working instead upon a plan that will cost about $25,000,000, of which $11,200,000 has been provided in a recent bond issue, for making Chicago a better place to live in. St. Paul, again, is planning to cut two great avenues through its heart leading to the state capital. The sole idea is to make the city more beautiful and more pleasant to live in.

The spirit that puts plants in the window of a home that garnishes the walls with pictures and the floors with pretty carpets and rugs, is the same spirit that will, carried out into civic duty, make parks and driveways and public playgrounds. The idea in each case is to make the home and the city, which is the home of homes, pleasant to live in.

This is real June, not denatured like April and May.

Buffalo Bill is riding an automobile. How times do change!

Ruef is said to be a nervous wreck. He and Schnitz are several other kinds of wrecks, too.

The real attack on the trusts hasn't begun yet. It will have to be made over the tariff wall.

The day is coming when the dairy and agricultural product of St. Louis county will bear comparison with the value of its iron product.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"The solution of the tramp problem came in for a good deal of discussion at the meeting of the National Association of Charities at Minneapolis the other day," said M. S. Mason of Minneapolis at the McKay. It was estimated that there are about 250,000 tramps on the railroads of the country at the time, and that they do damage to the roads at perhaps $2,000,000.

"The best way I can see to reduce this evil is for the states to take hold of it and make the tramps work. Put them on the new roads which are being built everywhere and make them keep at it for a comparatively long time. Tramps will soon avoid places where they know they will have to work. Then, whatever cost they are, in the long run would come out of the state tax, and would be so small as not to be felt by the taxpayer. They should be a state police, or some way of inducing the country to help. Too often the railroad's special officers find them in trying to have the tramps punished. Sometimes the local police will look passive in while the tramps violently resist arrest."

"The tramps have been helped in their bold and brazen attitude toward railroad men by the general feeling throughout the country that the tramps are to be pitied. It is also the latter section of the country that is the worst for them. The slow easterly movement of the weather has put the pressure areas in St. Louis and Douglas cities during tonight and Saturday."

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, June 28.—Local forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesabi and Vermilion ranges: Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, with occasional showers; wind, continued warm westerly; fresh southwesterly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

Chicago, June 28.—Forecast until 7 p. m. Saturday: Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Saturday, warmer Saturday and in north and west portions tonight. Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday, with fresh southerly tonight and Saturday; generally fair weather.

The Message of the Places.

I love the southern sycamore trees. They're old and grand and fine. But they don't mean half so much to me as the old apple trees in my yard. The pine that rears its head aloft in the heart of the forest, and the whisper, "Courage, weather it, and you'll win out at last!"

How often in my childhood days I've learned to love the world that God's own hand has made! I've watched the birds in the bay that shimmer through the trees, and the white seagull borne aloft upon the fresh breeze.

There to the west I see them still—The purple mountains rise, And memory recalls again—Ideal summer skies—So clear and blue and bright at dawn, So gorgeous when the setting sun In golden slinks to rest!

And 'round about me everywhere—The blue trees, the blue bay, So straight and strong, so darkly green—Against the blue of sky—And my fancy heard them murmur, "We brave and strong and true! God gave you life—be happy!" For the world has made of you!" —MARGUERITE STEWARD in Y. W. C. A. Journal.

THE WEATHER.

Another day of delightful warmth, of clear skies, of genial breezes, and of a sun that bathed the world in a warm glow. You could hardly call it hot, in comparison with what other cities call hot, though the sultry corners were the more comfortable. Yesterday's highest temperature was 82 degs., and last night's lowest was 58 degs. The weather man expects the warm weather to continue tonight and tomorrow with fresh southwesterly winds, though there may be local showers.

A year ago today a very thick fog settled down over the city, in the midst of which came an unusually sharp thunder storm.

The sun rose this morning at 4:15, and set tonight at 8:07, making 15 hours and 52 minutes of sunshine.

Fair weather prevailed generally during Thursday and last night, except that showers fell over the Mesabi and Vermilion ranges, due to barometric disturbances central over the Atlantic and Western Canada, due to barometric disturbances central over the Atlantic and Western Canada. SEASON IS VERY DULL Recruiting Officials Unable to Find Men for the Service.

Army, Navy and Marine Stations Have Few Applicants.

Duluth recruiting officials are just now experiencing about the dull season of the whole year as far as their line of business is concerned. Although everywhere in Duluth is as busy as can be the government army, navy and marine representatives whose work is to hustle up recruits, find that they are up against the real thing and that recruits are a minus quantity. For one thing there are no few idle men in this city that the only people a recruiting officer sees on the street whose appearance would indicate that they might enlist, are worthless tramps or tourists. The better class of people whom the officers prefer to secure for these towns are all too busy and readying too good pay, to be induced to join the service.

At the naval recruiting station in the federal building, hardly a recruit has been secured for weeks past, and the outlook for the summer is not very good. As a general thing the service in the navy is the most popular of all three, but in Duluth this does not seem to be the case as the navy recruiting office finds it very hard picking in this district.
The army office has the largest force of men attached to it for the purpose of securing men, but they too find it hard to get any recruits at this time of the year. This office has several branch stations at points in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the officials in these towns are of considerable help in rounding up rookies for the service.
The marine office also has quite a force of men on hand to do recruiting duty but they are finding it just as difficult as the army and navy men. On account of the frequent moving about the service in the marine corps is generally a popular one but at present the difficulty of men is too great and hardly any recruits are being secured. There are few men moving about the country at the present time who would be likely to join the service and the dull season will probably continue until fall.
"It is simply impossible to secure men this summer," said Chief Yeoman Shaw, in charge of the navy station yesterday.

"Everyone seems to be busy and there is so much work for laborers to do in Duluth that none of them can afford to be idle and it leaves us with nothing to do during the summer. I expect that things will be better after the middle of August or the first of September, but until then we will have a slow time of it."

PENCIL USED BY SENATOR KNOX

On Declaration That He is of the Roosevelt Type.

Washington, June 28.—Politicians and public men who have analyzed the class of Yale law school by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, have come to the conclusion that it is an endorsement of the basic principle of the platform upon which he is standing as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president. They regard it as a declaration in favor of conservatism in government, and an exhortation to the Republican party not to be carried away from its old moorings by the doctrines of radicalism. They consider it, moreover, equivalent to a pledge that if elected, there would be an end to the uneasiness and disquietude which now, apparently, permeates the business fabric of the country.
Mr. Knox's appeal for a more respectful regard for the constitution serves to call attention to a number of propositions which President Roosevelt has been advocating, but whose constitutionality is seriously questioned by men who are an authority on that famous instrument.
It recalls the president's suggestion that he may ask congress at its next session to extend the authority of the interstate commerce commission so as to embrace intrastate railroads on the theory that they are post roads; to the advocacy of a law granting federal licenses to corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and to his recommendation that a tax be imposed upon inheritances and income not necessary for revenue purposes, but rather with the object in view of curtailing the size of rapidly growing fortunes.
The politicians construe the senator's remarks upon the constitutional limitations of the power of congress as direct criticism of some of the advanced policies and governmental theories of the president, and an announcement that his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the presidency is predicated upon an altogether different premise than that of Secretary Taft, or any other man who ultimately may be selected by Mr. Roosevelt as the administration candidate. In other words, Mrs. Knox, it is argued, does not wish to pose as a Rooseveltian candidate for president, but prefers to go before the people as a candidate of conservatism instead of radicalism.

In this connection an interesting story is being related by friends of the Pennsylvania senator. When the draft of the resolution that way to be adopted by the Republican state convention at Harrisburg a few weeks ago was presented to Mr. Knox for his approval he used the blue pencil on certain portions of it. He is said to have expunged a declaration that he was a resident of the state of Pennsylvania, and a statement that he was a descendant of the titled Dudley and Stanley families of England. Now, my boy, I am looking for a wife who has some money. Introduce me to one and I will give you $1,000.
Young McVey thought of Irene Clayton, who has an interest in two farms worth perhaps $30,000.
Stanley admits that he knows the history of the bogus "Lord" Douglas, that strange blamist, who married Miss Josephine Hood of New Iberia, La., more than a year ago and disappeared with her. The age and appearance of "Lord Douglas" were not those of "Lord Stanley."

LEFT HIS BRIDE OF SINGLE DAY

Ostensibly to Secure a Conveyance for the Honeymoon.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 28.—"Lord Stanley, earl of Aberdeen," has mysteriously disappeared and men on horseback and in automobiles are scouring Maryland for the errand bridegroom.
"Lord" Stanley, who claims to be King Edward's cousin, married Miss Irene Clayton, a wealthy spinster, of Calvert, in defiance of the vigorous opposition of the lady's brothers.
It was shortly after 6 o'clock next morning that the earl informed his bride that he was going to procure a team in order that they might start upon their honeymoon as soon as possible.
"I'll go over to Rising Sun, hire a team and then come right back," he told "Lady Stanley."
The earl started to walk to Rising Sun. He had not gone very far before some of the vigilant farmers saw him. Thinking he was trying to get away, they followed him and he was soon surrounded by a mob of farmers. Stanley's bride, who is 24 years of age, had known him twelve days, and they were engaged just a week.
On the afternoon of June 22, a man looked over the fence at the farm of Joseph McVey.
"Want any help?" he inquired.

"What can you do?"
"Anything in your line."
McVey employed the stranger, who, within four hours, took Joe McVey, the son of the farmer, aside and said: "I am not an ordinary person. I am a descendant of the titled Dudley and Stanley families of England. Now, my boy, I am looking for a wife who has some money. Introduce me to one and I will give you $1,000."
Young McVey thought of Irene Clayton, who has an interest in two farms worth perhaps $30,000.
Stanley admits that he knows the history of the bogus "Lord" Douglas, that strange blamist, who married Miss Josephine Hood of New Iberia, La., more than a year ago and disappeared with her. The age and appearance of "Lord Douglas" were not those of "Lord Stanley."

KIMONA AND SLIPPERS

All That Millionaire Wore as He Walked the Streets.
Pearla, Ill., June 28.—Peter A. West, millionaire distiller, promenade eight blocks through the business streets of the city, clad only in his wife's kimono and pair of slippers. At the end of his journey he received $1, the amount of a wager made by James Brown, a friend, who bet him this amount that he would not wear the flimsy garment from his office to the cleaning establishment where his wife had asked him to deliver the kimono.
West, who is nothing if not a sportsman, was the vagar at once, doffed his own clothes, donned those of his wife, and made the trip. It was during the busiest hour of a busy trading day. The streets were crowded with shoppers, and he was soon the cynosure of all eyes. Hundreds of youngsters followed him and his friends rallied at him unmercifully, but he marched on triumphantly and won the bet.

DROPPED BOTH WIVES

And Escaped Prosecution for Having More Than the Law Allows.
Terre Haute, Ind., June 28.—Harry Moody, a contractor, has got rid of two wives and avoided trial on a charge of bigamy. Some months ago he was married to Miss Stella Hollingsworth under the belief that his first wife had procured a divorce in St. Louis fifteen years ago. Soon after the marriage his mother-in-law heard of the former marriage and she prevailed on her daughter to bring suit for separation. Moody hunted up the first wife and found that she had not procured a divorce, whereupon he brought suit for divorce from his first wife and for annulment of the second marriage and all this has been accomplished.

NO CAUSE FOR FEAR

Wall Street Fairy Tales Will be Dispersed by Crops.

No Panic, Financial or Industrial, is Likely to Occur.

New York, June 28.—The slackening of business speed demanded by the large financial institutions is testing the brakes to the utmost and it looks now that as in 1902 the activity of affairs from Maine to Alaska will compel a loosening up of the obstructive forces. If the crops progress as favorably for the next thirty days as they have done for the past ten days the flood of orders for everything used or consumed by the agricultural population of the United States will exceed in volume even the record-breaking years of 1905 and 1906.

The whole power of trade repression exercised by the moneyed powers of the Eastern cities is concentrated now in the single line of prognostications of less than normal crop yields. Average yields of cotton, wheat and corn once assured, away goes the artificial depression which Wall Street influences attempted to spread over the country. Very few persons yet have been seriously injured by this effort to frighten timid investors and cowardly business men with phantoms of financial disaster. The country at large is not being injured by exposures of abuses in corporate bodies, but is, on the contrary, benefited by the cutting out of the dishonest and unscrupulous practices. The body of the business men in the United States and the masses of the sturdy, self-respecting people of the country have emphatically shown their disapproval of dishonest men and dishonest methods, but have not lost faith in either the honest men or the correct methods of doing business.

During the Wall street depression of 1902 I heard scores of timid, seamy souls in business matters insist that a financial panic was due and was upon us. They did not appreciate the fact that financial panics are only caused by a lack of money and that in 1902 as in 1907 there was abundance of available cash and that each year for years ahead of the supply of cash will be increased by hundreds of millions of dollars. The gold mines of the United States alone this year will produce over $100,000,000 worth of gold and their production is growing so rapidly that it can be accurately predicted that by 1910 the yield of new gold in the United States alone will be upward of $1,000,000,000 each and every month.
The Rand in Africa is now producing wonderfully of new gold, exceeding all records of its own, and it has for years held the record of the world, giving below the statistics of production of the Rand for the first five months of each year, 1905, 1906, 1907, that the great increase may be definitely noted.

January, ounces	360,238	428,588	537,000
February, ounces	368,571	467,685	584,000
March, ounces	398,823	443,723	628,000
April, ounces	398,106	423,243	537,000
May, ounces	416,366	461,072	524,000

Last month, May, 1907, this treasure house of Africa gave to business 53,000 ounces, or the equivalent of $1,400,000 in new cash that does not have to be redeemed, but goes on forever to discharge debts or purchase necessities or luxuries as the case may be. If this for one month it would be a great benefit to the world, a strong and sure prop to business, but a study of the table will show that the Rand has averaged that great sum for every month of the present year. With such a production of gold at home and such a vast monthly supply assured to scatter to the four quarters of the globe in financial and commercial enterprise, it is to be wondered at that from the Rand circle to Panama to the New England, from Darlin to Suez and Manila, there is a volume of business such as the world never before dreamed of. Mr. Rushes over the earth's surface in automobiles. He searches the depths of the rivers, lakes and oceans with his submarines. He flies through the air with a score of new devices. He flashes his wireless without wires, and utilizes the earth with the products of the atmosphere. He builds palaces and mansions in the mountains, cities in the wilderness, and cultivates the deserts. He is doing all this by means and through the power he can exert with an ever increasing currency, the product of the dollar itself becoming a robber by the increase in value and purchasing power. The opportunities opened up for the employment of labor by this great stream of new money guarantees to the poor man plenty of work at good wages; to the merchant this means growing trade; to the manufacturer, sustained demand for all he produces; to the transportation companies, profitable business; to the banker stable funds and few losses; to the country in its entirety peace and prosperity.
The fearful, trying times of the panics of 1857, 1873, 1892 and 1893 cannot be repeated in the face of this great stream of new money, a perfect panic destroyer as it is. Not one of those panics would have lasted four months if the remedy of plenty of new money could have been provided.
It is now provided by nature, and financial panics are now temporary, localized and no longer to be ruinous to a nation or the world. One of the most striking effects of the railroad reform which is sweeping the country is to be observed in the number of leading railroad presidents and corporation lawyers who have suddenly blossomed out as moralists, essayists and lecturers. It has brought into play their best qualities, consciences that were thought to be sealed are suddenly sensitive, tongues that were silent are now eloquent as Fulton or Bonnet. Men of affairs are galvanized into sentimentalists, and the country has been favored by some of the most specious special pleadings ever promulgated.
These men are able men. They occupy their positions because they have been found to be able in various ways. The majority of them, however, represent complaints who cannot come into court with clean hands or straight records, and they fail to convince the public jury that this moral awakening of railway managers is either deep or sincere. Meantime railway earnings continue to slow down and increases both in gross and net earnings, as compared with even the immense earnings of the months of 1905 and 1906.
The railways need more men, the farmers require additional labor, the mills of New England and the South never employ more. Given even average crops for the country, and by Sept. 1 the railways will again be glutted with freight they cannot dispose of, refusing cargoes they cannot carry.

GIRL BABY'S AWFUL ECZEMA

Sight of Eye Destroyed by Disease—Tried Five Doctors but Grew Worse—in Agony Eight Months—Parents Discouraged, Until They Tried Cuticura Remedies

IN ONE WEEK ALL SORES DISAPPEARED

"Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema on that was what the doctor said it was. We called in the family doctor and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething, as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she still grew worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yearling, greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we awoke to a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we phoned for doctor No. 3. He came over and looked her over and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to doctor No. 4, doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not be the eczema, but if we had had Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1906."

REFORMED WITH KNIFE.

But Blow on the Head Made Leo Bad Again.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 28.—Surgeon made a good youth out of Leo Deon, aged 14 years, formerly known as "Cleveland's bad boy," but they had all kinds of trouble in doing so. That as the opinion of Juvenile Judge Adams, who discharged Leo that he might go home with his mother. Leo was charged with having refused to turn over a revolver that had dropped out of a policeman's pocket. He denied the charge in court, and told such a reasonable story that the court refused to hold him.
Some time ago surgeons cut into Leo's skull and raised a bone. Subsequently the lad became one of the best boys in the neighborhood, but recently was hit on the head by a hammer falling from an awning and returned to his old habits again.

PLEA FOR MERCY

In Behalf of Man Who Slandered Her Made by Matron.

Piqua, Ohio, June 28.—A forgiving spirit was shown by the prosecuting witness in the probate court toward Samuel Yantis, a young farmer, who had been arrested for criminal slander on the complaint of Mrs. Mary Favorite of Tippecanoe City. Yantis entered a plea of guilty to the authorship of slanderous talk involving Mrs. Favorite and the pastor of the church, of which she is the organist. When he admitted his guilt and vindicated Mrs. Favorite, she asked the court not to assess a fine, but to dismiss the case and remit the costs.
She said she did not desire to punish Yantis and that she had only wanted the vindication that she felt was given to her when Yantis pleaded guilty. The court respected her wishes and dismissed Yantis.

EMPEROR THANKS THE PRESIDENT

For the Remission of Greater Portion of Chinese Indemnity.

Oyster Bay, June 28.—The personal thanks of the emperor of China for the remission by the United States of the greater portion of the Chinese indemnity was conveyed to President Roosevelt yesterday by Sir Chen Tung Liang Chung, the Chinese minister. The telegram from the Chinese foreign office to the legation at Washington commending the thanks to be expressed to the president was made public as follows:

"Peking, June 28.—Your telegraphic report on the remission of the indemnity having been laid before the emperor, you are commanded to convey to the president of the United States his majesty's warm thanks for this noble exhibition of his friendship towards China, which is deeply and gratefully appreciated by having again taken the lead in a matter of international justice."

The Chinese minister upon leaving Sagamore Hill, where he was a luncheon guest of the president yesterday, expressed his hearty appreciation of the opportunity afforded him to carry out his majesty's commands before leaving the United States for China. Sir Chen Tung Liang Chung said he expected to sail for Peking next Wednesday.

GREED FOR BIG ESTATE

Led Nicolai de Raylan to Blackmail Her Mother in Russia.

Mystery of Her Life Told in a Well-Kept Diary.

Chicago, June 28.—The life secret—a plot to secure possession of a $125,000 estate—of Nicolai de Raylan, for years secretary to the Russian consul at Chicago, who, after masquerading as a man for eighteen years, was found after death to have been a woman, has been revealed.

The story of her reason for starting out on a career of deception that proved her one of the most accomplished actresses in the world and disclosed a Russian scandal that has been hidden for years, is contained in her diary and correspondence, which is in the possession of Nicolai Polubog, 45 Upton street, employed in the office of the public administrator. Here are the amazing facts disclosed:

Nicolai de Raylan's real name was Tatletsky. Her Christian name is unknown. She started on her remarkable career of deception in an effort to blackmail her mother in Russia. It became necessary to continue her disguise because she was sought for years by the Russian police. A compelling motive of De Raylan's entire career was an effort to prove that her mother had been masquerading as a girl when in reality she claimed she was a boy.

The figure of principal importance in the events that started De Raylan in her disguise was the late M. Constantin Petrovich Polubog, one of the most gigantic figures in modern Russian history, professor near Cresson, Pa., valued at $250,000 to the county for the purpose of erecting an insane asylum.

Fire which broke out at 1 o'clock Friday morning completely destroyed the Chalmers building at First avenue and Nineteenth street, Birmingham, Ala.

A quarrel between Bertha Wheeler, a dressmaker, 7 years old, and her step-mother, Mrs. Sallie Medlin, at St. Louis, Missouri, culminated in Mrs. Medlin being killed by a stone thrown by Bertha. She was struck between the eyes and died within a few minutes. The girl was arrested.

Fire early Friday morning in several frame buildings at the mouth of the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel, at the foot of East Third-third street, New York, imperiled the lives of scores of men at work underground. A second explosion, which was followed by a third, was so powerful that it was feared the tunnel would collapse.

Fire Thursday night destroyed the entire saloon section of Moreland, Ariz. The loss aggregates $400,000. Twenty-seven buildings were wiped out and there is only $300,000 insurance.

James Cornelius, the Canton wife murderer, who was captured three times by Governor Harris, was electrocuted in the annex at the penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, at 12:10 Friday morning. Cornelius killed his wife on Sept. 17, 1896, by crushing her skull with a window weight. She had sued for divorce.

Workmen unloading a carload of lime at Armstrong, I. T., found a human body in a box of small size. The bones are bare, the flesh having been eaten by the lime packed in the box. The car was billed from Henrietta. Federal officers are investigating.

They spent the day until late in the afternoon at the White City, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves playing on the beach, building sand houses and playing games among themselves.

The children were much interested in the wild animals at the White City zoo, and considerable time was spent by some of them in feeding the beasts. Watchful eyes were kept on the little ones all day by the sisters in charge, and no mishaps marred the pleasure during the day.

TO BUILD FIRST MONORAIL ROAD From Newark to Jersey City to Cost Five Cents.

New York, June 28.—Formal announcement is made here of a proposal to build a four-track elevated monorail road between Newark and Jersey City. The necessary capital has been obtained to finance the undertaking, which, it is predicted by Rapid Transit Commissioner John T. Starn, will prove the forerunner of radical changes in railroading.

It is the announced purpose to make the monorail road an ideal interurban system, as well as the cheapest for the public and the speediest. The fare from Newark to Jersey City will be 5 cents and from Jersey City to New York 10 cents.

This system is that invented by Howard T. Hunt, a civil engineer of Baltimore. The car is forty-seven feet long and six feet wide, and pointed at both ends to diminish wind resistance. It is mounted on two trucks of two tandem wheels each, which are flanged on each side. The single-rail car is held ac-

FIVE HUNDRED CHINESE DEAD

Fire Destroys a Theater in Hongkong, With Disastrous Results.

Victoria, B. C., June 28.—A horrible holocaust is reported in mail advices from Hongkong, where 500 Chinese of the audience of a Chinese theater and the actors were burned to death when the theater was destroyed by fire. The flames spread rapidly, and the building collapsed, blocking the escape of the audience. The origin of the fire is said to have been due to the lighting of explosives packed under the floor of the theater, the fire following the explosion.

Children From St. James Home Spend Day on Point.

The annual outing of the orphan children from St. James Catholic orphan home, Third street and Twentieth avenue west, was held yesterday on Park Point. The children left the home in a body in the early morning and crossed the canal on the aerial bridge at about 9 o'clock, after which they boarded four cars and were given a ride to the White City.

They spent the day until late in the afternoon at the White City, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves playing on the beach, building sand houses and playing games among themselves.

The children were much interested in the wild animals at the White City zoo, and considerable time was spent by some of them in feeding the beasts. Watchful eyes were kept on the little ones all day by the sisters in charge, and no mishaps marred the pleasure during the day.

TO BUILD FIRST MONORAIL ROAD From Newark to Jersey City to Cost Five Cents.

New York, June 28.—Formal announcement is made here of a proposal to build a four-track elevated monorail road between Newark and Jersey City. The necessary capital has been obtained to finance the undertaking, which, it is predicted by Rapid Transit Commissioner John T. Starn, will prove the forerunner of radical changes in railroading.

It is the announced purpose to make the monorail road an ideal interurban system, as well as the cheapest for the public and the speediest. The fare from Newark to Jersey City will be 5 cents and from Jersey City to New York 10 cents.

This system is that invented by Howard T. Hunt, a civil engineer of Baltimore. The car is forty-seven feet long and six feet wide, and pointed at both ends to diminish wind resistance. It is mounted on two trucks of two tandem wheels each, which are flanged on each side. The single-rail car is held accurately in an upright position by what is called the equilibrium device at the top. Supported above the car by iron vents on each side of the track are two small L-shaped rails about thirty inches apart. On these rails run balance wheels, which are attached to the ends of X-shaped wheels which surround a strong ladder-like truss arrangement at each end of the car.

The balance guide wheels also conduct the electric power from the two L-shaped rails to the motor. In Blackwood's addition to insuring absolute equilibrium does away, it is claimed, with the present inefficient trolley pole and the deadly third rail.

The man who never tries to trade something he needs slightly for something he needs badly overlooks a sure in the answer.

SELF-SATISFIED YANKEES.

A carrying Briton by the name of Whitley seems to be quite stirred up over the quality of the American brand of liberty and of patriotism.

"Liberty," said he, in the course of a few somewhat heated and over-capitalized remarks, in Blackwood's Magazine, "is a thing which no one in America can escape. The old inhabitant smiles with satisfaction as he murmurs the familiar word. At every turn it is clubbed into the unsuspecting visitor."

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and disease, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others.

When women are troubled with Irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case.

IS KILLED BY MARSHAL

Village Official of Sandstone Ends Murderous Man's Career.

Fred Thompson Slain While Attacking People With an Ax.

Sandstone, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Thompson is dead as a result of a murderous attack with an ax. Village Marshal Regan fired the shot which put an end to Thompson's bloody designs.

The affair happened Thursday. Thompson had a bad temper when under the influence of liquor and several times of late when in that condition had abused his wife. Yesterday he was in an especially quarrelsome mood. He chased his wife and son about the house with a large ax. They were calling for help when Jack Linnehan and Fred Byron appeared on the scene and Thompson attacked the latter. Linnehan grabbed him from behind and threw him down but his wife, introduced and begged them to let Thompson go. As soon as they started away, Thompson chased them a block with the ax. They met Marshal Regan and when they approached the house they were again attacked by Thompson. Regan commanded him to stop and fired close to him to scare him but he kept coming with the ax ready to strike. Regan fired again when he was about ten feet away and Thompson dropped to the ground, pierced through the right side. He was taken to a doctor and later sent to St. Paul, but he died before he reached there.

FAVORS RESERVOIR.

United States Engineer Advocates Building One at Gull Lake.

Brainerd, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. J. Dugan, a United States engineer, who is located in St. Paul and has charge of all the water gauges, etc., of the Minnesota reservoirs, drove to Gull Lake Thursday to put in some gages, so that the engineers might get a record of the height of the water at any time without trouble. Mr. Dugan stated that the present plan of the reservoir was fully up to the maximum height that would be maintained by the government dams if erected. Mr. Dugan is strongly in favor of the erection of the reservoir, and states that in his opinion much of the objection to the reservoir came from parties who were using the land adjoining it, who were using it rent free, naturally hate to see it overtopped. He said, however, that the dam was built, and would still leave a fine beach line on many parts of the lake.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

Warren—The grand jury has returned an indictment against T. Meahan of Olo chargin him with embezzling $700 from the Hamm Brewing company while employed at Olo.

Fairmont—Fairmont is trying to locate the location of the new hospital to be erected by the German Evangelical church.

Crookston—Sadie Brandt who suddenly left this city on June 19 and is alleged to have taken away her clothes and valuable belonging to Miss Fannie White of this city, has been arrested by the authorities of Hamilton, N. D. She will be brought to this city at once to answer the charge of grand larceny which has been brought against her.

Moorehead—Another box car robbery has been reported from the Northern yards and twenty-four pairs of shoes taken. A contract on June 28th and John Nordstrom commences the job July 1st on a four-year contract. On the same date J. W. Judah also commences his elongated route to Randon.

Albert Lea—A move on the part of the saloon keepers of this city has attracted considerable attention, and that is a petition to the city council asking that the price of a license to sell intoxicating liquors be reduced to $1,000 from the present price of $2,000.

Clouet—J. L. Lory and son Frank returned from Rochester, Minn., Tuesday, where the latter underwent an operation for the removal of his injured eye. Mr. Lory has words of highest commendation for the celebrated Mayo brothers, whose wonderful ability and great care and kindness to their patients is known throughout two continents.

Sandstone—Street Overseer Gunn has been doing some needed work on the streets in town during the week. Second street has been leveled and graded for two blocks, and Main street has been greatly improved from the roundhouse to fourth street. The hole at the lower end has been filled in and nicely graded, so that it greatly improves the appearance of the whole street.

TAKEN WITH CRAMPS.

Body Indicates That He Was Mattered With Young Whalen When He Drowned.

Spooner, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of young Whalen, the employee of the Shovel-Matthew Lumber company, who was drowned in the Rapid river, was found Wednesday afternoon. The body was all crumpled up, indicating that the unfortunate youth had been seized with cramps and that it was impossible for his companion to save him.

The body was taken to Minneapolls, the boy's home, for interment.

VICE PRESIDENT SURELY COMING

Definitely Announces He Will Speak at Fergus Falls.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Any doubt about Vice President Fairbanks coming here to deliver the Fourth of July address can be set at rest.

President Anderson of the Commercial club has received another letter from the private secretary to the effect that the vice president will leave St. Paul for this city on the afternoon of July 3, at 5:15 p. m. He will come on the Winnipeg Flyer, and will arrive here at 10:40 in the evening. This will give him a night's rest in the city, and he expects to spend the entire Fourth in the city. The distinguished visitor has no objection to speaking in the open air, and arrangements will accordingly be made to hold the exercises on the courthouse grounds. The vice president is en route for the West, and will visit the Yellowstone park and the coast cities.

CLAIMED BY APOPLEXY.

Old Citizen of Brainerd Expires Soon After Eating Hearty Meal.

Brainerd, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. W. Miller, a well known farmer living near town, died suddenly Wednesday of apoplexy. He ate a hearty dinner and was taken sick soon after, expiring in a short time. He had been engaged in market gardening here for over twenty years, and was very widely acquainted. He leaves a large family of whom are grown.

J. L. Smith of Minneapolis, who has charge of the Brainerd block, was gutted by fire Tuesday evening, stating that he will rebuild it as soon as possible.

The Brainerd Dispatch is located in the rooms adjoining the Brainerd Tribune. The presses of the latter paper are being utilized in the production of the daily until permanent quarters can be secured and new machinery installed.

The Christian Endeavor convention of the central district of Minnesota closed Thursday night here. There was a large attendance during the entire convention and much enthusiasm was aroused.

WANT NEW CHIEF.

Chippewa Considering Who Shall Succeed Their Dead Leader.

Hayward, Wis., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Scheff, Tehuacagoshik, ("In Sky Thunder,") chief of the Chippewas at Reserve, died at the Ashland hospital a few days ago. His remains were brought to Court de Cernue in the morning in the Catholic cemetery. He held the place of chief over twenty years, succeeding his father, Chippewagoshik, who was born at Billy Boys dam, sixty-two years ago. The Chippewas are debating the advisability of electing a new chief, as the only son is not competent to fill the place.

GRASPING AT STRAWS.

Wisconsin Saloon Men Would Attack Saloon Closing Law.

Seymour, Wis., June 28.—L. A. Stammer, a saloonkeeper here, has raised one of the most novel questions in the annals of temperance saloon contests. Stammer was recently arrested for keeping open his saloon after 11 o'clock, Sunday night. He will fight the case, claiming that the ordinance under which he was arrested should be closed each and all week days at 11 o'clock p. m.

Stammer claims that Sunday is not a week day.

TYPHOID FEVER HAS ALL BEEN CHECKED.

Calumet, Mich., June 28.—The typhoid fever epidemic is at a standstill in Calumet," said a prominent local physician. "There has been no increase in the number of cases during the past few days, and I am in hopes the epidemic has reached its close."

This physician has had no less than fourteen cases to take care of during the present outbreak, and is in a position to judge of the prevalence of the disease. He could give no specific reasons to account for the prevalence of the disease, although it is his belief that the water was not the cause of the cases, and is responsible. All of the cases under his direct supervision are progressing favorably, and as far as he was able to learn other cases existing in the township are on the road to recovery.

WALSH WILL RUN

For Senate, Despite Notoriety Due to Miss Watson's Suit.

Washington, June 28.—Unperturbed by the notoriety attending the connection of his name with the Violet Watson scandal, Thomas F. Walsh of Washington, has leased the house formerly occupied by Edward O. Wolcott, just outside of Denver, and he will be the mine owners' candidate for the United States senate in the Colorado legislature next winter, to succeed Senator Henry M. Teller.

The Walsh family have gone to Colorado to carry out the habit of having a residence there, although they have lived in the national capital for years. During the stormy a bolt of lightning entered through the window, and when another bolt struck the same room, got to him he was dead.

TOUGH ONES RUN THINGS

Two Desperadoes Put a Wisconsin Sheriff to Flight.

Officer Finds Himself Decidedly Up Against It.

Appleton, Wis., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Michael Lockery is a firm believer in the adage about the man who fights and decamps being better qualified to defend himself the next day. He had a little experience near here with a couple of desperadoes that confirmed his faith in the adage. It sank into his understanding when the bad men placed revolvers at his head, forced him into his carriage and compelled him to keep going.

Lockery was on his way to Medina to arrest a man for larceny. As he drove through the country he saw two men, both of suspicious character, by the roadside. One had a bundle under his arm which Lockery thought was a gun. As he asked for it one of the men, Bert Saeger, who had just finished a six-month sentence at the jail here, leveled a revolver at him. As the sheriff turned, the other man, believed to be Tom Cahill, of the famous "Red" gang, pulled another gun. They ordered the officer back to the carriage and said he would be killed if he did not obey.

Lockery was forced to give in and drove to Medina, where he organized a posse, which is now searching the woods for the two men.

AGED MAN LOST NEAR HIS HOME

Harold McGraw Sr. Has Very Harrowing Experience.

Menominee, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The oldest novel question in the annals of the town of Menominee, Mich., was asked by a man who, without food or water and too exhausted to cry out for help, Harold McGraw Sr., of Soperston, near this city, 85 years of age went through one of the worst experiences of his life from Sunday afternoon until the next morning.

But a mile from home and even less distance from the anxious friends who sought him, Mr. McGraw lay helpless and fainting by the side of a large tree until found by his friends, who broke the next morning. Suffering from the shock and exposure, the aged man is now in a critical condition at his home. Mr. McGraw is the father of Henry McGraw, a prominent lumberman of this city.

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

Pottersfield—While in the act of celebrating mass yesterday Rev. Father Von Sample was struck by a bolt of lightning and severely injured. Although he is in a critical condition, hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Madison—After a debate lasting nearly four hours the assembly Thursday non-concurred in the Wilcox bill for the Wisconsin tax on the National Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee from $10,000 annually to $20,000.

Immediately after the assembly the present system of taxing the company.

Ashland—The village of Onanah which has never been laid out like a village is for sale and plotted.

Ashland—A well known young man here has charge of a large force of men surveying the village after which it will be plotted.

Rever Dam—The Rev. G. H. Young, pastor of the First Baptist church, has accepted the call of the Baptist church at Superior.

Bay View—The annual convention of the West Wisconsin district of the Evangelical association is in session at Elk Mound.

Fountain—Miss Nettie Sevel, aged 39 years, was found dead hanging from a gas pipe in the cellar. She had been in poor health for two months.

Madison—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McKie left on last evening's Central for Abbotford. Mr. McKie found out that would be much more practical and more pleasant for himself, if he moved there, for he would be home more on account of his business taking him all over the world.

Brace—Nels Anderson, who lives four miles northwest of here, was struck and instantly killed by lightning. He was lying on a log when the lightning struck him. The storm was a bolt of lightning entered through the window, and when another bolt struck the same room, got to him he was dead.

UPPER MICHIGAN

TO EXTEND LINE WEST

Ann Harbor Railroad Plans to Build to the Zenith City.

Proposes to Make Menominee, Mich., Eastern Terminus.

Menominee, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are being perfected by the officials of the Ann Arbor railroad to extend the line from this city westward to Duluth and Minneapolis, making this city the eastern terminus on the west shore of Lake Michigan.

Iron ore in large quantities has been discovered on the lands of President Zimmerman of the Ann Arbor railroad. It is the intention of the officials to haul the ore to this city and then run the cars on to the gigantic car ferries of the company, shipping direct to Toledo and Cleveland, without ore docks or the handling of the ore from the time it leaves the mines until it arrives at the furnaces.

The Ann Arbor officials believe that Menominee can be made a winter port providing that the boats arrive here every day. If the ore can be shipped during the winter from this city, it will save stock piling and consequently thousands of dollars to the operators.

SAWMILL BURNS AT BARAGA, MICH.

The Town is Saved by Prompt and Energetic Work.

Marquette, June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire at Baraga early today destroyed the big sawmill of the Nester Estate company, causing a reported loss of $65,000, and throwing 300 men out of work. The town itself had a close call, as did large piles of manufactured lumber. It was necessary to summon a fire engine and tug from Portage Lake, the former being rushed to the town by special train.

FOURTH AT LAURIUM.

Officers Who Will Have Charge of the Big Celebration.

Laurium, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following officers will have charge of the arrangements and the celebration here on the Fourth:

Speaker of the day, Hon. George C. Bentley.

President of the day, Paul P. Roehm. Secretary, Peter Charrier. Treasurer, J. Bruce Patton.

General committee, M. E. O'Brien, W. R. O'Brien, Emil Maier, John C. Vivan, John B. Leary and William R. Oates. The president, secretary and treasurer are ex-officio members of the committee.

A meeting of those interested was held Wednesday night at the Laurium hotel. It was decided to hold a parade in the morning when the principal streets of the village will be traversed. There will be no floats in the parade, but invitations have been extended to several societies located in Laurium, and it is expected that they will take part. Auto will be included in the order of march, as well as carriages, containing officers of the American Society of Equity in the various communities.

WILL SCRUB NO MORE; MENOMINEE WOMAN LUCKY.

Menominee, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Ida Wroblek, a widow who has supported herself and family many years by scrubbing in the local offices and partly by charity of others has fallen heir to a small fortune of several thousand dollars left to her by a son. The woman was found sick in bed and her family almost destitute when apprised of her good fortune.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—Edward Cleet will build the ten new residence buildings on the property of the Keweenaw Copper company at the new Keweenaw village. Work on the buildings will be started at once.

Red Jacket—Complaint has been made to the authorities of a violation of the village ordinances relative to the occupancy of sidewalks for display purposes. It is claimed that some of the dealers in particular are violating this ordinance, and it is said Marshal True will take steps to have the situation remedied.

Houghton—Eddie Petersen of Sweden has been sentenced to ninety days in the Houghton county jail on a charge of disorderly conduct. The officers gave him a bad record for Petersen. They state that when he is introduced he behaves very badly and it has been necessary to arrest him.

Calumet—John Pantan of Duluth, head of the Pantan & White company, is in Calumet on business connected with the opening of the Pantan & White company's store in the E. Ryan estate building on Fifth street.

DAKOTAS JAP LABOR SUGGESTED

The Little Brown Men May Solve the North Dakota Problem.

Scarcity of Help is Drawback to Diversified Farming.

Minot, June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The employment of Japanese on farms of North Dakota is suggested as a solution of the present labor problem. Since the development of this section the labor question has been a difficult one to handle. The class of help available has been of a transient kind, hard to keep long on the same farm, and this has forced the farmers to raise wheat year after year, thus exhausting the land when with assurance of steady help more diversified farming could be undertaken without the soil becoming less fertile.

Some educated Japanese have been gathering data, and this has forced the American Society of Equity in this state, so hundreds of Japs could be given steady employment on adjoining farms. The idea of the ability of these little brown fellows to quickly learn the language, to adapt themselves to the conditions of the country, and regard the wages paid the hired men in this state as comparatively high. There is a question about the proposition such a plan would encounter from the labor unions, as the American Society of Equity is affiliated with the Federated Labor organizations. The union men are bitterly opposed to the Jap coolie. This would not appear in this instance, as the class of men that it is proposed to bring are above the coolies. They are more enterprising and intelligent and can be easily procured because of the hard conditions attendant on agriculture in Japan and the over supply of men for the work.

The proposition may be submitted to the North Dakota branch of the American Society of Equity at the next meeting to be held at Devils Lake in July. It will be pointed out that the plan will enable the farmers of North Dakota to abandon present farming methods and adopt something better. It will be shown that the Jap farmers will not come into competition with American working men for they would merely fill vacancies which cannot be done by American laborers.

Another plan has been outlined by the Japanese gentleman interested in the movement. If the North Dakota farmers don't take kindly to the first proposition so it can be made a success, it is possible that a company will be organized which will buy a few townships of land in the West.

RAISES UNIQUE POINT.

De Smet, S. D., June 28.—C. E. Ely, who was arrested on the charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license, waived his preliminary examination and furnished bonds for his appearance in circuit court.

The liquor which Ely is charged with having sold is a beverage known as "Gold Foam." The state takes the ground that the liquor was brewed, and therefore came within the statute, regardless of whether there was enough alcohol to intoxicate. The question to be determined by the jury will be as to whether it is an "intoxicating liquor" within the meaning of the law regulating the traffic.

PROBABLY BUILD IT AT SUPERIOR

The North Dakotans Plan Putting Up Terminal Elevator There.

Devils Lake, N. D., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the American Society of Equity held here it is expected that before adjournment the question of the location of the terminal elevator to be built at the head of the Lakes will be decided upon.

An important meeting was held in Grand Forks Wednesday between a committee from the North Dakota Bankers' association, and the North Dakota branch of the society of Equity at which the elevator plans were discussed at length and it was announced a decision had about been reached to build the elevator at Superior. The members of the Equity Society committee are attending the meeting here.

The plan to build the terminal elevator is the outcome of alleged discrimination against the farmer and in favor of the grain dealers by commission houses and terminal elevators. The farmers and bankers hope to remedy this evil by building an independent elevator.

COLLEGE FACULTY.

Those Who Will Instruct at Grand Forks Institution Appointed.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The faculty of the Grand Forks college for the year beginning next autumn has been decided upon as follows:

Berlinus K. Saevre, B. A., B. S., principal, sciences, religion.
Knut M. Hagestad, M. A., Latin, history, civics, pedagogy.
Christian E. Hale, M. A., English, Norwegian, German.

Eva Olson, B. S., preceptress, mathematics.
Laura Simonson, chorus, vocal and instrumental music.
Emanuel G. Ekblad, M. A., commercial subjects, penmanship.
John P. Marquette, LL. B., commercial law.

Mrs. Sophia Ellingson, embroidery, art needle work.
Mrs. T. O. Paulson, sewing.
J. Grassick, M. D., college physician.

DIED OF LOCKJAW.

North Dakotan, Injured While Harrowing a Field, is Dead.

Bathgate, N. D., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John McCall, the young farmer who was afflicted with lockjaw resulting from being wounded by the point of a harrow while working in a field, died Sunday in his 25th year, and was buried here Tuesday.

Some time ago Mr. McCall was harrowing in the field and while attempting to lift the harrow to clean it, the front end dropped to a hole and in falling it down the harrow dropped, the tooth inflicting a wound in his foot. This McCall gave his careful attention until the wound looked practically healed up. A few days later he came into town to consult with Dr. Janney owing to the fact that the wound pained him terribly and shortly after being bled it was found that lockjaw had set in, which was the cause of his death from lockjaw.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Devils Lake, N. D.—Devils Lake will be the Mecca for opticians and jewelers from all over the state for the Fourth of July. The North Dakota state board of opticians will hold examinations here July 3 and 4, and following this will come the meeting of the North Dakota Optical association on July 10, and that of the North Dakota Jewelers' association on July 10 and 11.

Dickinson, N. D.—Contractor Kennedy of Fargo has secured the contract for the $4 and $2-inch lateral sewers ordered by the city council some time ago. The total amount of the work will be about $2,000, and when completed the city will have an excellent sewer system.

Williston, N. D.—Miss Mabel McKinley, the young woman who has been incarcerated in the county jail on a charge of leaving her home from St. Paul for an hotel, was married in the gloomy cell to W. E. Squires postoffice. The ceremony was performed by County Judge Butler. The groom is a man of standing in the community, and he has stood by the young woman since she has been in trouble.

Arvidson, N. D.—The farmers residing in this vicinity are figuring on the proposition of building an elevator. A committee has been organized for some time past in working on the matter, and it is probable that definite action will be taken on the matter. Farmers in this part of the county have subscribed considerable cash towards building or buying an elevator, and there seems every assurance that the deal will go through.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Deaconess hospital was held here Tuesday. Seven members were elected to the board of directors, as follows: F. G. Engen, action; W. H. Berg, action; A. A. Anderson, O. S. Holken, P. A. Leeborg and H. H. Hogen, McKenroe, A. Ostmo, Northwood.

Bathgate, N. D.—Mrs. H. Sigurdson of Goodall, Minn., is here visiting with her daughter, Mrs. P. Peterson. She was accompanied by her other daughter, Mrs. T. Hagen, and son Harold of Sleepy Eye, Minn. They expect to spend some time here.

Minot, N. D.—The beer seized several weeks ago by the police from the Great Northern station was destroyed Wednesday between 2 and 5 o'clock. The bottles were broken in one of the coolers and the beer burned.

Williston, N. D.—The cornerstone of the new $40,000 Odd Fellows building was laid Wednesday. Judge E. B. Goss and J. M. Devine were the speakers. A large crowd attended.

WILL MEET AT HIBBING

Kerry Kid and Ben Tremble Matched for Bout.

Fight Will Come Off During Latter Part of July.

The fight game isn't altogether dead in Northern Minnesota yet.

The next boxing match of note in reach of Duluth fight followers is that between Ben Tremble of Minneapolis and Mike McManis, "The Kerry Kid," of Superior.

The two will meet for a 15-round bout at Hibbing some time during the latter part of July, probably the night of Saturday, July 27. Tremble has been in Hibbing for about three weeks past, training hard for the match, and the Kerry Kid is also in the range town working out.

Tremble and the Kerry Kid should make a good go. Tremble's work with the mits was demonstrated in his bout with Mike Schreck in Hibbing in March.

Since that fight he has been keeping in good condition, and by the time he goes in the ring with the superior man he will be down to good fighting weight. He will weigh in close to 150 pounds.

The Superiorite will have it on Tremble in the matter of weight, as he will easily go 150. And he will be there also with the scientific end of the game. The Kid has been waiting for a long time after one of the big fellows. He's been training and working and boxing all the time, with an eye on the prize.

It is a fight that Ben is just about the best Minnesota can produce in the heavyweight line. If the Kid can put the beating from the Flor City away, his stock will go up on the local, and his working hard, as in shape to turn the trick.

Duluth and Superior will send a large delegation to the match, which is preceded by a couple of good preliminaries between aspiring local boys.

PITTSBURGH, 3, CHICAGO, 1. Chicago, June 28.—Leftfield had the local title holder in third with rounds of 25 and 26, a total of 51. But for a topped drive on the short eighth hole, which put him deep in the grass, and an over approach on the sixteenth, which went out of bounds, Anderson's work was almost perfect, but these misplays kept him from leading the field.

Two Chicago amateurs, Warren K. Wood of Homewood, and Kenneth Edwards of Maywood, are tied for fourth and fifth places. Edwards' 75, made during the afternoon being one of the lowest scores of the day.

Weather conditions yesterday were perfect for golf, the breeze being scarcely any wind, while the course itself was true and fast. Play for the championship will be concluded today with two rounds of eighteen holes each.

YALE WINS
GREAT RACE

Blue and Crimson Battle Fiercely on the Thames.

E. H. Harriman Arrested for Refusing to Keep Off Course.

New London, Conn., June 28.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a race on the Thames river, the Yale crew last evening, rowing on an average of four strokes to the minute less than Harvard, held the blue Cambridge eight even until the last half mile, when the blue lot out their speed and won a magnificent contest by a scant boat length. Never once in the whole four miles did the Yale, graceful shells cease to lap each other. Thousands of persons aboard the observation trains and on every kind of floating craft, and those who lined the shore, sent cheer upon cheer to the old rivals as they fought out one of the grandest races in the history of boating. Yale's time for the four miles was 21 minutes and 10 seconds. Harvard's, 21 minutes and 11 seconds.

The official time for the race follows: Half mile—Yale, 2:24; Harvard, 2:25. Mile—Yale, 5:16; Harvard, 5:17. Two miles—Yale, 10:41; Harvard, 10:42. Three miles—Yale, 15:55; Harvard, 15:56. Four miles—Yale, 21:10; Harvard, 21:11.

Harriman Arrested. The race was accompanied by one disagreeable incident. This was the arrest of E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, by Lieut. Billard, President Roosevelt's aide, who was in charge of the revenue cutters, had warned every boatowner not to follow the race.

The Yale varsity struggle had scarcely been started when Mr. Harriman, in a launch, started to follow the race. Lieut. Billard and Chairman Schuyler, who were aboard the race committee boat, the Arrow, repeatedly warned Mr. Harriman to stop his engine and get out of the race.

Harriman not only paid no attention to the warnings, but took a position right alongside the Yale boat and held it. Of the navy yard Lieut. Billard signalled for a launch to start, and the launch, which finally caught Mr. Harriman, was ordered to stop.

"You are under arrest, sir," shouted Lieut. Billard. "You will give yourself up to this man, who will take you aboard the Gresham to await my orders."

The members of the race committee, who were in the powerful and speedy launch, were in the power and speed of the launch, and he shouted to Mr. Harriman in terms that were not very polite.

The incident was a disgrace to the Yale crew, who were economically out of the race. The Yale stroke was rounded out and the men rowed it so perfectly that they did not seem to be making an effort.

When the race was finished it was growing dusk and the scene around the finish line was one that will never be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to be present. First the yacht cannon boomed, and then the whistles and the sirens started a weird concert which was interspersed with the cheering of the motor boats which came to dart up and down the river. Before New London was reached it was night and the lights on the yachts began to shine one by one. Suddenly yacht launch turned on its full electrical display and the broad river became a fairy scene, a picture that never before has marked the ending of a Yale-Harvard race.

Mr. Wray, coach of the Harvard crew, said after the race: "There is nothing much to say. Of course the better crew won and we have no complaint. My crew did all they could to win and that's all I expected."

Coach John Kennedy never felt better in his life than he did after the race. "There is little that I can say," he said. "I do not want to rob them of their victory. Yale is very proud of her crew because it has been developed under adverse circumstances."

strength against each other. The time of 2 minutes and 10 seconds up-stream is the fastest time on record for an upstream race. The time for the whole race is 2 minutes and 10 seconds, but this was made down-stream with tide and wind.

The rowing of Yale's crew, which man for man, was not physically the equal of Harvard's, is the greatest achievement of John Kennedy, the Blue's professional coach. He has never before demonstrated his power and ability as a coach as in this crew which he developed out of inferior material.

The difference between the two crews was simply that Yale used her strength more economically than did Harvard. The Yale stroke was rounded out and the men rowed it so perfectly that they did not seem to be making an effort.

necessary, not to exceed $20.00. The loss is not paid on the Altoona to pay for "extraordinary" improvements which it is desired to make this year. The Altoona preferred getting the loan from the two roads named rather than to go into the money market at this time. It is probably the first loan of this kind, by one railroad to another, to obviate the necessity of asking the public to take any more railroad securities. The loan is secured by bonds which will mature in fifteen years. Five per cent interest will be paid.

WOMEN

The woman thought she was sincere, which is as bad as saying that she meant well, than which there is no worse condemnation. Her friends believed her for a while, and when the early spring first appeared, along toward the middle of June, her soul pined for the country. It was not a silent pine, but anybody who heard her talk at all could hear it quite distinctly. "It doesn't seem to me I can stand it," she said. "I think it is awful to have to live in the city when you are a woman; there are quantities of green grass and real cows and all that sort of thing. To be shut up here in perfectly maddening. I don't think I can stand it."

The family listened to that for quite a time for families all written history to the contrary, are long-suffering and kind. The heroine came to breakfast about 8:30 in the morning and sighed: "Oh to be some place where one might get up and see the sun rise and have lots of green grass and real cows," thus she spoke while she poured whipping cream over her oatmeal.

The family decided to send her to the country. It might require a few sacrifices, but it was awful to have anyone around whose soul was really suffering so. She was sent to the country.

The country was just like all countries. The sunset was perfectly glorious. It made you ache physically. It was so nice, but it happened just at the time of day when the mosquitoes did most delight to congregate where the borders were most likely to be found. The sunrise was desirable enough, as sunrises go, only it happened at such a time of day that no mortal with any sense whatever, especially one who was trying to get fat, would think of arising. But the dear little country room, with its old-fashioned four-poster bed, a straw mattress and cotton sheets, was right under the roof, and it was exceedingly stuffy, especially in the morning, and in passing, why is it that all country bedrooms are ill ventilated and stuffy?

The middle of the afternoon was the time for iced tea or lemonade. After a trip to the spring, a block away, for water they always had, they found that there were no lemons to be had until the next day, when the drive to town, five miles away, was taken. The cream was kept for churning, and the heroine poured skimmed milk over the oatmeal. The cows were real all right, but they were kept too close to the house.

The heroine was a country girl. I cannot bear to stay here while you are all in town, where there is no green grass, and so she came home.

"Show me a porcelain lined bathtub," she said upon her arrival, "and I don't care who has the green grass and the real cows."

INTERESTING RECITAL

Presented by Pupils of Plaaten's Conservatory.

One of the most successful recitals of the year was given last evening by pupils from the classes of the Plaaten Conservatory, before a large audience of the friends of the young performers. This will be the last pupils' recital given by the conservatory during the summer, and the progress of the young musicians was marked. The violin orchestra, under the direction of Gus Plaaten, has established itself as one of the most interesting of the musical organizations of amateurs in the city, and the number played last evening, "Cherella Coriolis," was repeated in part in response to the well-merited applause.

The pupils from the vocal department were represented by Miss Marie Hobbs, Miss Laura Elverson and Miss Anna Johnson, and the numbers displayed the good tone placing artistic finish, which were features of the tuition, to good advantage. Miss Myrtle Hobbs responded to several encores, Charles Taplin, who was to have sung, was unable to appear owing to illness.

The piano pupils who appeared on the program were: Blanche Weber, Merna Newell, Gladys Moore, Fay Hobbs, Ora Daniels and Georgia McAdams.

The duo by Miss Hobbs and Miss Daniels was played brilliantly, and was enthusiastically received.

Miss Georgia McAdams, as usual, scored a success, and repeated one of her solos.

SANDSTONE WEDDING

Miss Parish Becomes Bride

of Howard E. Dowe.

The following special to The Herald from Sandstone, Minn., will be of interest to many in Duluth:

At 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon occurred a pretty home wedding between Miss Helen Parish and Howard Dowe of Duluth, became husband and wife. A large number of relatives and friends were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. V. Campbell of St. Cloud. The couple were the recipients of a vast number of beautiful and costly gifts. They left in the evening for a three weeks' trip to Boston, New York and West Point. Miss Parish is one of Sandstone's most popular young ladies, and taught school here the past year.

year. Mr. Dowe is a buyer for the Marshall-Wells Hardware company of Duluth. They will be at home in the Buffalo flats in Duluth after Aug. 1.

Entertains Societies.

Mrs. E. Frank Barker entertained the Park Point Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church and the Episcopal Guild yesterday afternoon at her home on Park Point. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Misses Theresa Gule, Lucile McPherson, Frances Harrington and Mrs. John Trux. Besides the regular members there were present: Rev. H. J. Weiner and Messadames: W. U. Hultquist, H. P. Curran, John H. Hill, Jack Hunt, J. P. Trux, H. H. Marston, Miss Maude Dardis.

Informal Afternoon.

Mrs. K. Bennett of 2 Chester terrace entertained informally yesterday afternoon at her home in honor of Mrs. W. P. Wentworth, who will leave soon for Minneapolis to make her home.

Spear-Purmort.

The wedding of Miss Minnette B. Spear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Spear of Lakeside and John B. Purmort of this city, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents at Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Purmort will go East for a wedding trip and after their return will be at home at Lakeside.

Wed at Thomson.

The wedding of Miss Nora Olson of Thomson and Robert A. Lowe of this city took place Wednesday of this week at the home of the bride's parents at Thomson. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe will be at home in this city.

Flaaten Recital.

Miss Florence Gill, pianist, and Miss Christine Thiers, soprano, both of the faculty of the Flaaten conservatory, will appear in a recital this evening at the auditorium on West First street. Mrs. Gustave Flaaten will be the accompanist, and any one interested is invited to attend.

Violin Recital.

The pupils of Charles D. Ostergren will be heard in a violin recital this evening at the recital hall of the Old Masonic temple. Walter C. Long, cellist, will assist. Mr. Ostergren will leave soon for post graduate course of violin, piano and theory at Boston during the summer.

To Sing at St. Paul's.

Miss Rena Vivienne will be the soloist at St. Paul's Episcopal church a week from next Sunday, July 7. Before her departure from this city Miss Vivienne was soloist for the church for several years, and there is much interest in her appearance in the role of church soloist. Miss Vivienne will leave on the following day, July 8, for St. Paul, Minnesota, and White Bear, and after a visit there will return to Duluth.

On Wedding Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Nichols of the Bestwick flats have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Walter of New Ulm, who are in Duluth on their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Walter were married Tuesday of this week at LeSueur, Minn. The bride was formerly Miss Leona Smith, a niece of Mrs. Nichols, and was for a number of years a resident of Duluth. Mr. Walter is the editor of a paper at New Ulm. Mrs. Nichols was a guest at the wedding.

Personal Mention.

Miss Barbara Naughton left yesterday for Yellowstone Park and the West, where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hegardt and their family will leave tomorrow for a trip to Yellowstone Park.

Mrs. Christiana of Red Wing, Minn., who has been the guest of Mrs. A. M. Miller for a week, returned today to her home.

Mrs. Whitehall of St. Louis, who has been the guest of friends in the city, will leave the first of the week for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Cuyler Adams at Deerwood.

Miss Stewart of Glasgow, Scotland, is visiting here. Mrs. J. C. Eush of Lester Park.

Miss Bernice Taylor is at Solon Springs for a week's outing.

WHAT RETAIL MARKETS OFFER

Never made to give weak man, indigestion, sour cherry pie. Of all the delectable culinary delights, the pie is the superlative—that is some cherry pie. The sour cherries are in the market, and as this season is not a bad one during the season would better start at once.

Chickens are another of the real and rare luxuries of life and it makes little difference whether you want a limp and tenderly boiled hen or a crisp and tender broiled chicken, the price is probably much lower than you are paying. The market is very nice, however.

Salads of tomatoes and little green onions or of cucumbers and thin sliced radishes or one of the whole four combined, are now possibilities. Fruits are more numerous and cheaper and it is now possible to have the most delicious thing that was ever.

THE DULUTH EVENING HERALD STORY

"BEAUTY" AND "THE BEAST"

By Dr. John.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

About a year and a half ago I invested in a detective camera, and although I made the purchase with many doubts as to the merits of these new machines, I candidly confess today that it has served me well. I look at it almost with reverence; it has not won me fame, but it has made my fortune.

And this is how it came about: I was attending medical lectures, and had a short railroad journey to and from the city every day. My train during the morning, coming from away up north, was often late, so I sometimes took my camera with me and amused myself while waiting by photographing many an unsuspecting victim on the depot platform. One week in particular, I had unusually good success, and I found when I came to develop my plates that I had three fine negatives, so after I had printed my proofs, I carried them triumphantly down to the parlor to show "the girls," as the two misses, my sisters, were usually called.

One of my pictures was the likeness of a young lady. I think it was one of the prettiest I have ever seen; nor was I alone in my admiration; all agreed that she was charming, such beautiful features, such a sweet expression, such an intelligent face.

Picture No. 2 was the round chubby face of a little, ragged urchin, whom I occasionally saw around the depot. Picture No. 3 was all pronounced the homeliest girl I had ever seen. I photographed her for that very reason; because she looked so placidly, contentedly, resigned to her fate. We named the picture "Beauty" and "The Beast." It was a shame, was it not, for there would not be handsome if it were possible?

My sisters loved to tease, and it was long before I heard the last of my pictures; it was a long time before I felt the last of them. I could not get that sweet face out of my mind. I watched day after day on the train, eagerly hoping for another glimpse of it; but I was

FIRE ON STEAMSHIP.

Stubborn Blaze Breaks Out in Hold of the Madonna.

New York, June 25.—The steamer Madonna, lying at the Atlantic docks in Brooklyn, with a cargo of general merchandise from Mediterranean points was damaged by fire today. The blaze began from spontaneous combustion in the forward hold, where ten men were at work removing the cargo. The men narrowly escaped being overcome by smoke. Fire broke out in a great amount of water into the hold and, although it continued to burn for a long while it was believed that fireproof bulkheads and the fire boats would contain the fire to the hold and extinguish it without serious damage to the ship. There were no passengers aboard.

ANCIENT ANCHOR FOUND.

Remarkable Archaeological Discovery Made While Digging Near Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A discovery was made on the state experimental farm yesterday by Contractors Brown & Youngren who are doing some ditching on the farm. At a depth of six feet, buried in solid clay an anchor was found, similar to the anchors used by the Norsemen about nine centuries ago. Mr. Brown, who was formerly a Norwegian sailor in the old country, at once recognized it as of the type which he has seen handed down as heirlooms in his native land.

The anchor is light, weighing not more than twenty-five or thirty pounds. It consists of a rather irregularly shaped center piece, and from socket himself down in a German uniform. So occasionally the emperor would have to get a tip to show down a little so that the visitor might reach the next stop fully dressed for his new part.

When king, monarch or foreign visitor usually presents, the emperor in admiral's rig if the official reception taken place aboard ship. They don on the formal uniforms to foreign warships in foreign waters, but they wear the emperor's full dress of their own service if they visit foreign ships in ports of their realm.

When they are required abroad in dry land, they usually put on an army uniform of the country they are visiting.

All the leading sovereigns hold honorary commissions of historic regiments in each other's service. For instance, the king of England is colonel of the Danish regiment of Hussars, the emperor of Germany is colonel of the Prussian Hussars, the king of the Austrians is colonel of the Austrian Hussars, and so on. All over Europe there is a crossbreeding of commissions.

Of course, each holder of one of these honorary commissions provides himself with a complete set of uniforms, and when he visits it is a delicate complication to wear the uniforms of the country he is visiting, and that same regiment if it is the emperor's, he is required to furnish guards of honor to him.

Only the president of the French Republic is exempt from this duty. He is exempt because he is not a monarch, and he is exempt because he is not a monarch.

The details of the combination have not been made public, but it is probably based on the principle of the German trust, involving the regulation of prices, the reduction of output to the demand, and equal distribution of orders. What is primarily aimed at, is to control the trade of Great Britain, but to "dominate the steel trade of the world."

The London representatives of the American companies, however, do not admit they may have any share in the orders as a result of the movement.

The satisfactory progress with which the negotiations have proceeded, is due to the fact that Messrs. Vickers & Sons & Co., and Messrs. Maxon, who succeeded in bringing together several of the companies, are in a position to control the market.

The London representatives of the American companies, however, do not anticipate any material cut in their orders as a result of the movement.

The satisfactory progress with which the negotiations are proceeding is largely due to Vickers Sons & Maxim, who succeeded in bringing together several of the companies heretofore their keenest competitors.

There is much surprise in trade circles that John Brown & Co., after amalgamating with Harland, Wolff & Co., should go into a combination

DREDGING CONTRACTS

Major Fitch Opens Bids For General Harbor Improvements.

Duluth - Superior Company Is Lowest Bidder on Work.

Four dredging companies, three of Duluth and one from Chicago, entered bids for the general dredging contract for improvements in and about the Duluth and Superior harbor. The bids were opened at noon today by Maj. Graham D. Fitch, government engineer in charge, and the Duluth-Superior dredge company, being the lowest bidder, will get the contract.

The contract is a big one and involves the removing of over a million cubic yards of harbor bottom in all. There are four separate bids in the contract, one for the dredging of the lake approach to the Duluth ship canal and the dredging of the approach to the piers at Superior is another. In the former work about 550,000 cubic yards of material will be removed and the channel will be made a uniform depth of 20 feet for a width of 400 feet out into the lake from the pier end.

The approach to the Superior entry will continue out into the lake until a natural depth of 31 feet is reached, and this will mean the removal of about 800,000 cubic yards of material. The widening of the channel on the south side of the Superior Pacific railway bridge in St. Louis bay calls for the removal of about 250,000 cubic yards, while the heaviest item of the contract is the dredging out of the Nemadji river, where it will be necessary to dredge out 500,000 cubic yards.

For the Duluth canal work the bid of the Duluth-Superior dredge company read 35 cents per cubic yard for the work in St. Louis bay, 115 cents for the work in the Nemadji river and 20 cents for the Superior entry dredging. The Zurich dredge company bid for the Duluth canal work at 19 cents, the St. Louis bay work at 124 cents, the Nemadji river work at 124 cents and the Superior entry at 19 cents. The bid of the Northern Dredge company of Chicago, the Northern Dredge company of Duluth and the Zurich dredge company of Duluth.

The bid of the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company was 25 cents for the bid of the Duluth canal work, 115 cents for the work in St. Louis bay, 115 cents for the work in the Nemadji river and 20 cents for the Superior entry dredging. The Zurich dredge company bid for the Duluth canal work at 19 cents, the St. Louis bay work at 124 cents, the Nemadji river work at 124 cents and the Superior entry at 19 cents. The bid of the Northern Dredge company of Chicago, the Northern Dredge company of Duluth and the Zurich dredge company of Duluth.

MORE CHARTERING DONE.

Spurt in Coal Shipping at Buffalo--Several Charters Made.

Buffalo, June 28.—There was a spurt in coal shipping articles, advance chartering being done rather extensively. The following charters, were reported: City of Naples, Hancock, Maryland, March 28, Milwaukee, forty cents; Viking, Chicago, forty cents; Goodyear, Wyoming, Duluth, thirty cents.

OPPOSED TO PLAN.

Marine Men Do Not Want Harbor Money Diverted.

Milwaukee, June 28.—Marine men in Milwaukee and Manitowish are up in arms over the proposed plan of Maj. W. V. Judson of the United States engineering corps, to use a portion of the harbor appropriation given these two harbors to purchase a sand sucker dredger for use along the west shore of Lake Michigan.

According to the plan as contemplated it is proposed to purchase something that is to be made up from other harbor appropriations along the west shore. Marine men here say that Milwaukee harbor does not need the sand sucker dredger and their argument is that it is poor policy to purchase something that is not needed. They say: "Use the money appropriated by Congress for harbor improvements in making the improvements needed, not in purchasing something that will be useless."

DANGEROUS OBSTRUCTION.

United States Lake Survey Discovers Menace to Navigation.

The Milwaukee Daily Wisconsin says that the United States Lake Survey has reported the discovery of a dangerous menace to navigation in Lake Huron. In the course taken by the heavy carriers now engaged in the grain coal and ore trade, the obstruction is evidently the wreck of an old-time sailing vessel, which lies in thirty feet of water with only masts and rigging showing between its uppermost projections and the surface. As the big steel carriers now draw in the neighborhood of twenty feet, they would barely clear the wreck in the smooth water, and surely strike it during seas during the prevalence of gales.

"During the era of wooden carriers with sails many a fine craft sailed from port never to return. They either swung a leak and sank or were overwhelmed by the waves because of a lack of buoyancy incident to overloading—a fatal fault in those days of high freight rates and ambition for cargo records and net profit. Many of these wrecks lie so deeply that they will never menace the navigation of the present, but there are doubtless some relics of the past in water which was deep enough in their day to safely cover them, but which is now insufficient for heavy cargo carriers.

"The government surveyors are naturally more particular in examining the bottom of the lakes along the routes of steamship traffic. The wreck just discovered has fortunately been missed this far by heavily-laden steamers, which would have located it disastrously had they ever struck it squarely or settled into it in loading."

Sighted an Obstruction.

Capt. C. S. Joyce in the steamer Marabou, notified Capt. J. W. Westcott that while coming up Lake Erie six miles east by south from Colchester light he sighted what looked like a portion of an old vessel. The object was twenty or thirty feet square and was just awash. It is directly in the course from the middle ground light to Colchester light. It would be a menace to a vessel should it strike obstruction.

Old Ferry Employee Dead.

Port Huron, Mich., June 28.—John Lee, the oldest employee of the Port Huron & Starke ferry company, is dead here, after a brief illness. Lee was 49 years of age and was taken ill a week ago. His health had been impaired for some time, but he was able to attend to his duties as engineer on the ferry. He was over fourteen years. Heart disease was the cause of death. He leaves a widow and daughter.

Will Soon Be Afloat.

Buffalo, June 28.—Fire was yesterday started under the boilers of the steamer Notingham, which was blown high out of the beach by the great storm of last January, and her propeller will be used in helping clear away the sand bar which has been built up in the river. The contractors expect to have the steamer afloat inside of twenty-four hours. She now lies with half her length in twelve feet of water.

Many Piers Damaged.

Cleveland, June 28.—It will take two weeks to repair the pier at Sonoma, lately grounded on Line Kila crossing. The vessel has thirty-six damaged piers.

Supervising Inspector Coming.

Duluth will be visited in about a week by Supervising Inspector General Gortchikov, according to a dispatch received today in a dispatch from Wash. D. C. Besides Duluth he will visit the other important offices on the Great Lakes, including Milwaukee, Chicago, Duluth, Superior, Toledo and Cleveland. He will probably consume about two weeks.

Side Wheeler Again in Service.

Detroit, June 28.—The side wheeler for several years called Uria, and which was out of service for two years, is now ready for business, and with her old name, Uria, she will be in service. Five years ago she practically was rebuilt since her purchase recently by Capt. Martin J. Chas. Uria, who is now in the service. She is now in the service. She is now in the service.

Passed Detroit.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BRAKEMAN SMITH STRUCK BY TRAIN

Duluth & Iron Range Man May Have Fractured Skull.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brakeman N. J. Smith was struck by an ore train on the Duluth & Iron Range, near Duluth, yesterday and quite badly bruised and injured about the head, so that the outcome is uncertain. He was out flagging for his train, and in returning to the caboose was walking close to the opposite track and a train struck him throwing him to the ground with the above result. It is thought his skull is fractured. He was taken to the Gray hospital at Biwabik for treatment.

New ore dock No. 5 has been completed by the Barnett & Record company, and was put into commission today.

NO GRADES LEFT IN GRAND RAPIDS

This Follows the Court's Ruling in Injunction Case.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge McClenahan Wednesday evening conducted a hearing on the order to show why a temporary injunction should not be granted in the case of John J. Smith vs. Village of Grand Rapids. There were two grounds on which the plaintiff relied, the first being that it was necessary that the establishment of a street grade should be made through the means of an ordinance instead of a resolution, and the second, conceding that resolution was sufficient for the purpose, that the resolution in question was so indefinite in its terms as to be void.

The second branch of the argument was that the village had no authority to make such a resolution, and that the resolution was void. A temporary injunction was ordered issued upon the filing of a bond by the village in the sum of $2,000. The bond was filed Thursday morning.
